5 Arise, and let vs goe up by night, and destroy her palaces.

g He sheweth the cause why it should be destroyed, and how it commeth of himselves.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hoastes said, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited; all oppresison is in the mids of it.

h He warneth them to amend by his correction, and turne to him by repentance.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so shee casteth out the malice, g crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me, with sorow and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O h Ierusalem, least my soule depart from thee, least I make thee desolate a a land that none inhabiteth.'

9 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne i backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

i He exhorteth the Babylonians to be diligent to search out all and to leave none.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares are k vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is unto them as a reproach: they have no delite in it.

k They delight to heare vaine things, and to shut up their eares to true doctrine.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out upon the m children in the street, and likewise upon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall even be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

l As the Lord had given him his word to be as a fire of his indignation to burne the wicked, Chap. 5. 14. so hee kindleth it now when he seeth that all remedies are past.

12 And their houses with their lands and wives also shall be turned unto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand upon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

m None shallbe spared.

13 For from the least of them, even unto the greatest of them, every one is given unto covetousnes, & from the Prophet even unto the Priest, they all deale falsly.

14 They have healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet words, saying, n Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

n When the people began to feare Gods iudgements, the false prophets comforted them by flatterings, shewing that God would send peace and not warre.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no, neither could they have shame: therefore they shall fall among the † slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes and behold, and aske for the o olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules: but they sayd, Wee will not walke therein.

o Wherein the patriarkes and Prophets walked, directed by the word of God: signifying that there is no true way, but that which God prescribeth.

17 Also I set p watchmen over you, which said, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heed.

p Prophets which should warne you of the danger that were at hand.

18 Heare therefore, ye q Gentiles, and thou Congregation know, what is among them.

q God taketh all the world to witnesse, and the insensible creatures, of the ingratitude of the Iewes.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come upon this people, even the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they have not taken heed unto my wordes, nor to my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee r incense from Sheba, and sweet calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt-offrings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete unto me.

r Reade Isa. 1. 11. and Amos 5. 21.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will lay s stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall upon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

s From Babylon by Dan, which was North from Ierusalem.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people commeth from the t North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bow and shield shall they be weaponed: they are cruell and will have no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride upon horses well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 Wee have heard their fame, and our hands waxe feeble: sorow is come upon vs, as the sorow of a woman in travaile.

t For feare of the enemye bee speaketh this in the person of the Iewes.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on every side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come upon us.

27 I have set u thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest know and try their wayes.

u Meaning, Ieremiah, whom God had appointed to try out the godly from the wicked, as a founder doth the pure metall from the drosse.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily; they are bralle and yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The x bellowes are burnt; the lead is consumed in the fire; the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

x All the paine and labour that hath beene taken with them, is lost.

30 They shall call them reprobate silver, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ieremiah is commanded to shew unto the people the worde of God, which trusteth in the outward service of the Temple. 13 The evills that shall come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe wordes that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house, and cry this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all yee of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, * Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

* Chap. 26. 13.

4 Trust not in a lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord, this is the Temple of the Lord.

a Beleeve not the false prophets, which say that for the Temples sake, and the sacrifices there, the Lord will preserve you, and so nourish you in your sinne, and vaine confidence.

5 For if you amende and redresse your wayes and your workes; if you execute iudgement betweene a man and neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then b will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gave unto your fathers for ever and ever.

b God sheweth on what condition he made his promise to this Temple: that they should be an holy people unto him, as he would be a faithfull God to them

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsly, and burne incense unto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

c As theeves hid in holes and dennes thinke themselves safe, so when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be covered with the holinesse thereof, and that I cannot see your wickednes. Matth. 21, 13.

10 And come and stand before mee in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are delivered, though wee have done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become c a denne of theeves, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, even I see it, saith the Lord.

d Because they depended so much on the Temple, which was for his promise, that he would be present and defend them where the Arke was, he sendeth them to Gods iudgements against Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300. yeeres.

12 But goe ye now unto my place which was in Shilo, d where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because yee have done all these workes, saith the Lord, (and I e rose up early and spake unto you: but when I spake, yee would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answere,) e That is I never ceased to warne you, as Isai. 65. 2. Pro. 1. 23.

and after was taken, the Priestes slaine, and the people miserably discomfited. 1. Sam. 4. 11. chap. 26. 6.

f He sheweth what is the onely remedie to redresse our faults: to suffer God to lead vs in the way, and to obey his calling, Isai. 66. 4.

14 Therefore

14 Therefore will I doe unto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust, even unto the place that I gave to you, and to your fathers, as I have done unto Shilo.

15 And I will cast g you out of my sight, as I have cast out all your brethren, even the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift up cry or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they do in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heaven, and to powre out drinke-offrings unto other gods, that they may provoke me unto anger.

19 Doe they provoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shallbe powred upon this place; upon man and upon beasts, and upon the tree of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Put your burnt-offrings unto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh.

22 For k I spake not unto your fathers, nor commaunded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt-offrings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I have commaunded you, that it may be well unto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels, and the stubburnnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came up out of the land of Egypt, unto l this day, I have even sent unto you all my servants the Prophets, m rising up early every day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare mee, nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shall thou speake all these words unto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry unto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say unto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiveth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine o haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take up a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah have done evill in my sight, sayth the Lord: they have set their abominations in the house, wherevpon my Name is called to pollute it.

31 And they have built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I r commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the fowles of the heaven, and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 * Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voyce of mirth, and the voyces of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

* Ezek.26.13.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moveth the people to amendment. 10 Hee reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the covetousnesse of the Prophet and Priests.

AT that time, sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their a graves.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the hoast of heaven, whom they have loved, and whom they have served, and whom they have followed, and whom they have sought, and whom they have worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as doung upon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired b rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I have scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hoastes.

4 Thou shalt say unto them also, Thus sayth the Lord, Shall they c fall, and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gave themselves to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What have I done? every d one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Even the storke in the ayre knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle, and the crane and the swallow observe the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the e iudgements of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, We are wise, and the Law of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainely in vaine made he it, the pen of the scribes is in vaine.

9 The f wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they have reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisedome is in them?

10 Therefore will I give their wives unto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: * for every one from the least even unto the greatest is given to covetousnesse, and from the Prophet even unto the Priest, every one dealeth falsly.

11 For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, h Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they have any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, sayeth the Lord.

13 I will

g I will send you into captivity as I have done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes.

h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, hee sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing availe them, whiles they remaine in their obstinacy against God, and will not vse the meanes that he vseth to call them to repentance. Chap.11.14. and 14.11.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people.
24 In the knowledge of God ought we onely to reioyce. 26 The vncircumcision of the heart.

O H, that my head were full of a water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weep day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wildernes a b cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leave my people, and go from them: for they be all c adulterers, and an assembly of rebels.

3 And they bende their tongues like their bowes for d lies: but they have no courage for the trueth upon the earth, for they proceed from evill to worse, and they have not knowen mee, saith the Lord.

4 Let every one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any e brother: for every brother will vse deceit, and every friend will deale deceitfully.

5 And every one will deceive his friend, and will not speake the trueth: for they f have taught their tongue to speake lies, and take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceivers: g because of their deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

a The Prophet sheweth the great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that he could never sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang over them, which is a speciall note to discerne the true pastors from the hirelings, reade Chap. 4.19.
b He sheweth that this were more quietnesse and greater safety for him to dwell among the wilde beasts then among this wicked people, save that God hath enioyned him this charge.
c Vtterly turned from God.
d To belye and slander their neighbours.
e Meaning, that all were corrupt, and none could find an honest man. f They have so practised deceite, that they cannot forsake it. g They had rather forsake God, then leave their wicked trade.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hoastes, Behold, I will h melt them, and trye them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?

h With the fire of affliction.

8 Their tongue * is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

* Psal. 28 3. and 120.4.

9 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be avenged on such a nation as this?

10 Upon the i mountaines will I take up a weeping and a lamentation, and upon the faire places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt up, so that none can passe thorow them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

i Signifying, that all the palaces about Ierusalem should be destroyed.
k Meaning, that they are all without sense and understanding, and that God hath taken his spirit from them.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste without an inhabitant.

12 Who is k wise to understand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, even he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt up like a wildernesse, that none passeth thorow?

l He sheweth that the children cannot excuse themselves by their fathers: for both father and child if they be wicked shall perish.
m Read Chap. 3.14.
n Seeing you cannot lament your owne sinnes, call for those foolish women, whom of a superstition you have to lament for the dead, that they by their fained teares may provoke you to some sorow.

13 And the Lord saith, because they have forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and have not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter, 14 But have walked after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which l their fathers taught them.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feed this people with wormewood, and give them waters of gall m to drinke:

o As though they were weary of us, because of our iniquities, Lev. 18, 28. and 20.22.

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers have knowen, and I will send a sword after them, till I have consumed them.

p He derideth the superstition of the women which made an arte of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.

17 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes, Take heed, and call for n the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come.

q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliver the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be most sure, and most farre off, then are they soonest taken.

18 And let them make haste, and let them take up a lamentation for us, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye-liddes guish out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are wee destroyed, and utterly confounded, for we have forsaken the land, and our dwellings o have cast us out.

r Forasmuch as none can save himselfe by his owne labour, or any worldly meanes, he sheweth that it is vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioyce in him, who onely can deliver vs. 1. Cor. 1, 31.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the wordes of his mouth, and p teach your daughters to mourne, and every one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come up into our q windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streets.

2. Cor. 10, 17.

22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lie, even as the doung upon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

s These three points are necessary to know aright: his mercy, wherein consisteth our salvation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull, 23 Thus sayeth the Lord, Let not the r wise man glory in his wisedome, nor the strong man glory in his strength, neither the rich man glory in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which s shew mercy, iudgement, and righrighteouſneſſe in the earth: for in theſe things I delight, ſaith the Lord.

25 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will viſit all them which are c circumciſed with the vncircumciſed:

26 Egypt and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmoſt corners of them that dwell in the wildernes: for all theſe nations are vncircumciſed, and all the houſe of Iſrael are vncircumciſed in the heart.

c Meaning, both Iewes and Gentiles, as in this next verſe he ſheweth the cauſe, read Chap. 4.4.

16 The i portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoaſtes is his Name.

17 k Gather up thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwelleſt in the ſtrong place.

18 For thus ſayth the Lord, Behold, at this time I will throw as with a ſling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they ſhall find it ſo.

19 Woe is me for my deſtruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it l is my ſorow, and I will beare it.

20 m My Tabernacle is deſtroyed, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to ſpread out my tent any more, and to ſet up my curtaines.

21 For the Paſtours n are become beaſtes, and have not ſought the Lord: therefore have they none vnderſtanding: and all the flockes of their paſtures are ſcattered.

22 Behold, the noiſe of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the o North countrey, to make the cities of Iudah deſolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know that p the way of man is not in himſelfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his ſteps.

24 O Lord, correct mee, but with q iudgement, not in thine anger, leaſt thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out r thy wrath upon the heathen that know thee not, and upon the families that call not on thy Name: for they have eaten up Iaakob, and devoured him, and conſumed him, and have made his habitation deſolate.

h The more that man thinketh to do any thing well by his owne wiſedome, and not as God inſtructeth him, the more doth he proove himſelfe to be a vile beaſt.

i By theſe words Portion and Rod, he ſignifieth their inheritance, meaning, that God ſhould be all ſufficient for them, and that their felicity conſiſted in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helps and ſuccours as of idols, &c. Deut. 32.9. Pſal. 16.5.

k The Prophet willeth the Iewes to prepare themſelves to this captivity, ſhewing that it was now at hand that they ſhould feele the things whereof he had told them.

p He ſpeaketh this becauſe that Nebuchad-nezzar purpoſed to have made warre againſt the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiah rebellion, he turned his power to go againſt Ieruſalem, Ezek. 21.21. therefore the Prophet ſayth, that this was the Lords direction.

q Conſidering that God had revealed unto him the certitude of their captivitie Chap. 7.16. he onely prayeth, that he would puniſh them with mercy, which Iſaiah calleth in meaſure, Chap. 27.8. meaſuring his rods by their infirmity, 1. Cor. 10.13. for here by iudgement is meant not onely the puniſhment, but alſo the mercifull moderation of the ſame, as Chap. 30.11.

r Foraſmuch as God cannot onely be knowen and glorified by his mercy, that hee vſeth toward his Church, but alſo by his iuſtice in puniſhing his enemies, hee praieth that this glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Pſal. 79.6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curſe of them that obey not the word of Gods covenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the ſteps of their fathers, worſhip ſtrange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Heare yee the words of this covenant, and ſpeake unto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem,

3 And ſay thou unto them, Thus ſayeth the Lord God of Iſrael, a Curſed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded unto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron fornace, ſaying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all theſe things which I commaund you: ſo ſhall yee be my people, and I a He calleth the Iewes to the conſideration of Gods mercies, who freely choſe them, made a covenant of eternall felicity with them and how he ever performed it on his behalfe, and how they ever ſhewed themſelves rebellious and ingrate toward him, and brake it on their part, and ſo are ſubiect to the curſe of the Law, Deut. 27.26.

to have images, was a meane to ſerve God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he ſheweth that nothing more diſpleaſeth God, and bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errours, verſe 15. and Habak. 2.18. called them the teachers of lyes: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people.

f Whereas they found the beſt gold: ſhewing that they thought nothing too deare for their idols, ſome read Ophir, as 1. King. 9.28.

g This declareth that all that hath bene in this chapter ſpoken of idols, was to arme the Iewes when they ſhould be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one ſentence he inſtructeth them both how to proteſt their owne religion againſt the idolaters, and how to anſwere them to their ſhame which ſhould exhort them to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this ſentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the reſt of writing is Ebrewe.

will be your God,

5 Thus I may confirme the oathe, that I have sworne unto your fathers, to give them a lande, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered b I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

b Thus he speaketh in the person of the people, which agreed to the covenant.

6 Then the Lord said unto me, Crie all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the words of this covenant, and doe them.

7 For I have protested unto your fathers, when I brought them up out of the land of Egypt unto this day, c rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

c Reade Chap. 7, 13.

8 Nevertheless they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but every one walked in the stubburnesse of his d wicked heart: therefore I will bring upon them all the e words of this covenant which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

d According to his owne fantasie, and not as my word appointed him.
e Meaning, the menaces and curses conteined in the Law. Levit. 26. 14. deut. 28, 16.

9 And the Lord said unto me, A f conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

f That is, a generall consent to rebell against me.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serve them: thus the house of Israel and the house of Iudah have broken my covenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague upon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crie unto me, g I will not heare them.

g Because they will not pray with true faith and repentance, but for the smart and griefe which they feele, Prou. 1, 28.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem go, and crie unto the gods unto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

h Reade Chap. 2, 28

13 h For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem have ye set up altars of confusion, even altars to burne incense unto Baal.

i Reade Chap. 7, 16. and 14, 11.

14 Therefore thou shalt not i pray for this people, neither lift up a cry or prayer for them: for when they cry unto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

k My people of Israel, whom I have hitherto so greatly loved.
l Meaning, that they offer not in the Temple to God, but upon the altars of Baal and the idoles, and so reioyced in their wickednes.

15 What should my k beloved tarie in mine house, seeing they have committed abomination with many, and the holy flesh l goeth away from thee: yee when thou doest evill, thou reioycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene olive tree, faire, and of goodly fruit: but with m noyse and great tumult he hath set fire upon it, and the branches of it are broken.

m Of the Babylonians and Caldeans.

17 For the Lord of hoastes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee: for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they have done against themselves to provoke me to anger in offering incense unto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I know it, even then thou shewedst me n their practises.

n Which went about privily to conspire my death.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they hath devised thus against mee, saying, Let us o destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the living, that his name may be no more in memorie.

o Let vs destroy the Prophet and his doctrine. Some reade, Let vs corrupt his meat with wood, meaning, poyson.

20 But O Lord of hoastes, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy p vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my cause.

p Thus he spake, not for hatred, but being mooved with the spirit of God, he desireth the advancement of Gods glory and the verifying of his word, which is by the destruction of the enemies.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of q Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, r Prophecie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands.)

q To wit, both the Priests and the rest of the people: for this towne was the Priests, and they dwelt in it, reade Chap. 1, 1.

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hoasts, Behold, I will visit them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine, 23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, even the yeere of their visitation.

r Not that they could not abide to heare God (when they would shew themselves most holy) but because they could not abide to be sharpely reproved, and therefore desired to be flattered, Isa. 30, 10. and to be maintained in their pleasures, Michah 2, 11. and not to heare vice condemned, Amos 7, 12.

CHAP. XII.

s The Prophet marveileth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction unto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art a righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked b prosper: why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

s The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in al his doings, although man be not able to give a reason of all his actes.

2 Thou hast planted them, and they have taken root: they grow, and bring forth fruit, thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their c reines.

b This question hath bene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his deare children in adulterie, as Iob 21, 7. Psalme 37. 1. and 73, 3. Habac. 1, 3.

c They professe God in mouth, but deny him in heart, which is here meant by the reines. Isa. 29, 13. matth. 15, 8.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest mee: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and d prepare them for the day of slaughter.

d The Ebrewe word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked: to whom God for a while giveth prosperitie, that afterward they should the more feele his heavie iudgement

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of every fielde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed, and the birds, because they said, e He will not see our last ende.

e Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.

5 If thou hast runne with the f footmen, and they have wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swilling of Iorden?

f By the footmen, meane them of Anathoth: and by the horsemen, them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countreymen did.

6 For even thy brethren and the house of thy father, even they have dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they have cried out altogether upon thee: but beleeve them not, though they speake faire to thee.

g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatnings and flatteries, labour to put him to silence.

7 I have forsaken g mine house: I have left mine heritage: I have given the dearely beloved of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

10 Many pastours have destroyed my k vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they have made a desolate wildernesse.

11 They have layd it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth unto mee, and the whole land lyeth waste, because no man setteth his minde on it.

12 The destroyers are come upon all the high places in the wildernesse: for the sworde of the Lord shall devoure from the one end of the land, even to the other end of the land: no flesh shall have peace.

13 m They have sowen wheate, and reaped thornes: they were n sicke, and had no profit: and they were ashamed of o your fruits, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine evill p neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I have caused my people Israel to inherite, Beholde, I will plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I have plucked them out, I q will returne, and have compassion on them, and will bring againe every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the r wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (The f Lord liveth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built t in the middes of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I vterly plucke up, and destroy that nation, sayeth the Lord.

i In stead of bearing my liverie, and wearing only my colours, they have change and diversitie of colours of their idols and superstitions: therefore their enemies as thicke as the foules of the aire shall come about them to destroy them.

k He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by the captaines of Nebuchad-nezzar, whom he calleth pastors.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was received to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

THus saith the Lord unto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it upon thy loynes and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it upon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came unto mee the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is upon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward a Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes the Lord sayd unto mee, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people have refused to heare my word, and walke after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serve them, and to worship them: therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaveth to the loynes of a man, so have I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might have a name, and praise, and glory, but thy would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say unto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Every b bottell shall be filled with wine, and they shall say unto thee, doe we not know that every bottell shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say unto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the kings that sit upon the throne of David, and the Priests and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

14 And I will c dash them one against another, even the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitie, nor have compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and give eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Give glory to the Lord your God before he bring d darknesse, and or ever your feet stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you looke for e light, hee turne it into the shadow of death and make it as darknesse.

17 But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall f weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captive.

18 Say unto the g King and to the Queene: Humble you selves, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of h the South shall be shut up, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captive: it shall be wholly caried away captive:

20 Lift up your eyes, and behold them that come from the North: where is the i flocke that was given thee, even thy beautifull flocke?

21 What wilt thou say when he shall visit thee? (for thou hast k taught them to be captaines and as chiefe over thee) shall not sorow take thee as a woman in travaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things upon mee? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts l discovered and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke Moore change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may ye also doe good, that are accustomed to doe evill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South wind.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lyes.

26 Therefore I have also discovered thy skirts upon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

27 I have seene thine adulteries, and thy n neyings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hils in a Because this river Parath or Euphrates was farre from Ierusalem, it is evident that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes should passe over Euphrates to be captives in Babylon, and there for length of time should seeme to be sorten, although they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

b Every one of you shall be filled with spirituall drunkennesse, and be without all knowledge to seeke how to help your selves.

c I shall be as easie for me to destroy the greatest and the strongest, as it is for a man to breake earthen bottels.

1 Of the dearth that ſhould come. 7 The prayer of the people aſking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnſatisfiable people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, faſting, and of falſe prophets that ſeduce the people.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the a ‖ dearth.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are deſolate, they have bene b brought to heavineſſe vnto the ground, and the crye of Ieruſalem goeth up.

3 And their nobles have ſent their inferiours to the water, who came to the walles, and found no water: they returned with their veſſels empty: they were aſhamed and confounded: and c covered their heads.

4 For the ground was deſtroyed, becauſe there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were aſhamed, and covered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde alſo calved in the field, and forſooke d it, becauſe there was no graſſe.

6 And the wilde aſſes did ſtand in the high places, and drew in their wind like e dragons: their eyes did faile, becauſe there was no graſſe.

7 f O Lord, though our iniquities teſtifie againſt vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we ſinned againſt thee.

8 O thou hope of Iſrael, the ſaviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a g ſtranger in the land, as one that paſſeth by, to tary for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man aſtonied, and as h a ſtrong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the mids of vs, and thy name is called upon vs: forſake vs not.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord unto this people, Thus have they delighted to wander: they have not refrained their feet, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquity, and viſit their ſinnes.

11 Then ſaid the Lord unto mee, i Thou ſhalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they faſt, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will conſume them by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

13 Then anſwered I, Ah Lord God, behold, the k prophets ſay unto them, Yee ſhall not ſee the ſword, neither ſhall famine come upon you, but I will give you aſſured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord ſaid unto me, The prophets prophecie lies in my name: * I have not ſent them, neither did I command them, neither ſpake I vnto them, but they prophecie unto you a falſe viſion, and divination, and vanity, and deceitfulneſſe of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I have not ſent, yet they ſay, Sword and famine ſhall not be in this land, by ſword and famine ſhall thoſe prophets be conſumed.

16 And the people to whom theſe prophets do prophecie ſhall be caſt out in the ſtreetes of Ieruſalem, becauſe of the famine, and the ſword, and there ſhall be none to bury them: both they and their wives, and their ſonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes upon them.

17 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay this word unto them, Let mine eyes drop downe l teares night and day without ceaſing: for the virgine daughter of my people is deſtroyed with a great deſtruction, and with a ſore grievous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the ſlaine with the ſword: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are ſicke for hunger alſo: moreover, the Prophet alſo and the Prieſt go a wandring m into a land that they know not.

19 Haſt thou vtterly reiected n Iudah, or hath thy ſoule abhorred Zion? why haſt thou ſmitten vs, that wee cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We o acknowledge, O Lord, our wickedneſſe, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we have ſinned againſt thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names ſake caſt not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy covenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the p vanities of the Gentiles, that can give raine? or can the heavens give ſhowres? Is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite upon thee: for thou haſt made all theſe things.

l The falſe prophets promiſed peace and aſſurance, but Ieremiah calleth to teares and repentance for their affliction, which is at hand, as Chap. 9.1. Lam. 1.16. and 2.18.

m Both high and low ſhalbe led captives into Babylon.

n Though the Prophet knoew that God had caſt off the multitude, which were hypocrites, and baſtard children, yet he was aſſured that for his promiſe ſake he would have ſtill a Church, for the which he prayeth.

o He teacheth the Church a forme of prayer to humble themſelves to God by true repentance, which is the onely meane to avoyd this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues.

p Meaning, their idols, reade Chap. 10.15.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes. 3 But that he meaneth to deſtroy them with foure plagues.

THen ſaid the Lord unto me, a Though Moſes and Samuel ſtood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: caſt them out of my ſight, and let them depart.

2 And if they ſay unto thee, Whither ſhall we depart? then tell them, Thus ſaith the Lord, * Such as are appointed to death, unto death: and ſuch as are for the ſword, to the ſword: and ſuch as are for the famine, to the famine: and ſuch as are for the captivitie, to the captivitie.

3 And I will appoint over them foure kindes, ſaith the Lord, the ſword to ſlay, and the b dogs to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heaven, and the beaſts of the earth to devoure, and to deſtroy.

4 I will c ſcatter them alſo in all kingdomes of the earth, d becauſe of Manaſſeh the ſonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ieruſalem.

5 Who ſhall then have pitie upon thee, O Ieruſalem? or who ſhall be ſory for thee? or who ſhall go to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou haſt forſaken me, ſayeth the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I ſtretch out mine hand againſt thee, and deſtroy thee: for I e am wearie with repenting.

7 And I will ſcatter them with the fanne f in the gates of the earth: I have waſted, and deſtroyed the people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

will I deliver unto the ſword before their enemies, ſaith the Lord.

10 ¶ k Woe is me, my mother, that thou haſt borne me a contentious man, and a man that ſtriveth with the whole earth: I have neither † ſent on vſury, nor men have lent unto me on vſury, yet every one doth curſe me.

11 The Lord ſaid, m Surely thy remnant ſhall have wealth: ſurely I will cauſe thine enemie to intreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the n yron breake the yron, and the braſſe that commeth from the North?

13 Thy ſubſtance and thy treaſure will I give to be ſpoiled without ‖ gaine, and that for all thy ſinnes even in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knoweſt not, for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which ſhall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knoweſt, remember me, and viſit me, and revenge my of my o perſecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy ſake I have ſuffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found by me, and I did p eate them, and thy word was unto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called upon me, O Lord God of hoaſtes.

17 I ſate not in the aſſembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but ſat alone q becauſe of thy plague: for thou haſt filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heavineſſe continuall, and my plagine deſperate and cannot be healed, why art thou unto me r as a liar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, If thou ſ returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou ſhalt ſtand before me: and if thou take away the t precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be u according to my word: let them returne x unto thee, but returne not thou unto them.

20 And I will make thee unto this people a ſtrong braſen wall, and they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not y prevaile againſt thee: for I am with thee to ſave thee, and to deliver thee, ſaith the Lord.

21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

k These are the Prophets words, complaing of the obſtinacie of the people, and that he was reſerved to ſo wicked a time, wherein alſo he ſheweth what is the condition of Gods miniſters to wit, to have all the World againſt them, though they give none occaſion.

l Which is an occaſion of contention and hatred.

m In their perplexitie the Lord comforted me, and ſaid that my laſt dayes ſhould be quiet: and by the enemy he meaneth here, Nebuzzardan the captaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gave Ieremiah the choiſe either to remaine in his country, or to go whither he would: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, which ſhould afterward know Ieremiah's felicity, and therefore favour him.

n As for the people, though they ſeemed ſtrong as yron, yet ſhould they not be able to reſiſt the hard yron of Babylon, but ſhould be led captives.

p I received them with a great ioy, as he that is affamiſhed eateth meat.

q I had nothing a doe with the wicked contemners of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: ſhewing what the faithfull ſhould do when they ſee tokens of Gods anger.

r And haſt not affliſted mee according to the promiſe? wherein appeareth that in the Saints of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatiencie is ſometimes aſſailed, as Chap. 20. 7.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marrie, foreweth him what ſhould be the afflictions upon Iudah. 13 The captivitie of Babylon. 15 Their deliverance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe word of the Lord came alſo unto mee, ſaying,

2 Thou ſhalt not take a thee a wife, nor have ſonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus ſayth the Lord concerning the ſonnes, and concerning the daughters, that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They ſhall die of deaths and diſeaſes: they ſhall not be lamented, neither ſhall they be buried, but they ſhalbe as dung upon the earth, and they ſhall be conſumed by the ſword, and by famine, and their carkeiſes ſhall be meat for the foules of the heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth.

a Meaning, that the affliction ſhould be ſo horrible in Ieruſalem, that wife and children ſhould but increaſe his ſorow.

5 For thus ſaith the Lord, b Enter not into the houſe of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be mooved for them: for I have taken my peace from this people, ſaith the Lord, even mercy and compaſſion.

6 Both the great and the ſmall ſhall die in this land: they ſhall not be buried, neither ſhall men lament for them, c nor cut themſelves, nor make themſelves bald for them.

7 They ſhall not ſtretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither ſhall they give them the d cup of conſolation to drinke of their father or for their mother.

8 Thou ſhalt not alſo goe into the houſe of feaſting, to ſit with them to eat and to drinke.

9 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, even in your dayes, the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladneſſe, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou ſhalt ſhew this people all theſe words, and they ſhall ſay unto thee, * Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague againſt vs? or what is e our iniquitie? and what is our ſinne that wee have committed againſt the Lord our God?

11 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Becauſe your fathers have forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, and have walked after other gods, and have ſerved them, and worſhipped them, and have forſaken me, and have not kept my Law,

12 (* And ye have done worſe then your fathers: for behold, you walke every one after the ſtubburnnes of his wicked heart, and will not heare me.)

13 Therefore will I drive you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither you nor your fathers, and there ye ſhall ſerve other gods day and night: for I will ſhew you no grace.

14 * Beholde therefore ſaith the Lord, the dayes come that it ſhall no more be ſaid, The Lord liveth, which brought up the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt, 15 But, The Lord liveth, that brought up the children of Iſrael f from the land of the North, and from all the landes where hee had ſcattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land that I gave unto their fathers.

16 Behold, ſaith the Lord, I will ſend out many g fiſhers, and they ſhall fiſh them, and after will I ſend over many hunters, and they ſhall hunt them from every mountaine, and from every hill, and out of the caves of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are upon all their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And firſt I will recompenſe their iniquitie and their ſinne double, becauſe they have defiled my land, and have filled mine inheritance with their filthie h carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my i fornace, and my ſtrength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee from the endes of the world, and ſhall ſay, Surely our fathers have inherited k lies, and vanitie, wherein there was no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods unto himſelfe, and hey are no gods?

b Signifying, that the affliction ſhould be ſo great, that one ſhould not have leaſure to comfort another.

c That is, ſhould not rent their cloathes in ſigne of mourning.

d For in theſe great extremities all conſolation and comfort ſhall be in vaine.

* Chap. 5. 19.

e Becauſe the wicked are alwayes rebellious and diſſemble their owne ſinnes, and murmure againſt Gods iudgements, as though he had no iuſt cauſe to puniſh them. he ſheweth him what to anſwere.

* Chap. 7. 16.
* Chap. 23. 7.

f Signifying the benefit of their deliverance out of Babylon ſhould be ſo great, that it ſhould aboliſh the remembrance of their deliverance from Egypt: but he hath here chiefly reſpect to the ſpirituall deliverance vnder Chriſt.

g By the fiſhers and hunters are meant the Babylonians and Caldeans: who ſhould deſtroy them in ſuch ſort, that if they eſcaped the one, the other ſhould take them.

h That is, their ſonnes and daughters, which they offered to Molech.

i He wondreth at the great mercy of God in this deliverance which ſhall not onely extend to the Iewes, but alſo to the Gentiles.

k Our fathers were moſt vile idolaters, therefore it commeth only of Gods mercy, that he performeth his promiſe, and hath not vtterly caſt vs off.

21 Behold,

21 Beholde, therefore I will this once [1] teach them: I will shewe them mine hande and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

1 They shall once againe feele my power and mercie for their deliuerance, that they may learne to worship me.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The forwardnesse of the Iewes. 5 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

THe sinne of Iudah is [a] written with a pen of yron, and with the point of a diamond, and graven upon the [b] table of their heart, and upon the hornes of your [c] altars.

a The remembrance of their contempt of God cannot passe, albeit for a time he deferre the punishment, for it shall be manifest to men and Angels.

b In stead of the Law of God, they have written idolatrie and all abominations in their heart.

c Your sinnes appeare in all the altars that you have erected to idoles.

2 [d] They remember their altars as their children, with their groves by the greene trees upon the high hils.

d Some reade, So that their children remember their altars, that is, follow their fathers wickednesse.

3 [e] O my mountaine in the field, I will give thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoyled, for the sinnes of thy high places throughout all thy borders.

e Zion that was my mountaine, shall now be left as a waste field.

4 And thou shalt rest, [f] and in thee shalt be a rest from thine heritage that I gave thee, and I will cause thee to serve thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for yee have kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for ever.

f Because thou wouldest not give the land rest, at such times, stayes, and yeeres as I appointed, thou shalt hereafter be caried away, and it shall rest for lacke of labourers.

5 [g] Thus saith the Lord, [g] Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord.

g The Iewes were given to worldly policies, and thought to make themselves strong by the friendship of the Egyptians, Isa. 31, 3. and strangers, and in the meane season did not depend on God, and therefore he denounceth Gods plagues against them, shewing that they preferre corruptible man to God, which is immortall. Isa. 2. 22. Chap. 48. 6. 7.

6 For he shall be like the heath in the wildernesse, and shall not see when any good commeth, but shall inhabite the parched places in the wilderneſſe, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 [h] For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not feele when the heat commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yeelding fruit.

h Reade Psal. 1. 3.

9 [i] The heart is deceitfull and wicked above all things, who can know it?

i Because the wicked have ever some excuse to defend their doings, he sheweth, that their owne lewde imaginations deceive them, and bring them to these inconveniences: but God will examine their deeds by the malice of their hearts, 1. Sam. 16, 7. 1. Chron. 28, 9. Psal. 7, 10. Chap. 11, 20. and 20, 12. Revel. 2, 23.

10 I the Lord search the heart, and trie the reines, even to give every man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes.

11 [k] As the Partrich gathereth the young, which shee hath not brought foorth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shall be a foole.

k As the partrich by calling gathered others which forsake her, when they see that shee is not their damme: so the covetous man is forsaken of his riches, because he commeth by them falsely.

12 As a glorious throne [l] exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.

l Shewing that the godly ought to glory in nothing, but in God, who doeth exalt his, and hath left a signe of his favour in his Temple.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shallbe written [m] in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of living waters.

m In Their names shall not be registred in the booke of life.

14 Heale mee, O Lord, and I shall be whole: [n] save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my prayse.

n He desireth God to preserve him that he fall not into temptation, considering the great contempt of Gods word, and the multitude that fall from God.

15 Behold, [o] they say unto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

o The wicked say that my prophecie shall not come to passe because thou deferrest time of thy vengeance.

16 But [p] I have not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither have I desired the day of misetie, thou knowest that which came out of my lips was right before thee.

p I am assured of my vocation, and therefore know that the thing which thou speakest by me, shall come to passe, and that I speake not of any worldly affliction.

17 Be not [q] terrible unto me: thou art mine hope in the day of adversitie.

q However the wicked deale rigorously with me, yet let me finde comfort in thee.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring upon them the day of adversitie, [r] and destroy them with double destruction.

r Reade Chap. 11. 20.

19 Thus hath the Lord saith unto me, Goe and stand in the [s] gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, s Whereas thy doctrine may be best understood both of high and lowe.

20 And say unto them, Heare the word of the Lord, yee kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the [t] Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem, t By naming the Sabbath day, he comprehendeth the thing that is thereby signified: for if they transgressed in the ceremony, they must needs be culpable of the rest, reade Exod. 20. 8 and by the breaking of this one commandement, he maketh them transgressours of the whole lawe, forasmuch as the first and second table are conteined herein.

22 Neither carie foorth burdens out of yo ur houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe, and would not heare, nor receive correction.

24 Nevertheleſſe, if ye will heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein,

25 Then shall the Kings and the Princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit * upon the throne of David, and shall ride upon charets and upon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for ever.

* Chap. 22. 4.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and meat offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall devoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremiah. 19 His prayer against his adversaries.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise and go downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.

4 And the vessel that he made of a clay, was broken in the hand of the potter, so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

a As the potter hath power over the clay to make what pot he will, or to breake them, when he hath made them: so have I power over you to doe with you as seemeth good to me, Isa. 45. 9. wisd. 15. 7. Rom. 9, 20, 21.

5 Then the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

6 O house of Iſrael, cannot I doe with you as this potter, ſayth the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, ſo are you in mine hand, O house of Iſrael.

7 I will ſpeake ſuddenly againſt a nation, or againſt a kingdome to plucke it up, and to roote it out, and to deſtroy it.

8 But if the nation againſt whome I have pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will b repent of the plague that I thought to bring upon them.

9 And I will ſpeake ſuddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.

10 But if it doe evill in my ſight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore unto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpoſe a thing againſt you: returne you therefore every one from his evill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they ſaid c deſperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe every man after the ſtubburneſſe of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Aske now among the heaven, who hath heard ſuch things? the virgin of Iſrael hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forſake the ſnow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? d or ſhall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forſaken?

15 Becauſe my people hath forgotten me, and have burnt incenſe to vanitie, and their prophets have cauſed them to ſtumble in their wayes from the e ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land deſolate, and a perpetuall deriſion, ſo that every one that paſſeth thereby ſhal be aſtoniſhed and wagge of his head,

17 I will ſcatter them with an Eaſt winde before the enemie: I will ſhew them the backe, and f not the face in the day of their deſtruction.

18 Then ſaid they, Come, and let us imagine ſome deuice againſt Ieremiah: for the Law g ſhall not periſh from the Prieſt, nor counſell from the wiſe, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let us ſmite him with the h tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words.

19 Hearken unto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall evill be recompenſed for good? for they have digged a pit for my ſoule: remember that I ſtood before thee, to ſpeake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, i deliver up their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the ſword, let their wives be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be ſlaine by the ſword in the battell.

22 Let the crye be heard from their houſes, when thou ſhalt bring an hoaſte ſuddenly upon them: for they have digged a pit to take me, and hid ſnares for my feet.

23 Yet Lord thou knoweſt all their counſell againſt me tendeth to death: forgive not their iniquitie, neither put out their ſinne from thy ſight, but let them be overthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

Hee prophecieth the deſtruction of Ieruſalem for the contempt and deſpiſing of the word of God.

THus ſaid the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients for the people, and of the ancients of the Prieſts,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entry of the i Eaſtgate: and thou ſhalt preach there the words, that I ſhall tell thee,

3 And ſhalt ſay, Heare yee the word of the Lord, O a Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ieruſalem, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring a plague upon this place, the which whoſoever heareth, his eares ſhall b tingle.

4 Becauſe they have forſaken me, and prophaned this place, and have burnt incenſe in it unto other gods, whome neither they, nor their fathers have knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they have filled this places alſo with the blood of innocents,

5 And they have built the hie places of Baal, to burne their ſonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I c commanded not, nor ſpake it, neither came it into my mind)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that this place ſhall no more be called d Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter.

7 And I will bring the counſell of Iudah and Ieruſalem to nought in this place, and I will cauſe them to fall by the ſword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that ſeeke their liues: and their carkeiſes will I give to be meat for the foules of the heaven, and to the beaſtes of the field.

8 * And I will make this citie deſolate, and an hiſſing, ſo that every one that paſſeth thereby, ſhall be aſtoniſhed and hiſſe becauſe of all the plagues thereof.

9 * And I will feed them with the fleſh of their ſonnes, and with the fleſh of their daughters, and every one ſhall eate the fleſh of his friend in the ſiege and ſtraitneſſe, wherewith their enemies that ſeeke their lives, ſhall hold them ſtrait.

10 Then ſhalt thou breake the bottell in the ſight of the men that goe with thee, 11 And ſhalt ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, Even ſo will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a e potters veſſell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they ſhall burie them in Topheth till there be no place to burie.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, ſaith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houſes of Ieruſalem, and the houſes of the Kings of Iudah ſhalbe defiled as the place of Topheth, becauſe of all the f houſes vpon whoſe g rootes they have burnt incenſe vnto all the hoaſt of heaven, and have powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had ſent him to prophecie, and he ſtood in the court of the Lords houſe, and ſaid to all the people, th When the Scripture attributeth repentance unto God, it is not that he doeth countra y to that which he ha h ordained in his ſecret counſell: but when hee threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giveth man grace to repent, the threatning (which ever conteineth a conditi. on in it) taketh no place: and this the ſcripture calleth repentance in God, becauſe it ſo appeareth to mans iudgement.

c As man that had no remorſe but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne ſelfe-will.

d As no man that hath thirſt refuſeth freſh conduit waters which he hath at home, to goe and ſeeke waters abroad to quench his thirſt: ſo they ought not to ſeeke for helpe and ſuccour at ſtrangers and leave God which was preſent with them.

CHAP. XX.

1 Ieremiah is ſmitten and caſt into priſon for preaching of the word of God. 3 He propheſieth the captivitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that hee is a mocking ſtocke for the word of God. 9 Hee is compelled by the ſpirit to preach the word.

WHen Paſhur, the ſonne of Immer, the prieſt, which was appointed gouernour in the houſe of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah propheſied theſe things,

2 Then Paſhur ſmote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the a ſtockes that were in the hie gate of Beniamin, which was by the houſe of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Paſhur brought Ieremiah out of the ſtockes. Then ſaid Ieremiah unto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Paſhur, but ‖ Magor-miſſabib.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy ſelfe, and to all thy friendes, and they ſhall fall by the ſword of their enemies, and thine eyes ſhall behold it, and I will give all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee ſhall cary them captive into Babel, and ſhall ſlay them with the ſword.

5 Moreover, I will deliver all the ſubſtance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treaſures of the Kings of Iudah will I give into the hand of their enemies, which ſhall ſpoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Paſhur, and all that dwell in thine houſe, ſhall goe into captivitie, and thou ſhalt come to Babel, and there thou ſhalt die, and ſhalt be buried there, thou and all thy b friendes, to whom thou haſt propheſied lies.

7 O Lord, thou haſt deceived mee, and I am c deceived: thou art ſtronger then I, and haſt d prevailed: I am in deriſion dayly: every one mocketh me.

8 For ſince I ſpake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed * deſolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproach unto me, and in deriſion dayly.

9 Then I ſayd, I will not make mention of him, nor ſpeake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire ſhut up in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, and I could not ſtay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and feare on every ſide. f Declare, ſayd they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, ſaying, It may be that he is deceived: ſo we ſhall prevaile againſt him, and we ſhall execute our vengeance upon him.

11 ‖ But the Lord is with mee like a mighty gyant: therefore my perſecuters ſhall be overthrowen, and ſhall not prevaile, and ſhalbe greatly confounded: for they have done vnwiſely, and their everlaſting ſhame ſhall never be forgotten.

12 * But, O Lord of hoaſtes, that tryeſt the righteous, and ſeeſt the reines and the heart, let mee ſee thy vengeance on them: for unto thee have I opened my cauſe.

13 Sing unto the Lord, praiſe ye the Lord: for he hath delivered the ſoule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 ¶ h Curſed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be bleſſed.

15 Curſed be the man that ſhewed my father, ſaying, A man child is borne unto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man be as the i cities, which the Lord hath overturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the ſhouting at noone tide, 17 Becauſe he hath not ſlaine mee, even from the wombe, or that my mother might have bene my grave, or her wombe a perpetuall k conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to ſee labour and ſorow, that my dayes ſhould be conſumed with ſhame?

CHAP. XXI.

He propheſieth that Zedekiah ſhalbe taken, and the city burned.

THE worde which came unto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah ſent unto him Paſhur, the ſonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah the Prieſt, ſaying,

2 a Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre againſt vs) if ſo be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne up from vs.

3 Then ſaid Ieremiah, Thus ſhall you ſay to Zedekiah,

4 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Behold, I will b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight againſt the king of Babel, and againſt the Caldeans, which beſiege you without the walles, and I will aſſemble them into the mids of this city.

5 And I my ſelfe will fight againſt you with an outſtretched hand, and with a mighty arme, even in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will ſmite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beaſt: they ſhall die of a great peſtilence.

7 And after this, ſaith the Lord, I will deliver Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his ſervants, and the people, and ſuch as are left in this citie, from the peſtilence, from the ſword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of thoſe that ſeeke their lives, and he ſhall ſmite them with the edge of the ſword: he ſhall not ſpare them, neither have pitie nor compaſſion.

8 ¶ And unto this people thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I ſet before you the c way of life, and the way of d death.

9 * He that abideth in this city, ſhall die by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that beſiege you, he ſhall live, and his life ſhall be unto him for a e pray.

10 For I have ſet my face againſt this city, for evill and not for good, ſaith the Lord: it ſhall be given into the hand of the king of Babel, and he ſhall burne it with fire.

a He exhorteth the King to iudgement and righteouſneſs. 9 Why Ieruſalem is brought into captivity. 11 The death of Shallum the ſonne of Ioſiah is prophecied.

THus ſayd the Lord, Goe downe to the houſe of the King of Iudah, and ſpeake there this thing,

2 And ſay, Heare the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that ſitteſt upon the throne of David, thou and thy ſervants, and thy people that enter in by theſe gates.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, * Execute yee iudgement and righteouſneſſe, and deliver the oppreſſed from the hand of the oppreſſor, and vexe not the ſtranger, the fatherleſſe, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor ſhedde innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then ſhall the kings ſitting upon the throne of David enter in by the gates of this Houſe, * and ride upon chariots and upon horſes, both he and his ſervants and his people.

5 But if yee will not heare theſe wordes, I b ſweare by my ſelfe, ſayeth the Lord, that this Houſe ſhall be waſte.

6 For thus hath the Lord ſpoken upon the kings houſe of Iudah, Thou art c Gilead unto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet ſurely I will make thee a wildernes, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will d prepare deſtroyers againſt thee every one with his weapons, and they ſhall cut downe thy chiefe e cedar trees, and caſt them in the fire.

8 f And many nations ſhall paſſe by this city, and they ſhall ſay every man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done this unto this great citie?

9 Then ſhall they anſwere, Becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worſhipped other gods, and ſerved them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not mooved for them; but weepe for him g that goeth out: for hee ſhall returne no more, nor ſee his native countrey.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord, As touching h Shallum the ſonne of Iudah King of Iudah, which reigned for Ioſiah his father, which went out of this place, he ſhall returne thither.

12 But he ſhall die in the place, whither they have ledde him captive, and ſhall ſee this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe unto him that buildeth his houſe by i vnrighteouſneſſe, and his chambers without equitie: hee vſeth his neighbour without wages, and giveth him not for his worke.

14 Hee ſayth, I will build me a wide houſe and large chambers: ſo he will make himſelfe large windowes, and ſeeling with cedar, and paint them with vermillion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, becauſe thou cloſeſt thy ſelfe in Cedar? did not thy * father eate and drinke and proſper, when he executed iudgement and iuſtice?

16 When hee iudged the cauſe of the afflicted and the poore, hee proſpered: was not this becauſe he knew me, ſaith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but only for thy covetouſneſſe, and for to ſhed innocent blood, and for oppreſſion, and for deſtruction, even to doe this.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord againſt Iehoiakim, the ſonne of Ioſiah king of Iudah, They ſhall not lament k him, ſaying, Ah, my brother, or ah ſiſter: neither ſhall they mourne for him, ſaying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glory.

19 He ſhall be buried, as an aſſe m is buried, even drawen and caſt foorth without the gates of Ieruſalem.

20 ¶ Goe up to n Lebanon, and cry: ſhowte in o Baſhan, and cry by the paſſages: for all thy lovers are deſtroyed.

21 I ſpake unto thee when thou waſt in proſperity: but thou ſaydeſt, I will not heare, this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldeſt not obey my voyce.

22 The winde ſhall feede all thy paſtors, p and thy lovers ſhall goe into captivity: and then ſhalt thou be aſhamed and confounded of all thy wickedneſſe.

23 Thou that dwelleſt in Lebanon, and makeſt thy neſt in the q cedars, how beautifull ſhalt thou be when ſorowes come upon thee, as the ſorow of a woman in travaile?

24 As I live, ſaith the Lord, though r Coniah the ſonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the ſignet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will give thee into the hand of them that ſeeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whoſe face thou feareſt, even into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cauſe them to carie thee away, and thy mother that bare thee into another countrey, where yee were not borne, and there ſhall ye die.

27 But to the land wherevnto they deſire to returne, they ſhall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a deſpiſed and broken idole? or as a veſſell, wherein is no pleaſure? wherefore are they caried away, hee and his ſeede, and caſt out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus ſaith the Lord, Write this t man deſtitute of children, a man that ſhall not proſper in his dayes: for there ſhall be no man of his ſeede that ſhall proſper and ſit upon the throne of David, or beare rule any more of Iudah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Againſt falſe paſtors. 5 A prophecie of the great Paſtour Ieſus Chriſt.

Woe

WOe be unto a the pastours that destroy and scatter the b sheepe of my pasture, sayth the Lord.

2 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God of Israel unto the Pastours that c feede my people, Yee have scattered my flocke, and thrust them out, and have not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your workes, sayth the Lord.

3 And I will gather the d remnant of my sheepe out of all countries, whither I had driven them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall grow and increase:

4 And I will set up shepheards over them, which shall feed them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous e branch, and a King shall reigne and prosper, and shall execute iudgement and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saved, and * Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The f Lord liveth, which brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But the Lord liveth, which brought up and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, and from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the g prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath † overcome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of oathes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildernesse are dried up, and their ‖ course is evill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet and the Priest ‖ doe wickedly: and their wickednesse have I found in mine † House, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shall be into them as slippery wayes in the darknesse: they shalbe driven foorth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague upon them, even the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I have seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria that prophecied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I have seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem k filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked, that none can l returne from his wickednesse: they are all unto mee as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hoastes concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feede them with m wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is ‖ wickednesse gone foorth into all the land.

16 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophecie unto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne n heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still unto them that despise mee, The Lord hath sayd, Yee o shall have peace: and they say unto every one that walketh after the stubburnesse of his owne heart, No evill shall come upon you.

18 For p who hath stood in the counsell of the Lord that he hath perceived, and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shall fall downe upon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he have executed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes yee q shall understand it plainely.

21 * I have not send these prophets, sayth the Lord, yet they ranne: I have not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsell, and r had declared my words to my people, then they should have turned them from their evill way, and from the wickednesse of their inventions.

23 Am I a God at hand, sayth the Lord, and not a God ſfarre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Doe not I fill heaven and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I have heard what the prophets sayd, that prophecied lyes in my Name, saying, I t have dreamed, I have dreamed.

26 How long? † Doe the prophets delight to prophecie lies, even prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause u my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their forefathers have forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The prophet that hath a dreame, let him x tell a dreame, and he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: y what is the chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word even like a fire, saith the Lord: and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that z steale my word every one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which have tweet tongues, and say, a He sayth.

32 Behold, I will come against them that prophecie false dreames, sayeth the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lyes, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profite unto this people, sayth the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the propher, or a Priest shall take thee, saying, What is the b burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say unto them, What burden? I will even forsake you sayth the Lord.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 The vision of the baskets of figges. 5 Signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe out of captivitie. 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

THe Lord shewed mee, and beholde, two a baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and the cunning men of Ieruſalem, and hath brought them to Babel.

a The good figges signified them that were gone into captivitie and so saved their life: as chap. 21. 8 and the naughty figges them that remained, which were yet subiect to the sword, famine and pestilence.

2 One basket had very good figges, even like the figges that are first ripe, and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were so evill.

3 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I say, Figges: the good figges very good, and the naughtie very naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so evill.

4 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them that are caried away captive of Iudah to be good, whom I have sent out of this b place, into the land of the Caldeans.

b Whereby he approoveth the yeelding of Ieconiah and his company, because they obeyed the Prophet, who exhorted them thereunto.

6 For I will set mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I will give them c an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe * my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne unto me with their whole heart.

c Which declareth that man of himselfe can know nothing, till God give the heart and understanding.

8 * And as the naughty figges which cannot be eaten, they are so evill (surely thus saith the Lord) so will I give Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ieruſalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwell d in the land of Egypt:

d Which fled thither for succour.

9 I will even give them for a terrible plague to all the kingdoms of the earth, and for a reproach and for a proverbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the land, that I gave vnto them, and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Hee prophecieth that they shall be in captivitie seuenty yeers, 12 and that after the seuenty yeers the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophecied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the people of Iudah, in the a fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel:

a That is, in the third yeere accomplished and in the beginning of the fourth: for though Nebuchad-nezzar began to reigne in the ende of the third yeere of Iehoiakims reigne, yet that yeere is not here counted, because it was alm ſt expired. Dan. 1. 1

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, even vnto b this day (that is the three & twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto mee, and I have spoken vnto you c rising earely and speaking, but ye would not heare.

b Which was the fifth yeere and the ninth moneth of Iehoiakims reigne.

c That is, I have spared no deligence or labour, Chap. 7. 13.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early, and sending them but ye would not heare, nor encline your eares, to obey.

5 They d sayd, Turne againe now every one from his evill way, and from the wickednesse of your inuentions, and yee shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath given vnto you, and to your fathers for ever and ever.

d Hee sheweth that the Prophets, wholly with one consent did labour to pull the people from those vices, which then reigned, to wit, from idolatry and the vaine confidence of men: for vnder these two all other were conteined. 2 King. 17. 13. chap. 18. 11. and 35 15. Ionah 3 8.

6 And goe not after other gods to serve them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the works of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Nevertheleſſe, yee would not heare mee, sayeth the Lord, but haue provoked mee to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Because ye have not heard my words.

9 Behold, I will send and take to me all the e families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my f servant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations g round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

e The Caldeans and all their power.

f So the wicked and Satan himselfe are Gods servants, because he maketh them to serve him by constraint, and turneth that which they doe of malice, to his honour and glory.

g As the Philistims, Ammonites, Egyptians and others.

10 * Moreover, I will ‖ take from them the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the noise of the h millstones, and the light of the candle.

* Chap. 16. 9.

h Meaning that bread and all things that should serve unto their feastes, should be taken away.

11 And this whole land shall be desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serve the king of Babel seuenty yeeres.

12 And when the i seventy yeeres are accomplished, I will visit k the king of Babel and that nation, sayth the Lord, for their iniquities, even the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation.

i This revelation was for the confirmation of his prophecie, because he told them of the time that they should enter and remaine in captivitie. 2 Chron. 36. 22. Ezra. 1. 1. chap. 29. 10. dan. 9. 2.

k For seeing the iudgement began at his owne house, the enemies must needes be punished most grieuously, Ezek 9. 6. 1. pet. 4. 17.

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my wordes which I have pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophecied against all nations.

14 For many nations, and great kings shall

even [l] serve themselves of them; thus will I recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken unto me, [m] Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shall drinke, and be mooved, and be mad, because of the sword that I will send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, unto whom the Lord hath sent me:

18 Even Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, [n] as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaoh also, King of Egypt, and his servants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all sorts of people, and all the Kings of the land [o] of Vz: and all the kings of the land of the Philistims, and [p] Ashkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod:

21 [q] Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites.

22 And all the kings of Tyrus: and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the [r] Yles, that are beyond the sea.

23 And [s] Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners, 24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia that dwell in the [t] desert,

25 And all the Kings of Zimri, and all the kings of [u] Elam, and all the kings of the Medes, 26 And all the kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the world, which are upon the earth, and the king of [x] Sheshach shall drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou unto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword, which I will send among you.

28 [y] But if they refuse to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Ye shall certainly drinke.

29 For loe, [x] I begin to plague the city, where my Name is called upon, and should you go free? Ye shall not goe quite: for I will call for a sword upon all the inhabitants of the earth, sayeth the Lord of hoastes.

30 Therefore prophecie thou against them all these words, and say unto them, * The Lord shall roare from above, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: hee shall roare upon his habitation, and cry aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The sounds shall come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controversie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and hee will give them that are wicked, to the sword, saith the Lord.

32 [y] Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Behold, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a * great whirlewind shall be raised up from the coastes of the earth.

33 And [y] the slaine of the Lord shall be at that day, from one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth: they shall not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shall be as dongue upon the ground.

34 Howle, [z] ye shepheards, and cry, and wallow your selves in the ashes, yee principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispersion, and yee shall fall like [a] precious vessels.

35 And the [b] flight shall faile from the shepheards, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the cry of the shepheards, and an howling of the principall of the flocke, shall be heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the † best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forsaken his covert, as the lyon: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressour, and because of the wrath of his indignation.

CHAP. XXVI.

Ieremiah moveth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false prophets and priests, and brought to iudgement. 23 Vriah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the [a] court of the Lords House, and speake unto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lords House, all the words that I commaund thee to speake unto them: keepe not [b] a word backe,

3 If so be they will hearken, and turne every man from his evill way, that I may [c] repent mee of the plague, which I have determined to bring upon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I have set before you,

5 And to heare the words of my servants the Prophets, whom I sent unto you, both rising up early, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this House like [d] Shiloh, and will make this citie [e] a curse to all nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these words in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake unto all the people, then the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and said, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why hast thou prophecied in the name of the Lord, saying, [f] This House shalbe like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the house of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came up from the kings house into the House of the Lord, and sate downe in the entrie of the [g] new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priests, and the Prophets unto the Princes, and to all the people, saying, † This man is worthy to die: for he hath prophecied against this citie, as ye have heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiah unto all the Princes and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath [h] sent mee to prophecie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye have heard.

13 Therefore now amend your wayes, and your 16 Then saide the Princes and all the people unto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken unto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose up certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the k plague, that he hath pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great evill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in the Name of the Lord, one Vrijah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophecied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his words, the King sought to slay him. But when Vrijah heard it, he was afraide and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the king l sent men into Egypt, even Elnathan the soone of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt, 23 And they fet Vrijah out of Egypt, and brought him unto Iehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and m cast his dead body into the graves of the children of the people.

m As in the first Hezekiahs example is to be followed, so in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household.
n Which declareth that nothing could have appeased their furie, if God had not mooved this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah at the commaundement of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudah and to the other Kings that were neere, whereby they are monished to be subiects unto Nebuchadnezzar. 9 Hee warneth the people, and the King and rulers that they beleeve not false Prophets.

IN the beginning of the reigne of a Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this word unto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus sayeth the Lord to mee, Make thee b bonds and yokes, and put them upon thy necke,

3 And send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Ierusalem unto Zedekiah the king of Iudah,

4 And command them to say unto their masters, Thus sayeth the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say unto your masters,

5 I have made the earth, the man, and the beast that are upon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and have given it unto whom it pleased me.

6 But now I have given all these landes into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my c servant, and the beastes of the fielde have I also given him to serve him.

7 And all nations shall serve him, and his d sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall e serve themselves of him.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serve the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I have wholly given them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your sorcerers which say unto you thus, Ye shall not serve the king of Babel.

10 For they prophecie a lie unto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serve him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupy it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serve him and his people, that ye may live.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serve the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets that speake unto you, saying, Yee shall not serve the king of Babel: for they prophecie a lye unto you.

15 For I have not * sent them, sayth the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that yee might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophecie unto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your prophets that prophecie unto you, saying, Behold, * the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly be f brought againe from Babel: for they prophecie a lye unto you.

17 Heare them not, but serve the king of Babel, that ye may live: wherefore should this city be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them g intreate the Lord of hoastes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, go not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes, concerning the * pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie, b By such signes the Prophets vsed sometimes to confirme their prophecies which notwithstanding they could not doe of themselves, but in as much as they had a revelation for the same, Isa. 20.2. and therefore the false Prophets to get more credit, did vse also such visible signes, but they had no revelation, 1.King.22.11.

niah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah, and Ierusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, 22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shalbe vntill the day that I visit [b] them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them up, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophecie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiah reproveth Hananiah, and prophecieth.

AND that same yeere in the beginning of the [a] reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, in the [b] fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azzur the prophet, which was of [c] Gibeon, spake to me in the house of the Lord in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people, and said, a When Ieremiah began to beare these bonds and yokes.

b After that the land hast rested, as Levit. 25.2. c This was a city in Beniamin belonging to the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21.17.

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, saying, I have broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 † Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captive of Iudah, and went into Babel, sayeth the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah sayde unto the [d] Prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the House of the Lord,

6 Even the Prophet Ieremiah said, So be it: the [e] Lord so do, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophecied, to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captive from Babel, into this place.

d He was so esteemed though hee was a false prophet.
e That is, I would wish the same for Gods honour and wealth of my people, but he hath appointed the contrary.

7 But heare thou now this word that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that have bene before mee, and before thee in time past, [f] prophecied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

f Meaning, that the Prophets that did either denounce warre or peace were tried either true or false by the successe of their prophecies, albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh to trie the faith of his, Deut. 13.3.

9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be knowen that the Lord hath truely sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and [g] brake it.

g This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which have no zeale to the trueth, but are led with ambition to get the favour of men, and therefore cannot abide any that might discredite them, but burst forth into rages and contrary to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they do, so that they may maintaine their estimation.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Even so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came unto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, 13 Goe and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, I have put a [h] yoke of yron upon the necke of all these nations, that they may serve Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serve him, and I have given him the [i] beastes of the field also.

h That is, a hard and cruel servitude.
i Signifying that all should be his, as Dan. 2 38.

15 Then sayd the Prophet Ieremiah, unto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye.

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

k Seeing this thing was evident in the eyes of the people, and yet they returned not to the Lord: it is manifest, that miracles cannot mooved us neither the word it selfe, except God touch the heart.

17 So Hananiah the Prophet [k] died the same yeere in the seventh moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth unto them that were in captivity in Babylon. 10 He prophecieth their returne after seventie yeeres. 16 Hee prophecieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 21 He threateneth the prophets that seduce the people. 25 The death of Shemaiah is prophecied.

NOw these are the words of the ‖ booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem unto [a] the residue of the Elders, which were caried away captives, and to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captive from Ierusalem to Babel:

3 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Iudah [c] sent unto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

c To entreate of some equall conditions.

4 Thus hath the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel spoken unto all that are caried away captives, whom I have [d] caused to be caried away captives from Ierusalem unto Babel:

d To wit, the Lord, whose worke this was.

5 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

6 Take you wives, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wives for your sonnes, and give your daughters husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yee may be increased there, and not diminished.

e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affection that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest and quietnes, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliverance, which God had appointed most certaine: for els not onely the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should rejoyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Isa. 24.4.

8 ¶ For thus sayeth the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that be among you, deceive you, neither give eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophecie you a lye in my Name: I have not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, that after seventie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visit you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts, that I have thought towards you, sayth the Lord, even the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to give you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shall you cry unto mee, and yee shall goe and pray unto me, and I will heare you,

13 And ye shall seeke mee, and finde mee, because

16 Therefore thus ſayeth the Lord of the King, that ſitteth upon the throne of David, and of all the people that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captivitie:

h Whereby he aſſureth them, that there ſhalbe no hope of returning before the time appointed.

17 Even thus ſayeth the Lord of hoaſtes, Behölde, I will ſend upon them the h ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence, and will make them like vile i figs that cannot be eaten, they are ſo naughtie.

i According to the compariſon, Chap. 24. 1. 2.

18 And I will perſecute them with the ſword, with the famine, and with the peſtilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and k a curſe, and aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing and a reproach among all the nations whither I have caſt them.

k Reade Chap 26, 6.

19 Becauſe they have not heard my wordes, ſayeth the Lord, which I ſent unto them by my ſervants the Prophets, l riſing up earely and ſending them, but yee would not heare, ſayeth the Lord.

l Reade Chap 7. 13 &25, 3 & 26, 5.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord, all ye of the captivity, whom I have ſent from Ieruſalem to Babel.

21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, the God of Iſrael, of Ahab the ſonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the ſonne of Maaſeiah, which prophecie lyes unto you in my Name, Behölde, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and he ſhall ſlay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captivitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, ſhall take up this curſe againſt them, and ſay, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel burnt m in the fire.

m Becauſe they gave the people hope of ſpeedy returning.

23 Becauſe they have committed n villeny in Iſrael, and have committed adultery with their neighbours wives, and have ſpoken lying words in my Name, which I have not commaunded them, even I know it, and teſtifie it, ſayeth the Lord.

n Which was adulterie, and falſifying the word of God.

24 ¶ Thou ſhalt alſo ſpeake to Shemaiah the ‖ Nehelamite, ſaying,

25 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoaſtes, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Becauſe thou haſt ſent letters in thy name unto all the people, that are at Ieruſalem, and to Zephaniah the ſonne of Maaſeiah the Prieſt, and to all the Prieſts, ſaying, o Shemaiah the falſe prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe Prieſt, as though God had given him the ſpirit and zeale of Iehoiada, to puniſh whoſoever areſpaſſed againſt the word of God, of the which hee would have made Ieremiah one, calling him a raver and a falſe prophet.

26 The Lord hath made thee Prieſt, for o Iehoiada the Prieſt, that yee ſhould be officers in the Houſe of the Lord, for ever man that raveth and maketh himſelfe a Prophet, to put him in priſon and in the ſtockes.

27 Now therefore, why haſt thou not reprooved Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecieth unto you?

28 For, for this cauſe he ſent unto vs in Babel, ſaying, This captivitie is long: build houſes to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Prieſt read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord unto Ieremiah, ſaying,

31 Send to all them of the captivitie, ſaying, Thus ſayeth the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Becauſe that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I ſent him not, and he cauſed you to truſt in a lye, 32 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will viſite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his ſeed: he ſhall not have a man p to dwell among this people, neither ſhall he behold the good, that I will doe for my people, ſaith the Lord, becauſe he hath ſpoken rebelliouſly againſt the Lord.

p He and his ſeede ſhalbe deſtroyed, ſo that none of them ſhould ſee the benefite of this deliverance.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 and comforteth the Church.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying, 2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, Write thee all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee, in a a booke.

a Becauſe they ſhould be aſſured and their poſterity confirmed in the hope of this deliverance promiſed.

3 For loe, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captivitie of my people Iſrael and Iudah, ſayth the Lord: for I will reſtore them unto the land, that I gave to their fathers, and they ſhall poſſeſſe it.

4 Againe, theſe are the words that the Lord ſpake concerning Iſrael, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus ſaith the Lord, We have heard a b terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.

b He ſheweth that before that this deliverance ſhall come, the Caldeans ſhould be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and that they ſhould be in ſuch perplexitie and ſorow as a woman in her travell, as Iſa. 13. 8.

6 Demaund now and behold, if man travell with childe: wherefore doe I behold every man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in travell, and all faces are turned into a paleneſſe?

7 Alas, for this c day is great: none hath bene like it: it is even the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet ſhall he be delivered from it.

c Meaning that the time of their captivitie ſhould be grievous.

8 For in that d day, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, I will breake e his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and ſtrangers ſhall no more ſerve themſelves f of him.

d When I ſhall viſit Babylon.

e Of the King of Babylon.

9 But they ſhall ſerve the Lord their God, and g David their King, whom I will raiſe up unto them.

f To wit, of Iaakob, g That is, Meſſiah which ſhould come of the ſtocke of David according to the fleſh, and ſhould be the true Paſtour, as Ezek. 34. 23. who is ſet foorth, and his kingdome that ſhould be everlaſting in the perſon of David. Hoſ. 3. 5.

10 Therefore feare not, O my ſervant Iaakob, ſaith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Iſrael: for loe, I will deliver thee from a farre countrey, and thy ſeede from the land of their captivitie, and Iaakob ſhall turne againe, and ſhall be in reſt and proſperitie, and none ſhall make him afraid.

h Read Chap. 10. 24.

11 For I am with thee, ſayth the Lord, to ſave thee: though I vtterly deſtroy all the nations where I have ſcattered thee, yet I will not vtterly deſtroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not h vtterly cut thee off.

i Meaning, that no man is able to finde out a meane to deliver them, but that it muſt be the worke of God.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Thy bruiſing is incurable, and i thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cauſe, or to lay a plaiſter: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy k lovers have forgotten thee: they ſeeke thee not: for I have ſtriken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a ſharpe chaſtiſement for the multiude of thine iniquities, becauſe thy ſinnes were increaſed.

k The Aſſyrians and Egyptians whom thou diddeſt entertaine with gifts, who left thee in thine affliction.

15 Why cryeſt thou for thine affliction? thy ſorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: becauſe thy ſinnes were increaſed, I have done theſe things unto thee.

16 l Therefore

16 l Therefore all they that devoure thee, shall be devoured, and all thine enemies every one shall go into captivity, and they that spoile thee, shall be spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, will I give to be robbed.

17 For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, sayth the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zion whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will bring againe the captivitie of Iaakobs tents, and have compassion on his dwelling places, and the citie shalbe builded upon her owne heape, m and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shall proceed n thankesgiving, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished.

20 Their children also shall be as afore time, and their congregation shalbe established before me: and I will visit all that o vexe them.

21 And their o noble ruler shall be of themselves, and their governour shall proceed from the mids of them, and I will cause him to draw neere and approach unto mee: for who is this that directeth his p heart to come unto me, saith the Lord?

22 And ye shalbe my people, and I will be your God.

23 Beholde, q the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlewind that hangeth over, shall light upon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, untill he have done, and untill he have performed the intents of his heart: in the r latter dayes ye shall understand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He rehearseth Gods benefits after their returne from Babylon. 23 And the spirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

AT the a same time, saith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which b escaped the sword, found grace in the wildernesse: c he walketh before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared unto me d of old, saying: e Yea I have loved thee with an everlasting love, therefore with mercy I have drawen thee.

4 Againe I will build thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgin Israel: thou shalt still f be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines upon the mountaines of g Samaria, and the planters that plant them, h shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come, that the i watchmen upon the mount of Ephraim shall crie, Arise, and let us go up unto k Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus sayth the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iaakob, and shoute for ioy among the chiefe of the l Gentiles, publish praise and say, O Lord, save thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Behold, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coasts of the world, with the blind and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and her that is delivered also: a great company shall returne hither.

9 They shall come m weeping, and with mercy will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the rivers of n water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is o my first borne.

10 q Heare the word of the Lord, O yee Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, will gather him, and will keepe him, as a shepheard doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hand p of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifulnesse of the Lord, even for the q wheate and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe and bullockes: and their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and they shall have no more sorow.

13 Then shall the virgin reioyce in the r dance, and the yong men and the old men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and give them ioy for their sorowes

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with s fatnes, and my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning, and bitter weeping, t Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy:

17 And there is hope in thine end, sayth the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I have heard u Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an x untamed calfe: y convert thou me, and I shalbe converted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I was converted, I repented, and after that I was instructed, I smote upon my z thigh: I was ashamed, yea, even confounded, because I did beare the reproach of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim a my deare sonne or pleasant child? yet since I spake unto him, I still b remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him. I will surely have compassion upon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee up c signes: make thee heaps: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgin of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou goe astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created d a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall e compasse a man.

23 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of l Herein is commended Gods great mercy toward his, who doth not destroy them for their sinnes, but correct and chastise them till he have purged and pardoned them, and so burneth the rods by the which he did punish them, Isa. 33.1.

m Meaning, that the citie and the Temple should be restored to their former estate.

n He sheweth how the people shall with praise and thankesgiving acknowledge his benefit.

o Meaning, Zerubbabel, who was the figure of Christ, in whom this was accomplished.

p Signifying, that Christ doth willingly submit himselfe to the obedience of God his father.

q Least the wicked hypocrites should flatter themselves with these promises, the Prophets sheweth what shall be their portion.

b Which were delivered from the cruelty of Pharaoh.

c To wit, God.

d The people thus reason as though he were not so beneficiall to them now, as he had bene of old.

e Thus the Lord answereth that his love is not changeable.

f Thou shalt have still occasion to reioyce: which is meant by tabrets, & dancing, as their custome was after notable victories, Exod. 5.20. iudg. 5.2. and chap. 11.34.

g Because the Israelites, which were spiritually understood the ten tribes never returned to Samaria, therefore this must be under the kingdome of Christ, which was the restauration of the true Israel.

h That is, shall eate the fruit thereof, as Levit. 20.23. deut. 20.6.

k They shall exhort all to the embracing of the Gospel, as Levit. 2.3.

s Meaning, the spirit of wisedome, knowledge, and zeale.

t To declare the greatnes of Gods mercy in delivering the Iewes, he sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites or Israelites, that is, utterly destroyed and caried away, in so much, that if Rahel the mother of Beniamin could have risen againe to seeke for her children, she should have found none remaining.

u That is, the people that were led captive.

x Which was wanton and could not be subiect to the yoke.

y He sheweth how the faithfull use to pray: that is, desire God turne them forasmuch as they cannot turne of themselves.

z In signe of repentance and detestation of my sinne.

a As though he would say: No, for by his iniquity hee did what lay in him to cast me off.

b To wit, in pity him for my promises sake.

c Marke by what way thou diddest go into captivitie, and thou shalt turne againe by the same.

d Because their deliverance from Babylon, was a figure of their deliverance from sinne, hee sheweth how this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceive and beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man, or hee meaneth that Ierusalem, which was like a barren woman in her captivity, should be fruitfull as then, that is, ioyned in marriage, and whom God blesseth with children.

e Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man, or hee meaneth that Ierusalem, which was like a barren woman in her captivity, should be fruitfull as then, that is, ioyned in marriage, and whom God blesseth with children.

Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhall bring againe their captivity. The Lord bleſſe thee, O habitation of Iuſtice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah ſhall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I have ſatiate the weary ſoule, and I have repleniſhed every ſorowfull ſoule.

26 Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my ſleepe e was ſweet unto me.

27 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſow the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Iudah f with the ſeede of man, and with the ſeede of beaſt.

28 And like as I have watched upon them, to plucke up and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to deſtroy, and to plague them, ſo will I watch over them, to builde and to plant them, ſayth the Lord.

29 In thoſe dayes ſhall they ſay no more, The fathers have g eaten a ſowre grape, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge.

30 But every one ſhall die for his owne iniquity, every man that eateth the ſowre grape, his teeth ſhalbe ſet on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will make a h new covenant with the houſe of Iſrael, and with the houſe of Iudah.

32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my covenant they i brake, although I was ‖ an husband unto them, ſaith the Lord.

33 But this ſhall be the covenant that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael, After k thoſe dayes, ſaith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they ſhalbe my people.

34 And they ſhall l teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, ſaying, Know the Lord: for they ſhall all know me from the leaſt of them unto the greateſt of them, ſayth the Lord; for I will forgive their iniquity, and will remember their ſinnes no more.

35 Thus ſaith the Lord, which giveth m the ſunne for a light to the day, and the courſes of the moone and of the ſtarres for a light to the night, which breaketh the ſea, when the waves thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hoaſts.

36 If theſe ordinances depart out of my ſight, ſaith the Lord, then ſhall the ſeed of Iſrael ceaſe from being a nation before me, for ever.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord, If the heavens can be meaſured, n or the foundations of the earth be ſearched out beneath, then will I caſt off all the ſeed of Iſrael, for all that they have done, ſaith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that the o city ſhalbe built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, unto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the meaſure ſhall go forth in his preſence upon the hill Gareb, and ſhall compaſſe about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the aſhes, and all the fields unto the brook of Kidron, and unto the corner of the horſgate toward the Eaſt, ſhalbe holy unto the Lord, neither ſhall it be plucked up, nor deſtroyed any more for ever.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is caſt into priſon becauſe he prophecied that the citie ſhould be taken of the king of Babylon. 7 Hee ſheweth that the people ſhould come againe to their owne poſſeſſion.
38 The people of God are his ſervants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came unto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the a tenth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoaſte beſieged Ieruſalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, which was in the King of Iudahs houſe.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had ſhut him up, ſaying, Wherefore doeſt thou prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, * Behold, I will give this city into the hands of the King of Babel, and hee ſhall take it:

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but ſhall ſurely be delivered into the hands of the king of Babel, and ſhall ſpeake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall behold his face,

5 And he ſhall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there ſhall he be, untill b I viſit him, ſaith the Lord: though yee fight with the Caldeans, ye ſhall not proſper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah ſaid, The word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the ſonne of Shallum thine uncle, ſhall come unto thee and ſay, c Buy unto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kindred appertaineth unto thee d to buy it.

8 So Hanameel, mine uncles ſonne, came unto mee in the court of the priſon, according to the word of the Lord, and ſaid unto me, Buy my e field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the poſſeſſion is thine, and the purchaſe belongeth unto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine uncles ſonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the ſilver, even ſeven f ſhekels, and ten pieces of ſilver.

10 And I writ it in the booke and ſigned it, and tooke witneſſes, and weighed him the ſilver in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the poſſeſſion, being ſealed g according to the Law, and cuſtome, with the booke that was open.

12 And I gave the booke of the poſſeſſion unto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine uncles ſonne, and in the preſence of the witneſſes, written in the booke of the poſſeſſion, before all the Iewes that ſate in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts the God of Iſrael, Take the writings, even this booke of the poſſeſſion, both that is ſealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen h veſſell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hoaſtes, the God of Iſrael ſaith thus, Houſes and fields, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had delivered the booke of the poſſeſſion unto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, I prayed unto the Lord, ſaying,

17 Ah

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Ieremiah, ſaying, 27 Behold, I am the LORD GOD of all m fleſh; is there any thing too hard for me?

m That is, of every creature: who as they are his worke, ſo doth he governe and guid them as pleaſeth him, whereby he ſheweth that as he is the authour of this their captivity for their ſinnes, ſo will hee for his mercies be their redeemer to reſtore them againe to libertie.

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will give this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and he ſhall take it.

29 And the Caldeans ſhall come and fight againſt this citie, and ſet fire on this citie, and burne it with the houſes, upon whoſe roofes they have offered incenſe unto Baal, and powred drinke offering unto other gods, to provoke mee unto anger.

30 For the children of Iſrael, and the children of Iudah have ſurely done evill before me, from their n youth: for the children of Iſrael have ſurely provoked mee to anger with the workes of their hands, ſaith the Lord.

n From the time that I brought them out of Egypt, and made them my people, and called them my firſt borne.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene unto me as a provocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, even unto this day, that I ſhould remoove it out of my ſight.

32 Becauſe of all the evill of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Iudah, which they have done to provoke mee to anger, even they, their Kings, their Princes, their Prieſts, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

33 And they have turned unto mee the backe and not the face: though I taught them, o riſing up earely, and inſtructing them, yet they were not obedient to receive doctrine.

a Which was in the kings houſe at Ieruſalem, as Chap. 32. 1, 2.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, the b maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and eſtabliſhed it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call unto mee, and I will anſwere thee, and ſhew thee great and mightie things, which thou knoweſt not.

c Read Chap. 32. 24

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this citie, and concerning the houſes of the Kings of Iudah, which are deſtroyed by the c mounts, and by the ſword, d The Iewes thinke to overcome the Caldeans, but they ſeeke their owne deſtruction.

5 They come to d fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themſelves with the dead bodies of men, whom I have ſlaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I have hid my e face from this citie, becauſe of all their wickedneſſe.

e He ſheweth that Gods favor is cauſe of all proſperity, as his anger is of all adverſitie.

f In the midſt of his threatnings God remembreth his, and comforteth them.

6 ¶ Behold, I f will give it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reveale unto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I will cauſe the captivitie of Iudah and the captivitie of Iſrael to returne, and will build them as at the firſt.

8 And I will g cleanſe them from all their iniquitie, whereby they have ſinned againſt me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have ſinned againſt mee, and whereby they have rebelled againſt mee.

9 And it ſhall be to mee a name, a h joy, a praiſe, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall heare all the good that I doe unto them: and they ſhall feare and tremble for all the goodneſſe, and for all the wealth, that I ſhew unto this citte.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord, Againe there ſhall be heard in this place (which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate, without man, and without beaſt, even in the cities of Iudah, and in the ſtreetes of Ieruſalem, that are deſolate without man, and without inhabitants, and without beaſt.)

11 The voyce of ioy and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that ſhall ſay, i Prayſe the Lord of hoaſtes, becauſe the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for ever, and of them that offer the ſacrifice of prayſe in the houſe of the Lord, for I will cauſe to returne the captivitie of the land, as at the firſt, ſaith the Lord.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, Againe in this place, which is deſolate, without man, and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof there ſhall be dwelling for ſhepheards to reſt their flocks.

13 In the cities of the k mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin and about Ieruſalem, and in the cities of Iudah ſhall the ſheepe paſſe againe, under the hand of him that telleth them, ſaith the Lord.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I have promiſed unto the houſe of Iſrael, and to the houſe of Iudah.

15 In thoſe dayes, and at that time will I cauſe l the Branch of righteouſneſſe to grow up unto David, and he ſhall execute iudgement and righteouſneſſe in the land.

16 In thoſe dayes ſhall Iudah be ſaved, and Ieruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely, and hee that ſhall call m her, is the Lord our n righteouſnes.

17 For thus ſaith the Lord, David ſhall never want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael.

18 Neither ſhall the Prieſts and Levites want a man before me to offer o burnt offrings, and to offer meat offrings, and to do ſacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto Ieremiah, ſaying,

20 Thus ſaith the Lord, If you can breake my covenant of the p day, and my covenant of the night, that there ſhould not be day and night in their ſeaſon, 21 Then may my covenant be broken with David my ſervant, that he ſhould not have a ſonne to reigne upon his throne, and with the Levites, and Prieſts my miniſters.

22 As the army of heaven cannot be numbred, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured: ſo will I multiply the ſeede of David my ſervant, and the Levites, that miniſter unto me.

23 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, ſaying, 24 Conſidereſt thou not what q this people have ſpoken, ſaying, The two families, which the Lord hath choſen, hee hath even caſt them off? thus they have deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus ſaith the Lord, If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the order of heaven and earth, 26 Then will I caſt away the ſeede of Iaakob and David my ſervant, and not take of his ſeed to be rulers over the ſeede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cauſe their captivitie to returne, and have compaſſion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah ſhall be given into the hands of the king of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelnie toward their ſervants.

THe word which came unto Ieremiah from the Lord (when a Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and all his hoaſte, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were under the power of his hand, and all people fought againſt Ieruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof) ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Goe, and ſpeake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus ſaith the Lord, behold, * I will give this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he ſhall burne it with fire,

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand, but ſhalt ſurely be taken, and delivered into his hand, and thine eyes ſhall behold the face of the king of Babel, and hee ſhall ſpeake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou ſhalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah, thus ſaith the Lord of thee, Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword,

5 But thou ſhalt die in b peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, ſo ſhall they burne odours for thee, and they ſhall lament thee, ſaying, Oh c Lord: for I have pronounced the word, ſaith the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet ſpake all theſe wordes unto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ieruſalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoaſte fought againſt Ieruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Iudah, that were left, even againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah: for theſe ſtrong cities remained of the cities of Iudah.)

8 This is the word that came unto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people, which were at Ieruſalem, d to proclaime libertie unto them.

9 That every man ſhould let his e ſervant go free, and every man his handmaid, which was an Ebrew or an Ebreweſſe, and that none ſhould ſerve himſelfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the covenant, heard that every one ſhould let his ſervant goe free, and every one his handmaid, and that none ſhould ſerve themſelves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they † repented and cauſed the ſervants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in ſubiection as ſervants and handmaids.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came unto Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, I made a covenant couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ‖ seruants, saying,

‖ Or, bondage.

14 * At the terme of seuen yeeres, let yee goe euery man his brother an Ebrewe which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when hee hath serued thee sixe yeeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither enclined their eares.

* Deut. 15, 1, 12.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before mee in f the house, wherevpon my Name is called.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and streight couenant, made in the Name of the Lord.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for yee haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmayd, whom yee had set at liberty at their pleasure, to returne, and hold them in subjection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmayds.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, sayth the Lord, to g the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

g That is, I giue the sword liberty to destroy you.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels hoasts, which i are gone vp from you.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap. 37, 11.

22 Behold, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

He purposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

a For the disposition and order of these prophecies, reade Chap. 17, 1.

THe word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes a of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying,

2 Go vnto the house of the b Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drinke.

b They came of Hobab Moses father in law, who was no Israelite, but after ioyned with them in the seruice of God.

3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites.

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan the sonne of Igdaliah a man c of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.

c That is, a Prophet.

‖ Or, doore.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cuppes, and d said vnto them, Drinke wine.

d The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus, for then they ought to haue obeyed, but he rendereth to another end: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: for e Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, f Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for ever.

e Whom Iehu the King of Israel sauoured for his zeale, 2 King. 10, 15.

f Teaching them hereby to flee all occasion of intemperancie, ambition and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth: and be ready to depart at all occasions.

7 Neither shall you build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes yee shall dwell in tents, that yee may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue wee obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor seed,

10 But we haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to g all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

g Which was now for the space of three hundreth yeeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem, from the hoaste of the Caldeans, and from the hoaste of Aram: so we h dwell at Ierusalem.

h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vow, that it could not be broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in tents, they dwell now at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will i yee not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father.

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, k rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets: rising vp early, and sending them, saying, * Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey me.

* Chap. 18, 11. and 25, 5.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 * Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue l spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

* Chap. 18, 11. and 25, 5.

l That is, by his Prophets and ministers, which sheweth that it is as much, as though he should speake to himselfe, when he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.

18 And Ieremiah said vnto the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall m not want a man, to stand before me for ever.

m His posterity shall continue and be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Baruch writeth as Ieremiah inditeth, the booke of the curse against Iudah and Israel. 9 Hee is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all.

14. He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also.
23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

Reade Chap. 25. 1.

A Nd in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Ioſiah king of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the words that I have ſpoken to thee againſt Iſrael, and againſt Iudah, and againſt all the nations, from the day that I ſpake vnto thee, even [b] from the dayes of Ioſiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the houſe of Iudah will heare of all the evill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne every man from his evill way, that I may forgive their iniquitie and their ſinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had ſpoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, ſaying, I am [d] ſhut vp, and cannot goe into the Houſe of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule wherein thou haſt written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords houſe vpon the [e] faſting day: alſo thou ſhalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lord, and every one returne from his evill way: for great is the anger and the wrath that the Lord hath declared againſt this people.

8 So Baruch the ſonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the words of the Lord in the Lords houſe.

9 ¶ And in the fift [g] yeere of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Ioſiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to all the people in Ieruſalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ieruſalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the words of Ieremiah in the houſe of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the ſonne of Shaphan the Secretary, in the higher court at the entrie of the [h] new gate of the Lords houſe in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the ſonne of Gemariah, the ſonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings houſe into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes ſate there, even Eliſhama the Chancellor, and Delaiah the ſonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the ſonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the words that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes ſent Iehudi the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Shelemiah, the ſonne of Cuſhi, vnto Baruch, ſaying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou haſt read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they ſaid vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the words, they were [i] afraid both one and other, and ſaid vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all theſe words.

17 And they examined Baruch, ſaying, Tell vs now, how diddeſt thou write all theſe words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch anſwered them, He pronounced all theſe words vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke.

19 Then ſaid the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the king to the court, but they laide vp the roule in the chamber of Eliſhama the Chancellour, and tolde the King all the words, that he might heare.

21 So the King ſent Iehudi to fetch the roule, and hee tooke it out of Eliſhama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi reade it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which ſtood beſide the King.

22 Now the King ſate in the winter houſe, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure ſides, he cut it with the pen-kniſe, and caſt it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntill all the roule was conſumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent [m] their garments, neither the King, nor any of his ſervants that heard all theſe words.

25 Nevertheleſſe, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had beſought the King, that he would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the King commaunded Ierahmeel the ſonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the ſonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the ſonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the Scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord [n] hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the words that Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) ſaying, 28 Take thee againe [o] another roule, and write in it all the former words that were in the firſt roule which Iehoiakim the King of Iudah hath burnt.

29 And thou ſhalt ſay to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus ſaith the Lord, thou haſt burnt this roule, ſaying, [p] Why haſt thou written therein, ſaying, That the King of Babel ſhall certainely come and deſtroy this land, and ſhall take thence both man and beaſt?

30 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, He ſhall have [q] none to ſit vpon the throne of David, and his [r] dead body ſhall be caſt out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the froſt.

31 And I will viſite him and his ſeede, and his ſervants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the evill that I have pronounced againſt them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gave it to Baruch the Scribe the ſonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added beſides them many like words.

i The godly were afraid, ſeeing God ſo offended: and the wicked were aſtonied for the horrour of the puniſhment.

k They that were godly among the princes gave this counſell, by whoſe meanes it is like that Ieremiah was delivered: for they knew the rage of the king and of the wicked to be ſuch, that they could not eſcape without danger of their lives.

l Which conteined part of November, and part of December.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Zedekiah ſucceedeth Iechoniah. 3 Hee ſendeth unto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Beniamin is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in priſon.

AND * king Zedekiah the ſonne of Ioſiah reigned for a Coniah the ſonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel b made king in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he, nor his ſervants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord which hee ſpake by the † miniſterie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king c ſent Iehucal the ſonne of Shelemiah, and Zaphaniah the ſonne of Maaſeiah the Prieſt to the Prophet Ieremiah, ſaying, Pray now unto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah went d in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the priſon.

5 Then Pharaohs hoaſte was e come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that beſieged Ieruſalem, heard tidings of them, they † departed from Ieruſalem)

6 Then came the word of the Lord unto the Prophet Ieremiah, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay to the King of Iudah, that ſent you unto me to enquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoaſte, which is come forth to helpe you, ſhall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans ſhall come againe, and fight againſt this citie, and take it and burne it with fire.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord, ‖ Deceive not your ſelves, ſaying, The Caldeans ſhall ſurely depart from vs: for they ſhall not depart.

10 For though ye had ſmitten the whole hoaſt of the Caldeans that fight againſt you, and there remained, but wounded men among them, yet ſhould every man riſe up in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoaſte of the Caldeans was broken up from Ieruſalem, becauſe of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ieruſalem to goe into the f land of Beniamin, ſeparating himſelfe thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the g gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whoſe name was Irijah the ſonne of Shelemiah, the ſonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, ſaying, Thou † fleeſt to the Caldeans.

14 Then ſaid Ieremiah, That is falſe, I flie not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him, ſo Irijah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and ſmote him, and laid him in priſon in the houſe of Iehonathan the Scribe: for they had made that the h priſon.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the priſons, and had remained there a long time.

17 Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and tooke him out, and the king asked him ſecretly, in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah ſaid, Yea: for, ſaid he, thou ſhalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreover, Ieremiah ſaid unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſervants, or againſt this people, that ye have put me in priſon?

19 * Where are nowe your prophets, which prophecied unto you, ſaying, The king of Babel ſhall not come againſt you, nor againſt this land?

20 Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lord the King: let my prayer be † acceptable before thee, that thou cauſe me not to returne to the houſe of Iehonathan the ſcribe, leaſt I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commaunded, that they ſhould put Ieremiah in the court of the priſon, and that they ſhould given him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers ſtreete vntill, all the i bread in the citie were eaten up. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 14 At the requeſt of Ebed-melech the King commaundeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah ſheweth the King how he might eſcape death.

THEN Shephatiah the ſonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the ſonne op Paſhhur, and Iucal the ſonne of Shelemiah, and Paſhhur the ſonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had ſpoken unto all the people, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, He that remaineth in this city, ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, ſhall live: for he ſhall have his life for b a praye, and ſhall live.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, This citie ſhall ſurely be given into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which ſhall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes ſaid unto the king, We beſeech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch wordes unto them: for this man ſeeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king † ſaid, Behold, he is in your hands, for the king can d denie d you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the priſon: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: ſo Ieremiah ſtucke faſt in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the † blacke Moore, one of the Eunuches which was in the kings houſe, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon: (then the king ſate in the e gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings houſe, and ſpake to the king, ſaying,

9 My lord the king, f theſe men have done evill in all that they have done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they have caſt into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech, the blacke Moore, ſaying, Take from hence thirty men † with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the houſe of the king vnder the treaſurie, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne clouts, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More ſayd unto Ieremiah, Put now theſe old rotteth ragges and worne, vnder thine arme-holes, betweene 13 So they drewe up Ieremiah with coards, and tooke him up out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the g court of the priſon.

g Where the king had ſet him before to be at more liberty, as Chap. 37. 21.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entry that is in the Houſe of the Lord, and the king ſayd vnto Ieremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiah ſaid to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt thou not ſlay me? and if I give thee counſell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King ſware ſecretly vnto Ieremiah, ſaying, As the Lord liveth, that made vs theſe ſoules, I will not ſlay thee, nor give thee into the hands of thoſe men that ſeeke thy life.

17 Then ſayd Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus ſaith the Lord God of hoaſtes the God of Iſrael, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels h princes, then thy ſoule ſhall live, and this citie ſhall not be burnt up with fire, and thou ſhalt live, and thine houſe.

h And yeeld thy ſelfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babels princes, then ſhall this citie be given into the hand of the Caldeans, and they ſhall burne it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king ſayd vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, leaſt they deliver mee into their hands, and they i mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men, then the threatnings of God.

20 But Ieremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliver thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beſeech thee, which I ſpeake vnto thee: ſo ſhall it be well vnto thee, and thy ſoule ſhall live.

21 But if thou wilt refuſe to goe forth, this is the word that the Lord hath ſheweth me, 22 And behold, all the women that are k left in the king of Iudahs houſe, ſhall be brought forth to the king of Babels princes, and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends have perſwaded thee, and have prevailed againſt thee: thy feet are faſtened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

k When Ieconiah, and his mother, with others, were caried away, theſe women of the Kings houſe were left: which ſhall be taken, ſaith the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath beene ſeduced by his familiar friends and falſe prophets, which have left him in the myre.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wives, and thy children to the Caldeans and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this city ſhalt thou cauſe to be burnt with fire.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderſtand that I have talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and ſay vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou haſt ſaid vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not ſlay thee: alſo what the king ſaid vnto thee.

l Herein appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did diſſemble to ſave his life albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

26 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, I humbly beſought the king that he would not cauſe mee to returne to Iehonathans houſe, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him, And he told them according to all theſe words that the king had commanded: ſo they left off ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Ieremiah aboade ſtill in the court of the priſon vntill the day that Ieruſalem was taken: and he was there when Ieruſalem was taken.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſaw them, and all the men of warre, then they fledde, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the b gate betweene the two wals, and he went toward the wildernesse.

b Which was a poſterne doore, reade 2. King. 2. 5, 14.

5 But the Caldeans hoaſte purſued after them, and overtooke Zedekiah in the deſert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel unto c Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gave iudgement upon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the king of Babel ſlew the ſonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: alſo the king of Babel ſlew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreover he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines to cary him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings houſe, and the houſes of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ieruſalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖ chiefe ſteward caried away captive into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and thoſe that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the reſt of the people that remained.

‖ Or, captaine of the guard.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward left the d poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gave them vineyards and fields at the ſame time.

d For the rich and the mighty which put their truſt in their ſhifts and meanes, whereby Gods iuſt iudgements moſt rigorouſly handled.

11 Now Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gave charge concerning Ieremiah † unto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward, ſaying,

12 Take him, and † looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but do unto him * even as he ſhall ſay unto thee.

† Ebr. ſet thine eyes upon them.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward ſent, and Nebuſhaz-ban, Rabſaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes:

e Thus God preſerved his Prophet by his meanes, whom he made the ſcourge to puniſh the king and them that were his enemies.

14 Even they ſent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the priſon, and committed him unto f Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, that he ſhould cary him home; ſo he dwelt among the people.

f Whom the King of Babel had now appointed governour over the reſt of the Iewes that he left behind.

15 Now the worde of the Lord came unto Ieremiah, while he was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, ſaying, 16 Go and ſpeake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes the God of Iſrael, Beholde, I will bring my words upon this citie for evill, and not for good, and they ſhall be accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliver thee in that day, ſaith the Lord, and thou ſhalt not be given into the hand of the men whom thou feareſt.

18 For I will ſurely diliver thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword, but thy life ſhall be for a pray unto thee, becauſe thou g haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord.

g Thus God recompenſed his zeale and favour, which he ſhewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to go whither he will. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward had let him go from Ramath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ieruſalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

a From this second verſe vnto Chap. 42. 7. it ſeemeth to be as a parentheſis, and ſeparated matter: and there this ſtorie beginneth againe, and this viſion is declared what it was.

2 a And the chiefe ſteward tooke Ieremiah and ſayd vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

b God mooued this infidell to ſpeake this to declare the great blindneſſe and obſtinacie of the Iewes, which could not feele that which this heathen man confeſſed.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath ſaid: becauſe ye haue b ſinned againſt the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I looſe thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it pleaſe thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it pleaſe thee not to come with mee into Babel, † tarie ſtill: beholde, all the land is ‖ before thee: whither it ſeemeth good, and convenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

‖ Or, at thy commandement.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore hee ſayd, Returne to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whereſoeuer it pleaſeth thee to goe. So the chiefe ſteward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, to c Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

c Which was a citie of Iudah.

7 Now when all the captaines of the hoaſte, d which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel.

d Which were ſcattered abroad for feare of the Caldeans.

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen e Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the ſonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the ſonne of Tanehumeth, and the ſonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the ſonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

e Who was of the kings blood and after ſleweth him, Chap. 41, 2.

9 And Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan *ſware vnto them, and to their men, ſaying, Feare not to ſerue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and ſerue the king of Babel, and it ſhall be well with you:

* 2 King. 25, 24.

10 As for me, Behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to ‖ ſerue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and ſummer fruits, and oyle, and put them in your veſſels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue ‖ taken.

‖ Or, to vexe them, or, to intreate them for you.

‖ Or, choſen to dwell in.

11 Likewiſe when all the Iewes that were in f Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had ſet over them Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, f Which were fled alſo for feare of the Caldeans.

12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driven, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and ſummer fruits, very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaſt, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And ſayd vnto him, Knoweſt thou not that g Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath ſent Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah to ſlay thee? But Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

g For vnder the colour of entertaining of Iſhmael, he ſought onely to make them to deſtroy one another.

15 Then Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let mee goe, I pray thee, and I will ſlay Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and no man ſhall know it. Wherefore ſhould he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which h are gathered vnto thee, ſhould be ſcattered, and the remnant in Iudah periſh?

h Thus the godly, which thinke no harme to others, are ſooneſt deceiued, and neuer lacke ſuch as conſpire their deſtruction.

16 But Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam ſayd vnto Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, Thou ſhalt h not do this thing: for thou ſpeakeſt falſly of Ishmael.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guiltleſſly, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BUt in the a ſeuenth moneth came Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Eliſhama of the ſeede royall, and the princes of the b king, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did c eate bread together in Mizpah.

a The citie was deſtroyed in the fourth moneth: and in the ſeuenth moneth, which contained part of September, and part of October, was the gouernour Gedaliah ſlaine.

b Meaning, Zedekiah.

c They did eate together as familiar friends.

2 Then aroſe Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah with theſe ten men that were with him, and ſmote Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan with the ſword, and ſlew him whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael alſo ſlew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the ſecond day that he had ſlaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it.

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen foureſcore men hauing their beards ſhauen, and their cloathes rent and cut, with d offrings and incenſe in their hands to offer in the houſe of the Lord.

d For they thought that the Temple had not bene deſtroyed, and therefore came vp to the feaſt of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they ſhewed theſe ſignes of ſorow.

6 And Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah went foorth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping, as hee went: and when he met them, hee ſayd vnto them, Come e to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam.

e For his death was kept ſecret, and he fained that he lamented for the deſtruction of Ieruſalem and the Temple: but after ſlew them when they ſeemed to fauour Gedaliah.

7 And when they came into the midſt of the citie, Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah ſlew them, and caſt them into the midſt of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that ſaid vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treaſures in the field, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of hony: ſo hee ſtayed, and ſlew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmael had caſt the dead bodies of the men (whom he had ſlaine becauſe of Gedaliah) is it, which Aſa the king had f made becauſe of Baſha king of Iſrael, and Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were ſlaine.

f Aſa fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemie, and caſt ditches and trenches, 1 King. 15, 22.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the reſidue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward had committed to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the ſonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all all the g captaines of the hoaſte that were with him, heard of all the euill that Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Iſhmael caried away captiue, ſaw Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaſte, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people that Iſhmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, eſcaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the h Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaſte that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had ſlaine Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam) even the ſtrong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon.

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth i Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Becauſe of the Caldeans: for they feared them, becauſe Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had ſlaine Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made governour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

a The captaines aske counſell of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 Hee admoniſheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoaſte, and Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the ſonne of Hoſhaiah, and all the people from the leaſt vnto the moſt, came,

2 And ſayde vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, † Heare our prayer we beſeech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, even for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold.)

3 That the Lord thy God may ſhew vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet ſayd vnto them, I have heard you: behold I will pray vnto the Lord your God according to your words, and whatſoeuer thing the Lord ſhall anſwere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they ſayd to Ieremiah, b The Lord be a witneſſe of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not even according to all things for the which the Lord thy God ſhall ſend thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whom wee ſend thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ c And ſo after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaſt, which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt to the moſt,

9 And ſayd vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord God of Iſrael, vnto whom yee ſent me to preſent your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not deſtroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I d repent me of the euill that I have done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, ſaith the Lord: for I am with you, to ſaue you, and to deliuer you e from his hand, 12 And I will grant you mercy that hee may have compaſſion vpon you, and he ſhall cauſe you to ‖ dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye ſay, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we ſhall ſee no warre, nor heare the ſound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread, and there will we dwell.

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, the God of Iſrael, If yee ſet your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there,)

16 Then the ſword that ye feared, f ſhall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, ſhall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there ſhall ye die.

17 And all the men that ſet their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, and none of them ſhall remaine, nor eſcape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, the God of Iſrael, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalem: ſo ſhall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye ſhall enter into Egypt, and ye ſhall be a deteſtation, and an aſtoniſhment, and a g curſe, and a reproach, and ye ſhall ſee this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath ſayd concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainely that I have admoniſhed you this day.

20 Surely ye h diſſembled in your hearts when ye ſent me vnto the Lord your God, ſaying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs even according vnto all that the Lord our God ſhall ſay, and we will doe it.

21 Therefore I have this day declared it you, but you have not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath ſent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainly that ye ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence i in the place whither ye deſire to goe and dwell.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah propheſieth the deſtruction of Egypt.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an end of ſpeaking vnto the whole people all the words of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had ſent him to them, even all theſe words,

2 Then ſpake a Azariah the ſonne of Hoſhaiah, and Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the b proud men, ſaying vnto Ieremiah, c Thou ſpeakeſt falſly: the Lord our God hath d not ſent thee to ſay, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which would know of Gods word what they ſhould doe, but will not follow it, but in aſmuch as it agreeth with that thing, which they have purpoſed to doe.

b There are none more ready to abuſe the Name of God and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falſehood uſe it without all reverence, and make it a meanes for them to deceive the ſimple and the godly.

c Here is declared the viſion and the occaſion thereof, whereof mention was made, Chap. 40. 1.

d Reade Chap. 18. 8.

b This declareth that pride is the cauſe of rebellion, and contempt of Gods miniſters.

c When the hypocriſie of the wicked is diſcovered, they braſt forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flattery, reade Iſa. 30. 10.

d He ſheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to faine that they would obey God and imbrace his word, if they were aſſured that his meſſengers ſpake the trueth: though indeede they be moſt farre from all obedience.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaste tooke all the remnant of Iudah that were returned from all f nations, whither they had bene driven, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Even men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and every person that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, & Ieremiah the g Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to h Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and i hide them in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entry of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel k my servant, and will set his throne upon these stones that I have hid, and he shall spread his pauilion over them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: l such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captivitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them and cary them away captives, & he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a m shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

CHAP. XLIV.

Hee reproveth the people for their idolatry. 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lord, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein, is prophecied.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at a Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Yee have seene all the evill that I have brought upon Ierusalem, and upon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate and no man dwelleth therein.

3 Because of their wickednesse which they have committed, to provoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serve other gods whom they knew not, neither they nor you, nor your fathers,

4 Howbeit I sent unto you all my servants the Prophets b rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense unto other gods.

6 Wherefore c my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

a These were all famous and strang cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt for their safety: but the Prophet declareth that there is no hold so strong that can preserve them from Gods vengeance.

b Reade Chap. 7. 25. and 26, 3. and 36. 5. & 29. 19. & 32. 33.

c He setteth before their eyes Gods iudgements against Iudah and Ierusalem for their idolatry, that they might beware by their example, and not with the like wickednesse provoke the Lord: for then they should be double punished,

7 Therefore now thus sayth the Lord of hoasts the God of Israel, wherefore commit ye this great evill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling, out of Iudah, and leave you none to remaine?

8 In that ye provoke me unto wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense unto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither yee be gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction unto your selves, and that ye might be a curse and a reproach among all nations of the earth.

9 Have ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the d kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wives, and your owne wickednesse, and the wickednesse of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖ humbled unto this day, neither have they feared nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you * to evill, and to destroy all Iudah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah that e have set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall even be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die from the least unto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment, and a f curse and a reproach.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they † have a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but g such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incense unto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken unto vs in the Name of § Lord, we will h not heare it of thee,

17 But wee will doe whatsoever thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense unto i the Queene of heaven, and to powre out drinke offrings unto her, as we have done, both we and our fathers, our kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then † had wee k plenty of vitailes, and were well and ‖ felt none evill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heaven, and to powre out drinke offerings unto her, wee have had ‖ scarcenesse of all things, and have beene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incense unto § Queene of heaven, and powred out drinke offerings unto her, did wee make her cakes ‖ to make her glad, d He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memory Gods plagues from the beginning, that considering them, we might live in his feare, and know if he have not spared our fathers; yea, kings, princes, and rulers, and also whole countreys, and nations for their sinnes, that we vile wormes, cannot looke to escape punishment for ours.

g Meaning, but a few.

h This declareth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once from God, and to follow our owne fantasies: for Satan ever suffereth such, and doth not leave them till he have brought them to extreme impudentie and madnesse, even to iustifie their wickednes against God and his Prophets.

i Reade Chap. 7. 18. It seemeth that the Papists gathered of this place Salve Regina, and Regina coeli laetare, calling the virgin Mary Queene of heaven, and so of the blessed virgine and mother of our Saviour Christ, made an idole: for here the Prophet condemneth their idolatrie.

† Ebr. we were satiate with bread. K This is still the argument of idolaters, which esteeme religion by the belly, and in stead of acknowledging Gods workes, who sendeth both plenty and dearth, health and sickenesse, they attribute it to their idoles, and so dishonour God. ‖ Or, sow. ‖ Or, want. ‖ Or, to appease her.

and powre out drinke offerings unto her without our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah unto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you and your fathers, your kings, and your Princes, and the people of the land, and † hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednes of your inventions, and because of the abominations, which yee have committed: therefore is your land desolate, and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because you have burnt incense, and because yee have sinned against the Lord, and have not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come upon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreover Ieremiah said unto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah, that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, saying, Yee and your wives have both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your [m] hand, saying, We will performe our vowes that wee have vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heaven, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that ye have vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold, I have sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name [n] shall no more be called upon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liveth.

27 Behold, I will watch over them for evill, and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, untill they be utterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, [o] shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe unto you, saith the Lord, when I visit you in this place, that ye may know that my wordes shall surely stand against you for evill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will [p] give Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gave Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

1 He prophecieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliverance is promised to Israel.

THe words of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the [a] Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the army of [b] Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.

4 Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get up, and stand vp with your sallets, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 [d] Wherefore have I seene them afraid, and driven backe? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the North by the river Perath.

7 Who is this that commeth up as [f] a flood, whose waters are mooved like the rivers?

8 Egypt riseth up like the flood, and his waters are mooved like the rivers, and he saith, I will goe up, and will cover the earth: I will destroy the city with them that dwell therein.

9 Come up ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come forth, [g] the blacke Mores, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

10 ¶ For this is the day of the Lord God of hoastes, and a day of vengeance, that hee may avenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall devoure, and it shall be saciate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hoasts hath [h] a sacrifice in the North countrey [i] by the river Perath.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did drive them.

16 Hee made many to fall, and one fell upon another: and they said, Arise, let us goe againe to our [n] owne people, and to the land of our nativitie from the sword of the violent.

p He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed to assure them of the certaintie of the plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 20. de Antiq. cap. 12. writeth, that five yeeres after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the yonger having overcome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the king, and so brought these Iewes and others into Babylon.

1 The word of the Lord againſt the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damaſcus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

VNto the children of [a] Ammon thus ſaith the Lord, Hath Iſrael no ſonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their king [b] poſſeſſed Gad? and his people dwelt in [c] his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will cauſe a noiſe of war to be heard in [d] Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it ſhall be a deſolate heape, and her daughters ſhall be burnt with fire: then ſhall Iſrael poſſeſſe thoſe that poſſeſſed him, ſaith the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heſhbon, for Ai is waſted: cry yee daughters of Rabbah: gird you with ſackecloath: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their king ſhall go into captivity, and his Prieſts, and his Princes likewiſe.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their lives, and will bring upon them a plague, even the indignation of my wrath, sayeth the Lord, and will send the sword after them, till I have consumed them.

38 And I will set my ⁱ throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the king and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but ᵏ in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

6 ¶ My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their ᶠ shepheards have caused them to goe astray, and have turned them away to the mountaines: they have gone from ᵍ mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

40 As God deſtroyed * Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, ſayeth the Lord: ſo ſhall no man dwell there, neither ſhall the ſonne of man remaine therein.

41 ‖ Behold, a people ſhall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings ſhall be raiſed up from c the coaſts of the earth.

c Meaning, that the Perſians ſhould gather their army of many nations.

42 They ſhall hold the bow and the buckler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce ſhall roare like the ſea, and they ſhall ride upon horſes, and be put in aray like men to the battell againſt thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands d waxed feeble: ſorow came upon him, even ſorow as of a woman in travaile.

d Which is meant of Belſhazzar, Dan. 5.6.

44 Behold, he * ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of Iorden unto the ſtrong habitation: for I will make Iſrael to reſt, and I will make them to haſte away from her: and who is a choſen man that I may appoynt againſt her? for who is like me, and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the e ſhepheard that will ſtand before me?

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanity of idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Seraiah.

THus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying a wind,

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall empty her land, for in the day of trouble they shallbe against her on every side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, vvil I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoaste.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust thorow in her streets.

5 For Israel hath beene no [b] widow, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hoastes, though their land was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 ¶ [c] Flee out of the middest of Babel, and deliver every man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: hee will render vnto her a recompense.

7 Babel hath bin as a golden cup in the [d] Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken, the nations have drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations [e] rage.

8 * Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We would have cured Babel, but she could not be healed: forsake her, and ledf vs go every one into his owne countrey: for her iudgment is come vp into heaven, and is lifted vp to the clouds.

10 The Lord hath brought foorth our [g] righteousnesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ‖ gather the shieldes: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the [h] vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skouts: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many [i] waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, euen the ‖ end of thy coveteousnes.

14 The Lord of hoastes hath sworne by † him * selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and shout against thee.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heaven by his discretion.

16 Hee giveth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heaven, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the endes of the earth, he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Every man is a beast by his owne [k] knowledge: every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanity, and the worke of errours: in the time of their [l] visitation they shall perish.

19 The [m] portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoastes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine [n] hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes, 21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake old & yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maid.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their evill, that they have done in Zion, euen in your sight, sayth the Lord.

25 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O destroying [o] mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I stil stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the [b] rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations: but thou shalt be destroyed for ever, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the Land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of [q] Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her, appoint the prince against her, cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorow: for the deuise of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel have ceased to fight: they have remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they have burnt her dwelling place, and her bars are broken.

31 A poste shall runne to meete the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a [r] side thereof, 32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reeds burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest [s] shall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath [t] deuoured me, and destroyed mee: he hath made me an emptie vessell: he hath swallowed me vp like a dragon: and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

35 The spoyle of me, and that which was left of mee, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldei, ſhall Ieruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord, Beholde, I will maintaine thy [u] cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the ſea, and drie vp her ſprings.

37 And Babel ſhallbe as heaps, a dwelling place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelps.

39 In their [x] head I will make them feaſts, and I will make them drunken that they may reioyce, and ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſaith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambs to the ſlaughter, and like rams and goats.

41 How is [y] Sheſhach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

42 The [z] ſea is come up upon Babel: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are deſolate: the land is drie and a wildernes, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the ſonne of man paſſe thereby.

44 I will alſo viſit Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] he hath ſwallowed vp, and the nations ſhall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel ſhall fall.

45 My people, go out of the mids of her, and deliver yee every man his ſoule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Leaſt your heart even faint, and ye feare the rumour that ſhallbe heard in the land: the rumour ſhall come this yeere, and after that in the other [b] yeere ſhall come a rumour, and cruelty in the land, and ruler againſt ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will viſit the images of Babel, and the whole land ſhallbe confounded, and all her ſlaine ſhall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heaven and [c] the earth, and all that is therein, ſhall reioyce for Babel: for the deſtroyers ſhall come vnto her from the North, ſaith the Lord.

49 As Babel cauſed the [d] ſlaine of Iſrael to fall, ſo by Babel the ſlaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that [e] have eſcaped the ſword go away, ſtand not ſtill, remember the Lord afarre off, and let Ieruſalem come into your mind.

51 Wee are [f] confounded becauſe wee have heard reproach: ſhame hath covered our faces, for ſtrangers are come into thy Sanctuaries of the Lords houſe.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will viſite her graven images, and through all her land the wounded ſhall grone.

53 Though Babel ſhould mount vp to [g] heaven, and though ſhe ſhould defend her ſtrength on hie, yet from mee ſhall her deſtroyers come, ſayth the Lord.

54 A ſound of a cry commeth from Babel: and great deſtruction from the land of the Caldeans.

55 Becauſe the Lord hath laid Babel waſte, and deſtroyed from her the great voyce, and her waves ſhall roare like great waters, and a ſound was made by their noyſe:

56 Becauſe the deſtroyer is come vpon her, even vpon Babel, & her ſtrong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, ſhall ſurely recompence.

57 And I will [h] make drunke her princes, and her wiſe men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her ſtrong men: & they ſhall ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſayeth the King, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoaſts.

58 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, The [i] thicke wall of Babel ſhallbe broken, and her high gates ſhallbe burnt with fire, and the people ſhall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they ſhallbe weary.

59 The worde which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the ſonne of Neriiah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah into Babel, in the [k] fourth yeere of his reigne, and this Sheraiah was a peaceable Prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the evill that ſhould come vpon Babel, even all theſe things that are written againſt Babel.

61 And Ieremiah ſaid to Sheraiah, When thou commeſt vnto Babel, and ſhalt ſee and ſhalt reade all theſe words, 62 Then ſhalt thou ſay, O Lord, thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place, to deſtroy it, that none ſhould remaine in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhould be deſolate for ever.

63 And when thou haſt made an ende of reading this booke, thou ſhalt binde a [l] ſtone to it, and caſt it in the mids of Euphrates, 64 And ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babel be drowned and ſhall not riſe from the evill, that I will bring vpon her: and they ſhall [m] be weary. Thus farre are the words of Ieremiah.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ieruſalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs ſonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The city is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of priſon, and ſet like a king.

4 * But in the ninth yeere of his raigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, hee and all his hoaſt againſt Ieruſalem, and pitched againſt it, and built forts againſt it round about.

5 So the citie was beſieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was ſore in the citie, ſo that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the Kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the wildernesſe.

8 But the army of the Caldeans purſued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all the hoaſte was ſcattered from him.

LAMENTATIONS.

CHAP. I.

The Prophet bewailed the miserable estate of Ierusalem. 5 And sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and second Chapter begin every verse according to the letters of the Ebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for every letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondreth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Ierusalem, which was so strong and so full of people, to be now destroyed and desolate.

b Which had chiefe rule over many prouinces and countreys. c So that she taketh no rest. d Meaning, the Egyptians and Assyrians, which promised helpe.

HOw doeth a ✡ city remaine solitary that was full of people? she is as a widow: she that was great among the nations: b and princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

2 She weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares run downe by her cheekes: among all her d lovers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

e For her cruelnesse toward the poore and oppression of seruants, Ier. 34. 12.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, because e of affliction, and because of great seruitude, shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straits.

f As they vsed to come vp with mirth and ioy, Psal. 42. 4.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth f to the solempne feasts, all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgines are discomfited, and she is in † heauinesse.

g That is, haue rule over her, Deut. 28. 44.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed: her princes are become h like hearts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things that shee had in times past, when her people i fall into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore she is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despice her, because they have seene her filthines: yea, she sigheth, and turneth backward.

9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last end, therefore shee came downe wonderfully: shee had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemie † is proud.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hande upon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom m thou diddest command, that they should not enter into thy Church:

11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they have given their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Have yee no regard, all yee that passe by this way? behold and see, if there be any n sorow like vnto my sorowe, which is done unto mee wherewith the Lord hath afflicted mee in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From above hath o hee sent fire into my bones, which prevaileth against them: hee hath spread a net for my feet, and turned mee backe: he hath made me desolate, and dayly in heavinesse.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound upon his hand: they are wrapped, and come up upon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath delivered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise up.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote an my valiant men in the middes of mee: hee hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden q the winepresse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 * For these things I weepe: mine eye, even mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie prevailed.

17 Zion stretched out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob round about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstrous woman in the middes of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I have rebelled against his † commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorow: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captivitie.

19 I called for my lovers, but they deceived me, my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie, while they ſ sought their meate to refresh their soules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heavines: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They have heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and thy shall be like vnto me.

22 t Let all their wickednes come before thee: ‖ do vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgresions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heavy.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkened the daughter of Zion in his wratch! and hath cast downe from b heaven vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footestoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob: and not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: he hath drauwen back his e right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaabob like a flame of fire, which devoured round about.

4 He f hath bent his bow like an enemie: his right hand was stretched up as an adversary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion, he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: he hath devoured Israel and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden he hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the Feasts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath, the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: hee hath given into the hand of the enemy the walles of her palaces: they have made a g noise in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Sion: hee stretched out a line: hee hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart, h and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: hee hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her Princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets ‖ receive any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they have cast vp dust vpon their heades: they have girded themselves with sackecloath: the virgins of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares, my bowels swell: my liver is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings ‖ swoone in the streets of the citie.

12 They have said to their mothers, Where is † bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the city, and when they † gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome,

13 i What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? What thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter h As men pined away with sorow and that have no courage.

i In her misery she confidered the great benefits and commodities that she had lost.

k At her religion and serving of God, which was the greatest griefe to the godly.

l She is not ashamed of her sinne, although it be manifest.

m God forbiddeth that the Ammonites and Moabites should enter into the Congregation of the Lord, and vnder them hee comprehendeth all enemies, Deut. 23.3.

n Thus Ierusalem lamenteth mooving others to pitie her, and to learne by her example.

o This declareth that we should acknowledge God to be the author of all our afflictions to the intent that we might seeke vnto him for remedy.

p Mine heavie sinnes are continually before his eyes, as he that tyeth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

q He hath troden them vnder foot as they tread grapes in the winepresse.

* Ierem 14.17. ghap. 2.13.

r Which because of her pollution was separate from her husband, Lev. 15.19. and was abhorred for the time.

ſ That is, they died for hunger.

t Of desiring vengeance against the enemie, read Ier. 11.20. and 18.21.

‖ Or, gather them like grapes.

a That is, brought her from prosperitie to adversitie.

b Hath given her a most sore fall.

c Alluding to the Temple, or to the Arke of the covenant, which was called the footstoole of the Lord, because they should not set their mindes so low, but lift vp their hearts toward the heavens.

d Meaning, the glory and strength, as 1 Sam. 2.1.

e That is, his succour which he was wont to send vs, when our enemies oppressed vs.

f Shewing that there is no remedy but destruction, where God is the enemie.

g As the people were accustomed to praise God to the solemne feasts with a loud voyce, so now the enemies blaspheme him with shouting and cry.

h This is a figurative speech as that was, when he saith the wayes did lament, Chap. 1.4. meaning that this sorowe was so great, that the insensible things had their part thereof.

i Meaning, that her calamitie was so evident, that it needed no witnesse.

daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy prophets have k looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they have not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captivitie, but have looked out for thee false ‖ prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wag their head upon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beauty, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies have opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs devoure it: certainely this is the day that we looked for: we have found and seene it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that he had determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemie to reioyce over thee, and set up the horne of thine adversaries.

18 Their heart * cried unto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares run downe like a river, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches, powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

20 Beholde, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruit, and children of a ‖ spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord?

21 The young and the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed, and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my ‖ terrours round about, so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I have nourished and brought up, hath mine enemie consumed.

k Because the false prophets called themselves Seers, as the other were called, therefore he sheweth that they saw amisse, because they did not reproove the peoples fault, but flattered them in their sinnes, which was the cause of their destruction.

* Levit.26 15.25. deut.28.15.25.

* Ierem.14 17. chap.1.16.

‖ Or, brought vp in their own hands.

‖ Or, enemies whom I feared.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man that hath seene a affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darknesse, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waxe old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath b builded against me, and compassed me with gall and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for ever.

7 He hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heavie.

8 Also when I cry and shout, he shutteth out my c prayer.

9 He hath d stopped up my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Iere.20,1.

b He speaketh this, as one that felt Gods heavie iudgement, which he greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diversitie of words.

c This is a great temptation of the godly, when they see not the fruit of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly and the oftner.

d And keepeth me in hold as a prisoner.

10 e He was unto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 Hee hath bent his bowe, and made mee a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused † the arrowes of his quiver to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternes, and made me drunken with f wormewood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath covered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgat prosperitie.

18 And I said, My strength and my g hope is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled h in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore have I hope.

22 It is the Lords i mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed k every morning: great it thy faithfulnesse.

24 The Lord is my l portion, saith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good unto them that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust, and to waite for the salvation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his m youth.

28 He sitteth alone, n and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it upon him.

29 He putteth his o mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 Hee giveth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is full with reproaches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for ever.

32 But though hee send affliction, yet will hee have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not p punish † willingly, nor afflict the children of men.

34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth.

35 In overthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High.

36 In subverting a man in his cause: the Lord q seeth it not.

37 Who is he then that saith, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord r commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not f evill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the living t man sorowfull? man suffereth for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp u our hearts with our hands unto God in the heavens.

42 We have sinned, and have rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast covered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine, and not spared.

44 Thou hast covered thy selfe with a clonde, that our prayer should not passe thorow.

e He hath no pitie on me.

f With great anguish and sorow he hath made me to lose my sense.

g Thus with paine he was driven to and fro betweene hope and despaire, as the godly oft times are, yet in the end the spirit getteth the victory.

h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may know themselves, and feele his mercies.

i Considering the wickednes of man, it is marvell that any remaineth alive: but onely that God for his owne mercies sake and for his promise, will ever have his Church to remaine, though they be never so few in number. Isa.1.9.

k We feele thy benefits dayly.

l The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore looke for none other inheritance, as Psal.16.5.

m He sheweth that we can never begin too timely to be exercised vnder the crosse, that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience also by experience may be stronger.

n He murmureth not against God, but is patient.

o He humbleth himselfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and so with patience waiteth for succour.

p He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessitie for our amendment, when he suffereth the wicked to oppresse the poore.

q He doeth not delight therein.

r He sheweth that nothing is done without Gods providence.

s That is, adversitie and prosperity, Amos 3.6.

t When God afflicteth him.

u That is, both hearts and hands: for else to lift vp the hands, is but hypocrisie.

1.Cor.4.13.

45 Thou haſt made vs as the * off-ſcowring and refuſe in the mids of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth againſt vs.

47 Feare, and a ſnare is come vpon vs vvith deſolation and deſtruction.

48 Mine eye caſteth out rivers of water, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without ſtay, and ceaſeth not.

50 Till the Lord looke downe, and behold from heaven.

x I am ouercome with ſore weeping for all my people.

51 Mine eye x breaketh mine heart becauſe of all the daughters of my citie.

52 Mine enemies chaſed mee ſore, like a bird, without cauſe.

y Reade Ier. 37. 16. how he was in the myrie dungeon.

53 They haue ſhut vp my life y in the dungeon, and caſt a ſtone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am deſtroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou haſt heard my voyce: ſtop not thine eare from my ſigh, and from my cry.

57 Thou dreweſt neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou ſaideſt, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou haſt maintained the cauſe of my z ſoule, and haſt redeemed my life.

z Meaning, the cauſe wherewith life was in danger.

59 O Lord, thou haſt ſeene my wrong, iudge thou my cauſe.

60 Thou haſt ſeene all their vengeance, and all their deuiſes againſt me:

61 Thou haſt heard their reproach, O Lord, and all their imaginations againſt me.

62 The lips alſo of thoſe that roſe againſt me, and their whiſpering againſt me continually.

63 Behold, their ſitting downe, and their riſing vp, how I am their ſong.

v Pſal.28.4.

64 * Giue them a recompenſe, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands.

‖ Or, an obſtinate heart.

65 Giue them ‖ ſorow of heart euen thy curſe to them.

66 Perſecute with wrath and deſtroy them from vnder the heaven, O Lord.

CHAP. IV.

a By the gold, he meaneth the princes, as by the ſtones he vnderſtandeth the Prieſts.

‖ Or, hid.

‖ Or, ſtones.

b Which are of ſmall eſtimation, and haue none honour.

c Though the dragons be cruell, yet they pitie their yong, and nouriſh them, which thing Ieruſalem doeth not.

d The women forſake their children, as the oſtrich doth her egges. Iob 39.17.

HOw is the a golde become ſo ‖ dimme! the moſt fine gold is changed, and the ſtones of the Sanctuary are ſcattered in the corner of euery ſtreete.

2 The noble ‖ men of Zion comparable to fine gold, how are they eſteemed as earthen b pitchers, euen the worke of the hands of the potter!

3 Euen the dragons c draw out the breſts, and giue ſucke to their yong: but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the d Oſtriches in the wilderneſſe.

4 The tongue of the ſucking childe cleaueth to the roofe of his mouth for thirſt: the young children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

5 They that did feede delicately, periſh in the ſtreetes: they that were brought vp in ſcarlet, embrace the dongue.

6 For the iniquity of the daughter of my people is become greater then the ſinne of Sodome, that was * deſtroyed as in a moment, and ‖ none pitched camps againſt her.

* Gen.19.25.

‖ Or, no ſtrength was againſt her.

7 Her * Nazarites were purer then the ſnow, and whiter then the milke; they were more ruddy in body then the red precious ſtones: they were like poliſhed ſaphir.

* Num.6.2.

8 Now their e viſage is blacker then a coale: they cannot know them in the ſtreetes: their skin cleaueth to their bones: it is withered like a ſtocke.

e They that were before moſt in Gods fauour, are now in greateſt abomination vnto him.

9 They that be ſlaine with the ſword, are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were ſtricken thorowe for the f fruits of the field.

f For lacke of food they pine away and conſume.

10 The hands of the pitifull women haue ſodden their owne children, vvhich were their meat in the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accompliſhed his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundation thereof.

g He meaneth that theſe things are come to paſſe therefore, contrary to all mens expectation.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world, would not haue beleeued that the aduerſary and the enemie ſhould haue entred into the gates of Ieruſalem:

h Some referre this to the blinde men, which they went ſtumbled on the blood, whereof the city was full.

13 For the ſinnes of her prophets, and the iniquities of her prieſts, that haue ſhed the blood of the iuſt in the mids of g her.

i Meaning, the heathen which came to deſtroy them, could not abide them.

‖ Or, face.

14 They haue wandred as blinde men h in the ſtreets, and they were polluted with blood, ſo that i they would not touch their garments.

k That is, the enemies.

15 But they cried vnto them, Depart yee polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue ſaid among the heathen, They ſhall no more dwell there.

l He ſheweth two principall cauſes of their deſtruction: their crueltie and their vaine confidence in man: for they truſted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

16 The ‖ anger of the Lord hath ſcattered them, he will no more regard them: k they reuerenced not the face of the Prieſt, nor had compaſſion on the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for l a nation that could not ſaue vs.

m Our king Ioſiah, in whom ſtood our hope of Gods fauour, ſoon whom depended our ſtate and life, was ſlaine, whom he calleth Anointed, becauſe he was a figure of Chriſt.

18 They hunt our ſteps, that we cannot go in our ſtreetes: our end is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our perſecuters are ſwifter then the eagles of the heauen: they purſued vs vpon the mountaines, and laid wait for vs in the wildernes.

20 The m breath of our noſtrels, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom we ſaid, Vnder his ſhadow we ſhallbe preſerued aliue among he heathen.

n This is ſpoken by deriſion.

21 Reioyce and be glad, n O daughter Edom: that dwelleſt in the land of Vz, the cup alſo ſhall paſſe thorow vnto thee: thou ſhalt be drunken ‖ and vomit.

‖ Or, ſhew thy nakednesſe.

22 Thy puniſhment is accompliſhed, O daughter Zion: he o will no more carie thee away into captiuity, but he will viſit thine iniquity, O daughter Edom, he will diſcouer thy ſinnes.

o He comforteth the Church by that after ſeuenty yeeres their ſorowes ſhall haue an end, whereas the wicked ſhould be tormented for ever.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: a conſider, and behold our reproach.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when ſome of the people were caried awaye captiue, others, as the pooreſt remained, and ſome went into Egypt, and other places for ſuccour, albeit it ſeemeth that the Prophet foreſeeing their miſeries to come, thus prayed.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the ſtrangers, our houſes to the aliants.

3 We are fatherleſſe euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 Wee haue drunken our b water for money: and our wood is ſold vnto vs.

b Meaning, their extreme ſeruitude and bondage.

5 Our neckes are vnder perſecution: wee are weary, and haue no reſt.

6 We haue giuen our c hands to the Egyptians, c We are ioyned in league and amitie with them, or haue ſubmitted our ſelues vnto them.

tians, and to Aſſhur, to be ſatisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue ſinned, and are not, and we haue borne [d] their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliver vs out of their hands.

9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our lives, becauſe of the ſword [e] of the wildernesſe.

10 Our skinne was blacke like as an oven becauſe of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceaſed from the [h] gate, and the yong men from their ſongs.

15 The ioy of our hearts is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wo now vnto vs, that we haue ſinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for theſe things, our [i] eyes are dimme, 18 Becauſe of the mountaine of Zion, which is deſolate: the foxes run vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remaineſt for [k] ever: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doeſt thou forget vs for ever, and forſake vs ſo long time?

21 [l] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we ſhalbe turned: renewe our dayes as of old.

22 But thou haſt vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry againſt us.

d As our fathers haue bin puniſhed for their ſinnes: ſo we that are culpable of the ſame ſins, are puniſhed.

e Becauſe of the enemie that came from the wildernesſe, and would not ſuffer vs to go and ſeeke our neceſſary food.

f That is, by the enemies hand.

g Their ſlaverie was ſo great, that they were not able to abide it.

h There were no more lawes nor forme of common-wealth.

i With weeping.

k And therefore thy covenant and mercies can never faile.

l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to convert vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him. Iere. 31, 18.

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counſell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himſelfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and ſo went into captivitie with his mother and divers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counſell, as though the things which they had prophecied ſhould not come to paſſe, and therefore their eſtate ſhould be ſtill miſerable vnder the Caldeans. By reaſon whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by new viſions, and revelations ſhewed vnto him, that the citie ſhould moſt certainly be deſtroyed, and the people grieuouſly tormented by Gods plagues, in ſo much that they that remained, ſhould be brought into cruell bondage. And leaſt the godly ſhould deſpaire in theſe great troubles, he aſſureth them that God will deliver his Church at his time appointed, and alſo deſtroy their enemies, which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miſeries. The effect of the one and the other ſhould be chiefly performed vnder Chriſt, of whom in this booke are many notable promiſes and in whom the glory of the new Temple ſhould perfectly be reſtored. He prophecied theſe things in Caldea, at the ſame time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captivitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophecied, in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The viſion of the foure beaſtes. 26 The viſion of the throne.

IT came to paſſe in the a thirteenth yeere, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captives by the river [b] Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I ſawe viſions of [c] GOD.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Iehoiachins captiuitie.)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Prieſt, the ſonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the river Chebar, where the [d] hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a ewhirlewind came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightneſſe was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out as the likeneſſe of ‖ amber.

5 Alſo out of the mids thereof came the likeneſſe of [f] foure beaſts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And every one had foure faces, and every one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were ſtreight feete, and the ſole of their feete was like the ſoles of a calves foote, and they ſparkled like the appearance of bright braſſe.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

10 And the ſimilitude of their faces was as [h] the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right ſide, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left ſide: they foure alſo had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were ſpread out aboue: two wings of every one were ioyned one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And every one went ſtreight forward: they went whither their † ſpirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The ſimilitude alſo of the beaſts, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beaſtes, and the fire gave a glifter, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beaſtes ranne, and [i] returned like vnto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beaſts, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beaſts, having foure faces.

16 The faſhion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a [k] Chryſolyte: and they foure had one forme, and their faſhion and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure ſides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had alſo ‖ rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

a After that the booke of the Law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Ioſiah, ſo that five and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captive with Ezekiel and many of the people, who the firſt yeere after ſaw theſe viſions.

b Which was a part of Euphrates ſo called.

c That is notable and excellent viſions, ſo that it might be knowen, it was no naturall dreame, but came of God.

d That is, the ſpirit of prophecie, as Chap. 3, 22. and 37, 1

e By this diverſity of words he ſignifieth the fearefull iudgement of God, and the great afflictions that ſhould come vpon Ieruſalem.

f Which were the foure Cherubims that repreſented the glory of God, as Chap. 3, 28.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

h Every Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lion on the right ſide, and the face of a bullocke and of an Eagle on the left ſide

i That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not till God had changed the ſtate of things.

k The Ebreuve worde is tarſhiſh: meaning that the colour was like the Cilician Sea, or a precious ſtone ſo called.

45 Thou haſt made vs as the * off-ſcowring and refuſe in the mids of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth againſt vs.

47 Feare, and a ſnare is come vpon vs vvith deſolation and deſtruction.

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counſell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himſelfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and ſo went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began ſo to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counſell, as though the things which they had prophecied ſhould not come to paſſe, and therefore their eſtate ſhould be ſtill miſerable vnder the Caldeans. By reaſon wherefore he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by newe viſions, and reuelations ſhewed vnto him, that the citie ſhould moſt certainly be deſtroyed, and the people grieuouſly tormented by Gods plagues, in ſo much that they that remained, ſhould be brought into cruell bondage. And leaſt the godly ſhould deſpaire in theſe great troubles, he aſſureth them that God will deliver his Church at his time appointed, and alſo deſtroy their enemies, which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miſeries. The effect of the one and the other ſhould be chiefly performed vnder Chriſt, of whom in this booke are many notable promiſes and in whom the glory of the newe Temple ſhould perfectly be reſtored. He prophecied theſe things in Caldea, at the ſame time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel propheſied, in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The viſion of the foure beaſtes. 26 The viſion of the throne.

IT came to paſſe in the a thirteenth yeere, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captives by the river [b] Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I ſawe viſions of [c] GOD.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Iehoiachins captiuitie.)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Prieſt, the ſonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the river Chebar, where the [d] hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a whirlewind came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightneſſe was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out as the likeneſſe of ‖ amber.

5 Alſo out of the mids thereof came the likeneſſe of foure beaſts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And every one had foure faces, and every one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were ſtreight feete, and the ſole of their feete was like the ſoles of a calues foote, and they ſparkled like the appearance of bright braſſe.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

10 And the ſimilitude of their faces was as [h] the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right ſide, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left ſide: they foure alſo had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were ſpread out aboue: two wings of every one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And every one went ſtreight forward: they went whither their † ſpirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The ſimilitude alſo of the beaſts, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beaſtes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beaſtes ranne, and [i] returned like vnto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beaſts, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beaſts, hauing foure faces.

16 The faſhion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a [k] Chryſolyte: and they foure had one forme, and their faſhion and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure ſides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had alſo ‖ rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

a After that the booke of the Law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Ioſiah, ſo that five and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captive with Ezekiel and many of the people, who the firſt yeere after ſaw theſe viſions.

19 And when the beaſtes went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beaſts were lift up from the earth, the wheeles were lift up.

20 Whither their ſpirit led them, they went, and thither did the ſpirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted up beſides them: for the ſpirit of the beaſts vvas in the wheeles.

21 When the beaſts went, they went, and when they ſtood, they ſtood, and when they were lifted up from the earth, the wheeles were lifted up beſides them: for the ſpirit of the beaſtes vvas in the wheeles.

22 And the ſimilitude of the firmament upon the heads of the beaſts vvas wonderfull, like unto cryſtall ſpread over their heads above.

23 And vnder the firmament vvere their wings ſtreight, the one toward the other: every one had two which covered them, and every one had two which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went foorth, I heard the noiſe of their [l] wings, like the noiſe of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almightie, even the voice of ſpeach, as the noiſe of an hoaſt: even when they ſtood, they [m] let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was over their heads, when they ſtood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And above the firmament that was over their heads, vvas the faſhion of a throne like unto a Saphir ſtone, and upon the ſimilitude of the throne vvas by appearance, as the ſimilitude of a man above upon it.

27 And I ſaw as the appearance of amber, and as the ſimilitude of fire [n] round about within it to looke too, even from his loynes ſvpward: and to looke too, even from his loynes downeward, I ſaw as the likeneſſe of fire, and brightnes round about it.

29 This was the appearance of the ſimilitude of the glory of the Lord, and when I ſaw it, I fell o upon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that ſpake.

o Conſidering the maieſtie of God, and the weakneſſe of fleſh.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is ſent to call the people from their errour.

A Nd a he ſaid unto me, b Sonne of man, ſtand up upon thy feete, and I will ſpeake unto thee.

2 c And the ſpirit entred into mee, when hee had ſpoken unto me, and ſet me upon my feete, ſo that I heard him that ſpake unto me.

3 And he ſayd unto me, Sonne of Man, I ſend thee to the children of Iſrael, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled againſt me: for they and their fathers have rebelled againſt me, even unto this very day.

4 For they are † impudent children, and ſtiffe hearted: I do ſend thee unto them, and thou ſhalt ſay unto them: Thus ſaith the Lord God.

5 But ſurely they will not heare, neither indeede will they ceaſe: for they are a rebellious houſe: yet ſhall they know that d there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou ſonne of man, e feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels and thornes be with thee, and thou remaineſt with ſcorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their lookes, for they are a rebellious houſe.

7 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeake my words unto them, but ſurely they will not heare, neither will they indeede ceaſe: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou ſonne of man, heare what I ſay unto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious houſe: open thy mouth, and f eate that I give thee.

9 And when I looked up, beholde, an hand was ſent unto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein,

CHAP. III.

The Prophet being fed with the word of God and with the conſtant boldneſſe of the ſpirit, is ſent unto the people that were in captivity. 17 The office of true miniſters.

MOreover he ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findeſt: a eate this roule, and goe, and ſpeake unto the houſe of Iſrael.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gave me this roule to eate.

3 And he ſaid unto mee, Sonne of man, cauſe thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I give thee. Then did I eate, and it was in my mouth as ſweete as hony.

4 And he ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, goe and enter into the houſe of Iſrael, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not ſent to a people of an † unknowen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the houſe of Iſrael,

6 Not to many people of an unknowen tongue, or of an hart language, whoſe words thou canſt not underſtand: yet if I ſhould ſend thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the houſe of Iſrael will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the houſe of Iſrael are impudent and ſtiffe hearted.

8 Beholde, I have made thy b face ſtrong againſt their faces, and thy forehead hard againſt their foreheads.

9 I have made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious houſe.

10 He ſaid moreover unto me, Sonne of man, c receive in thine heart all my words that I ſpeake unto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captives unto the children of thy people, and ſpeake unto them, and tell them, Thus ſaith the Lord God: but ſurely they will not heare, neither will they indeede ceaſe.

12 Then the ſpirit tooke me up, and I heard behinde mee a noyſe of a great ruſhing, ſaying, d Bleſſed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard alſo the noyſe of the wings of the beaſts, that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheeles that were by them, even a noyſe of a great ruſhing.

14 So the ſpirit lift me up, and tooke me away, and I e went in bitterneſſe and indignation of my ſpirit, but the hand of the Lord was ſtrong upon mee.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captives to f Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river Chepar, and I ſate where they ſate, and remained there aſtoniſhed among them g ſeven dayes.

16 And at the end of ſeven dayes, the word of the Lord came againe unto me, ſaying, 17 Sonne of man, I have made thee a h watchman unto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and give them warning from mee.

18 When I ſhall ſay unto the wicked, Thou ſhalt ſurely die, and thou giveſt not him warning, nor ſpeakeſt to admoniſh the wicked of his wicked way, that he may live, the ſame wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet, if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickedneſſe, nor from his wicked way, hee ſhall die in his iniquitie, but thou haſt delivered thy ſoule.

20 Likewiſe if a i righteous man turne from his righteouſneſſe, and commit iniquity, I will lay a k ſtumbling blocke before him and hee ſhall die, becauſe thou haſt not given him warning, he ſhall die in his ſinne, and his l righteous deedes, which hee hath done, ſhall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Nevertheleſſe, if thou admoniſh that righteous man, that the righteous ſinne not, and that he doeth not ſinne, he ſhall live becauſe he is admoniſhed: alſo thou haſt delivered thy ſoule.

22 And the m hand of the Lord was there upon mee, and he ſaid unto mee, Ariſe, and goe into the ‖ field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had riſen up, and gone forth into the field, behold, the n glory of the Lord ſtood there, as the glory which I ſaw by the river Chebar, and I fell downe upon my face.

THou alſo ſonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray upon it the citie, even Ieruſalem.

2 And lay ſiege againſt it, and build a fort againſt it, and caſt a mount againſt it, ſet the campe alſo againſt it, and lay engines of warre againſt it round about.

3 Moreover, take an [a] yron pan, and ſet it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it ſhall be beſieged, and thou ſhalt lay ſiege againſt it: this ſhall be a ſigne unto the houſe of Iſrael.

4 Sleepe thou alſo upon thy left ſide, and lay the iniquitie of the [b] houſe of Iſrael upon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou ſhalt ſleepe upon it, thou ſhalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I have laide upon thee the yeeres of their iniquity according to the number of the dayes, even three hundreth and ninetie dayes: ſo ſhalt thou beare the iniquitie of the houſe of Iſrael.

6 And when thou haſt accompliſhed them, ſleepe againe upon thy [c] right ſide, and thou ſhalt beare the iniquitie of the houſe of Iudah fourtie dayes: I have appointed thee a day for a yeere. even a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou ſhalt direct thy face toward the ſiege of Ieruſalem, and thine [d] arme ſhall be vncovered, and thou ſhalt prophecie againſt it.

8 And behold, I will lay [e] bands upon thee, and thou ſhalt not turne thee from one ſide to another, till thou haſt ended the dayes of thy ſiege.

9 Thou ſhalt take alſo unto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, [f] and fitches, and put them in one veſſell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou ſhalt ſleepe upon thy ſide: even [g] three hundreth and ninetie dayes ſhalt thou eat thereof.

10 And the meate, whereof thou ſhalt eate ſhalbe by weight, even [h] twentie ſhekels a day: and from time to time ſhalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou ſhalt drinke alſo water by meaſure, even the ſixt part of [i] an Hin: from time to time ſhalt thou drinke.

12 And thou ſhalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou ſhalt bake it [k] in the dung that commeth out of man, in their ſight.

13 And the Lord ſayd, So ſhall the children of Iſrael eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will caſt them.

14 Then ſayd I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my ſoule hath not beene polluted: for from my youth up, even unto this houre, I have not eaten of a thing dead or torne in pieces, neither came there any [l] vncleane fleſh in my mouth.

15 Then he ſayd unto me, Loe, I have given thee bullockes [m] dung for mans dung, and thou ſhalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover, he ſayd unto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake [n] the ſtaffe of bread in Ieruſalem, and they ſhall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they ſhall drinke water by meaſure, and with aſtoniſhment.

17 Becauſe that bread and water ſhall faile, they ſhall be aſtonied one with another, and ſhall conſume away for their iniquity.

AND thou ſonne of man, take thee a ſharpe knife, or take thee a barbours raſor, and cauſe it [a] to paſſe vpon thine head, and upon thy beard: then take thee ballances to weigh, and divide the haire.

2 Thou ſhalt burne with fire the third part in the mids of the [b] city, when the dayes of the ſiege are fulfilled, and thou ſhalt take the other third part, and ſmite about it with a knife, and the laſt third part thou ſhalt ſcatter in the winde, and I will draw out a ſword after them.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo take thereof a few in number, and binde them in thy [c] lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and caſt them into the mids of the fire, and burne them in the fire: [d] for thereof ſhall a fire come forth into all the houſe of Iſrael.

5 Thus ſayth the Lord God, This is Ieruſalem, I have ſet it in the mids of the nations and countreys, that are round about her.

6 And ſhe hath changed my [e] iudgements into wickedneſſe more then the nations, and my ſtatutes more then the countreys, that are round about her: for they have refuſed my iudgements, and my ſtatutes, and they have not walked in them.

Hee ſheweth that Ieruſalem ſhall be deſtroyed for their idolatrie. 8 He prophecieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face towards the * mountaines of Iſrael, and prophecie againſt them,

* Chap. 36. 1.

3 And ſay, Ye mountaines of Iſrael, heare the word of the Lord God: thus ſaith the Lord God to the a mountaines and to the hills, to the riuers and to the valleys, Beholde, I, euen I will bring a ſword vpon you, and I will deſtroy your hie places:

a He ſpeaketh to all the places where the Iſraelites accuſtomed to commit their idolatries, threatning them deſtruction.

4 And your altars ſhall be deſolate, and your images of the b Sunne ſhall be broken: and I will caſt downe your ſlaine men before your idoles.

b Reade 2 Kings 23. 11.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeiſes of the children of Iſrael before their c idols, and I will ſcatter you bones round about your altars.

c In contempt of their power and force, which ſhall neither be able to deliuer you nor themſelues. 2. King. 23. 20

6 In all your dwelling places the cities ſhall be deſolate, and the hie places ſhall be laid waſte, ſo that your altars ſhall be made waſte and deſolate, and your idoles ſhallbe broken and ceaſe, and your images of the Sunne ſhall be cut in pieces, and your workes ſhall be aboliſhed.

7 And the ſlaine ſhall fall in the mids of you, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, d that you may haue ſome that ſhall eſcape the ſword among the nations, when you ſhall be ſcattered thorow the countreys.

d Hee ſheweth that in all dangers God will preſerue a few, which ſhall be as the ſeede of his Church, and call vpon his Name.

9 And they that eſcape of you, ſhall remember me among the nations, where they ſhalbe in captiuitie, becauſe I am grieued for their whoriſh hearts, which haue departed from mee, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they e ſhall be diſpleaſed in themſelues for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

e They ſhall be aſhamed to ſee that their hope in idoles was but vaine, and ſo ſhall repent.

10 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not ſaid in vaine, that I would do this euill vnto them.

11 Thus ſaith the Lord God, f Smite with thine hand, and ſtretch foorth with thy foot, and ſay, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the houſe of Iſrael: for they ſhall fall by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

f By theſe ſignes he would that the Prophet ſhould ſignifie the great deſtruction to come.

12 Hee that is farre off, ſhall die of the peſtilence, and he that is neere, ſhall fall by the ſword, and hee that remaineth and is beſieged, ſhall die by the famine: thus will I accompliſh my wrath vpon them.

13 Then g ye ſhall knowe, that I am the Lord, when their ſlaine men ſhall be among their idols round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the tops of the mountaines, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer ſweete ſauour to all their idoles.

g That is, all nations when you ſhall ſee my iudgements.

MOreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Alſo thou ſonne of man, thus ſaith the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Iſrael: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

a I will puniſh thee as thou haſt deſerued for thine idolatry.

‖ Or, behold, euill commeth after euill.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God, ‖ Behold, one euill, euen one euill is come.

b He ſheweth that the iudgements of God ever watch to deſtroy the ſinners, which notwithſtanding be delayeth till there be no more hope of repentance.

6 An ende is come, the ende is come, it b watched for thee: behold, it is come.

CHAP. VIII.

2 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

a Of the captivity of Ieconiah.
b Which conteined part of August, and part of September.
c As Chap. 1, 27.

AND in the a sixt yeere, in the b sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and loe, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of c fire, to looke too, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And hee stretched out the likenesse of an hand, and tooke me by an hairy locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth and the heauen, and brought mee † by a Diuine d vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner e gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of f indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw g in the field.

5 Then sayd hee vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the h altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

6 He sayd furthermore vnto mee, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they do? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from i my Sanctuary? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And hee caused mee to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he sayd vnto me, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was every similitude of creeping things, and k abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

11 And there stoode before them seuentie l men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stood Iaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with every man his censor in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like m a cloude.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel n doe in the darke, every one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Againe he sayd also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And hee caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there sate women mourning for o Tammuz.

15 Then sayd he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.

17 Then hee sayd vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they have filled the land with cruelties, and have returned to prouoke me: and loe, they have cast out p stinke before their noses.

1 The deſtruction of the citie. 4 They that ſhall be ſaued are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the deſtruction of the people.

HE cried alſo with a loud voyce in mine eares, ſaying, The viſitatons of [a] the citie drawe neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to deſtroy it.

a The time to take vengeance.

2 And behold, ſixe [b] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to deſtroy it: and one man among them was cloathed with linnen with a writters [d] ynkehorne by his ſide, and they went in and ſtood beſide the braſen altar.

b Which were Angels in the ſimilitude of men.

c Signifying, that the Babylonians ſhould come from the North to deſtroy the city and the Temple.

d To marke them that ſhould be ſaued.

3 And the glorie of the God of Iſrael was [e] gone vp from the Cherub wherevpon hee was, and ſtood on the ‖ doore of the houſe, and he called to the man cloathed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his ſide.

e Which declared that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednes and worſhip him aright.

‖ Or, Threſholde.

4 And the Lord ſayd vnto him, Goe through the mids of the city, even through the mids of Ieruſalem, and ‖ ſet a marke vpon their foreheads of them that [f] mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

f He ſheweth what is the maner of Gods children, whom hee marketh to ſalvation: to wit, to mourne and cry out againſt the wickednes, which they ſee committed againſt Gods glory.

5 And to the other he ſayd, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the city, and ſmite: let your eye ſpare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Deſtroy vtterly the old, and the young, and the maides, and the children, and the woman, but touch no man, vpon whom is the [g] marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the [h] ancient men, which were before the houſe.

g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preſerueth his ſmall number, which hee marketh, as Exod. 12.22. revel.7.3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is ſealed vp to life everlaſting.

h Which were the chiefe occaſion of all theſe evils, as chap 8.11.

7 And he ſayd vnto them, Defile the houſe, and fill the courts with the ſlaine, then goe forth: and they went out and ſlew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had ſlaine them, and I had eſcaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, ſaying, [i] Ah Lord God, wilt thou deſtroy all the reſidue of Iſrael, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ieruſalem?

i This declareth that the ſervants of God haue a compaſſion, when they ſee his iudgements executed.

9 Then ſayd he vnto mee, The iniquity of the houſe of Iſrael, and Iudah is exceeding great, ſo that the land is full of [k] blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they ſay, The Lord hath forſaken the earth, and the Lord ſeeth vs not.

k That is, with all kind of wickednesse, reade Iſa 1 15.

10 As touching mee alſo, mine eye ſhall not ſpare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompence their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And beholde, the man cloathed with linnen which had the ynkehorne by his ſide, made report, and ſayd, Lord, I haue done as thou haſt commanded me.

b This ſignified, that the citie ſhould be burnt.

3 Now the Cherubims ſtood vpon the right ſide of the houſe, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord [c] went vp from the Cherub, and ſtoode ouer the doore of the houſe, and the houſe was filled with the cloude, and the court was filled with the brightneſſe of the Lords glory.

c Meaning, that the glory of God ſhould depart from the Temple.

5 And the [d] ſound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almightie God, when he ſpeaketh.

d Reade Chap.1.24.

6 And when hee had commaunded the man cloathed with linnen, ſaying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then hee went in and ſtood beſide the wheele.

7 And one Cherub ſtretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the handes of him that was cloathed with linnen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likeneſſe of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beſide the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a [e] Chryſolite ſtone.

e Reade Chap.1.16.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one faſhion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure ſides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the firſt went, they went after it, and they [f] turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, and their ‖ rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, even in the ſame foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cryed to theſe wheeles in mine hearing ſaying, O wheele.

14 And every beaſt had foure faces: the firſt face was the face of a Cherub, and the ſecond face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted up: * this is the beaſt that I ſaw at the river Chebar.

* *Chap.*1.5.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift up their wings to mount up from the earth, the ſame wheeles alſo turned not from beſide them.

17 When the Cherubims ſtood, they ſtood: and when they were lifted up, they lifted themſelves vp alſo: for the [g] ſpirit of the beaſt was in them.

g There was one conſent betweene the Cherubims and the wheeles.

18 [h] Then the glory of the Lord departed from above the doore of the houſe, and ſtood vp on the Cherubims.

h Reade Chap.9.3.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings and mounted vp from the earth in my ſight: when they went out, ŷ wheeles alſo were beſides them: and every one ſtood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords houſe at the Eaſt ſide, and the glory of the God of Iſrael was vpon them on hie.

ŷ *Chap.*1.19.

20 * This is the [i] beaſt that I ſaw vnder the God of Iſrael by the river Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

i That is, the whole body of the foure beaſts or Cherubims.

21 Every one had foure faces, and every one foure wings, and the likeneſſe of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likeneſſe of their faces was the ſelfe ſame faces, which I ſaw by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the ſelfe ſame, and they went every one ſtraight forward.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these hee prophecieth, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God, 21 He threatneth them that learne unto their owne counsels.

MOreover, the Spirit lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were fiue and twentie men: among whom I saw Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then sayd he vnto mee, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, [a] It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this citie is the [b] caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophecie against them; sonne of man, prophecie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon mee, and sayd vnto me, Speake, Thus sayth the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue yee sayd, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes, 6 Many haue yee murthered in this citie, and yee haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, They that yee haue slaine, and haue laide in the middes of it, they are [c] the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Ye haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, sayth the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliver you into [d] the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of [e] Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the mids thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophecied, Pelatiah the sonne of [f] Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy [g] brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholy are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue sayd, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little [h] Sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where ye haue bene scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: & I will take the [i] stonie heart out of their bodies, and will give them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shalbe my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads sayth the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, & the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke mee vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were ledde away captives: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were [k] led away captives, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

[a] Thus the wicked deride the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, and therefore gave themselves still to their pleasures.

[b] We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the house of our death come: as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sodde.

[c] Contrary to their vaine confidence hee sheweth in what sense the citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that have beene murthered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

[e] That is, in Riblah. reade 2. King. 25.6.

[f] It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God toward the rest of the people.

[g] They that remained still at Ierusalem thus reproached them that were gone into captivitie, as though they were cast off and forsaken of God.

[h] They shall be yet a little Church: shewing that the Lord will ever haue some to call vpon his Name, whom he will preserve and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

* Ier. 32.39. Chap. 36.29.

[i] Meaning, the heart wherevnto nothing can enter, and regenerate them anew, so that their heart may be soft, and ready to receive my graces.

[k] When Ieconiah was led away captive.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captivitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto mee, saying.

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see [a] not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, † prepare thy stuffe to goe into captivitie, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring foorth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at even in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders and cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt cover thy face that thou see not the earth: for I have set thee as a [b] signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuity: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the dark, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayd vnto thee, What [c] doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, This ‖ burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say I am your signe: like as I have done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe go forth: they shall digg through the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall cover his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

[a] That is, they receive not the fruit of that which they see and heare.

† Hebr. make thee vessels to goe into captiuity.

d When the king shall thinke to escape by fleeing. I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17,20, and 32,3.

13 My net also will I spread upon d him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward every winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

e Which should beare his Name, and should be his Church, reade Chap. 11.16.

16 But I will leave a e little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eat thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, 19 And say unto the people of the land, Thus sayth the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shalbe desolate from her abundance, because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left void, and the land shalbe desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that proverbe that you have in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged, and all visions ‖ faile?

f Because they did not immediatly see the prophecies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should never be fulfilled. ‖ Or, take none effect.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this proverbe to cease, and they shall no more use it as a proverbe in Israel: but say unto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of every vision.

24 For no vision shalbe any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering divination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shalbe no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, sayth the Lord God.

26 Againe the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for g many dayes to come, and he prophecieth of the times that are farre off.

g That is, it shall not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked ever abuse Gods patience and benigaitie.

28 Therefore say unto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I have spoken, shall be done, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

a The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

* Chap. 14.9.

a After their owne hearts, not as having the revelation of the Lord, Iere. 23.16.

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the prophets of * Israel, that prophecie, and say thou unto them, that prophecie out of their a owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe unto the foolish Prophets that follow their owne spirit, and have seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes b in the waste places.

b Watching to destroy the vineyard.

5 c Ye have not risen up in the gaps, neither made up the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

c He speaketh to the governours and true ministers that should have resisted them.

6 They have seene vanitie, and lying divination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they have made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophecie.

7 Have yee not seene a vaine vision? and have ye not spoken a lying divination? d ye say, The Lord sayth it, albeit I have not spoken.

d Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest, that ye are false prophets.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because yee have spoken vanitie and have seene lies, therefore behold, I am against you, sayeth the Lord God,

9 And mine hand shalbe upon the Prophets that see vanitie, and divine lies, they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the e writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Israelites are written.

10 And therefore, because they have deceived my people, saying, f Peace, and there was no peace: and one built up a g wall, and behold, the others daubed it with untempered morter, f Reade Ier. 6.14.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophecied the destruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, so that whatsoever one false prophet sayd (which is here called the building of the wall) an other false prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

11 Say unto them which daube it with untempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I will send hailestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie wind shall breake it.

12 Loe, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be sayd unto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye have daubed it?

13 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake foorth in my wrath, and a great showre shalbe in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye have daubed with untempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, and ye shalbe consumed in the mids thereof: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

h Whereby is meant what soever man of himselfe feareth foorth under the authoritie of Gods word.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that have daubed it with h untempered morter, and will say unto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, i These superstitious women for lucre would prophecie and tell every man his fortune giving them pillowes to leane upon, and kerchiefes to cover their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them, and bewitch them.

16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophecie upon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, sayth the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophecie out of their owne heart: and prophecie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe unto the i women that sow pillowes under all arme holes, and make vailes upon the head of every one that standeth up, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye give life to the soules that come unto you?

k Will ye make my word to serve your bellies?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of k barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and l to give life to the soules that should not live, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

l These sorcerers made the people believe that they could preserve life or destroy it, and that it should come to every one according as they prophecied.

20 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will have to doe with your pillowes, wherewith

with yee hunt the m ſoules to make them to flee, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the ſoules goe, euen the ſoules that yee hunt to make them to flee.

21 Your vailes alſo will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they ſhalbe no more in your hands to be hunted, and yee ſhall know that I am the Lord.

22 Becauſe with your lyes yee haue made the heart of ỹ n righteous ſadd, whom I haue not made ſad, and ſtrengthened the handes of the wicked, that he ſhould not returne from his wicked way, by promiſing him life,

23 Therefore ye ſhall ſee no more vanity, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord ſendeth falſe Prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reſerueth a ſmall portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Iſrael vnto me, and a ſate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, ſaying,

3 Sonne of man, theſe men haue ſet vp their idoles in their b heart, and put the ſtumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: ſhould I, being required, anſwere them?

4 Therefore ſpeake vnto them, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord God, Euery man of the houſe of Iſrael ỹ ſetteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to the c Prophet, I the Lord will anſwere him that commeth, according to the multitude d of his idoles:

5 That e I may take the houſe of Iſrael in their owne heart, becauſe they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore ſay vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſayth the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your ſelues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtranger that ſojourneth in Iſrael, which departeth from me, and ſetteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will anſwere him f for my ſelfe.

8 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the midſt of my people, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be g deceiued, when hee hath ſpoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will ſtretch out mine hand vpon him, and will deſtroy him from the midſt of my people of Iſrael.

10 And they ſhall beare their puniſhment: the puniſhment of the Prophet ſhall be euen as the puniſhment of him that asketh.

11 That the houſe of g Iſrael may go no more aſtray from mee, neither be polluted any more with all their tranſgreſſions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, ſayth the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land ſinneth againſt me by committing a treſpaſſe, then will I ſtretch out mine hand vpon it, h and will breake the ſtaffe of the bread thereof, and will ſend famine vpon it, and I will deſtroy man and beaſt forth of it.

14 Though theſe three men, i Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they ſhould deliuer but their owne ſoules by their k righteouſneſſe, ſayth the Lord God.

15 If I bring noyſome beaſtes into the land and they ſpoyle it, ſo that it be deſolate, that no man may paſſe through, becauſe of beaſts, 16 Though theſe three men were in the midſt thereof, As I liue, ſayth the Lord God, they ſhall ſaue neither ſonnes nor daughters: they onely ſhalbe deliuered, but the land ſhalbe waſte.

17 Or if I bring a ſword vpon this land, and ſay, Sword, go through the land, ſo that I deſtroy man and beaſt out of it, 18 Though theſe three men were in the midſt thereof, As I liue, ſayth the Lord God, they ſhall deliuer neither ſonnes nor daughters, but they onely ſhall be delivered themſelves.

19 Or if I ſend a peſtilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to deſtroy out of it man and beaſt.

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the midſt of it, As I liue, ſayth the Lord God, they ſhall deliuer neither ſonne nor daughter: they ſhall but deliuer their owne ſoules by their righteouſneſſe.

21 For thus ſayth the Lord God, How much more when I ſend my * foure ſore iudgements vpon Ieruſalem, euen the ſword and famine, and the noiſome beaſt, and peſtilence, to deſtroy man and beaſt out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein ſhalbe left a l remnant of them that ſhall be caried away both ſonnes and daughters: beholde, they ſhall come foorth vnto you, and ye ſhall ſee their way, and their enterpriſes: and ye ſhall be comforted, concerning the evill that I have brought vpon Ieruſalem, euen concerning all that I have brought vpon it.

23 And they ſhall comfort you, when yee ſee their way and their enterpriſes: and ye ſhall know that I haue not done without cauſe all that I have done in it, ſayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

a As the vnprofitable wood of the vine-tree caſt into the fire, ſo Ieruſalem ſhalbe burnt.

ANd the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree above all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the a trees of the foreſt?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pin of it to hang any veſſell thereon?

4 Behold, it is caſt in the fire to be conſumed: the fire conſumeth both the endes of it, and the midſt of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much leſſe ſhall it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath conſumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord God, as the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forreſt, which I haue giuen to the fire to be conſumed, ſo will I giue the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

7 And I will ſet my face againſt them: they ſhall goe out from one b fire: and another fire ſhall conſume them: and ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord,

A Gaine, the word of the Lord came unto mee, ſaying,

6 And when I paſſed by thee, I ſaw thee polluted in thine [c] owne blood, and I ſaid unto thee, when thou waſt in thy blood, Thou ſhalt live: even when thou waſt in thy blood, I ſaid unto thee, Thou ſhalt live.

7 I have cauſed thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou haſt increaſed and waxen great, and thou haſt gotten excellent ornaments, thy breaſts are faſhioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou waſt naked and bare.

8 Now when I paſſed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of love, and I ſpred my skirts over thee, and covered [d] thy filthines: yea, I ſware unto thee, and entred into a covenant with [e] thee, ſaith the Lord God, and thou becameſt mine.

9 Then waſhed I thee with [f] water: yea, I waſhed away thy blood from thee, and I [g] anoynted thee with oyle.

10 I cloathed thee alſo with broidered worke, and ſhod thee with badgers ſkin, and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I covered thee with ſilk.

11 I decked thee alſo with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put frontlet upon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne upon thine head.

13 Thus waſt thou decket with gold and ſilver, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and ſilke, and broydered worke: thou diſt eate fine floure, and hony and oyle, and thou waſt very beautifull, and thou diddeſt grow up into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was ſpread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my [i] beautie which I had ſet upon thee, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Now thou diddſt [k] truſt in thine owne beauty, and plaiedſt the harlot, becauſe of thy renowne, and haſt powred out [l] thy fornications on every one that paſſed by, thy deſire was to him.

16 And thou diddſt take thy garments, and deckedſt thine hie places with divers colours, [m] and plaiedſt the harlot thereupon: the like things ſhall not come, neither hath any done ſo.

17 Thou haſt alſo taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my ſilver, which I had given thee, and [n] madeſt to thy ſelfe images of men, and diddeſt commit whoredome with them.

18 And tookeſt thy broydered garments, and coveredſt them: and thou haſt ſet mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate alſo, which I gave thee, as fine floure, oyle and hony, wherewith I fed thee, thou haſt even ſet it before them for a ſweete ſavour: thus it was, ſaith the Lord God.

20 Moreover thou haſt taken thy ſonnes and thy daughters, whom thou haſt borne unto mee, and theſe haſt thou ſacrificed unto them, to [o] be devoured: is this thy whoredome a ſmall matter?

21 That thou haſt ſlaine my children, and delivered them to cauſe them to paſſe through fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou haſt not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou waſt naked and bare, and waſt polluted in thy blood.

23 And beſide all thy wickednes (wo, wo unto thee, ſaith the Lord God.)

24 Thou haſt alſo built unto thee an hie place, and haſt made thee an high place in every ſtreet.

25 Thou haſt built thine high place at every [p] corner of the way, and haſt made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou haſt opened thy feet to every one that paſſed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the [q] Egyptians thy neighbours, which have great members, and haſt increaſed thy whoredome, to provoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did ſtretch out mine hand over thee, and will diminiſh thine ordinary, and deliver thee unto the will of them that hate thee, even to the [p] daughters of the Philiſtims, which are aſhamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou haſt plaied the whore alſo with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt inſatiable, yea, thou haſt played the harlot with them, and yet couldeſt not be ſatisfied.

29 Thou haſt moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan unto Caldea, and yet thou waſt not ſatisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, ſayth the Lord God, ſeeing thou doeſt all theſe things, even the worke of a [p] preſumptuous whoriſh woman?

31 In that thou buildeſt thine hie place in the corner of every way, and makeſt thine hie place in every ſtreet, and haſt not beene as an harlot [q] that deſpiſeth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They give giftes to all other whores, but thou giveſt gifts unto all thy lovers, and rewardeſt them that they may come unto thee on every ſide for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication ſhallbe after thee: for in that thou giveſt a reward and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus ſayeth the Lord God, Becauſe thy [p] ſhame was powred out, and thy filthineſſe diſcovered through thy fornications with thy lovers, a Thou boaſteſt to be of the ſeed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followeſt the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children do the maners of their fathers Iſa. 1. 4. and 57. 3.

b When I firſt brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthineſſe and forſaken of all men, I tooke thee and gave thee life: whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and give life, there is nothing but filthines and death.

d Theſe words, as blood, pollution, nakednes, and filthines, are oftentimes repeated to bear downe their pride, and to cauſe them to conſider what they were before God received them to mercy, favoured them and covered their ſhame.

e That thou ſhouldeſt be a chaſte wife unto me, and that I ſhould maintaine thee and endue thee with all graces.

f I waſhed away thy ſinnes.

g I ſanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

l There was none idolatry ſo vile wherewith thou diddeſt not pollute thy ſelfe.

and I with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddeſt offer unto them.

37 Behold, therefore I will gather all [r] thy lovers, with whom thou haſt taken pleaſure, and all them that thou haſt loved, with all them that thou haſt hated: I will even gather them round about againſt thee, and will diſcover thy filthines unto them, that they may ſee all thy filthineſſe.

38 And I will iudge thee after the manner of them that are [s] harlots, and of them that ſhead blood, and iealouſie.

39 I will alſo give thee into their hands, and they ſhall deſtroy thine hie place, and ſhall breake downe thine hie places: they ſhall ſtrip thee alſo out of thy cloathes, and ſhall take thy faire iewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They ſhall alſo bring up a company againſt thee, and they ſhall ſtone thee with ſtones, and thruſt thee through with their ſwords.

41 And they * ſhall burne up thine houſes with fire, and execute iudgements upon thee in the ſight of many women: and I will cauſe thee to ceaſe from playing the harlot, and thou ſhalt give no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to reſt, and my [t] iealouſie ſhall depart from thee, and I will ceaſe, and be no more angry.

43 Becauſe thou haſt not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but haſt provoked me with all theſe things, behold, therefore I alſo have [u] brought thy way upon thy head, ſaith the Lord God: yet haſt not thou had conſideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that uſe proverbs, ſhall uſe this proverbe againſt thee, ſaying, As is the mother, [x] ſo is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath caſt off her husband and her children, and thou art the ſiſter of thy [y] ſiſters, which forſooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder ſiſter is Samaria, and her [z] daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and [†] thy younger ſiſter, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet haſt thou [a] not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou waſt corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, Sodom thy ſiſter hath not done, neither ſhe nor her daughters, as thou haſt done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy ſiſter Sodom, [b] pride, fulneſſe of bread and abundance of idlenes was in her, & in her daughters: neither did ſhe ſtrengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away as pleaſed me.

51 Neither [c] hath Samaria committed halfe of thy ſinnes, but thou haſt exceeded them in thine abominations, and haſt [d] iuſtified thy ſiſters in all thine abominations which thou haſt done.

52 Therefore thou which haſt iuſtified thy ſiſters, beare thine owne ſhame for thy ſinnes, that thou haſt committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded alſo, and beare thy ſhame, ſeeing that thou haſt iuſtified thy ſiſters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their captivity, with the captivity of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captivitie of Samaria, and her daughters, even the captivitie of thy captives in the mids of them.

54 That thou mayeſt beare thine owne ſhame, and mayeſt be confounded in all that thou haſt done, in that thou haſt [f] comforted them.

55 And thy ſiſter Sodome and her daughters ſhall returne to their former ſtate: Samaria alſo and her daughters ſhall returne to their former ſtate, [g] when thou and thy daughters ſhall returne to your former ſtate.

56 For thy ſiſter Sodom [†] was not heard of [h] by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickednes was [i] diſcovered, as in the ſame time of the reproach of [ſ] daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philiſtims round about [k] her, which deſpiſe thee on all ſides.

58 Thou haſt borne therefore thy wickedneſſe and thine abominations, ſaith the Lord.

59 For thus ſaith the Lord God, I might even deale with thee, as thou haſt done: when thou diddeſt deſpiſe the [l] oath, in breaking the covenant.

60 Nevertheles, I will [m] remember my covenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirme vnto thee an everlaſting Covenant.

61 Then thou ſhalt remember thy wayes, and be aſhamed, when thou ſhalt receive [n] thy ſiſters, both thy elder and thy yonger, and I will give them unto thee for daughters, but not [o] by thy covenant.

62 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant with thee, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

63 That thou mayeſt remember, and be [p] aſhamed, and never open thy mouth any more: becauſe of thy ſhame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou haſt done, ſaith the Lord God.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and ſpeake a proverbe unto the houſe of Iſrael,

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, The great [a] eagle with great wings and long wings, and full of feathers, which had divers colours, came unto Lebanon, and tooke the higheſt branch of the cedar,

4 And brake of the top of his twig, and caried it into the land of [b] merchants, and ſet it in a citie of merchants.

5 Hee tooke alſo of the [c] ſeed of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and ſet it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded up, and was like [d] a ſpreading vine of [e] low ſtature, whoſe branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were under it: ſo it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and ſhot forth buds.

7 There was alſo [f] another great Eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and ſpread forth her branches toward it, that ſhe might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good ſoyle by great [g] waters, that it ſhould bring forth branches, and beare

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall [h] he not pull up the roots thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaves of her bud shall whither without great power, or many people, to plucke it up by the rootes thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried up, and whither? [i] when the East wind shall touch it, it shall whither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not what these things meane? tell them, behold, the king of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken [k] the king thereof and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel, 13 And hath taken one of the Kings seede, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken [l] an oath of him, hee hath also taken the princes of the land.

14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe up, but keepe their covenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might give him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall he escape that doeth such things? or shall hee breake the covenant, and be delivered?

16 As I live, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the king that had made him king, whose oath he despised, and whose covenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoast, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they have cast up mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath, and broken the covenant (yet loe, he had given [m] his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I live, I will surely bring mine oath that he hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken, upon his owne head.

20 * And I will spread my net upon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasse that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoast, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine shall be scattered toward all the windes: and yee shall know that I the Lord have spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top [n] of this high cedar, and will set it, and cut off the [o] top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it upon an high mountaine and great.

23 Even in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs, and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and under it shall remaine all birds, and every [p] foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the [q] trees of the field shall know that I the Lord have brought down the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I have dried up the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord have spoken it, and have done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

a He sheweth that every man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth salvation is promised. 24 Death is prophecied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THe word of the Lord came unto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane ye that ye speake this proverbe concerning the land of Israel, saying, [a] The fathers have eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I live saith the Lord God, yee shall use this proverbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten [b] upon the mountains, neither hath lift up his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath *defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath † lien with a * menstruous woman,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, hee is iust, he shall surely live, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is a ‖ thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he do any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten upon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift up his eyes unto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath given forth upon usurie, or hath taken increase, shall he live? he shall not live: seeing he hath done all these abominations, [c] he shall dy the death, and his blood shall be upon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten upon the mountaines, neither hath lift up his eyes to ŷ idols of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife, 18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, even he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely live.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be ‖ mentioned unto him, but in his e righteousnes that he hath done, he shall live.

23 f Have I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? ‖ or shall he not live, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, and do according to all the abominations that the wicked man doth, shall he live? all his g righteousnesse that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not h equall: heare now, O house of Israel, Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes unequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, hee shall even die for the same, he shall even die for his iniquitie that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doth that which is lawfull and right, he shall save his soule alive.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgression that he hath committed, he shall surely live, and not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes unequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore, and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed, and make i you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and live ye.

And also because he doth not approove sinne, therefore it is here said that he would have them to turne away from it, that they might live.

12 But she was plucked up in wrath: shee was cast downe to the ground, and the h East winde dried up her fruite, her branches were broken and withered, as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

g He speaketh this in the reproach of this wicked king, in whose blood, that is, in the race of his predecessours, Ierusalem should have bene blessed, according to Gods promise, and flourished as a fruitfull vine.

i Destruction is come by Zedekiah, who was the occasion of this rebellion.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denied that he will answere them when they pray, because of their unkindnesse. 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captivitie. 46 By the fyre that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

A Nd in the a seventh yeere, in the fifth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake unto the Elders of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I live, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause b them to understand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and c lift up mine hand unto the seed of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen unto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift up mine hand unto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift up mine hand unto them, to bring them foorth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had provided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands.

7 Then said I unto them, Let every man cast away the abominations of his eyes, d and defile not your selves with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of e their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my f Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen unto them in bringing them foorth of the land of Egypt.

a Of the captivity of Ieconiah.
b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.
c I sweare that I would be their God, which maner of oathe was observed from all antiquitie, where they used to lift up their hands toward the heaven, acknowledging God to be the author of traeth, and the defender thereof, and also the Iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.
d God hath forbidden them to make mention of the idols. Exod. 23.13. Psal. 16.4.
e Which thing declared the wickednes of mans heart, which iudge Gods service by their eyes and outward senses.
f God had ever this respect to his glory, that he would not have his Name evill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserved, in consideration whereof the godly ever prayed, as Exod. 32.12. Num. 14.13.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernes.

11 And I gave them my ſtatutes, and declared my iudgements unto them, * which if a man doe, hee ſhall live in them.

12 Moreouer I gave them alſo my * Sabbaths to be a ſigne betweene mee and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that ſanctifie them.

13 But the houſe of Iſrael rebelled againſt me in the wildernes: they walke not in my ſtatutes, and they caſt away my iudgements, which if a man doe, hee ſhall live in them, and my Sabbaths have they greatly polluted, then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them * in the wilderneſs to conſume them.

14 But I had reſpect to my name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the g heathen in whoſe ſight I brought them out.

15 Yet neverthelesſe, I lift up mine hand unto them in the wilderneſſe, that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had given them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleaſant above all lands.

16 Becauſe they caſt away my iudgements, and walked not in my ſtatutes, but have polluted my h Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neverthelesſe, mine eye ſpared them, that I would not deſtroy them, neither would I conſume them in the wildernes.

18 But I ſaid unto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your i fathers, neither obſerve their manners, nor defile your ſelves with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my ſtatutes, and keepe my iudgements and do them, 20 And Sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they ſhalbe a ſigne betweene me and you, that ye may knowe that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithſtanding the children rebelled againſt me: they walked not in my ſtatutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man do, he ſhall live in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them, and to accompliſh my wrath againſt them in the wilderneſſe.

22 Neverthelesſe, I withdrew mine hand and had reſpect to my Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift up mine hand unto them in the wildernes, that I would ſcatter them among the heathen, and diſperſe them through the countreys, 24 Becauſe they had not executed my iudgements, but had caſt away my ſtatutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after k their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gave l them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they ſhould not live.

26 And I polluted them in their owne m gifts in that they cauſed to paſſe by the fire all that firſt openeth the wombe, that I might deſtroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, ſonne of man, ſpeake unto the houſe of Iſrael and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers have blaſphemed me, though they had before grievouſly tranſgreſſed againſt me.

28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they ſaw every high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their ſacrifices, and there they preſented their offering of provocation: there alſo they made their ſweete ſavour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I ſaid unto them, What is the high place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called o Bamah unto this day.

30 Wherefore, ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are yee not polluted † after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifres, and make your ſonnes to paſſe thorow the fire, you pollute your ſelves with all your idoles unto this day: ſhall I anſwere you when I am asked, O houſe of Iſrael? As I live, ſaith the Lord God, p I will not anſwere you when I am asked.

32 Neither ſhall that be done that commeth into your mind: for ye ſay, we will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreyes, and ſerve wood, and q ſtone.

33 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will ſurely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a ſtretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreyes, wherein ye are ſcattered, with a mighty hand, and with a ſtretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the r wildernes of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderneſſe of the land of Egypt, ſo will I pleade with you, ſaith the Lord God.

37 And I will cauſe you to paſſe under the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will ſ chuſe out from among you the rebels, and them that tranſgreſſe againſt me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they ſhall not enter into the land of Iſrael, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lord God, t Goe you, and ſerve every one his idole, ſeeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your giftes, and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, even in the hie mountaine of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God, there ſhall all the houſe of Iſrael, and all the land ſerve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the firſt fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your ſweet ſavour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreyes, wherein ye have bene ſcattered, that I may be ſanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall bring you into the land of Iſrael, into the land for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there ſhall yee remember your wayes, and all your works, wherein yee have bin defiled, and ye u ſhall iudge your ſelves worthy to be cut off, for all your evils that ye have commited.

44 And yee ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have reſpect unto you for my Names ſake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O yee houſe of 47 And ſay to the foreſt of the South, Heare the word of the Lord, thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it ſhall devoure all the [y] greene wood in thee, and all the dry wood: the continuall flame ſhall not be quenched, and every face from the South to the North ſhall be burnt therein.

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threatneth the ſword and deſtruction to Ieruſalem. 25 He ſheweth the fall of king Zedekiah. 28 He is commanded to prophecie the deſtruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to deſtroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward Ieruſalem, [a] and drop thy vvord toward the holy places, and prophecie againſt the land of Iſrael,

3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I come againſt thee, and will drawe my ſword out of his ſheath, and cut off from thee both the [b] righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore ſhall my ſword goe out of his ſheath againſt all fleſh from the South to the [c] North.

5 That all fleſh may know that I the Lord have drawen my ſword out of his ſheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore thou ſonne of man, as in the paine of thy [d] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they ſay unto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? Then anſwere, Becauſe [e] of the bruit: for it commeth, and every heart ſhall melt, and all hand ſhallbe weake, and all minds ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and ſhalbe done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 9 Sonne of man, prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, ſay, A ſword, a ſword both ſharpe and fourbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is fourbiſhed that it may [f] glitter: how ſhall we reioyce? for it contemneth the [g] rod of my ſonne, as [h] all other trees.

11 And he hath given it to be fourbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſword is ſharp, and is fourbiſhed [ỳ] he may give it into the hand of the [i] ſlayer.

12 Cry and howle, ſonne of man: for this ſhall come to my people, and it ſhall come unto all the princes of Iſrael: the terrors of the ſword ſhalbe upon my people, [k] ſmite therefore upon thy thigh.

13 For it is a triall, [l] and what ſhall this be, if the ſvvord contemne even the rod? It ſhalbe no more, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, prophecie and ſmite [m] hand to hand, and let the ſword be doubled: let the ſword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſword of the great ſlaughter entring into their privie chambers.

15 I have brought the feare of the ſword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee [n] alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoever thy face turneth.

17 I will alſo ſmite mine hands together, and will cauſe my wrath to ceaſe, I the Lord have ſaid it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came unto me againe, ſaying,

19 Alſo thou ſonne of man, appoint thee * two wayes, that the ſword of the King of Babel may come, both twaine ſhall come out of one land, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the ſword may come to Rabbah of the Ammonites, and [p] to Iudah in Ieruſalem the ſtrong citie.

21 And the King of Babel ſtood at the [q] parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, conſulting by divination, and made his arrowes bright; he conſulted with idoles, and looked in [r] the liver.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Ieruſalem to appoint captains to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to lift up their voyce with ſhouting, to lay engines of warre againſt the gates, to caſt a mount, and to build a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhalbe unto them [ſ] a falſe divination in their ſight for the oathes made unto them: [t] but hee will call to remembrance their iniquity, to the intent they ſhould be taken.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye have made your iniquitie to be remembred in diſcovering your rebellion, that in all your works your ſinnes might appeare: becauſe I ſay, that ye are come to remembrance, ye ſhall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou [u] Prince of Iſrael polluted, and wicked, whoſe day is come, when iniquitie ſhall have an end.

26 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will take away the [x] diademe, and take off the crowne: this ſhall be no more the ſame: I will exalt the humble, and will abaſe him that is high.

27 I will overturne, overturne, overturne it, and it ſhallbe no more untill he [y] come, whoſe right it is, and I will give it him.

28 ¶ And thou ſonne of man, prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemy: ſay thou, I ſay, The ſword, the ſword is drawen foorth and fourbiſhed to the ſlaughter, to conſume, becauſe of the glittering.

29 Whiles they ſee [z] vanity unto thee, and prophecie a lye unto thee to bring thee upon the neckes of the wicked that are ſlaine, whoſe day is come, when their iniquitie ſhall have an end.

30 Shall I cauſe it to returne into his ſheath? I will iudge thee in the hie place where thou waſt created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation upon thee, and will blow againſt thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of beaſtly men, and skilfull to deſtroy.

32 Thou ſhalt be in the fire to be devoured: thy blood ſhall be in the middes of the land, and thou ſhalt be no more remembred; for I the Lord have ſpoken it.

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her [b] time may come, and maketh idoles against [c] her selfe, to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come unto thy terme: therefore have I made thee a reproach to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in [d] name and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel every one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee have they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee [e] have they oppressed the stranger: in thee have they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath upon you, and you shallbe melted in the mids thereof.

26 Her Priests have broken my Law, and have defiled mine holy things: they have put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the uncleane and the cleane, and have hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in * the mids thereof are like wolves, ravening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne covetous lucre.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should [q] make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God, and put their trust to the Assyrians.

7 Thus ſhee committed her whoredome with them, even with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſhur, and with all on whom ſhe doted, and defiled her ſelfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left ſhe her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they e lay with her, and they bruiſed the breſts of her virginity, and powred their whoredome upon her.

The holy Ghoſt uſeth theſe termes which ſeeme ſtrange to chaſte eares, to cauſe this wicked vice of idolatry ſo to be abhorred, that vnneth any ſhould abide to heare the name thereof.

e Meaning, the Aſſyrians.

9 Wherefore I delivered her into the handes of her lovers, even into the hands of the Aſſyrians, upon whom ſhe doted.

10 Theſe diſcovered her ſhame: they tooke away her ſonnes and her daughters, and ſlew her with the ſword, and ſhee had an evill name among women: for f they had executed iudgement upon her.

f Meaning, the Aſſyrians.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſaw this, ſhe marred her ſelfe with inordinate love more then ſhe, and with her fornications more then her ſiſter with her fornications.

12 She doted upon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes cloathed with divers ſuites, horſemen riding upon horſes: they were all pleaſant yong men.

13 Then I ſaw that ſhe was defiled, and that they were both after one ſort.

14 And that ſhe increaſed her fornications: for when ſhe ſawe men g painted upon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion, g This declareth that no words are able ſufficiently to expreſſe the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghoſt here compareth them to thoſe which in their raging love and filthy luſts doe upon the images and paiſuring of them after whom they bait.

15 And girded with girdles upon their loynes, and with died attire upon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativitie.)

16 Aſſoone, I ſay, as ſhe ſaw them, ſhee doted upon them, and ſent meſſengers unto them, into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of love, they defiled her with their fornication, and ſhe was polluted with them, and her luſt departed from them.

18 So ſhe diſcovered her fornication, and diſcloſed her ſhame: then mine heart forſooke her, like as mine heart had forſaken her ſiſter.

19 Yet ſhee increaſed her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth wherein ſhee had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For ſhe doted upon their ſervants whoſe members are as the members of aſſes, and whoſe iſſue is like the iſſue of horſes.

21 Thou calledſt to remembrance the wickedneſſe of thy youth, when thy teates were bruiſed by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will raiſe up thy lovers againſt thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them againſt thee on every ſide.

23 To vvit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, h Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Aſſyrians with them: they were all pleaſant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowmed, riding upon horſes.

h Theſe were the names of certaine princes and captaines under Nebuchadnezzar.

24 Even theſe ſhall come againſt thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, vvhich ſhall ſet againſt thee buckler and ſhield, and helmet round about, and † I will leave the puniſhment unto them, and they ſhall iudge thee according to their ‖ iudgements.

‖ Or, lawes.

25 And I will lay mine indignation upon thee, and they ſhall deale cruelly with thee: they ſhall cut off thy i noiſe and thine eares, and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſword: they ſhall cary away thy ſonnes and thy daughters, and thy reſidue ſhalbe devoured by the fire.

i They ſhall deſtroy thy princes and prieſts with the reſt of thy people.

26 They ſhall alſo ſtrip thee out of thy cloathes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickedneſſe to ceaſe from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them, whom thou hateſt, even into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they ſhall handle thee deſpitefully, and ſhall take away all thy k labour, and ſhall leave thee naked and bare, and the ſhame of thy fornications l ſhallbe diſcovered, both thy wickednes, and thy whoredome.

k All thy treaſures, and riches which thou haſt gotten by labour.
l All the world ſhall ſee thy ſhamefull forſaking of God to ſerve idoles.

30 I will doe theſe things unto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoring after the heathen, and becauſe thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter: therefore will I give her m cup into thine hand.

m I will execute the ſame iudgement and vengeance againſt thee, and that with greater ſeveritie.

32 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Thou ſhalt drinke of thy ſiſters cup, deepe and large: thou ſhalt be laughed to ſcorne and had in deriſion, becauſe it conteineth much.

33 Thou ſhalt be filled with n drunkenneſſe and ſorow, even with the cup of deſtruction, and deſolation, with the cup of thy ſiſter Samaria.

n Meaning, that the afflictions ſhould be ſo great that they ſhould cauſe them to loſe their ſenſes and reaſon.

34 Thou ſhalt even drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou ſhalt breake the ſheards thereof, and teare thine owne breaſts: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and caſt me behind thy backe, therefore thou ſhalt alſo beare thy wickedneſſe and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord ſaid moreover unto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they have played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles have they committed adulterie, and have alſo cauſed their ſonnes, whom they bare unto mee, to paſſe by the fire to be their • meat.

o That is, to be ſacrifices to their idoles, reade Chap. 16. 20.

38 Moreover, thus have they done unto mee: they have defiled my Sanctuarie in the ſame day, and have prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had ſlaine their children to their idoles, they came the ſame day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus have they done in the mids of mine houſe.

40 And how much more is it that they ſent for men to come from p farre, unto whom a meſſenger was ſent, and loe, they came? for whom thou didſt waſh thy ſelfe, and paintedſt thine eyes, and deckedſt thee with ornaments, p They ſent into other countries to have ſuch as ſhould teach the ſervice of their idoles.

41 And ſateſt q upon a coſtly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou haſt ſet mine incenſe and mine oyle.

q He meaneth the altar that was prepared for the idoles.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at eaſe, vvas with her: and with the men to make the company great, were brought men of r Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets upon their hands, and beautifull crownes upon their heads.

r Which ſhould teach the manner of worſhipping their gods.

43 Then I ſaid unto her that was old in adulteries, Now ſhall ſhe and her fornications come to an end,

44 And

44 And they went in unto her as they goe to a common harlot: ſo went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they ſhall iudge them after the manner of f harlots, and after the manner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

f That is, worthy death, reade Chap. 16,38.

46 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude upon them, and will give them unto the tumult and to the ſpoyle, 47 And the multitude ſhall ſtone them with ſtones, and cut them with their ſwords: they ſhall ſlay their ſonnes, and their daughters, and burne up their houſes with fire.

48 Thus will I cauſe wickedneſſe to ceaſe out of the land, that all t women may be taught not to doe after your wickedneſſe.

t Meaning, all other cities and countries.

49 And they ſhall lay your wickedneſſe upon you, and ye ſhall beare the ſinnes of your idoles, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

He ſheweth the deſtruction of Ieruſalem by a parable of a ſeething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

a Of Iechoniahs captivitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah. 2 king. 25,1. b Called Tebeth, which containeth part of December and part of Ianuarie: in the which moneth and day Nebuchad-nezzar beſieged Ieruſalem.
c Whereby was meant Ieruſalem.
d That is, the citizens, and the chiefe men thereof.
‖ Or, heape.
e Meaning, of the innocents, whom they had ſlaine, who were the cauſe of the kindling of Gods wrath againſt them.
f Whoſe iniquities and wicked citizens there yet remaine.
g Signifying that they ſhould not be deſtroyed all at once, but by little and little.
h Spare none eſtate or condition.
i The citie ſhewed her crueltie to all the world, and was not aſhamed thereof, neither yet hid it.
* Nah. 3,1. Habak. 2,12.
‖ Or, an heape of wood.
k Meaning, that the citie ſhould be utterly deſtroyed, and that he would give the enemies an appetite thereunto.
l The citie hath flattered her ſelfe in vaine.
m Admoniſhed by ſending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldeſt not.

A Gaine in the a ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the b moneth, came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this ſame day: for the King of Babel ſet himſelfe againſt Ieruſalem this ſame day.

3 Therefore ſpeake a parable unto the rebellious houſe, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Prepare a c pot, prepare it, and alſo powre water into it.

4 Gather the d pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, as the thigh and the ſhoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the beſt ſheepe, and ‖ burne alſo the e bones under it, and make it boyle well, and ſeeth the bones of it therein.

6 Becauſe the Lord God ſaith thus, Woe to the bloodie city, even to the pot, f whoſe ſkum is therein, and whoſe ſkum is not gone out of it: bring it out g piece by piece: let no h lot fall upon it.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: ſhe ſet it upon an high i rocke, and powred it not upon the ground to cover it with duſt.

8 That it might cauſe wrath to ariſe, and take vengeance: even I have ſet her blood upon an hie rocke that it ſhould not be covered.

9 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, * Woe to the bloody city, for I will make ‖ the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: k kindle the fire, conſume the fleſh, and caſt in ſpice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then ſet it emptie upon the coales thereof, that ‖ the braſſe of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthineſſe of it may be molten in it, and that the ſkumme of it may be conſumed.

12 l Shee hath wearied her ſelfe with lies, and her great ſkumme went not out of her: therefore her ſkumme ſhall be conſumed with fire.

13 Thou remaineſt in thy filthineſſe and wickedneſſe: becauſe I would m have purged thee, and thou waſt not purged, thou ſhalt not be purged from thy filthineſſe, till I have cauſed my wrath to light upon thee.

14 I the Lord have ſpoken it: it ſhall come to paſſe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I ſpare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes ſhall n they iudge thee, ſaith the Lord God.

n That is, the Babylonians.

15 ¶ Alſo the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the o pleaſure of thine eyes with a plague: yet ſhalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither ſhall thy teares runne downe.

o Meaning, his wife, in whom he delited, as verſ. 18.

17 Ceaſe from ſighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tire of thine head upon thee, p and put on thy ſhooes upon thy feete, and cover not thy lips, and eat q not the bread of men.

p For in mourning they went bare headed and barefooted, and alſo covered their lips.

18 So I ſpake unto the people in the morning, and at even my wife died: and I did in r the morning, as I was commanded.

q That is, which the neighbours ſent to them that mourned.

19 And the people ſaid unto mee, Wilt thou not tell us what theſe things meane toward us that thou doeſt ſo?

r Meaning, the morning following.

20 Then I anſwered them, The word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, 21 Speake unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, beholde, I will ſ pollute my Sanctuary, even the t pride of your power, the pleaſure of your eyes, and your hearts deſire, and your ſonnes and your daughters whom yee have left, ſhall fall by the ſword.

ſ By ſending the Chaldeans to deſtroy it, as Chap. 7,22.
t Wherein you boaſt and delight.

22 And ye ſhall doe as I have done: yee ſhall not cover your lippes, neither ſhall yee eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire ſhalbe upon your heads, and your ſhooes upon your feet: ye ſhall not mourne nor weepe, but yee ſhall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is unto you a ſigne: according to all that he hath done, yee ſhall doe: and when this commeth, ye ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Alſo, thou ſonne of man, ſhall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honor, the pleaſure of their eyes, and the † deſire of their heart, their ſons and their daughters,

26 That he that eſcapeth in that day, ſhall come unto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day ſhall thy mouth be opened to him which is eſcaped, and thou ſhalt ſpeake, and be no more dumbe, and thou ſhalt be a ſigne unto them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord againſt Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ieruſalem, 3 againſt Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philiſtims.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto mee, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt the Ammonites, and prophecie againſt them,

3 And ſay unto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou ſayeſt, a Ha, ha, againſt my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and againſt the land of Iſrael, when it was deſolate, and againſt the houſe of Iudah, when they went into captivitie, a Becauſe ye reioyced when the enemie deſtroyed my citie and Temple.

4 Behold, therefore I will deliver thee to the b men of the Eaſt for a poſſeſſion, and they ſhall ſet their c palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they ſhall eate thy fruite, and they ſhall drinke thy milke:

b That is, to the Babylonians.
c They ſhall chaſe thee away, and take thy gorgeous houſes to dwell in.

5 And I will make d Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a ſheepecote, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

d Called alſo Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12,27.

6 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou haſt hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feet, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countries, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like unto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities [e] of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

[e] So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will give them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations.

11 And I will execute iudgements upon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, because that Edom hath done evill by taking vengeance upon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and revenged himselfe upon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand upon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims have executed vengeance, and revenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, behold, I will stretch out mine hand upon the Philistims, and I will cut off the [f] Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

[f] Which were certaine garisons of Philistims, whereby they oft times molested the Iewes, of the Cherethims David also had a gard, 2. Sam. 8, 18.

17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance upon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

x He propheceth that Tyrus shalbe overthrowen, because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

[a] Either of the captivitie of Ieconiah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah.

AND in the [a] eleventh yeere in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned unto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be [c] replenished, [b] That is, the famous citie Ierusalem, whereunto all people resorted.

[c] My riches and fame shall increase: thus the wicked reioyce at their fall by whom they may have any profit or advantage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring up many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth up with his waves.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

[d] The townes that belonged unto her.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring upon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a King of kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift up the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall cover thee, for their multitude: thy wals shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entry of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooves of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streetes: he shall slay the people by the sword, and the [e] pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

[e] For Tyrus was much built by art and by labour of men was wonne out of the Sea. Some referre this unto the images of the noble men which they had erected up for their glory and renowme.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shallbe no more heard.

* Ierem. 7. 34.

14 I will lay thee like the toppe of a rocke: [f] thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

[f] I will make thee so bare that thou shalt have nothing to cover thee.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall? and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murthered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the [g] sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments, and shall cloathe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit upon the ground and be astonished at every moment, and be amazed at thee,

[g] The governours and rulers of other countries that dwell by the sea: whereby he signifieth that her destruction should be so horrible, that all the world should heare thereof and be afraid.

17 And they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and say to thee: How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [h] of the Sea men, the renoumed citie which was strong in the sea, both thee and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

[h] Meaning, marchants which by their traffique did enrich her wonderfully and increase her power.

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 ¶ For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe upon thee, and great waters shall cover thee, 20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people [i] of old time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the old ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the [k] living.

[i] Which were dead long agoe.

[k] Meaning, in Iudea, when it shall be restored.

21 I will ‖ bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more, though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and authoritie thereof in time past.

The

THe word of the Lord came againe unto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take up a lamentation for Tyrus,

3 And say unto Tyrus that is situate at the entry of the sea, which is the mart [a] of the people for many yles, Thus sayeth the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beauty.

4 Thy borders are in the [†] mids of the sea, and thy builders have made thee of perfit beautie.

5 They have made all thy ship boards of firre trees of [b] Shenir: they have brought cedars from Lebanon, to make masts for thee.

6 Of the oakes of Bashan have they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians have made thy banks of yvory, brought out of the yles of [c] Chittim.

7 Fine linnen with broydered worke, brought from Egypt, was spread over thee to be thy saile, blew silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah was thy covering.

8 The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy [‖] pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy [d] calkers, all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy marchandise.

10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shield and helmet in thee: they set foorth thy beautie, 11 The men of Aruad with thine armie vvere upon thy walles round about, and the [e] Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields upon thy walles round about: they have made thy beauty perfit.

12 They of Tarshish vvere thy marchants for the multitude of all riches, for silver, yron, tinne, and lead, vvhich they brought to thy faires.

13 They of [f] Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchants, [g] concerning the lives of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchandise.

14 They of the house of [h] Togarmach brought to thy faires, horses and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan vvere thy marchants: and the marchandise of many yles vvere in thine hands: they brought thee for a present, [i] hornes, teeth, and peacockes.

16 They of Aram vvere thy marchants for the multitude of thy [‖] wares: they occupied in thy faires, with [‖] emeraudes, purple, and broydred worke, and [‖] fine linnen, and corall, and pearle.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy marchandise wheate of [k] Minnith, and Pannag, and hony, and oyle, and [‖] balme.

18 They of Damascus vvere thy marchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise.

20 They of Dedan vvere thy marchants in precious cloathes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar [‖] occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they marchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchants: they occupied in thy fayres with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold, 23 They of Haran and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad vvere thy marchants.

24 These were thy marchants in all sorts of things, in rayment of blew silke, and of broydered worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with coardes: chaines also vvere among thy marchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish [‖] were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the mids of the sea.

26 Thy [‖] robbers have brought thee into great waters: the [l] East winde hath broken thee in the mids of the sea.

27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy marchandise, thy mariners and pilots, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise, and all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the mids of thee, shall fall in the mids of the sea in the day of thy ruine.

28 The [m] suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

29 And all that handle the oare, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stand upon the land,

30 And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust upon their heads, and wallow themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, and gird them with sackecloath, and they shall weepe for thee with sorow of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning, they shall take up a lamentation for thee, saying, What city is like Tyrus so destroyed in the mids of the sea?

33 When thy wares went foorth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The marchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and never shalt be [n] any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

a The word of God against the king of Tyrus for his pride.
21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say unto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, [a] I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in the mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and [†] though thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser then [b] Daniel: there is no secret that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisedome and thine understanding thou hast gotten thy riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisedome and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, n Whereby is meant a long time: for it was prophecied to be destroyed but seventie yeres, as Isa. 23.15.

7 Behold,

a I am safe that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heaven.

† Hebr. though thou set thine heart as the heart of God.

b Thus he speaketh by derision: for Daniel had declared notable signes of his wisedome in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

‖ Or, came in company toward thee.

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers upon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beautie of thy wisdome, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the mids of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the [c] uncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take up a lamentation upon the King of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou sealest up the summe, and art full of [d] wisedome, and perfite in beauty.

13 Thou hast beene in Eden the garden of God: every precious stone was in thy garment, the ruby, the topaze, and the ‖ diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, ‖ emeraud, and the carbuncle and golde: the workemanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art [e] the anoynted Cherub, that covereth, and I have set thee [f] in honour: thou wast upon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the [g] stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfit in thy waies from the day that thou wast [h] created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they have filled the middes of thee with cruelty, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the [i] mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O covering Cherub, from the mids of stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse, I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy [k] sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall devoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be ‖ a terrour, and never shalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Againe the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophecie against it,

22 And say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be [l] glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have executed iudgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: [m] the enemy shall come against her with the sword on every side, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

24 And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne unto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus sayth the Lord God, When I shall have gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shall be [n] sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land, that I have given to my servant Iaakob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I have executed iudgements upon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

He prophecieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourteene yeeres.
18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour which hee tooke against Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yeere and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophecie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] dragon, that lieth in the mids of his rivers, which hath said, The river is mine, and I have made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of the rivers to sticke unto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the midst of thy rivers, and all the fish of thy rivers shall sticke unto thy scales.

5 And I will leave thee in the wildernes, both thee and all the fish of thy rivers: thou shalt fall upon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I have given thee for meate to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they have bin a staffe of [d] reede to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to ‖ stand [e] upright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword upon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shallbe desolate, and waste, & they shall know [y] I am the Lord: because he hath said, [f] The river is mine, & I have made it.

10 Behold, therefore I come upon thee, and upon thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate from the towre of Seveneh, even unto the borders of the † blacke Moores.

11 No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fortie yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countreyes that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate fortie yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreyes.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, * At the end of forty yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered,

14 And I will bring againe the captivitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a [g] small kingdome.

[b] He compareth Pharaoh to a dragon which hideth himselfe in the river Nilus, as Isa. 51, 9.

‖ Or, shake.
[e] When they felt their hurt, they would stay no more upon thee, but stood upon their feet, and put their trust in others.
[f] Thus God cannot suffer that man should arrogate any thing to himselfe, or put his trust in any thing save in him alone.
† Ebr. Cush, or Ethiopia.

* Iere. 46, 26.
[g] Meaning, that they should not have full dominion, but be under the Persians, Grecians and Romans, and the cause is that the Israelites should no more put their trust in them, but learne to depend on God.

15 It shall be the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their [h] iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the [i] seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his army to serue a great [k] seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet he had no wages, [l] nor his army for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and hee shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued ‖ against it, because they wrought ‖ for me, sayth the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grow, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

h Least I should by this meanes punish their sins.

i Counting from the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

k He tooke great paines at the siege of Tyrus, and his armie was sore handled.

l Signifying that Nebuchad-nezzar had more paines then profite, by the taking of Tyrus.

‖ Or, in it.

‖ Or, euill against me.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shallbe broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus sayth the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of [b] Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shallbe in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shallbe destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in ships, to make the careiesse Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall bee brought to destroy the land; and they shall drawe their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land wast, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of ‖ Noph, and there shallbe no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in ‖ Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon ‖ Sin, vvhich is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of ‖ No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt, Sin shall haue great sorow, and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorrowes dayly.

17 The yong men of ‖ Auen, and of ‖ Phibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captiuitie.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day [c] shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the [d] barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the [e] eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, [f] I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, and so make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will breake [g] his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharohs armes, and hee shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know, that I am the Lord, [h] when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I wil scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countries, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 Hee prophecieth a like destruction to them both.

ANd in the [a] eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou [b] like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur vvas like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very hie, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted h Whereby wee see that tyrants haue no power of themselues, neither can doe any more hanse then God appointeth, and when he will they must cease.

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the King of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame.

exalted him on hie with her ‖ riuers running round about his plants, and ſent out her [c] litle rivers vnto all the trees of the ‖ field.

5 Therefore his heighe was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, becauſe of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe ſent out.

6 All the foules of the heauens made their neſtes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beaſtes of the field bring foorth their young, and vnder his ſhadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatneſſe, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden [d] of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches: and the cheſſenut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: ſo that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ‖ he is lift vp on high, and hath ſhot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the [e] mightieſt among the heathen: hee ſhall handle him, for I haue caſt him away for his wickedneſſe.

12 And the ſtrangers haue deſtroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are [f] broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his ſhadowe, and haue forſaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine ſhall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beaſtes of the fielde ſhall be vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters ſhallbe exalted by their height, neither ſhall ſhoot vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither ſhall their leaues ſtand vp in their height, which drinke ſo much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I cauſed them to mourne, and I [g] couered the deepe for him, and I did reſtreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were ſtayed: I cauſed Lebanon to mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to ſhake at the ſound of his fall, when I caſt him downe to hell, with them that deſcend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the beſt of Lebanon: euen all that are nouriſhed with waters, ſhall [h] be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They alſo went downe to hel with him vnto them that were ſlaine with the ſword, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his ſhadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom [i] art thou thus like in glory and in greatnes among the trees of Eden? yet thou ſhalt be caſt downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou ſhalt ſleepe in the mids of the [k] vncircumciſed, with them that be ſlaine by the ſword, this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

a The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 He propheciеth that deſtruction ſhall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

A Nd in the [a] twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the firſt day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and ſay vnto him, Thou art like a [b] lion of the nations, and art as a ‖ dragon in the ſea: thou caſtedſt out thy riuers [c] and troubledſt the waters with thy feet, and ſtampedſt in their riuers.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord God, *I will therefore ſpread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they ſhall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will caſt thee vpon the open field, and I will cauſe all the foules of the heauen to remain vpon thee, and I will fill all the beaſts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy fleſh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleyes [d] with thine height.

6 I will alſo water with thy blood the land wherein thou [e] ſwimmeſt, euen to the mountains, and the riuers ſhall be full of thee.

7 And when I ſhall [f] put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the ſtarres thereof darke: *I will couer the ſunne with a cloude, and the moone ſhall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of the heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring [g] darkeneſſe vpon thy land, ſaith the Lord God.

9 I will alſo trouble the hearts of many people, when I ſhall bring thy deſtruction among the nations, and vpon the countries which thou haſt not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings ſhalbe aſtoniſhed with feare for thee, when I ſhall make my ſword to glitter againſt their faces, and they ſhall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The ſword of the king of Babel ſhall come vpon thee.

12 By the ſwords of the mightie will I cauſe thy multitude to fall: they all ſhall be terrible nations, and they ſhall deſtroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof ſhall be conſumed.

13 I will deſtroy alſo all the beaſtes thereof from the great waterſides, neither ſhall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoones of beaſts trouble them.

14 Then will I make [i] their waters deep, and cauſe their riuers to runne like oyle, ſaith the Lord God.

15 When I ſhall make the land of Egypt deſolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, ſhall be layd waſte: when I ſhall ſmite all them which dwell therein, then ſhall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they ſhall lament her: the daughters of the nations ſhall lament her: they ſhall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere alſo in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, ſaying, 18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt,

[f] Hereby is ſignified the deſtruction of the power of the Aſſyrians by the Babylonians.

[g] The deepe waters cauſed him to mount ſo hie (meaning his great abundance and pompe) ſhall now lament as though they were couered with ſackcloath.

[h] To cauſe this deſtruction of the King of Aſſyria to ſeeme more horrible, hee ſetteth forth other Kings and princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of ſuch a tyrant.

Egypt, and [k] caſt them downe, even them and the daughters of the mighty nations under the nether parts of the earth, with them that go downe into the pit.

19 Whom doeſt thou paſſe [l] in beautie? goe downe and ſleepe with the uncircumciſed.

20 They ſhall fall in the mids of them that are ſlaine by the ſword: [m] ſhee is delivered to the ſword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The moſt mighty and ſtrong ſhall ſpeake to [n] him out of the middes of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone down, and ſleepe with the uncircumciſed that be ſlaine by the ſword.

22 Aſſhur is there and all his company: their graves are about him: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſword.

23 Whoſe graves are made in the ſide of the pit, and his multitude are round about his grave: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſword, which cauſed feare to be in the land of the living.

24 There is [o] Elam and all his multitude round about his grave: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſword, which are gone downe with the uncircumciſed into the nether parts of the earth, which cauſed themſelves to be feared in the land of the [p] living, yet have they borne their ſhame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They have made his bed in the mids of the ſlaine with all his multitude: their graves are round about him: all theſe uncircumciſed are ſlaine by the ſword: though they have cauſed their feare in the land of the living, yet have they borne their ſhame with them that go downe to the pit: they are laid in the middes of them that be ſlaine.

26 There is [q] Meſhech, Tuball, and all their multitude: their graves are round about them: all theſe uncircumciſed were ſlaine by the ſword, though they cauſed their feare to be in the land of the living.

27 And they ſhall not lie with the valiant [r] of the uncircumciſed, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the grave with their weapons of warre, and have laid their ſwords under their heads, but their iniquity ſhall be upon their bones: becauſe they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the living.

28 Yea, thou ſhalt be broken in the middes of the uncircumciſed, and lie with them that are ſlaine by the ſword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their ſtrength are layd by them that were ſlaine by the ſword: they ſhall ſleepe with the uncircumciſed, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the [s] North, with all the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the ſlaine, with their feare: they are aſhamed of their ſtrength, and the uncircumciſed ſleepe with them that be ſlaine by the ſword, and beare their ſhame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh ſhall ſee them, and hee ſhall be [t] comforted over all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie ſhallbe ſlaine by the ſword, ſaith the Lord God.

a The office of the governours and miniſters. 14 He ſtrengtheneth them that deſpaire, and beldeneth them with the promiſe of mercie. 30 The word of the Lord againſt the mockers of the Prophets.

A Gaine, the word of the Lord came unto mee, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſpeake to the children of thy people, and ſay unto them, When I bring the ſword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man [‖] from among them, and make him their [a] watchman.

3 If when he ſeeth the ſword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the ſound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the ſword come, and take him away, his blood ſhall be upon his owne head.

5 For he heard the ſound of the trumpet, and would not be admoniſhed: therefore his blood ſhall be upon him: but he that receiveth warning, ſhall ſave his life.

6 But if the watchman ſee the ſword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the ſword come, and take any perſon from among them, hee is taken away for his [b] iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O ſonne of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore thou ſhalt heare the word at my [c] mouth, and admoniſh them from me.

8 When I ſhall ſay unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou ſhalt die the death, if thou doeſt not ſpeake and admoniſh the wicked of his way, that wicked man ſhall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I [d] require at thine hand.

9 Neverthelеſſe, if thou warne the wicked of his way to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee ſhall die for his iniquitie, but thou haſt delivered thy ſoule.

10 Therefore, O thou ſonne of man, ſpeake unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus yee ſpeake and ſay, If our tranſgreſſions and our ſinnes be upon us, and wee are conſumed becauſe of them, [e] how ſhould we then live?

11 Say unto them, As I live, ſaith the Lord God, [f] I deſire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and live: turne you, turne you from your evill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye houſe of Iſrael?

12 Therefore thou ſonne of man, ſay unto the children of thy people, The [g] righteouſneſſe of the righteous ſhall not deliver him in the day of his tranſgreſſion, nor the wickedneſſe of the wicked ſhall cauſe him to fall therein, in the day that hee returneth from his wickednеſſe, neither ſhall the righteous live for his righteouſneſſe in the day that he ſinneth.

13 When I ſhall ſay unto the righteous, that he ſhall ſurely live, if hee truſt to his owne righteouſneſſe, and commit iniquitie, all his righteouſneſſe ſhall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he ſhall die for the ſame.

14 Againe when I ſhall ſay unto the wicked, Thou ſhalt die the death, If he turne from his ſinne, and doe that which is lawfull and [h] right, 15 To wit, if the wicked reſtore the pledge, and give againe that he had robbed, and walke in the ſtatutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he ſhall ſurely live, and not die.

16 None of his ſinnes that he hath committed, ſhallbe mentioned unto him: becauſe he hath done that a Against the shepheards that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the shepheards of Israel, prophecie and say unto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God unto the shepheards, * Who be unto the a shepheards of Israel, that feede themselves: should not the shepheards feede the flockes?

3 Ye eate the b fat, and ye cloathe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.

4 The c weake have ye not strengthened: the sicke have yee not healed, neither have yee bound up the broken, nor brought againe that which was driven away, neither have yee sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigour have ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were d devoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thorow all the mountaines, and upon every hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered thorow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I live, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were devoured of all the beasts of the field, having no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fedde themselves, and fedde not my sheepe, 9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede themselves any more: for I will deliver thy sheepe from e their mouthes, and they shall no more deboure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliver them out of all places, where they have bin scattered in f the cloudy and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, and will bring them to their owne land, and feed them upon the mountaines of Israel, by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and upon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede upon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the g strong, and I will feed them with h iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rams and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing unto you to have eaten up the good i pasture, but yee must tread downe with your feet, the residue of your pasture? and

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an end.

6 Therefore as I liue, saieth the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood: euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleyes, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, [e] These two nations and these two countreyes shall be mine, and wee will possesse them (seeing the Lord was [f] there.)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will even doe according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation, which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knowen among [h] them, when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all the blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are given us to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes yee haue boasted against me, and I haue multiplied your wordes against me: I haue heard them.

16 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the monstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath upon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, vvherevvith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deeds, I judged them.

21 But I favoured mine holy l Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine m holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you have polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shallbe sanctified in you before ‖ their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreyes, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane n water upon you, and ye shallbe cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 * A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will give you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliver you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for o corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine upon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruits of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deeds that were not good, and shall iudge your selves worthy to have bin p destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowen unto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall have cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shallbe builded.

34 And the desolate land shallbe tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste, and desolate, and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen, that are left round about you, shall q know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord have spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it unto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

winde: prophecie, ſonne of man, and ſay to the winde, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Come from the foure b winds, O breath, and breathe upon theſe ſlaine, that they may live.

b Signifying, all parts whereas the Iſraelites were ſcattered: that is, the faithfull ſhallbe brought to the ſame vnity of ſpirit and doctrine, whereſoever they are ſcattered throw the world.

10 So I prophecied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they lived, and ſtood up upon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael. Behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecie, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graves, and cauſe you to come up out of your ſepulchres, and bring you into the land of Iſrael, c That is, when I have brought you out of thoſe places, and townes where you are captives.

13 And yee ſhall knowe that I am the Lord, c when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your ſepulchers, 14 And ſhall put my Spirit in you, and ye ſhall live, and I ſhall place you in your owne land: then ye ſhall know that I the Lord have ſpoken it, and performed it, ſaith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying,

16 Moreover, thou ſonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write upon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Iſrael his companions: then take d another piece of wood, and write upon it, Vnto Ioſeph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the houſe of Iſrael his companions, d Which ſignifieth the ioyning together of the two houſes, of Iſrael, and Iudah.

17 And thou ſhalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, and they ſhallbe as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people ſhall ſpeake vnto thee, ſaying, Wilt thou not ſhew us what thou meaneſt by theſe?

19 Thou ſhalt anſwere them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree e of Ioſeph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Iſrael his fellowes, and will put them with him even with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they ſhallbe one in mine hand.

e That is, the houſe of Iſrael.

20 And the pieces of wood whereon thou writeſt, ſhallbe in thine hand, in their ſight.

21 And ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on every ſide, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountains of Iſrael, * and one king ſhallbe king to them all: and they ſhallbe no more two peoples, neither be divided any more henceforth in two kingdomes.

* Iohn 10,16.

23 Neither ſhall they be polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their tranſgreſſions: but I will ſave them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they have ſinned, and will cleanſe them: ſo ſhall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And David my * ſervant ſhallbe king over them, and they ſhall all have one ſhepheard: they ſhall alſo walke in my iudgements, and obſerve my ſtatures, and doe them.

* Iſa. 40,11. iere. 23, 5. chap. 34. 23. dan. 9, 24.

25 And they ſhall dwell in the f land, that I had given vnto Iaakob my ſervant, where your fathers have dwelt, and they ſhall dwell therein, even they, and their ſonnes, and their ſonnes ſonnes for ever, and my ſervant David ſhall be their prince for ever.

f Meaning that the elect by Chriſt ſhall dwell in the heavenly Ieruſalem, which is meant by the land of Canaan.

26 Moreover, I will make * a covenant of peace with them: it ſhallbe an everlaſting covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiplie them, and will ſet my ſanctuarie among them for evermore.

* Pſal. 109, 4. and 116, 2.

27 My tabernacle alſo ſhallbe with them: yea, I will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen ſhall know, that I the Lord doe ſanctifie Iſrael, when my Sanctuary ſhall be among them for evermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

a He propheciith that Gog and Magog ſhall fight with great power againſt the people of God. 21 Their deſtruction.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, a Which was a people that came of Magog the ſonne of Iaphet. Gen. 10. 2. Magog alſo here ſignifieth a certaine countrey. ſo that by theſe two countreys which had the governement of Grecia and Italie, bee meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Revel. 20. 8.

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt a Gog, and againſt the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal, and prophecie againſt him,

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal.

b He ſheweth that the enemies ſhould bend themſelves againſt the Church, but it ſhould be to their owne deſtruction.

4 And I will deſtroy thee, and put hookes in thy iawes, and I will bring thee forth and all thine hoaſte, both horſes and horſemen, all cloathed with all ſorts of armour, even a greate multitude with bucklers and ſhields, all b handling ſwords.

c The Perſians, Ethiopians and men of Africa.

5 They of c Paras, of Cuſh, and Phut with them, even all they that beare ſhield and helmet.

d Gomer was Iapheths ſonne, and Togarmah the ſonne of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabite Aſia Minor.

6 d Gomer and all his bands, and the houſe of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world ſhould aſſemble themſelves againſt the Church and Chriſt their head.

7 Prepare thy ſelfe, and make thee e readie, both thou, and all thy multitude that are aſſembled vnto thee, and be thou their ſafegard.

8 After many dayes thou ſhalt be viſited: for in the latter yeeres thou ſhalt come into the land that hath beene deſtroyed with the ſword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountains of Iſrael, which have long lien waſte: yet ‖ they have beene brought out of the people, and they ſhall dwell all ſafe.

‖ Or, it: meaning the land of Iſrael.

9 Thou ſhalt aſcend and come up like a tempeſt, and ſhalt be like a cloud to cover the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

f That is, to moleſt and deſtroy the Church.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Even at the ſame time ſhall many things come into thy mind, and thou ſhalt thinke f evill thoughts.

g Meaning, Iſrael, which had now bin deſtroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the ſimplicitie of the godly, who ſeeke not ſo much to fortifie themſelves by outward force, as to depend on the providence and goodneſſe of God.

11 And thou ſhalt ſay, I will goe up to the land that hath no walled towers: g I will goe to them that are at reſt and dwell in ſafety, which dwell all without walles, and have neither barres nor gates.

h One enemie ſhall envie another, becauſe every one ſhall thinke to have the ſpoile of the Church.

12 Thinking to ſpoile the prey, and to take a booty, to turne thine hand vpon the deſolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which have gotten cattell, and goods, and dwell in the midſt of the land.

i Shalt not thou ſpie thine occaſions to come againſt my Church when they ſuſpect nothing?

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarſhiſh with all the lyons thereof ſhall ſay vnto thee, h Art thou come to ſpoile the prey? haſt thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to carie away ſilver and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to ſpoile a great prey?

14 Therefore ſonne of man, prophecie, and ſay vnto Gog, Thus ſaith the Lord God, In that day, when my people of Iſrael i dwelleth ſafe, ſhalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee, and ſhall ride vpon horſes, even a great multitude and a mighty armie.

16 And thou ſhalt come vp againſt my people of Iſrael, as a cloud to cover the land, thou ſhalt be in the k latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may know mee, when I l ſhall be ſanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue ſpoken in olde time, m by the hands of my ſeruants the Prophets of Iſrael which prophecied in thoſe dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the ſame time alſo when Gog ſhall come againſt the land of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God, my wrath ſhall ariſe in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I ſpoken it: ſurely at that time there ſhallbe a great ſhaking in the land of Iſrael.

20 So that the fiſhes of the Sea, and the foules of the heaven, and the beaſts of the fielde, and all that mooue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, ſhall tremble at my preſence, and the mountaines ſhallbe ouerthrowen, and the n ſtaires ſhall fall, and every wall ſhall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a ſword againſt him o throughout all my mountaines, ſaith the Lord God: every mans ſword ſhallbe againſt his brother.

22 And I will pleade againſt him with peſtilence, and with blood, and I will cauſe to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a ſore raine, and haile-ſtones, fire, and brimſtone.

23 Thus will I be * magnified, and ſanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX

1 He ſheweth the deſtruction of Gog, and Magog. 11 The graue of Gog and his heaſt. 17 They ſhall be deliuered of birdes and beaſts. 23 Wherefore the houſe of Iſrael is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promiſed.

THerefore thou ſonne of man, prophecie againſt Gog, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal.

2 And I will deſtroy thee, a and leaue but the ſixt part of thee, and will cauſe thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Iſrael:

3 And I will ſmite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cauſe thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou b ſhalt fall vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds, and to euery feathered foule and beaſt of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou ſhalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

6 And I will ſend a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell ſafely in the c yles, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the mids of my people Iſrael, and I will not ſuffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen ſhall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Iſrael.

8 Behold, d it is come, and it is done, ſaith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue ſpoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Iſrael ſhall e goe forth, and ſhall burne and ſet fire vpon the weapons, and on the ſhields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the ſtaues in their hands, and vpon the ſpeares, and they ſhall burne them with fire ſeuen yeeres.

10 So that they ſhall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forreſts: for they ſhall burne the weapons with fire, and they ſhall robbe thoſe that robbed them, and ſpoyle thoſe that ſpoyled them, ſayth the Lord God.

11 And at the ſame time will I giue vnto Gog f a place there for buriall in Iſrael, even the valley, whereby men goe toward the Eaſt part of the ſea: and it ſhall cauſe them that paſſe by, to ſtop their g noſes, and there ſhall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they ſhall call it the valley of ‖ Hamon-Gog.

12 h And ſeuen moneths long ſhall the houſe of Iſrael be burying of them, that they may cleanſe the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land ſhall burie them, and they ſhall haue a name, when I ſhallbe glorified, ſaith the Lord God.

14 And they ſhall chuſe out men to go continually thorow the i land with them that trauaile, to bury thoſe that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanſe it: they ſhall ſearch to the end of ſeuen moneths.

15 And the trauailers that paſſe through the land, if any ſee a mans bone, then ſhall he ſet vp a ſigne by it, till the buriers haue buried it in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And alſo the name of the citie ſhallbe ‖ Hamonah: thus ſhall they cleanſe the land.

17 And thou ſonne of man, thus ſaith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beaſts of the field, Aſſemble your ſelues, and come: k gather your ſelues on every ſide to my ſacrifice: for I doe ſacrifice a great ſacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Iſrael, that yee may eate fleſh, and drinke blood.

18 Yee ſhall eate the fleſh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goats, and of bullocks, even of all beaſts of Baſhan.

19 And ye ſhall eat fat till ye be full, and drinke blood till ye be drunken of my ſacrifice, which I haue ſacrificed for you.

20 Thus you ſhall be filled at my table with horſes and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, ſaith the Lord God.

21 And I will ſet my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen ſhall ſee my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue laid vpon them.

22 So the houſe of Iſrael ſhall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and ſo foorth.

23 And the heathen ſhall know that the houſe of Iſrael went into captiuitie for l their iniquitie, becauſe they treſpaſſed againſt me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: ſo fell they all by the ſword.

24 According to their vncleanneſſe, and according to their tranſgreſſions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them, k Meaning, in the laſt age, and from the comming of Chriſt vnto the end of the world.

25 There-

l Signifying, that God will be ſanctified by maintaining his Church, and deſtroying his enemies, as Chap. 36,23. and 37,28.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not beene aduertiſed aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath ſo ordeined.

n Al meanes whereby man ſhould thinke to ſaue himſelfe, ſhall faile, the affliction in thoſe dayes ſhall be ſo great, and the enemies deſtruction ſhallbe ſo terrible.

o Againſt the people of Gog and Magog.

* Chap. 36,23, and 37,28.

a Or, deſtroy thee with ſixe plagues, as Chap. 38,22.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word the enemie ſhallbe deſtroyed wherſoeuer he aſſaileth his Church.

c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, ſeeme they neuer ſo farre ſeparate, d That is, this plague is fully determined, in my counſell, and cannot be changed.

e After this deſtruction the Church ſhall haue great peace and tranquillitie, and burne all their weapons, becauſe they ſhall no more feare the enemies, and this is chiefly meant of the accompliſhment of Chriſts kingdome, when by their head Chriſt, all enemies ſhallbe ouercome.

f Which declareth that the enemies ſhall haue an horrible fall.

g For the ſtinke of the carkeiſes.

h Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the holy land ſhould not be polluted, and partly for the compaſſion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.

k Whereby he ſignifieth the horrible deſtruction that ſhould come vpon the enemies of his Church.

l The heathen ſhall know that they ouercame not my people by their ſtrength, neither yet by the ſtrength of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples ſinnes.

25 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captivity of Iaakob, and have compaſſion upon the whole houſe of Iſrael, and will be iealous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they have borne their ſhame, and all their tranſgreſſion, whereby they have tranſgreſſed againſt me, when they dwelt ſafely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I have brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies land, and am * ſanctified in them in the ſight of many nations.

* *Chap.*36.23.

28 Then ſhall they know that I am the Lord their God, which cauſed them to be led into captivitie among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their owne land, and have left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I have powred out my Spirit upon the houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The reſtoring of the citie and the Temple.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two ſorts: for their feaſts, they began to count in March, and for their owne affaires in September: ſo that this is to be underſtood of September.

IN the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captivitie in the a beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was ſmitten, in the ſelfe ſame day, the hand of the Lord was upon mee, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Iſrael brought he me by ‖ a divine viſion, and ſet me upon a very high mountaine, whereupon vvas as the building of a citie, toward the South.

‖ Or, viſions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, and beholde, there vvas a b man, whoſe ſimilitude was to looke to, like braſſe, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a treed to meaſure with: and hee ſtood at the gate.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to meaſure out this building.

4 And the man ſaid unto me, Sonne of man behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and ſet thine heart upon all that I ſhall ſhewe thee: for to the intent that they might be ſhewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou ſeeſt unto the houſe of Iſrael.

5 And behold, I ſavv a wall on the outſide of the houſe round about: and in the mans hand vvas a reed to meaſure with, of ſixe cubits long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: ſo he meaſured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reed.

6 Then came he unto the gate which looketh toward the Eaſt, and went up the ſtaires thereof, and meaſured the ‖ poſt of the gate, vvhich vvas one reed broad and ‖ the other poſt of the gate, vvhich vvas one reed broad.

‖ Or, treſhold. ‖ Or, vpper poſt.

7 And every chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers vvere five cubits: and the poſt of the gate by the porch of the gate within vvas one reed.

8 Hee meaſured alſo the porch of the gate within with one reed.

9 Then meaſured he the porch of the gate of eight cubits and the ‖ poſtes thereof, of two cubits, and the porch of the gate vvas inward.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The diſpoſition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward, hee brought mee to the Temple and meaſured the poſtes, ſixe cubits broad on the one ſide, and ſixe cubites broad on ỹ other ſide, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the ſides of the entrie were five cubites, on the one ſide, and five cubites on the other ſide, and he meaſured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went he in, and meaſured the poſtes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie ſixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie ſeven cubites.

4 So he meaſured the length thereof twenty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple, and he ſaid unto me, This is the moſt holy place.

5 After, hee meaſured the wall of the houſe, ſixe cubites, and the breadth of every chamber foure cubits round about the houſe, on every ſide.

6 And the chambers were chamber upon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the houſe, that the poſtes might be faſtened therein, and not be faſtened in the wall of the houſe.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting upward to the chambers: for the ſtaire of the houſe was mounting upward, round about the houſe: therefore the houſe was larger upward: ſo they went up from the loweſt chamber to the hieſt by the mids.

10 And the Chambers of the gate Eastward, vvere three on this side, and three on that side: they three vvere of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubits, and the height of the gate thirteene cubits.

12 The space also before the chambers vvas one cubite on this side, and the space vvas one cubite on that side, and the chambers vvere sixe cubites on this side, and sixe cubits on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth vvas five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the posts of the court, and of the gate, had one measure round about.

15 And upon the forefront of the entry of the gate unto the forefront of the porch of the gate within vvere fiftie cubits.

16 And there vvere narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes vvere round about within: and upon the posts vvere palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there vvere chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers vvere upon the pavement.

18 And the pavement vvas by the side of the gates over against the length of the gates, and the pavement vvas beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, unto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof vvere three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof vvas fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, vvere after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going up unto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof vvere before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood over against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that, hee brought mee toward the South, and loe, there vvas a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there vvere windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height vvas fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubits.

26 And there were seven steps to goe up to it, and the arches thereof vvere before them, & it had palme trees, one on this side, and an other on that side upon the poste thereof.

27 ¶ And there vvas a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate, according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there vvere windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it vvas fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about vvere five and twentie cubites long, and five cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof vvere toward the utter Court, and palme trees vvere upon the postes thereof, and the going up to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Againe hee brought mee into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there vvere windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it vvas fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof vvere toward the utter court, and palme trees vvere upon the posts thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there vvere windowes therein round about: the height vvas fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof vvere toward the utter court, and palme trees vvere upon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

38 And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof vvas under the posts of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, upon the which they slewe the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate vvere two tables.

41 Foure tables vvere on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables vvere of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubit and an halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they laide the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within vvere borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and upon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward, hee brought mee to the Temple and measured the postes, fixe cubits broad on the one side, and fixe cubites broad on ỹ other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites, on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went he in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twenty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple, and he said unto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, fixe cubites, and the breadth of every chamber foure cubits round about the house, on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber upon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting upward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting upward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger upward: so they went up from the lowest chamber to the hiest by the mids.

vers 4. The length twentie cubites G O. so it was square. * vers. 5. The first chamber was foure cubites Q R. The second five S T, and the third fixe A B. There were three heights or stages of chambers R S A. The turning staire cannot be shewed in the figure, but may easily be conceived.

8 I saw also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers vvere a full reede of sixe great cubits.

9 The thickenesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, vvas five cubites, and that which remained, vvas the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenesse of twentie cubits round about the House on every side.

11 And the doores of the chambers vvere toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, vvas five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, vvas seventie cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thicke round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundreth cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof vvere an hundreth cubits long,

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, vvas an hundreth cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the building over against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides over against the postes, fieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windowes, and the windowes were fieled.

17 And from above the doore, unto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was fieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree vvas betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man vvas toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground unto above the doore vvere Cherubims, and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The posts of the Temple were square, and thus to looke unto vvas the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood vvas three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof vvere of wood. And he said unto me, This is the Table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And upon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made upon the walles, and there vvere thicke planks upon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there vvere narrowe windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and upon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

THen brought hee mee into the utter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought mee into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubits, vvas the North doore, and it vvas fiftie cubits broad.

3 Over against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement, which was for the utter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers vvas a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within vvas a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers above were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate up these, to vvit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the utter court on the forefront of the chambers, vvas fiftie cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court, vvas fiftie cubits, and loe, before the Temple vvere an hundreth cubites.

9 And under these chambers vvas the entry, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers vvere in the thickenesse of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And the way before them vvas after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers, that were toward the South, vvas a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said he unto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers wherein the Priests that approach unto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offring: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought me foorth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rodde, five hundreth reedes even with the measuring reede round about.

17 Hee measured also the North side, five hundreth

CHAP. XLIII.

a He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward hee brought mee to the gate euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

6 And I heard one speaking unto mee out of the house, and there stood a man by me,

7 Which said unto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more [c] defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of [d] their kings in their hie places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my threshols, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene mee and them) yet have they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the paterne.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reproueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the fleſh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the ſeruice of the Temple, and who to be refuſed.

Verſe 1. The Eaſt gate D. in the great figure.

THen hee brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the Eaſt, and it was ſhut.

2 Then ſayd the Lord vnto me, This gate ſhall be a ſhut, and ſhall not be opened, and no man ſhall enter by it, becauſe the Lord God of Iſrael hath entred by it, and it ſhall be ſhut.

a Meaning, from the common people, but not from the Prieſts, nor the Prince, reade Chap. 46, 8, 9.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himſelfe ſhall ſit in it to eat bread before the Lord: hee ſhall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and ſhall goe out by the way of the ſame.

4 ¶ Then brought hee mee toward the North gate before the houſe: and when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the houſe of the Lord, and I fell upon my face.

¶ Ebr. ſet thine heart.

5 And the Lord ſayd unto me, Sonne of man, † marke well & behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all ỹ I ſay vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the houſe of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, & marke well ỹ entring in of the houſe with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie.

6 And thou ſhalt ſay to the rebellious, euen to the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſayth the Lord God, O houſe of Iſrael, yee haue enough of all your abominations.

b For they had brought idolaters which were of other countreys, to teach them their idolatry, Chap. 23, 40.

7 Seeing that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary b ſtrangers vncircumciſed in heart, and vncircumciſed in fleſh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine houſe, when ye offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, becauſe of all your abominations.

c Ye haue not offered vnto mee according to my Law.

8 For yee haue not kept the c ordinances of mine holy things: but you your ſelues haue ſet other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus ſayth the Lord God, No ſtranger vncircumciſed in heart, nor vncircumciſed in fleſh, ſhall enter into my Sanctuary, of any ſtranger that is among the children of Iſrael, 10 Neither yet the d Leuites that are gone backe from me, when Iſrael went aſtray, which went aſtray from mee after their idoles, but they ſhall beare their iniquitie.

d The Leuites which had committed idolatry, were put from their dignitie and could not be receiued into the Prieſts office, although they had bene of the houſe of Aaron, but muſt ſerue in ỹ inferiour offices, as to watch and to keepe the doores, reade 2 King. 32. 9.

11 And they ſhall ſerue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the Houſe, and miniſter in the Houſe: they ſhall ſlay the burnt offering and the ſacrifice for the people: and they ſhall ſtand before them to ſerue them.

12 Becauſe they ſerued before their idoles, and cauſed ỹ houſe of Iſrael to fall into iniquity, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand againſt them, ſayth the Lord God, and they ſhall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they ſhall not come neere vnto me to doe the office of the Prieſt vnto me, neither ſhall they come neere unto any of mine holy things in the moſt holy place, but they ſhall beare their ſhame, and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the Houſe, for all the ſeruice thereof, and for all that ſhall be done therein.

15 But the Prieſts of the Leuites, the ſonnes of Zadok, that e kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Iſrael went aſtray from me, they ſhall come neere to mee to ſerue mee, and they ſhall ſtand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, ſayth the Lord God.

e Which obſerued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatrie.

16 They ſhall enter into my Sanctuary, and ſhall come neere to my table, to ſerue mee, and they ſhall keepe my charge.

17 And when they ſhall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they ſhall be cloathed with linnen garments, and no wool ſhall come vpon them while they ſerue in the gates of ỹ inner court, and within.

18 They ſhall haue linnen bonets vpō their heads, and ſhall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they ſhall not gird thēſelues in the ſweating places.

19 But when they goe foorth into the vtter cort, euen to the vtter court to the people, they ſhall put off their garments, wherein they miniſtred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they ſhall put on other garments: for they ſhall not ſanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They ſhall not alſo f ſhaue their heads, nor ſuffer their lockes to grow long, but round their heads.

f As did the infidels and heathen.

21 * Neither ſhall any Prieſts drinke wine when they enter into the inner court. * Levit. 10, 9.

22 Neither ſhall they take for their * wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced: but they ſhall take maides of the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Prieſt. * Levit. 21, 13, 14.

23 And they ſhall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cauſe them to diſcerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuerſie they ſhall ſtand to iudge, and they ſhall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they ſhall keepe my lawes and my ſtatutes in all mine aſſemblies, and they ſhall ſanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 * And they ſhal come at no dead perſon to defile themſelues, except at their father or mother, or ſonne or daughter, brother or ſiſter, that hath had yet none husband: in theſe may they g be defiled. * Levit. 21, 1, 2, 12.

26 And when he is cleanſed, they ſhall reckon vnto him ſeuen dayes.

g They may be at their burial, which was a defiling.

27 And when he goeth into the Sanctuary, vnto the inner court, to miniſter in the Sanctuary, he ſhall offer his ſinne offering, ſayth the Lord God.

28 * And

28 * And the Priesthood shall be their inheritance, yea, I am their inheritance: therefore shall ye give them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession.

29 They shall eate the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering, and every dedicate thing in Israel shalbe theirs.

30 * And all the first of all the first borne, and every oblation, even all of every sort of your oblations shalbe the Priests. Ye shall also give unto the Priest the first of your dough, that hee may cause the blessing to rest in thine house.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate foure portions, of which the first is given to the Priestes and to the Temple, the second to the Levites, the third to the city, the fourth to the prince. 9. An exhortation unto the heads of Israel. 20 Of iust weights and measures. 24 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreover, when yee shall divide the land for inheritance, yee shall offer an oblation unto the Lord an a holy portion of the land, five and twentie thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the citie and for the Prince.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundreth in length, with five hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fifty cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shalbe the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priestes, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serve the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Levites that minister in the house, have their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince of the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border unto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

b The Prophet sheweth that the heads must be first reformed afore any good order can be stablished among the people.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Let it b suffice you, O princes of Israel: leave off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayeth the Lord God.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantitie. saue that Ephah conteined in drie things that which Bath did in licour, Levit. 5,11. 1. kings 5,11.

10 Ye shall have iust balances, and a true c Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall be after the Homer.

* Exod.30,13. levit.27,25. numb.3,47.

12 * And the shekel shall be twentie Gerahs, and twentie shekels, and d five and twentie shekels and fifteene shekels shalbe your Maneh.

d That is, threescore shekels make a weight called Mina, for be ioyneth these three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that yee shall offer, the sixth part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall give the sixth part of an Ephah of an Homer of Barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, even of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer)

15 And one Lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shalbe the princes part to give burnt offrings, and meate offrings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offring, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the e moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and cleanse the Sanctuary.

e Which was Nisan, containing part of March and part of April.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it upon the postes of the house, and upon the foure ‖ corners of the frame of the altar, and upon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

‖ Or, court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seventh day of the moneth, for every one that hath erred, and for him that is deceived: so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall have the Passeover, a feast of seven dayes, and yee shall eate vnleavened bread.

* Exod.12,18. levit.23,5.

22 And upon that day, shall the prince prepare for himselfe and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seven dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, even of seven bullockes, and seven rammes without blemish dayly for seven dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meat offring of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an f Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

f Reade exod.29. 40.

25 In the seventh moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seven dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The Sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the new moone. 8 Therein which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shalbe opened, and in the day of the new moone it shall be opened.

Vers.1. The inner court gate Q. whereunto they went up by eight steps, as appeareth in the great figure.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall.

shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new moones.

4 And the burnt offring that the prince shall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be sixe lambes without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the meat offring shall be an Ephah for a ram: and the meat offering for the lambs a a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambs and a ram: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat offring, even an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambs b according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of the gate, and hee shall go forth by the way thereof.

Vers. 9. He that entreth in by the North gate R, shall go out by the South gate D, and contrary, and in going forward they worshipped in the Mids M.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, he ỹ entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall go out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall go forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall go forth over against it.

10 And the prince shalbe in the mids of them: he shall go in when they go in, and when they go forth, they shall go forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offerings freely unto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate ỹ turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offring and his peace offrings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after he shall go forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offring unto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere, without blemish: thou shalt doe it every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offring for it every morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flowre: this meat offring shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance unto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offring, and the oyle every morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saieth the Lord God, If the prince give a gift of his inheritance unto any of his sonnes, it shalbe his sonnes, and it shalbe their possession by inheritance.

c Which was at the Iubile, Levit. 25,9.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shalbe his to the c yeere of liberty: after, it shall returne to the Prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45,8.

18 Moreover the prince shall not d take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherite of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered every man from his possession.

19 ¶ After hee brought mee through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

Vers. 19. He describeth the Priests chambers, which were at the side of the Temple toward the North: and so commeth to the place which was on the West side S, which verse 21. is calleth ỹ utter court in respect of the inner court, as also where the people were, was the vtter court in respect of this inner.

20 Then sayd hee unto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seeth the trespasse offring and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meat offring, that they should not beare them into the utter court, e to sanctifie the people.

e That the people shou'd not have to doe with those thiugs which apperraine to the Lord, & thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

21 Then he brought mee foorth into the utter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in every corner of the court there vvas a court.

Vers. 21. the little court in every corner, was fourty cubites long 7,8. and thirty broad 8,9. and 7,9.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourtie cubits long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

Vers. 23. About the walles of these litle courts, which were little chambers for the cookes, 10.

23 And there vvent a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made under the walles round about.

24 Then sayd he unto mee, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple.
13 The coasts of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

AFterward hee brought me unto the doore of the house: and beholde, a waters issued out from under the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stoode toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from under the right side of the house, at the Southside of the altar.

Vers. 1. The doore of the Temple K, and from under the threshold issued out waters, which came out of the South side, and ranne toward the East. Looke in the great figure 11.

a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be given to the Church under the kingdome of Christ.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without unto the utter gate by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went foorth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me thorow the waters: the waters vvere to the ancles.

4 Againe he measured a thousand, and brought mee through the waters: the waters vvere to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters vvere to the loynes.

b Signifying that the graces of God should never decrease, but ever abound in his Church.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it vvas a b river, that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a river that could not be passed over.

c Meaning, the multitude of them that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.

6 And hee sayd unto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the river:

d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full thereof, which is here meant by the Persian sea, or Genezareth, and the sea calleth Mediterraneum, Zach. 14,8.

7 Now when I turned, behold, at the brinke of the river vvere very many c trees on the one side and on the other.

8 Then sayd hee unto me, These waters, issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one d sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

e The waters which of nature are salt & vnwholsome, shalbe made sweet and comforsable.

9 And every thing that liveth, which mooveth, whersoever the rivers shall come, shall live, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and every thing shall live whither the river commeth.

10 And

10 And then the f fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto g En-eglaim, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shalbe according to their kindes, as the fish of h the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But i the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholesome, they shalbe made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all ‖ fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruite thereof faile: it shall bring foorth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meate, and the leafe thereof shall be for ‖ medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shalbe the border, whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border k of the land toward the North side, from the maine sea toward Hethlon, as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shalbe toward Teman, from Tamar to the waters of ‖ Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shall be the west part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, l they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOw these are the names of the a tribes. From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the Westside, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh, from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part b shalbe the offring which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousande reedes broade, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary shalbe in the middes of it.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests shall be this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shalbe in the mids thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruites of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousend, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part c fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the city shalbe toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth and fifty, and toward the East two hundreth and fifty, and toward the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward: and it shalbe ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for foode vnto them that serue in the city.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most lively here set forth, who never leaved his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giveth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel above all other had most speciall revelations of such things as should come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captivitie, to the last end of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times even unto Christ, when all ceremonies & sacrifices should cease, because hee should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover hee sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God ever exercised his people under the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leave this exercise to his Church, untill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heavens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captivitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They have the kings ordinary appointed, 8 but they abstaine from it.

a Reade 2. King. 24. 1. and Iere. 25. 1.
b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.
c Who was as maister of the wardes.
d He calleth them Eunuches whom the king nourished and brought up to be rulers of other countreys afterward.

IN the a third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel unto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the land of b Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

3 And the King spake unto c Ashpenaz the maister of his d Eunuches, that hee should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the e Kings seede, and of the princes:

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that hee might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreaty and learning of his religion, they might favour rather him then the Iewes, and so to be able to serve him as governours in their land: moreover by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure him to these noble men.

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well f favoured, and instruct in all wisedome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the learning, and tongue of the Caldeans.

f The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be wittie and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better service: this he did for his owne commodity, therefore it is not to prayse his liberalitie: yet in this he is worthy prayse, that hee esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessary meane to governe by.

5 And the king appointed them provision every day of a h portion of the kings meate, and of the wine, which hee dranke, for nourishing them i three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might stand k before the king.

g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrey fashions to serve him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points hee refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that hee would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.
h That by their good entertainement they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.
i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and also their tongue.
k As well to serve at the table, as in other offices.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 Unto

7 Unto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gave other names: for hee calleth Daniel, Beltesshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Misshael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not [m] defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meat, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into favour, and tender love with the chiefe of the Eunuches.)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd unto Daniel, [n] I feare my Lord the King, who hath appointed your meat and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head unto the King.

11 Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Misshael, and Azariah, 12 Proove thy servants, I beseech thee, [o] ten dayes, and let them give us [p] pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy servants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and prooved them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their [q] countenances appeared fairer, and in † better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gave them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gave them knowledge, and understanding in all learning [r] and wisedome: also he gave Daniel understanding of all [s] visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time [t] was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Misshael, and Azariah: therefore stoode they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisedome, and understanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them tenne times better then all the inchaunters and astrologians that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was unto [u] the first yeere of king Cyrus.

1 That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Jewes gave their children names, which might ever put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of servitude, which they were not able to resist.

m Not that hee thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke, (for afterward he did eate) but because the king should not entise him by this sweet poyson to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

n He suppoſed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them, which are of no religion, for neither he would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate dainty meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should have hereby bene wonne to the King, and have refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed. q This hare feeding and that also of Moses, when he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must live in such sobrietie as God doeth call us unto, seeing hee will make it more profitable unto us, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth. † Ebr. fatter in flesh. r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall arres which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11. s So that hee onely was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12, 6. t Of the three yeeres above mentioned, verse 5. u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common-wealth floode.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchadnezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine, because they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought unto the king, and sheweth him his dreame, and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the everlasting kingdome of Christ.

AND in the [a] second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed [b] dreames wherewith his spirit was [c] troubled, and his [d] sleepe was upon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians, and the sorcerers, and the [e] Caldeans for to shew the king his dreames: so they came and stoode before the King.

3 And the king sayd unto them, I have dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the [f] Aramites language, O king, live for ever: shew thy servants thy dreame, and wee shall shew the intepretation.

5 And the king answered and sayd to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If yee will not make mee understand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, yee [g] shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the king shew [h] his servants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered and sayd, I know certainely that ye † would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee have prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the king, and sayd, There is no man upon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor Lord that asked such things at an inchanter, or astrologian, or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was given, the wise men were slaine: and they [i] sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the kings ‖ chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayd unto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would give him leisure, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name, so that this is meant of the sonne, when hee reigned alone: for he reigned also afters a sort with his father.

b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were conteined in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame: that he had not had the like.

d He was so heavy with sleepe, that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him.

e For all these Astrologers and sorcerers called themselves by this name of honor, as though all the wisedome and knowledge of the countreye depended upon them, and that all other countreys were voide of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, save it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned used to speake it, as the Jewish writers doe to this day.

g This is a iust reward of their arrogancie, which vaunted of themselves that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be prooved fooles, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.

h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except hee assisted them into the matter: and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but meere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die. † Ebr. redeeme the time.

i Which declareth that God would not have his servant ioyned in the company of these sorcerers and Astrologers, whose arres were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the king did it upon a rage and no zeale. ‖ Or, the captaine of the guards.

17 ¶ Then

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his houſe, and ſheweth the matter to Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah his companions.

18 That they ſhould beſeech the God of heaven for grace in this ſecret, that Daniel and his fellowes ſhould not periſh with the reſt of the wiſe men of Babel.

19 Then was the ſecret revealed unto Daniel in a viſion by night: therefore Daniel praiſed the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel anſwered and ſayd, * The Name of God be praiſed for ever and ever: for wiſedome and ſtrength are his,

21 And he changeth the times and ſeaſons: he taketh away kings: he ſetteth up kings: he giveth wiſedome unto the wiſe, and underſtanding to thoſe that underſtand.

22 He diſcovereth the deepe and ſecret things: he knoweth what is in the darknes, and the k light dwelleth with him,

23 I thanke thee and praiſe thee, O thou God of my l fathers, that thou haſt given me wiſedome and m ſtrength, and haſt ſhewed mee now the thing that wee deſired of thee: for thou haſt declared unto us the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went unto Arioch, whom the king had ordeined to deſtroy the wiſe men of Babel: hee went and ſayd thus unto him, Deſtroy not n the wiſe men of Babel, but bring mee before the king, and I will declare unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haſte, and ſayd thus unto him, I have found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare unto the king the interpretation.

26 Then anſwered the king, and ſayd vnto Daniel, whoſe name was Belteſhazzar, Art thou able to ſhew mee the dreame which I have ſeene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel anſwered in the preſence of the king, and ſayd, The ſecret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wiſe, the aſtrologians, the inchanters, nor the ſoothſayers declare unto the king.

28 But there is a God in o heaven that reuealeth ſecrets, and ſheweth the king Nebuchadnezzar what ſhall be in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou haſt ſeene in thine head upon thy bed, is this:

29 O king, when thou waſt in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what ſhould come to paſſe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth ſecrets, telleth thee what ſhall come.

30 As p for mee, this ſecret is not ſhewed mee for any wiſedome that I have more then any other living, but onely to ſhew the king the interpretation, and that thou mighteſt knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou ſaweſt, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whoſe glory was ſo excellent, ſtood before thee: and the forme therefore was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine q golde, his breaſt, and his armes of ſilver, his belly and his thighes of braſſe.

33 His legs of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldeſt it till a ſtone was cut without hands, which ſmote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the braſſe, the ſilver and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the ſummer floures, and the winde caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the ſtone that ſmote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art r king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdome, power, and ſtrength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beaſts of the field, and the foules of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all: thou art s this head of gold.

39 And after thee ſhall riſe another kingdome t inferiour to thee, of ſilver, and another u third kingdome ſhalbe of braſſe, which ſhall beare rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome ſhall be ſtrong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and ſubdueth all things, and as yron bruiſeth all theſe things, ſo ſhall it breake in x pieces, and bruiſe all.

41 Whereas thou ſaweſt the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome ſhall be y divided, but there ſhall be in it of the ſtrength of the yron, as thou ſaweſt the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were part of yron, and part of clay, ſo ſhall the kingdome be partly ſtrong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou ſaweſt yron mixt with clay, and earth, they ſhall mingle themſelves with z the ſeede of men: but they ſhall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of theſe kings, ſhall the God of heaven ſet vp a kingdome, which a ſhall never be deſtroyed, and this kingdome ſhall not be given to another people, but it ſhall breake, and deſtroy all theſe kingdomes, and it ſhall ſtand for ever.

45 Whereas thou ſaweſt, that the b ſtone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the braſſe, the clay, the ſilver, and the golde: ſo the great God hath ſhewed the king, what ſhall come to paſſe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is ſure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and c bowed himſelfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they ſhould offer meate offrings, and ſweete odours vnto him.

47 Alſo the king anſwered vnto Daniel, and

* Pſal.113.2. and 115,18.

k He ſheweth that man hath neither wiſedome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himſelfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man underſtandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madeſt thy promiſe, and who lived in their feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interprete it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were ſlaine, as verſ. 13. and the reſt at Daniels offer were preſerved on condition: not that Daniel favoured their wicked profeſſion, but that hee had reſpect to equitie, becauſe the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not conſidering if their ſcience were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reaſon and arte is not able to attaine to the cauſe of Gods ſecrets, but the underſtanding onely thereof muſt come of God: whereby he ſmiteth the King with a certaine feare and reverence of God, that hee might be the more apt to receive the hie myſteries, that ſhould be reuealed.

p Becauſe he had ſayd that God onely muſt reveale the ſignification of this dreame, the king might have asked, why David did enterprife to interpret it, and therefore he ſheweth that he was but Gods miniſter and had no gifts, but ſuch as God had given him to ſet forth his glory.

q By gold, ſilver, braſſe and yron, are meant the Caldean, Perſian, Macedonian and Romane kingdome, which ſhould ſucceſſively rule all the world till Chriſt (which is here called the ſtone) come himſelfe, and deſtroy the laſt: and this was to aſſure the Iewes, that their affliction ſhould not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they ſhould patiently abide the comming of Meſſiah, which ſhould be at the end of this fourth monarchy.

r Daniel leaveth out the kingdome of the Aſſyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both becauſe it was not a Monarchie and generall empire, and alſo becauſe he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Chriſt, for the comfort of the elect among theſe wonderfull alterations, and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, becauſe in reſpect of the other three, it was the beſt, and yet it was of it ſelfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, the Perſians which were not inferiour in dignity, power, and riches, but were worſe touching ambition, cruelty, and all kinde of vice, ſhewing that the world ſhould grow worſe and worſe, till it was reſtored by Chriſt.

t That is, of the Macedonians ſhall be of braſſe, not alluding to the baſeneſſe thereof, but to the vileneſſe in reſpect of ſilver.

u That is, the Romane empire ſhall ſubdue all theſe other aforenamed, which after Alexander were divided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They ſhall have civill wars, and continually diſcords among themſelves.

y They ſhall by mariages and affinities thinke to make themſelves ſtrong: yet ſhall they never be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpoſe is to ſhew, that all the kingdomes of the world are tranſitory, and that the kingdome of Chriſt ſhall onely remaine for ever.

a Meaning Chriſt, who was ſent of God, and not ſet up by man, whoſe kingdome at the beginning ſhould be ſmall and without beautie to mans iudgement, but ſhould at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verſ. 35. And this kingdome which is not onely referred to the perſon of Chriſt, but alſo to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, ſhalbe eternall: for the ſpirit that is in them is life eternall. Rom. 8.

b Though this humbling of the King ſeemed to deſerve commendation, yet becauſe he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reprooved, and Daniel herein erred, if he ſuffred it: but it is credible that Daniel admoniſhed him of his fault, and did not ſuffer it.

said, I know of a truth that your c God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great d gifts. Hee made him governour over the whole province of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and above all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel e made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshech, and Abednego over the charge of the province of Babel: but Daniel sate in the f gate of the king.

c This confession was but a sudden motion as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.

d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieve his poore brethren, which were grievously oppressed in this their captivity, and also he received them, least he should offend this cruell king, which willingly gave them.

e He did not this for their private profit: but that the whole Church, which was then there in affliction, might have some release and cause by this benefit.

f Meaning, that either he was a iudge, or that hee had the whole authority, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The king setteth up a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 15 By beliefe in God they are delivered from the fire. 25 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the king made a an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubits: he set it up in the plaine of Dura, in the province of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receivers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the governours of the provinces, that they should come to the b dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the c King had set up.

3 So the nobles, princes, and dukes, the iudges, the receivers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the governours of the provinces were assembled unto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set up, and they stood before the image which Nebuchad-nezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it knowen to you, O people, d nations and languages,

5 That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe, and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set up.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

7 Therefore as soone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, live for ever.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that every man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, shall fall downe, and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set over the charge of the province of Babel e Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, have not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set up.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said unto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, serve my god, nor worship the golden image that I have set up?

15 f Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psaltery and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, and worship the image which I have made? for if yee worship it not, ye shalbe cast immediatly into the mids of an hote fiery fornace: for who is that God, that can deliver you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and sayde to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee g are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serve, is h able to deliver us from the hote fiery fornace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowen unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seven i times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fiery fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore because the kings commaundement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hoate, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king was astonied, & rose up in haste, and spake, and said unto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the mids of the fire: Who answered, and said unto him, It is true, O king.

25 And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they have no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the k sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the a Vnder pretence of religion, and holinesse in making an image to his idole Bel, hee sought his owne ambition and raine glory: and this declareth that he was not toucheth with the true feare of God before, but that he confesseth him on a sudden motion as the wicked when they are overcome with the greatnesse of his works. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteen yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the King feared least the Iewes by this religion, should have altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse then Gods glory.

b Shewing that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with workman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and used, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they have made a god.

c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approove their religion, if the kings authority were alleadged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

d These are the two dangerous weapons, wherewith Satan used to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the crueltie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the King required, not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true religion.

e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings favour, thinking if these three had bin destroyed, they might have had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policy of erecting this image was invented by the malicious flatterers which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying that he would receive them to grace if they would now at the length obey his decree.

g For they should have done iniury to God, if they should have doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolved to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power and providence of God over them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more witty they shew themselves inventing strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his servants to whom he giveth patience and constancy to abide the crueltie of their punishment: for either by delivereth them from death, or else for this life giveth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the king called this Angel whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

d Every way it ſhalbe five and ayeonty thouſand.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE great providence of God, and his ſingular mercie toward his Church are moſt lively here ſet forth, who never leaved his deſtitute, but now in their greateſt miſeries and afflictions giveth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with ſuch graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel above all other had moſt ſpeciall revelations of ſuch things as ſhould come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captivitie, to the laſt end of the world, and to the generall reſurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Perſians, Grecians, and Romanes. Alſo of the certaine number of the times even unto Chriſt, when all ceremonies & ſacrifices ſhould ceaſe, becauſe hee ſhould be the accompliſhment thereof: moreover hee ſheweth Chriſts office and the cauſe of his death, which was by his ſacrifice to take away ſinnes, and to bring everlaſting life. And as from the beginning God ever exerciſed his people under the croſſe, ſo he teacheth here, that after that Chriſt is offered, he will ſtill leave this exerciſe to his Church, untill the dead riſe againe, and Chriſt gather his into his kingdome in the heavens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captivitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuſeth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They have the kings ordinary appointed, 8 but they abſteine from it.

a Reade 2. King. 24. 1 and Iere. 25. 1.
b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is there taken for Babylon.
c Who was as maiſter of the wardes.
d He calleth them Eunuches whom the king nouriſhed and brought up to be rulers of other countreys afterward.

IN the a third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel unto Ieruſalem and beſieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand with part of the veſſels of the houſe of God, which he caried into the land of b Shinar, to the houſe of his god, and he brought the veſſels into his gods treaſurie.

3 And the King ſpake unto c Aſhpenaz the maiſter of his d Eunuches, that hee ſhould bring certaine of the children of Iſrael, of the e Kings ſeede, and of the princes:

e His purpoſe was to keepe them as hoſtages, and that hee might ſhew himſelfe victorious, and alſo by their good intreaty and learning of his religion, they might favour rather him then the Iewes, and ſo to be able to ſerve him as governours in their land: moreover by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in ſubiection, fearing otherwiſe to procure hurt to theſe noble men.

4 Children in whom was no blemiſh, but well f favoured, and inſtruct in all wiſedome, and well ſeene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and ſuch as were able to ſtand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the learning, and tongue of the Caldeans.

f The King required three things, that they ſhould be of noble birth, that they ſhould be wittie and learned, and that they ſhould be of a ſtrong and comely nature, that they might doe him better ſervice: this he did for his owne commodity, therefore it is not to prayſe his liberalitie: yet in this he is worthy prayſe, that hee eſteemed learning, and knew that it was a neceſſary meane to governe by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrey faſhions to ſerve him the better to his purpoſe: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points hee refuſed the abuſe of things and ſuperſtition, inſomuch that hee would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things. h That by their good entertainement they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people. i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and alſo their tongue. k As well to ſerve at the table, as in other offices.

5 And the king appointed them proviſion every day of a h portion of the kings meate, and of the wine, which hee dranke, for nouriſhing them i three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might ſtand k before the king.

6 Now among theſe were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah.

7 Unto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gave other names: for hee calleth Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not [m] defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meat, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into favour, and tender love with the chiefe of the Eunuches,)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd unto Daniel, [n] I feare my Lord the King, who hath appointed your meat and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head unto the King.

11 Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Proove thy servants, I beseech thee, [o] ten dayes, and let them give us [p] pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy servants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and prooved them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their [q] countenances appeared fairer, and in † better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gave them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gave them knowledge, and understanding in all learning [r] and wisedome: also he gave Daniel understanding of all [s] visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time [t] was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stoode they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisedome, and understanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them tenne times better then all the inchaunters and astrologians that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was unto [u] the first yeere of king Cyrus.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gave their children names, which might ever put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of servitude, which they were not able to resist.

m Not that hee thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke, (for afterward he did eate) but because the king should not entise him by this sweet poyson to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them, which are of no religion, for neither he would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

o Meaning, that within this space hee might have the triall, and that no man should be able to discerne it: and thus he spake, being mooved by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate dainty meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should have hereby bene wonne to the King, and have refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed.

q This hare feeding and that also of Moses, when he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must live in such sobrietie as God doeth call us unto, seeing hee will make it more profitable unto us, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth. † Ebr. fatter in flesh.

r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18.11.

s So that hee onely was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12,6.

t Of the three yeeres above mentioned, verse 5.

u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common-wealth floode.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchadnezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine, because they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought unto the king, and sheweth him his dreame, and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the everlasting kingdome of Christ.

AND in the [a] second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed [b] dreames wherewith his spirit was [c] troubled, and his [d] sleepe was upon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians, and the sorcerers, and the [e] Caldeans for to shew the king his dreames: so they came and stoode before the King.

3 And the king sayd unto them, I have dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the [f] Aramites language, O king, live for ever: shew thy servants thy dreame, and wee shall shew the intepretation.

5 And the king answered and sayd to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If yee will not make mee understand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, yee [g] shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the king shew [h] his servants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered and sayd, I know certainely that ye † would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee have prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the king, and sayd, There is no man upon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor Lord that asked such things at an inchanter, or astrologian, or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was given, the wise men were slaine: and they [i] sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the kings ‖ chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayd unto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would give him leisure, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name, so that this is meant of the sonne, when hee reigned alone: for he reigned also afters a sort with his father.

b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were conteined in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame: that he had not had the like.

d He was so heavy with sleepe, that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him.

e For all these Astrologers and sorcerers called themselves by this name of honor, as though all the wisedome and knowledge of the countreye depended upon them, and that all other countreys were voide of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, save it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned vsed to speake it, as the Iewish writers doe to this day.

g This is a iust reward of their arrogancie (which vanted of themselves that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be prooved fooles, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.

h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except hee exacted them into the matter, and that rather they would pretend knowledge where was but meere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

i Which declareth that God would not have his servant ioyned in the company of these sorcerers and Astrologers, whose artes were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the king did it upon a rage and no zeale.

‖ Or, the captaine of the guards.

17 ¶ Then

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his houſe, and ſheweth the matter to Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah his companions.

18 That they ſhould beſeech the God of heaven for grace in this ſecret, that Daniel and his fellowes ſhould not periſh with the reſt of the wiſe men of Babel.

19 Then was the ſecret revealed unto Daniel in a viſion by night: therefore Daniel praiſed the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel anſwered and ſayd, * The Name of God be praiſed for ever and ever: for wiſedome and ſtrength are his,

21 And he changeth the times and ſeaſons: he taketh away kings: he ſetteth up kings: he giveth wiſedome unto the wiſe, and underſtanding to thoſe that underſtand.

22 He diſcovereth the deepe and ſecret things: he knoweth what is in the darknes, and the [k] light dwelleth with him,

23 I thanke thee and praiſe thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou haſt given me wiſedome and [m] ſtrength, and haſt ſhewed mee now the thing that wee deſired of thee: for thou haſt declared unto us the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went unto Arioch, whom the king had ordeined to deſtroy the wiſe men of Babel: hee went and ſayd thus unto him, Deſtroy not [n] the wiſe men of Babel, but bring mee before the king, and I will declare unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haſte, and ſayd thus unto him, I have found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare unto the king the interpretation.

26 Then anſwered the king, and ſayd vnto Daniel, whoſe name was Beltethazzar, Art thou able to ſhew mee the dreame which I have ſeene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel anſwered in the preſence of the king, and ſayd, The ſecret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wiſe, the aſtrologians, the inchanters, nor the ſoothſayers declare unto the king.

28 But there is a God in [o] heaven that reuealeth ſecrets, and ſheweth the king Nebuchadnezzar what ſhall be in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou haſt ſeene in thine head upon thy bed, is this:

29 O king, when thou waſt in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what ſhould come to paſſe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth ſecrets, telleth thee what ſhall come.

30 As [p] for mee, this ſecret is not ſhewed mee for any wiſedome that I have more then any other living, but onely to ſhew the king the interpretation, and that thou mighteſt knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou ſaweſt, and behold, there vvas a great image: this great image whoſe glory was ſo excellent, ſtood before thee: and the forme therefore vvas terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] golde, his breaſt, and his armes of ſilver, his belly and his thighes of braſſe.

33 His legs of yron, and his feete vvere part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldeſt it till a ſtone was cut without hands, which ſmote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the braſſe, the ſilver and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the ſummer floures, and the winde caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the ſtone that ſmote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art [r] king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdome, power, and ſtrength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beaſts of the field, and the foules of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all: thou art [s] this head of gold.

39 And after thee ſhall riſe another kingdome [t] inferiour to thee, of ſilver, and another [u] third kingdome of braſſe, which ſhall beare rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome ſhall be ſtrong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and ſubdueth all things, and as yron bruiſeth all theſe things, ſo ſhall it breake in [w] pieces, and bruiſe all.

41 Whereas thou ſaweſt the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome ſhall be [x] divided, but there ſhall be in it of the ſtrength of the yron, as thou ſaweſt the yron mixt with the clay, and earth,

42 And as the toes of the feete vvere part of yron, and part of clay, ſo ſhall the kingdome be partly ſtrong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou ſaweſt yron mixt with clay, and earth, they ſhall mingle themſelves with [y] the ſeede of men: but they ſhall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of theſe kings, ſhall the God of heaven ſet vp a kingdome, which [z] ſhall never be deſtroyed, and this kingdome ſhall not be given to another people, but it ſhall breake, and deſtroy all theſe kingdomes, and it ſhall ſtand for ever.

45 Whereas thou ſaweſt, that the [a] ſtone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the braſſe, the clay, the ſilver, and the golde: ſo the great God hath ſhewed the king, what ſhall come to paſſe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is ſure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [b] bowed himſelfe unto Daniel, and commanded that they ſhould offer meate offrings, and ſweete odours unto him.

47 Alſo the king anſwered unto Daniel, and

* Pſal.113.2. and 115.18.

k He ſheweth that man hath neither wiſedome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himſelfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man underſtandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madeſt thy promiſe, and who lived in their feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interprete it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were ſlaine, as verſ. 13. and the reſt at Daniels offer were preſerved on condition: not that Daniel favoured their wicked profeſſion, but that hee had reſpect to equitie, becauſe the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not conſidering if their ſcience were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reaſon and arte is not able to attaine to the cauſe of Gods ſecrets, but the underſtanding onely thereof muſt come of God: whereby he ſmiteth the King with a certaine feare and reverence of God, that hee might be the more apt to receive the hie myſteries, that ſhould be reveaſed.

p Becauſe he had ſayd that God onely muſt reveale the ſignification of this dreame, the king might have asked, why David did enterpriſe to interpret it, and therefore he ſheweth that he was but Gods miniſter and had no gifts, but ſuch as God had given him to ſet forth his glory.

q By gold, ſilver, braſſe and yron, are meant the Caldean, Perſian, Macedonian and Romane kingdome, which ſhould ſucceſſively rule all the world till Chriſt (which is here called the ſtone) come himſelfe, and deſtroy the laſt: and this was to aſſure the Iewes, that their affliction ſhould not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they ſhould patiently abide the comming of Meſſiah, which ſhould be at the end of this fourth monarchy.

r Daniel leaveth out the kingdome of the Aſſyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both becauſe it was not a Monarchie and generall empire, and alſo becauſe he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Chriſt, for the comfort of the elect among theſe wonderfull alterations, and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, becauſe in reſpect of the other three, it was the beſt, and yet it was of it ſelfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, the Perſians which were not inferiour in dignity, power, and riches, but were worſe touching ambition, cruelty, and all kinde of vice, ſhewing that the world ſhould grow worſe and worſe, till it was reſtored by Chriſt.

t That is, of the Macedonians ſhall be of braſſe, not alluding to the hardneſſe thereof, but to the vilenеſſe in reſpect of ſilver.

u That is, the Romane empire ſhall ſubdue all theſe other aforenamed, which after Alexander were divided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They ſhall have civill wars and continually diſcords among themſelves.

y They ſhall by mariages and affinities thinke to make themſelves ſtrong: yet ſhall they never be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpoſe is to ſhew, that all the kingdomes of the world are tranſitory, and that the kingdome of Chriſt ſhall onely remaine for ever.

a Meaning Chriſt, who was ſent of God, and not ſet up by man, whoſe kingdome at the beginning ſhould be ſmall and without beautie to mans iudgement, but ſhould at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verſ. 35. And this kingdome which is not onely referred to the perſon of Chriſt, but alſo to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, ſhalbe eternall: for the ſpirit that is in them is life eternall. Rom. 8.

b Though this humbling of the king ſeemed to deſerve commendation, yet becauſe he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reprooved, and Daniel herein erred, if he ſuffred it: but it is credible that Daniel admoniſhed him of his fault, and did not ſuffer it.

ſayd,

said, I know of a truth that your c God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great d gifts. Hee made him governour over the whole province of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and above all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel e made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshech, and Abednego over the charge of the province of Babel: but Daniel sate in the f gate of the king.

c This confession was but a sudden motion as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.

d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieve his poore brethren, which were grievously oppressed in this their captivity, and also be received them, least he should offend this cruell king, which willingly gave them. e He did not this for their private profit: but that the whole Church, which was then there in affliction, might have some release and cause by this benefit. f Meaning, that either he was a iudge, or that hee had the whole authority, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The king setteth up a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 15 By beliefe in God they are delivered from the fire. 25 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the king made a an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubits: he set it up in the plaine of Dura, in the province of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receivers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the governours of the provinces, that they should come to the b dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the c King had set up.

3 So the nobles, princes, and dukes, the iudges, the receivers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the governours of the provinces were assembled unto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set up, and they stood before the image which Nebuchad-nezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it knowen to you, O people, d nations and languages,

5 That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe, and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set up.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

7 Therefore as soone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, live for ever.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that every man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, shall fall downe, and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set over the charge of the province of Babel e Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, have not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set up.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said unto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, serve my god, nor worship the golden image that I have set up?

15 f Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psaltery and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, and worship the image which I have made? for if yee worship it not, ye shalbe cast immediatly into the mids of an hote fiery fornace: for who is that God, that can deliver you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and sayde to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee g are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serve, is h able to deliver us from the hote fiery fornace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowen unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seven i times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fiery fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore because the kings commaundement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hoate, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king was astonied, & rose up in haste, and spake, and said unto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the mids of the fire: Who answered, and said unto him, It is true, O king.

25 And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they have no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the k sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, a Vnder presence of religion, and holinesse in making an image to his idole Bel, hee sought his owne ambition and vaine glory: and this declareth that he was not toucheth with the true feare of God before, but that he confesseth him on a sudden motion as the wicked when they are overcome with the greatnesse of his works. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteen yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the King feared least the Iewes by this religion, should have altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather fought his owne quietnesse then Gods glory.

b Shewing that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with workman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and used, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they have made a god.

c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approove their religion, if the kings authority were alleadged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

d These are the two dangerous weapons, wherewith Satan used to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the crueltie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the King required, not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true religion.

e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings favour, thinking if these three had bin destroyed, they might have had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policy of erecting this image was invented by the malicious flatterers which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying that he would receive them to grace if they would now at the length obey his decree.

g For they should have done iniury to God, if they should have doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolved to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power and providence of God over them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more witty they shew themselves inventing strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his servants to whom he giveth patience and constancy to abide the crueltie of their punishment: for either by delivereth them from death, or else for this life giveth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the king called this Angel whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

the seruants of the hie God, goe foorth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego l came forth of the mids of the fire.

l This commendeth their obedience unto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the arke, till the Lord called him forth.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any smell of fire came upon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, m Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any God saue their owne God.

m He was mooued by the greatnes of the miracle to prayse God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine most chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith.

29 Therefore I make a decree that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any n blasphemy against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shallbe drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

n If this heathen king mooued by Gods spirit would not see blasphemy vnpunished, but made a law and set a punishment to such transgressors, much more ought all they that professe religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, least according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the provence of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar king vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the o world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward mee.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! p his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

o Meaning, so far as his dominion extended.

CHAP. IV.

a Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king, he should become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignity.

a There was no trouble that might cause mee to dreame, and therefore it came only of God.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a b dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts upon my bedde, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

b This was another dreame beside that which he saw of the foure Empires, for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it meant, and here he onely expoundeth the dreame.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare unto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I told the dreame, but c they could not shew me the interpretation thereof, c In that that he sent abroad to others, whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flatterings.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was d Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy Gods in him) and before him I told the dreame, saying,

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not only to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

6 O Belteshazzar, e chiefe of the inchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbred among the sorcerers and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word.

7 Thus vvere the visions of my head in my bed, and behold, I saw a f tree in the mids of the earth, and the height thereof vvas great.

f By the tree is signified the dignity of a king whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof vvere faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head upon my bed, and behold, a g watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, g Meaning the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man, but by God.

11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake of his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheless, leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the field.

h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchadnezzar should not only for a time loose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

13 h Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 i The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demaund vvas answvered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

i God hath decreed this iudgement and the whole army of heauen haue as it were subscribed unto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God, the holy gods is in thee.

15 This is the dreame, that I king Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shew me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of 16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name vvas Belteshazzar) helde his k peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God, which he saw ordeined against the king: & so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion upon man, and also to confider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pity.

17 The tree that thou saweſt, which was great and mighty, whose height reached unto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues vvere faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meat for all, vnder the which the beastes of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnes is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

20 Whereas the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, and sayd, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the fielde, l till seuen times passe ouer him, l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interprete seuen moneths, and other seuen weeks, but it seemeth he means of yeeres.

21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the king,

22 That

22 That they ſhall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe as the m oxen, and they ſhall wet thee with the dew of heauen: and ſeuen times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, till thou know, that n the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomſoeuer he will.

m Not that his ſhape or forme was changed into a beaſt, but that he was either ſtricken mad, and ſo auoyded mans company, or was caſt out for his tyranny, and ſo wandered among the beaſts, and ate herbes and graſſe.

n Daniel ſheweth the cauſe why God thus puniſhed him.

23 Whereas they ſayd, that one ſhould leaue the ſtumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome ſhall remaine unto thee: after that, thou ſhalt know, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counſell be acceptable unto thee, and o breake off thy ſinnes by righteouſneſſe, and thine iniquities by mercie towards the poore: loe, let there be a p healing of thine errour.

o Ceaſe from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy ſinnes, that he may mitigate his puniſhment, if thou ſhew by thine vpright life that thou haſt true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redreſſed.

25 All theſe things ſhall come upon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue q moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel, q After that Daniel had declared this viſion: and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to conuert: o God, except his Spirit moue him: ſeeing that theſe terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

27 And the king ſpake, and ſayd, Is not this great Babel that I haue built for the houſe of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maieſtie?

28 While the word vvas in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, ſaying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it ſpoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they ſhall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe, as the oxen, and ſeuen times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, vntill thou knoweſt, that the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it unto whomſoeuer he will.

r When the terme of theſe ſeuen yeeres was accompliſhed.

30 The very ſame houre was this thing fulfilled upon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eate graſſe as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haires were growen as Eagels feathers, and his nailes like birds clawes.

* Chap. 7. 14. mich. 4. 17. luke 1. 33.

31 And at the end of theſe r dayes, I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes unto heauen, and mine vnderſtanding was reſtored vnto mee, and I gaue thanks unto the moſt High, and I prayſed and honoured him, that liueth for euer, * whoſe power is an euerlaſting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

s He confeſſeth Gods will to be the rule of all iuſtice, and a moſt perfect law, whereby he gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, ſo that none ought to murmure or aske a reaſon of his doings, but onely to ſtand content therewith and giue him the glory.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his s will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can ſtay his hand, nor ſay unto him, What doeſt thou?

t By whom it ſeemeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.

33 At the ſame time was mine vnderſtanding reſtored unto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was reſtored unto mee, and my counſellers and t my princes ſought unto me, and I was eſtabliſhed in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

u He doeth not onely praiſe God for his deliuerance, but alſo confeſſeth his fault that God may onely haue the glory, and man the ſhame, and that he may be exalted and man caſt downe.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar u praiſe, and extoll and magnifie the king of heauen, whoſe works are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement: and thoſe that walke in pride, hee is able to abaſe.

CHAP. V.

¶ Belſhazzar king of Babylon ſieth an handwriting on the wall. 8 The ſoothſayers called of the king, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it alſo. 30 The king is ſlaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

KIng a Belſhazzar made a great feaſt to a thouſand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thouſand.

a Daniel reciteth this hiſtorie of king Belſhazzar Euilmerodachs ſonne, to ſhew Gods iudgements againſt the wicked for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophecy of Ieremiah was true, that they ſhould be deliuered after ſeuentie yeeres.

b The kings of the Eaſt parts then vſed to ſit alone commonly, and diſdained that any ſhould ſit in their company: and now to ſhew his power, and how little he eſteth by his enemie, which then beſieged Babylon, hee made a ſolemne banket, and vſed exceſſe in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are moſt diſſolute and negligent, when their deſtruction is at hand.

2 And Belſhazzar ¶ whiles hee taſted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and ſiluer veſſels, which his c father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ieruſalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

3 Then were brought the golden veſſels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords houſe at Ieruſalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

d In contempt of the true God, they praiſe their idols, not that they thought that the gold or ſiluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and power in them to doe them good, which is alſo the opinion of all idolaters.

4 They dranke wine, and praiſed the d gods of gold, and of ſiluer, of braſſe, of yron, of wood, and of ſtone.

5 At the ſame houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer e againſt the candleſtick upon the plaſter of the wall of the kings palace. and the king ſaw the palme of the hand that wrote.

e That it might the better be ſeene.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, ſo that the ioynts of his loynes were looſed, and his f knees ſmote one againſt the other.

f So he that before in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I ſay, thy father, made chiefe of the i enchanters, aſtrologians, Caldeans, and ſoothſayers, 7 Wherefore the king cryed lowde, that they ſhould bring g the aſtrologians, the Caldeans and the ſoothſayers. And the king ſpake, and ſayd to the wiſe men of Babel, Whoſoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, ſhall be cloathed with purple, and ſhall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and ſhall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

g Meaning, the aſtrologers.

8 Then came all the kings wiſe men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor ſhewe the king the interpretation.

9 Then was king Belſhazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were aſtonied.

10 Now the h Queene by reaſon of the talke of the King and the princes, came into the banquet houſe, and the Queene ſpake, and ſayd, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

h Meaning, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feaſt, but came thither when ſhe heard of theſe ſtrange newes.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the ſpirit of the holy Gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderſtanding and wiſedome like the wiſedome of the gods, was found

i Reade Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious unto him, and alſo he did not vſe theſe vile practiſes, becauſe he was not among them when all were called.

12 Becauſe a more excellent ſpirit, and knowledge, and vnderſtanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard ſentences, and diſſolued doubts) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whom the king named Belteſhazzar: now let Daniel be called, and hee will declare the interpretation.

k For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like eſtimation; as they had God, thinking that the ſpirit of prophecie and vnderſtanding came of them.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king ſpake and ſaid unto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the king brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that k the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and underſtanding, and excellent wiſedome is found in thee.

15 Now therefore wiſe men and Aſtrologians have bene brought before mee, that they ſhould reade this writing, and ſhew me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldeſt ſhew interpretations, and diſſolue doubts: now if thou canſt reade the writing, and ſhew me the interpretation thereof, thou ſhalt be cloathed with purple, and ſhall have a chaine of gold about thy necke, and ſhalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel anſwered, and ſaid before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy ſelfe, and give thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and ſhew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The moſt high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maieſtie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maieſtie that he gave him, all people, nations and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would, he ſmote whom he would: whom hee would hee ſet vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was depoſed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driven from the ſonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beaſts, and his dwelling was with the wilde aſſes: they fed him with graſſe like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heaven, till hee knewe that the moſt high God bare rule over the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth over it, whomſoever he pleaſeth.

22 And thou his ſonne, O Belſhazzar, haſt not humbled thine heart, though thou kneweſt all theſe things, 23 But haſt lift thy ſelfe vp againſt the Lord of heaven, and they have brought the veſſels of his Houſe before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines have drunke wine in them, and thou haſt praiſed the gods of ſilver and gold, of braſſe, yron, wood and ſtone, which neither ſee, neither heare, nor underſtand: and the God in whoſe hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him haſt thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hand ſent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he had written, [o] MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finiſhed it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is divided and given to the Medes, and Perſians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belſhazzar they cloathed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of gold about his necke, and made proclamation concerning him that he ſhould be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The ſame night was Belſhazzar the king of the Caldeans ſlaine.

31 And Darius [p] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threeſcore and two yeeres old.

h Before he read the writing, hee declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be mooved to give him the glory, conſidering his wonderfull worke toward his grandfather, and ſo ſheweth that he doeth not ſinne of ignorance but of malice.

m After that God had ſo long time deſgrred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

n This word is twiſe written for the certaine of the thing: ſhewing that God had moſt furely counted: ſignifying alſo that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miſerable end ſhall come on all that raiſe themſelves againſt him.

o Cyrus his ſonne in law gave him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler over the governours. 5 An aſſe againſt Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lyons by the commandement of the king. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accuſers are put vnto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleaſeth Darius to ſet over the kingdome a an hundreth and twenty governours, which ſhould be over the whole kingdome.

a Reade Eſther Chap. 1. 1.

2 And over theſe three rulers, (of whom Daniel was one) that the governours might give accompts vnto them, and the king ‖ ſhould have no damage.

‖ Or, not be troubled.

3 Now this Daniel [b] was preferred above the rulers, and governours, becauſe the ſpirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to ſet him over the whole realme.

b This heathen king preferred Daniel a ſtranger to all his nobles and familiars, becauſe the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and governours [c] ſought an occaſion againſt Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occaſion nor fault: for hee was ſo faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the grace of God in others, but ſeeke by all occaſions to deface them, therefore againſt ſuch aſſaules there is no better remedie then to walke vpright to the feare of God, and to have a good conſcience.

5 Then ſaid theſe men, We ſhall not finde an occaſion againſt this Daniel, except we finde it againſt him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and theſe governours went together to the king, and ſaid thus vnto him, King Darius, live for ever.

7 And the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and governours, the counſellers and dukes have conſulted together to make a decree for the king, and to eſtabliſh a ſtature, that whoſoever ſhall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie daies ſave of thee, O king, he ſhall be caſt into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and ſeale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius [d] ſealed the writing and the decree.

d Herein is condemned the wickedneſſe of the king, who would be ſet up as a god, and paſſed not what wicked lawe he approoved for the maintenance of the ſame.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel underſtood that hee had ſealed the writing, hee went into his houſe, and his [e] window being open in his chamber toward Ieruſalem, hee kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praiſed his God, as he did aforetime.

e Becauſe hee would not by his ſilence ſhew that he conſented to this wicked decree, he ſet open his windowes toward Ieruſalem when he prayed: both to ſtirre vp himſelfe with the remembrance of Gods promiſe to his people, when they ſhould pray toward that Temple, and alſo that other might ſee, that he would neither conſent in heart nor deed for theſe few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

11 Then theſe men aſſembled, and found Daniel praying, and making ſupplication vnto his God.

12 So they came and ſpake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, Haſt thou not ſealed the decree, that every man that ſhall make requeſt to any God or man within thirtie dayes, ſave to thee, O King, ſhall be caſt into the denne of lions? The king anſwered, and ſaid, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not.

13 Then anſwered they, and ſayd vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captivitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou haſt ſealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard theſe words, he was ſore diſpleaſed with himſelfe, and ſet his heart on Daniel, to deliver him: and hee laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliver him.

15 Then theſe men aſſembled vnto the king and ſaid vnto the King, Underſtand, O King, that the law of the Medes and Perſians is, that no decree nor ſtatute which the king confirmeth may be f altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and caſt him into the denne of lions: now the king ſpake, and ſaid unto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway ſerueſt, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a ſtone was brought, and layd upon the mouth of the denne, and the King ſealed it with his owne ſignet, and with the ſignet of his princes, that the purpoſe might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went unto his palace, and remained faſting, neither were the inſtruments of muſicke brought before him, and his ſleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king aroſe early in the morning, and went in all haſte unto the denne of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce unto Daniel: and the king ſpake, and ſaid to Daniel, O Daniel the ſeruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway ſerueſt) g able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then ſaid Daniel unto the King, O king, liue for euer.

22 My God hath ſent his Angel and hath ſhut the lions mouthes, and they haue not hurt me: for h my iuſtice was found out before him: and unto thee, O king, I haue done i no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they ſhould take Daniel out of the denne: ſo Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, becauſe he k beleeued in his God.

24 And by the commaundement of the King theſe men which had accuſed Daniel, were brought, and were l caſt into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the maſtery of them, and brake all their bones apieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied unto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare m before the God of Daniel: for he is the n liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome ſhall not periſh, and his dominion ſhall be euerlaſting.

27 He reſcueth and deliuereth, and he worketh ſignes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel proſpered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Perſia.

f Thus the wicked maintaine evill lawes by conſtancie and authority, which is oft-times either lightneſſe, or ſtubburnneſſe, when as the innocents thereby periſh, and therefore governours neither ought to feare, nor be aſhamed to breake ſuch.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, becauſe he doubted of his power.

h My iuſt cauſe and vprightneſs in this thing wherein I was charged, is approoved of God.

i For he did diſobey the kings wicked commandement to obey God, & ſo did no iniurie to the king, who ought to command nothing whereby God ſhould be diſhonoured.

k Becauſe he committed himſelfe wholly vnto God whoſe cauſe he did defend, he was aſſured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we ſee the power of faith, as Hebr. 11.33.

l This is a terrible example againſt all the wicked which doe againſt their conſcience make cruell lawes to deſtroy the children of God, and alſo admoniſheth Princes how to puniſh ſuch when their wickednes is come to light: though not in every point, or with like circumſtances, yet to execute true iuſtice vpon them.

m This prooveth not that Darius did worſhip God aright, or els was conuerted: for then he would haue deſtroyed all ſuperſtition and idolatry: and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but alſo haue ſet him vp, and cauſed him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confeſſion of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not onely life in himſelfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, ſo that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A viſion of foure beaſts is ſhewed vnto Daniel. 9 The tenne hornes of the fourth beaſt. 27 Of the euerlaſting kingdome of Chriſt.

a Whereas the people of Iſrael looked for a continuall quietneſſe after their ſeuentie yeeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he ſheweth that this reſt ſhall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encourageth them to looke for a continuall affliction, till the Meſſiah be vttered and reuealed, by whom they ſhould haue a ſpirituall deliuerance, and all the promiſes be fulfilled: whereof they ſhould haue certaine token in the deſtruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

IN the firſt yeere of Belſhazzar King of Babel, Daniel ſaw a dreame, and there vvere viſions in his head, vpon his bedde: a then he wrote the dreame, and declared the ſumme of the matter.

2 Daniel ſpeake and ſaid, I ſaw in my viſion by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heaven ſtroue vpon b the great ſea:

3 And foure great beaſtes came vp from the ſea one divers from another.

4 The firſt vvas as a c lion, and had eagles wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and ſet vpon his feet as a man, and a mans heart was given him.

5 And behold, another beaſt vvich vvas the ſecond, was like a d beare, and ſtood vpon the e one ſide: and he had three ribs in his f mouth betweene his teeth, g and they ſaid thus vnto him, Ariſe, and devoure much fleſh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there vvas another like a h leopard, which had vpon his backe i foure wings of a foule: the beaſt had alſo foure heads, and k dominion was given him.

7 After this, I ſaw in the viſions by night, and behold, the l fourth beaſt vvas fearefull and terrible and very ſtrong. It had great m yron teeth: it devoured and breake in pieces, and ſtamped n the reſidue vnder his feet: and it was vnlike to the beaſts that were before it: for it had o ten hornes.

8 As I conſidered the hornes, beholde, there came up among them another little p horne, before whom there were q three of the firſt hornes pluckt away: and behold, in his horne vvere r eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth ſpeaking preſumptuous things.

9 I beheld till the s thrones were ſet up, and the t Ancient of dayes did ſit, whoſe garment was white as ſnow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne vvas like the fiery flame, and his wheeles, as burning fire.

10 A fierie ſtreame iſſued, and came foorth from before him: thouſand thouſands miniſtred vnto him, and ten thouſand u thouſands ſtood before him: the iudgement was ſet, and the x bookes opened.

b Which ſignified that there ſhould be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world, and at ſundry times.

c Meaning, the Aſſyrian and Caldean empire, which was moſt ſtrong and fierce in power, and moſt ſoone come to their authority, as though they had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Perſians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning the Perſians which were barbarous and cruell.

e They were ſmall in the beginning and were ſhut vp in the mountaines and had no bruit.

f That is, deſtroyed many kingdomes, and was inſatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this meanes puniſhed the ingratitude of the world.

k Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonia.

i That is, his foure chiefe captaines which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Aſia the great, Antigonus the leſſe, Caſſander and after him Antipater was king of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of himſelfe nor of his owne power that he gate all theſe countreyes: for his armie conteined but thirty thouſand men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundreth thouſand, when he was ſo heauie with ſleepe, that his eyes were ſcarce open, as the ſtories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

l That is, the Romane Empire which was a monſter, and could not be compared to any beaſts, becauſe the nature of none was able to expreſſe it.

m Signifying, the tyranny and greedineſſe of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreys, they would giue it to the Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the ſtamping of the reſt vnder the feete.

o That is, ſundry and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconſuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King.

p Which is meant of Iulius Cæſar, Auguſtus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as kings in effect, but becauſe they could not rule, but by the conſent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, and alſo in this prophecie the Prophets purpoſe is chiefly to comfort the Iewes unto the reuelation of Chriſt. Some take it for the whole body of Antichriſt.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole eſtate was taken away. For Auguſtus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chuſing the deputies to ſend into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernement of certaine countreys to himſelfe.

r Theſe Romane Emperours at the firſt vſed a certaine humanitie and gentleneſſe, and were content that others, as the Conſuls, and Senate, ſhould beare the names of dignity, ſo that they might haue the profite, and therefore in election and counſels would behaue themſelves according as did other Senatours: yet againſt their enemies and thoſe that would reſiſt them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

s Meaning, the places where God and his Angels ſhould come to iudge theſe Monarchies, which iudgement ſhould begin at the firſt comming of Chriſt t That is, God which was before all times, and is here deſcribed as mans nature is able to comprehend ſome portion of his glory.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement.

x This is meant of the firſt comming of Chriſt, when as the will of God was plainely reuealed by his Goſpel.

11 Then I beheld, y becauſe of the voyce of the preſumptuous words which the horne ſpake: I beheld, euen till the beaſt was ſlaine, and his body deſtroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As z concerning the other beaſts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and ſeaſon.

13 ¶ As I beheld in viſions by night, behold, a one like the ſonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages ſhould ſerue him: his dominion is an everlaſting dominion, which ſhall neuer be taken away: and his dominion ſhall neuer be deſtroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was d troubled in my ſpirit, in the middes of my body, and the viſions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them that ſtood by, and asked him the trueth of all this: ſo he told me, and ſhewed me the interpretation of theſe things.

17 Theſe great beaſts which are foure, are foure kings, which ſhall ariſe out of the earth,

18 And they ſhall take the f kingdome of the Saints of the g moſt High, which ſhall poſſeſſe the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I would knovv the trueth of the fourth beaſt, which was h ſo vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whoſe teeth were of yron, and his nailes of braſſe: vvhich deuoured, brake in pieces, and ſtamped the i reſidue vnder his feet.

20 Alſo to knovv of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that ſpake preſumptuous things, whoſe k looke was more ſtout then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the ſame horne made battell againſt the Saints, yea, and preuailed againſt them.

22 Vntill m the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the moſt High: and the time approached, that the Saints poſſeſſed the kingdome.

23 Then he ſaid, The fourth beaſt ſhall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which ſhall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and ſhall deuoure the whole earth, and ſhall tread it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that ſhall riſe: and another ſhall riſe after them, and he ſhall be vnlike to the firſt, and he ſhall ſubdue n three Kings,

25 And ſhall ſpeake words againſt o the moſt High, and ſhall conſume the Saints of the moſt High, and thinke that he may p change times and lawes, and they ſhall be given into his hand vntill a q time, and times, and the dividing of time.

26 But the r iudgement ſhall ſit, and they ſhall take away his domination to conſume and deſtroy in vnto the end.

27 And the ſ kingdome, and domination, and the greatneſſe of the kingdome vnder the whole heaven ſhalbe given to the holy people of the moſt High, whoſe kingdome is an everlaſting kingdome, and all t powers ſhall ſerve and obey him.

28 Even this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many u cogitations vvhich troubled mee, and my countenance changed in mee: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

y Meaning, that he was aſtonied when he ſaw theſe Emperours in ſuch dignitie and pride, and ſo ſuddenly deſtroyed at the comming of Chriſt, when this fourth Monarchie was ſubiect to men of other nations.

z As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flouriſhed for a time, ſo ſhall this fourth have, and they that patiently abide Gods appointement ſhall enioy the promiſes.

a Which is meant of Chriſt, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the ſonne of David according to the fleſh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being ſeparate from the common ſort of men by manifeſt ſignes of his divinity.

b To wit, when he aſcend into the heavens, and his divine maieſty appeared, and all power was given vnto him, in reſpect of that that he was our Mediatour.

c This is meant of the beginning of Chriſts kingdome, when God the Father gave vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that he ſhould governe here his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life.

d Through the ſtrangeneſſe of the viſion.

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verſe 10.

f Becauſe Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom 4, 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which theſe foure beaſtes or tyrants ſhould inuade, and vſurpe vntill the world were reſtored by Chriſt: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions ſhould haue an end at length.

g That is, of the moſt high things, becauſe God hath choſen them out of this world, that they ſhould looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three Monarchies were governed by a King, and the Romane Empire by Conſuls: the Romans changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other Monarchies retained them for terme of life: alſo the Romanes were the ſtrongeſt of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themſelues.

i Reade verſe 7.

k This is meant of the fourth beaſt, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning the Romane Emperours, who were moſt cruell againſt the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

m Till God ſhewed his power in the perſon of Chriſt, and by the preaching of the Goſpel gaue vnto his ſome reſt, and ſo obtained a famous Name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God.

n Reade the expoſition hereof, verſe 8.

o That is, ſhall made wicked decrees and proclamations againſt Gods word, and ſend throughout all their dominion, to deſtroy all that did profeſſe it.

p Theſe Emperors ſhall not conſider that they have their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octavius, Tiberius, Calligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God ſhall ſuffer them thus to rage againſt his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will aſſwage the troubles, and ſhorten the time for his elect ſake, Matth. 24, 22. which is here meant by the dividing of time.

r God by his power ſhall reſtore things that were out of order, and ſo deroy this little horne, that it ſhall never riſe vp againe.

ſ Hee ſheweth wherefore the beaſt ſhould be deſtroyed, to wit, that his Church might have reſt and quietnes, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they have it in hope, and by the preaching of the Goſpel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by theſe wordes: Vnder the heaven: and therefore hee here ſpeaketh of the beginning of Chriſts kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull have by the participation that they have with Chriſt their head.

t That is, ſome of every ſort that beare rule.

u Though he had many motions in his heart which mooved him to and fro to ſeeke out this matter curiouſly, yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memory, and wrote it for the vſe of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A viſion of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate: 20 The vnderſtanding of the viſion.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of king Belſhazzar, a viſion appeared vnto mee, even vnto me Daniel, a after that vvhich appeared vnto mee at the firſt.

2 And I ſaw in a viſion, and when I ſaw it, I was in the palace of Shuſhan, which is the province b of Elam, and in a viſion me thought I was by the river of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and ſaw, and behold, there ſtood before the river a c ramme which had two hornes, and theſe two hornes vvere high: but one was d higher then another, and the higheſt came vp laſt.

4 I ſaw the ramme puſhing againſt the Weſt, and againſt the North, and againſt the South: ſo that no e beaſts might ſtand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he liſted, and became great.

5 And as I conſidered, behold, f a goat came from the Weſt ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an g horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had ſeene ſtanding by the riuer, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I ſaw him come vnto the ramme, and being mooved againſt him, he h ſmote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to ſtand againſt him, but he caſt him downe to the ground, and ſtamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliver the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the ſtrongeſt, his great i horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that a After the generall viſion, he commeth to certaine particular viſions as touching the deſtruction of the Monarchie of the Perſians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and alſo he had ſufficiently ſpoken thereof.

b That is, of Perſia.

c Which repreſented the kingdome of the Perſians and Medes, which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in law.

e That is, no kings or nations.

f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with gread ſpeed and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet hee bare the title and dignity of the generall captaine, ſo that the ſtrength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

h Alexander overcame Darius in two ſundry battels, and ſo had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Perſians.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had overcome all the Eaſt, hee thought to returne toward Grecia to ſubdue them that had rebelled, and ſo died by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almoſt in the ſpace of fifteene yeere there were fifteene divers ſucceſſours before this monarchie was divided to theſe foure, whereof Caſſander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Aſia the leſſe, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a ſervile and flattering nature, and alſo there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therefore is here called the little horne, becauſe neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he ſhould obtaine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais.

o That is, Iudea.

p Antiochus raged againſt the elect of God, and trode his precious ſtarres under feet, which are ſo called, becauſe they are ſeparated from the world.

q That is, God, who governeth and maintaineth his Church.

r He laboured to aboliſh all religion, and therefore caſt Gods ſervice out of his Temple, which God had choſen as a little corner from all the reſt of the world to have his Name there truely called upon.

ſ He ſheweth that their ſinnes are the cauſe of theſe horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointed this tyrant a time, whom he would not ſuffer utterly to aboliſh his religion.

t This horne ſhall aboliſh for a time the true doctrine, and corrupt Gods ſervice.

u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels aſking this queſtion of Chriſt, whom he called a certaine one, or a ſecret one, or a marveilous one.

x That is, the Iewes ſinnes, which were cauſe of his deſtruction.

y That is, which ſuppreſſeth Gods religion, and his people.

z Chriſt anſwered me for the comfort of the Church.

a That is, untill ſo many naturall dayes be paſt, which make 6. yeeres 3. moneths and an halfe: for ſo long under Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Chriſt who in this maner declared himſelfe to the olde fathers, how he would be God manifeſt in fleſh.

c This power to command the Angel, declared that he was God.

d The effect of this viſion ſhall not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning, that great rage which Antiochus ſhould ſhew againſt the Church.

f That is, out of Grecia.

g They ſhall not have like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruell, and alſo craftie that hee could not be deceived.

i That is, not like Alexanders ſtrength.

k Both the Gentiles that dwelt about him, and alſo the Iewes.

k appeared toward the foure winds of the heaven.

9 And out of one of them came forth a l little horne, which waxed very great toward the m South, and toward the n Eaſt, and toward the o pleaſant land.

10 Yea, it grew up unto the p hoaſte of heauen, and it caſt downe ſome of the hoaſte, and of the ſtarres to the ground, and trode upon them.

11 And extolled himſelfe againſt the q prince of the hoaſte, from whom the r dayly ſacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was caſt downe.

12 And ſ a time ſhall be giuen him over the dayly ſacrifice for the iniquitie: and it ſhall t caſt downe the trueth to the ground, and thus ſhall it doe, and proſper.

13 Then I heard one of the u Saints ſpeaking, and one of the Saints ſpake unto a certaine one, ſaying, How long ſhall endure the viſion of the dayly ſacrifice, and the iniquitie of the x deſolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the y armie under foote?

14 And z he anſwered me, Unto the a evening and the morning, two thouſand and three hundreth: then ſhall the Sanctuary be cleanſed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had ſeene the viſion, and ſought for the meaning, beholde, there ſtood before me b like the ſimilitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the banks of Ulai, which called, and ſaid, Gabriel, c make this man to underſtand the viſion.

17 So he came where I ſtood: and when hee came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he ſaid unto me, Underſtand, O ſonne of man: for d in the laſt time ſhallbe the viſion.

18 Now as he was ſpeaking unto me, I being a ſleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and ſet me up in my place.

19 And he ſaid, Behold, I will ſhew thee what ſhallbe in the laſt e wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it ſhall come.

20 The ramme which thou ſaweſt having two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Perſians.

21 And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the firſt king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure ſtood up for it, are foure kingdomes, which ſhall ſtand up f of that nation, but not g in his ſtrength.

23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious ſhall be conſumed, a King of h fierce countenance, and underſtanding darke ſentences, ſhall ſtand up.

24 And his power ſhallbe mightie, but not i in his ſtrength: and hee ſhall deſtroy wonderfully, and ſhall proſper, and practiſe, and ſhall deſtroy the k mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his l policie alſo he ſhall cauſe craft to proſper in his hand, and hee ſhall extoll himſelfe in his heart, and by m peace ſhall deſtroy many: hee ſhall alſo ſtand up againſt the n prince of princes, but he ſhall be broken downe o without hand.

26 And the viſion of the p evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore ſeale thou up the viſion, for it ſhallbe after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was ſtricken and ſicke q certaine dayes, but when I roſe up, I did the kings buſineſſe, and I was aſtoniſhed at the viſion, but none underſtood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel deſireth to have that performed of God, which hee had promiſed concerning the returne of the people from their baniſhment in Babylon. 5 A true confeſſion. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth unto him the viſion of the ſeventie weekes. 24 The anointing of Chriſt. 25 The building againe of Ieruſalem. 26 The death of Chriſt.

IN the firſt yeere of Darius the ſonne of a Ahaſhueroſh, of the ſeede of the Medes, which was made king over the b realme of the Caldeans.

a Who was alſo called Aſtyages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warres in other countries, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was king in effect.

2 Even in the firſt yeere of his reigne, I Daniel underſtood by c bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had ſpoken unto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accompliſh ſeventie yeeres in the deſolation of Ieruſalem.

c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he dayly increaſed in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.

3 And I turned my face unto the Lord God, and d ſought by prayer and ſupplications with faſting and ſackecloath and aſhes.

d He ſpeaketh not of that ordinary prayer which hee uſed in his houſe thrice a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, leaſt their ſinnes ſhould cauſe God to delay the time of their deliverance prophecied by Ieremiah.

4 And I prayed unto the Lord my God, and made my confeſſion, ſaying, O Lord God which art e great and fearefull, and keepeſt covenant and mercie toward them which love † thee, and towarde them that keepe thy commandements, e That is, haſt all power in thy ſelfe to execute thy terrible iudgements againſt obſtinate ſinners, as thou art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word and love thee.

† Ebr. him.

5 Wee have ſinned and have committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, we have rebelled, and have departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee would not obey thy ſervants the Prophets, which ſpake in thy name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, f righteouſnes belongeth unto thee, and unto us † open ſhame, as appeareth this day, unto every man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, yea, unto all Iſrael, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou haſt driven them, becauſe of their offences, that they have committed againſt thee.

f He ſheweth that whenſoever God puniſheth, he doth it for iuſt cauſe: and thus the godly never accuſe him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in themſelves there is iuſt cauſe why he ſhould ſo intreat them.

† Ebr. confuſion of face.

8 O Lord, unto us apperteineth open ſhame, to our g Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, becauſe we have ſinned againſt thee.

9 Yet compaſsion and forgiveneſſe is in the Lord our God, albeit wee have rebelled againſt him.

10 For we have not obeyed the h voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee hath laid before us by the miniſtery of his ſervants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Iſrael have tranſgreſſed thy Law, and are turned backe, and have not heard thy voyce: therefore the i curſe is powred upon us, and the oathe that is written in the Law of Moſes g He doth not excuſe the kings becauſe of their authoritie, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occaſions of theſe great plagues.

the servant of God, because wee have sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that ‖ iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heaven hath not beene the like, as hath beene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Law of Moses: yet made wee not our prayer before the Lord our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord † made readie the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 * And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we have sinned, wee have done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy k righteousnes, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from the citie Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproach to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to l shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lieth waste for the m Lords sake.

18 O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the citie wherevpon thy Name is called: for wee do not present our supplications before thee for our owne n righteousnes, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgive, O Lord o consider, and do it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, even the man * Gabriel, whom I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloved: therefore vnderstand the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seventie p weekes are determined vpon q thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the r sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in everlasting righteousnes, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to anoint the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand that from s the going foorth of the commaundement to bring againe the people, and to builde Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the Prince, shallbe seven t weekes and u threescore and two weekes, and the streete shallbe built againe, and the wall even in a † troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two x weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall y have nothing, and the people of the z prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuary, and the ende thereof shallbe with a flood: and unto the ende of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he a shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke hee shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to b cease, c and for the overspreading of the abominations he shall make it desolate, even vntill the consumation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

‖ Or, governed vs. † Ebr. watched vpon the evill. * Exod. 14, 28. Baruch 2, 11.

k That is, according to all thy mercifull promises and the performance thereof.

l Shew thy selfe favourable.

m That is, for thy Christs sake in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers.

n Declaring, that the godly flee only vnto Gods mercies, and renounce their owne workes, when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.

o Thus he could not content himselfe with any vehemencie of words: for he was so led with a fervent zeale considering Gods promise made to the citie in respect of his Church, and for the advancement of Gods glory.

* Chap. 8, 16.

p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophecie: who prophecied that their captivitie should be seventie yeeres: but now Gods mercy shou'd seven fold exceed his iudgement, which should be foure hundred and ninetie yeeres even to the comming of Christ, and so then it should continue for ever.

q Meaning, Daniels nation, over whom he was carefull.

r To shew mercie and to put sinne out of remembrance.

s That is, from the time that Cyrus gave them leave to depart.

t These weekes make fourtie nine yeeres, whereof 46 are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting from the first yeere of Darius, who gave the second commandement for the building of the Temple are 62. weekes, which make 434 yeeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple unto the baptisme of Christ.

† Ebr. in streits of time.

x In this least weeke of the seuentie, shall Christ come and preach and suffer death.

y He shall seeme to haue no beautie, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa. 53, 2.

z Meaning, Titus Vespasians sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people with-all hope of recoverie.

a By the preaching of the Gospel hee confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles.

b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.

c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuarie should be vtterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatrie: or as some reade, that the plague shallbe so great, that they shallbe all astonied at them.

CHAP. X.

1 There appeareth vnto Daniel a man cloathed in linnen, 11 which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

IN the a third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was revealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Beltesshazzar) and the word vvas true, but the time appoynted vvas b long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heavines for three weeks of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the c first moneth, as I d was by the side of that great river, even Hiddekel.

c Called Abid, which conteineth part of March, and part of Aprill.

d Being caried by the Spirit of prophecie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.

5 And I lift mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there vvas a man e cloathed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of * Uphaz.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecie that followeth.

* Iere. 10, 9.

6 His body also vvas like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete vvere like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes vvas like the voyce of a multitude.

f The word also signifieth comelines, or beautie, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for f my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his words: and when I heard the voyce of his words, I slept on my face; and my face vvas toward the ground.

g Which declareth that when we are striken downe with the maiesty of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

10 And behold, an g hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees, and vpon the palmes of mine hands, 11 And he said vnto mee, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words,

13 But

13 But the [h] prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood mee one and twentie dayes: but loe, [i] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the Kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the [k] vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words unto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, [l] one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said unto him that stood before mee, O my Lord, [m] by the vision my sorrowes are returned upon me, and I have remained no strength.

17 For how can the servant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe and touched me, one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.

19 And sayd, O man, greatly beloved, feare not: [n] peace be unto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when hee had spoken unto mee, I [o] was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then sayd he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come unto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, [p] the prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your Prince.

5 And the [l] king of the South shalbe mighty, and one of [m] his princes, and shall prevaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shalbe a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the Kings [n] daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but he shall not retaine the power of the [o] arme, neither shall [p] hee continue, nor his [q] arme: but she shall be delivered to death, and they that brought her, and hee [r] that begate her, and hee that comforted her, in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her [s] rootes shall one stand up in his stead, [t] which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as hee list, and shall prevaile.

8 And shall also cary captives into Egypt their gods: with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold, and he shall continue [u] moe yeeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [x] sonnes shall be stirred up, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one [y] shall come, and overflow, and passe through: then shall he [z] returne, and be stirred up at his fortresse.

11 And the King of the South shall be angry, and shall come foorth, and fight with him, even with the king of the North: for he shall set forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude shall be given into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lift up: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still prevaile.

13 For the king of the North [b] shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall [c] many stand up against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy [d] people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast up a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall [e] not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But hee that shall come, shall doe unto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the [f] pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed.

17 Againe he shall [g] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he do, and he shall give him the [h] daughter of women to destroy [i] her: but

h Meaning, Cambises who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not onely for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would have farther raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore have I stayed for the profit of the Church.

i Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his love, he sendeth foorth double power, even Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the coming of Christ, for the comfort of his Church.

l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was overcome with feare and sorrow, when I saw the vision.

n He declareth hereby that God would be mercifull to the people of Israel.

o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doth not immediatly lift them up at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by little and little.

p Meaning, that hee would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia.

q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church under Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

A prophecie of the kingdomes, which should bee enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 36 and of the Romanes.

ALso I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, even I [a] stood to incourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the trueth, Behold, there shall stand up yet [b] three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre up [c] all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a [d] mighty King shall stand up, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stand up, [e] his kingdome shalbe broken, [f] and shall be divided toward the foure windes of heaven: and not to his [g] posteritie, nor according to [h] his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be plucke up even to be for others besides [k] those.

a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath given him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius when he overcame the Caldeans.

b Whereof Cambises that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Histaspis, and the fourth Xerxes which all were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.

c For he raised up all the East countreyes to fight against the Grecians, and albeit hee had in his army nine hundreth thousand men, yet in foure battels hee was discomfited and fled away with shame.

d That is, Alexander the great.

e For when his estate was most flourishing, he overcame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poysoned by Cassander.

f For his twelve chief Princes first divided his kingdome among themselves.

g After this his Monarchy was divided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolomeus Egypt.

h Thus God revenged Alexanders ambition and cruelty in causing his posterity to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another.

i None of these foure shalbe able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

k That is, his posterity having no part thereof.

m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mighty: for he should have both Asia and Syria.

n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus shalbe given in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should have a continuall peace together.

o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby understand her nurse, which brought her up: so that all they that were occasion of this mariage were destroyed.

f Meaning, that Ptolomeus Evergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus should succeede in the kingdome being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To revenge the sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolomeus reigned five and fourtie yeeres.

x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make warre against Ptolomeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus.

y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing.

z That is, Philopater when he shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also readie to invade Egypt.

a For Antiochus had five thousand horsemen, and threescore thousand footemen.

b After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolomeus Epiphanes his heire.

c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip King of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them.

d For under Onias which falsely alledged that place of Isa. 19, 19. certaine of the Iewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophecie: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the providence and counseth of God.

e The Egyptians where not able to resist Stopas Antiochus captaine.

f Hee sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof hee admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods providence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolomeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For hee regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall love her husband, as her duety requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia Grecia, and those yles which are in the Sea called Mediterraneum: for the Iewes called all countreyes yles which were divided from them by sea.

m For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Counsell, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsel.

o For feare of the Romanes hee shall flee to his holds.

p For when as under the pretence of poverty he would have robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men slew him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.

r Not by forren enemies, or battell, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought was the occation of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile cruell and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and usurpe the kingdom without the consent of the people.

t He sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the yong sonne of Seleucus against his uncle Antiochus: and yet shall he overthrowen.

u Meaning, Ptolemeus Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cosin germane, and is here called the prince of the covenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell Philometor and his uncle Antiochus made a league.

y For he came upon him at unawares, and when he suspected his uncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a Hee will content himselfe with the small holds for a time, but ever labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b He shall be overcome with treason.

c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his souldiers shall brast out and venture their life to slay and to be slaine for the safegard of their prince.

e The uncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischiefe one against the other.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the providence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot doe what they list themselves.

g Which he shall take of the Iewes in spoyling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to moove them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods providence.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to revenge his rage he came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the covenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the hie Priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

k she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face unto the Iyles, and shall take many, but a prince m shall cause his shame to light upon him, besides that he shall cause his owne shame to turne upon n himselfe.

19 For hee shall turne his face towardes the fortes of o his owne land: but hee shall be overthrowen and fall, and be no more p found.

20 q Then shall stand up in his place in the glory of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after few dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in r wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand up a f vile person, to whom they shall not give the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably and obteine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the t armes shalbe overthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the princes of the u covenant.

23 And after x the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come up, and overcome with a y small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull province, and he shall doe that which his fathers z have not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall divide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his devises against the strong holds, even for a a time.

25 Also he shall stirre up his power, and his courage against the King of the South, with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred up to battell with a very great and mighty army: but he shall not b stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of c his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie d shall overflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these Kings hearts shallbe to doe e mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not availe: for f yet the end shalbe at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great g substance: for his heart shalbe against the holy covenant: so shall he doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed hee shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the shippes h of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sorie and returne and fret against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe, he shall even returne i and have intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.

31 And armes k shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary l of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set up the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly m breake the covenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that doe know their God, shall prevaile and prosper.

33 And they that understand among the n people, shall instruct many: o yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captivitie and by spoyle many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shalbe holpen with a p little helpe: but many shall cleave unto them q fainedly.

35 And some of them r of understanding shall fall to try them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the f king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marveilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the wrath r be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the u God of his fathers, nor the desires x of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe above all.

38 But in his place shall he honour the y god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honour with z gold and with silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he doe in a the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange God whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for gaine.

40 And at the end of time shall the king of the b South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and hee shall enter into the countreyes, and shall overflow and passe through.

41 He shall enter also into the c pleasant land, and many countreyes shalbe overflowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also upon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall hold with Antiochus.

l So called because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set up in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure service of God.

m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but indeed were nothing lesse, for they solde their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure never so long.

p As God will not leave his Church destitute, yet will he not deliver it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight under the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Macchabees, whereof he here prophecieth.

q That is, there shall be even of this small number many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them that feare God and will lose their life for the defence of true religion. Signifying also that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore me must obey.

f Because the Angels purpose to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes unto the comming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchy of the Romanes which he noteth by the name of a King, who were without religion and condemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shall prevaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romans shall observe no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and preferre themselves to their gods.

x Signifying that they should be without all humanitie: for the love of women is taken for singular or great love, as 2. Sam. 1. 26.

y That is, the god of power and riches, they shall esteeme their owne power above all their gods and worship it.

z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their city with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should have them in admiration for their power & riches.

a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, least they should have bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profit ever came to the Romanes.

b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be overcome.

c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes that when they should see the Romanes invade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, forasmuch as hee warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserve them.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall d trouble him: therefore hee shall goe forth e with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antonius discomfited

e For Augustus overcame the Parthians and recovered that which Antiochus had lost.

f The Romanes after this reigned quietly throughout all countreyes, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliverance of the Church by Christ.

A Nd at that a time shall Michael stand up, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shallbe a time of trouble, such as never was since there began to be a nation unto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the booke.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shalbe in great affliction and trouble at Christs comming, and next that God will send his Angel to deliver it, whom here hee calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth because the faithfull should have ever respect to that: for in the earth there shall be no sure comfort.

2 And many b of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be c wise, shall shine as the brightnes of the firmament: and they that d turne many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starres, for ever and ever.

c Who have kept the true feare of God

d He chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, and next all the faithfull which instruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

4 But thou, O Daniel, e shut up the words, and seale the booke f till the end of the time: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

e Though the most part despise this prophecy, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure.

f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full revelation of these things: and then many shall runne to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the g river, and the other on that side of the brinke of the river.

g Which was Tygris.

6 And one sayd unto the man cloathed in linen, h which was upon the waters of the river, When shall be the end of these wonders?

h Which was as it were a double oath, and did the more confirme the thing.

7 And I heard the man cloathed in linen which was upon the waters of the river, when hee held up his h right hand and his left hand unto heaven, and sware by him that liveth for ever, that it shall tary for a i time two times and an halfe: and when he shall have accomplished k to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shallbe finished.

i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: signifying that their troubles should have an end.

k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to have no power.

8 Then I heard it, but I understood it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shallbe the end of these things?

9 And he sayd, Go thy way Daniel: for the words are closed up, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shallbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall have understanding: but the wise shall understand.

l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Law.

m Signifying that the time shall be long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.

11 And from the time that the l daily sacrifice shallbe taken away: and the abominable desolation set up, there m shallbe a thousand, two hundred and ninety dayes.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thousand, three hundreth and n five and thirty dales.

n In this number he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former number, 13 But goe o thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand up in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide; till the time appointed come, signifying that hee should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.

HOSEA.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtill counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true service commanded by his word, worshipping him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giving themselves to most vile idolatry & superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew even worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest under Ieroboam, the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the favour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and give them to the Assyrians to be led away captives. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seventy yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatning onely, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetnes of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the law, which are the promise of salvation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should have true deliverance: and for the second, he useth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or else by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole law conteine these two points, yet the Prophets moreover note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophecied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THe word of the Lord that came unto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes a of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, b kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.

b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached above three score yeeres.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said unto Hosea, Goe, take unto thee a wife c of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or else was commanded by God to set foorth under this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children, they should be no more called Israelites of the which name they boasted, because Israel did prevaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes under Ahab where Iehu shed so much blood, 1. King. 10, 8.

3 So he went, and tooke d Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.

4 And the Lord said unto him, Call his name e Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visit the blood of Izreel upon the house of i Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

e Meaning, that

f I will be revenged upon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him up to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God as the end declared: for he built up that idolatrie which he had destroyed.

5 And

5 And at that g day will I alſo breake the bow of Iſrael in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God ſayd unto him, Call her name h Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more have pitie upon the houſe of Iſrael, but I will utterly i take them away.

7 Yet I will have mercy upon the houſe of Iudah, and will k ſave them by the Lord their God, and will not ſave them by bow, nor by ſword, nor by battell, by horſes, nor by horſemen.

8 Now when ſhee had wained Lo-ruhamah, ſhe conceived, and bare a ſonne.

9 Then ſaid God, Call his name l Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people, therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the m children of Iſrael ſhall be as the ſand of the ſea, which cannot be meaſured nor told: and in the place where it was ſayd unto them, Ye are not my people, it ſhall be ſaid unto them, Ye are the ſonnes of the living God.

11 Then ſhall the children of Iudah, and the children of Iſrael be n gathered together, and appoint themſelves one head, and they ſhall come up out of the land: for great is the o day of Izreel.

g When the meaſure of their iniquitie is full, and I ſhall make vengeance and deſtroy all their policie and force.
h That is, not obtaining mercie: whereby he ſignifieth, that Gods favour was departed from them.
i For the Iſraelites never returned after that they were taken captives by the Aſſyrians.
k For after their captivity he reſtored him miraculouſly by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra. 1, 1.
l That is, not my people.
m Becauſe they thought that God could not have bene true in his promiſe except he had preſerved them, he declareth though they were deſtroyed, yet the true Iſraelites, which are the ſonnes of the promiſe, ſhould be without number, which ſtand both of the Iewes and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26.
n To wit, after the captivitie of Babylon when the Iewes were reſtored, but chiefly this is referred to the time of Chriſt, who ſhould be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.
o The calamitie and deſtruction of Izreel ſhall be ſo great, that to reſtore them ſhalbe as a mirac e.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 Hee ſheweth their idolatry and threatneth them except they repent.

a Say unto your a brethren, Ammi, and to your ſiſters, Ruhamah,

2 Plead with your b mother: plead with her: for ſhe is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her ſight, and her adulteries c from betweene her breaſts.

3 Leaſt I ſtrip her naked, and d ſet her as in the day that ſhee was e borne, and make her as a wildernes, and leave her like a dry land, and ſlay her for thirſt.

4 And I will have no pitie upon her children: for they be the f children of fornication.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: ſhe that conceived them, hath done ſhamefully: for ſhe ſayd, I will go after my g lovers that give mee my bread and my water, my wooll, and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I will ſtoppe h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that ſhee ſhall not finde her paths.

7 Though ſhe follow after her lovers, yet ſhall ſhe not come at them: through ſhee ſeeke them, yet ſhall ſhe not finde them: then ſhall ſhe ſay, i I will goe and returne to my firſt husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now ſhee did not know that I k gave her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her ſilver and golde, which they beſtowed upon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, and take away i my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the ſeaſon thereof, and will recover my wooll and my flaxe lent: to cover her ſhame.

10 And now will I diſcover her m lewdneſſe in the ſight of her lovers, and no man ſhall deliver her out of mine hand.

11 I will alſo cauſe all her mirth to ceaſe, her feaſt dayes, her new moones and her Sabbaths, and all her ſolemne feaſts.

12 And I will deſtroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof ſhee hath ſayd, Theſe are my rewards that my lovers haue given mee: and I will make them as a foreſt, and the wilde beaſtes ſhall eate them.

13 And I will viſit upon her the dayes of n Baalim, wherein ſhe burnt incenſe to them: and ſhe decked her ſelfe with her o earerings and her iewels, and ſhe followed her lovers, and forgate mee, ſaith the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will p allure her, and bring her into the wilderneſſe, and ſpeake friendly unto her.

15 And I will give her her vineyards from thence, and the valley q of Achor for the doore of hope, and ſhee ſhall r ſing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when ſhe came up out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, ſaith the Lord, thou ſhalt call me f Iſhi, and ſhalt call me no more s Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they ſhall be no more remembred by their u names.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them with the x wilde beaſts, and with the foules of the heaven, and with that that creepeth upon the earth: and I will breake the bow, and the ſword and the battell out of the earth: and will make them to ſleepe ſafely.

19 And I will marry thee unto me for ever: yea, I will marry thee unto me in righteouſnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy, and in compaſſion.

20 I will even marry thee unto me in y faithfulneſſe, and thou ſhalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, ſaith the Lord, I will even heare z the heavens, and they ſhall heare the earth.

22 And the earth ſhall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they ſhall heare Izreel.

23 And I will ſowe her unto me in the earth, and I will have mercy upon her, that was not pitied, and I will ſay to them which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they ſhall ſay, Thou art my God.

a Seeing that I have promiſed you deliverance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the ſame, conſidering that ye are my people on whom I will have mercy.
b God ſheweth that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forſooke them, Iſa. 50. 1.
c Meaning, that their idolatry was ſo great, that they were not aſhamed, but boaſted of it, Ezek. 16. 25.
d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell and dowrie and certaine ſignes of his favour, but if they continued ſtill, he would utterly deſtroy them. e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4.
f That is, baſtards and begotten in adulterie.
g Meaning, the idoles which they ſerved, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.
h I will puniſh thee that then thou mayeſt try whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into ſuch ſtreightneſſe that thou ſhalt have no luſt to play the wanton.
i This bee ſpeaketh of the faithfull, which are truely converted, and alſo ſheweth the uſe and profit of Gods rods.
k This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honour, when they attribute his benefits to their idoles.
l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doeth abuſe them.
m That is, all her ſervice, ceremonies and inventions whereby ſhee worſhipped her idoles.
n I will puniſh her for her idolatrie.
o By ſhewing how harlots trim themſelves to pleaſe others, he declareth how that ſuperſtitious idolaters ſet a great part of their religion, in decking themſelves on their holy dayes.
p By my benefits in offring her grace and mercy, even in that place where ſhe ſhall thinke her ſelfe deſtitute of all helpe and comfort.
q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernes, as Ioſh. 7. 26. and is called the doore of hope, becauſe it was a departing from death and an entrie into life.
r Shee ſhall then prayſe God as ſhe did when ſhe was delivered out of Egypt.
s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inviolable covenant.
t That is, my maſter: which name was applied to their idoles.
u No idolatry ſhall once come into their mouth, but they ſhall ſerve me purely according to my word.
x Meaning, that hee will ſo bleſſe them that all creatures ſhall favour them.
y With a covenant that never ſhall be broken.
z Then ſhall the heaven defire raine for the earth which ſhall bring forth for the uſe of man.
* Rom. 9. 25. 1. Pet. 2. 10.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes ſhall be caſt off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they ſhall returne to the Lord.

THen ſaid the Lord to me, a Goe yet, and love a woman (beloved of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the love of the Lord toward the children of Iſrael: yet they looked to other gods, and b loved the wine bottels.

2 So c I bought her to mee for fifteene pieces of ſilver, and for an homer of barley, and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I ſayd unto her, Thou ſhall abide with d me many dayes: thou ſhalt not play the harlot, and thou ſhalt be to none other man, and I will be ſo unto thee.

4 For the children of Iſrael ſhall e remaine a Herein the Prophet repreſenteth the perſon of God which loved his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the ſame when ſhee gave her ſelfe to idoles.

b That is, gave themſelves wholly to pleaſure, and could not take up, as they that are given to drunkenneſſe.
c Yet I loved her and payed a ſmall portion for her, leaſt ſhee perceiving the greatneſſe of my love, ſhould have abuſed mee, and not bene under duetie: for fifteene pieces of ſilver were but halfe the price of a ſlave. Exod. 21. 32.
d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no.
e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captivitie, but alſo unto Chriſt.

many many dayes without a king and without a f prince, and without an offring, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward ſhall the children of Iſrael convert and ſeeke the Lord their God, and g David their king, and ſhall feare the Lord and his goodneſſe in the latter dayes.

f That is, they ſhould neither have policie nor religion, and their idoles alſo wherein they put their confidence, ſhould be deſtroyed.

g This is meant of Chriſts kingdome, which was promiſed unto David to be eternall, Pſal. 72,17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint againſt the people and the prieſts of Iſrael.

a Becauſe the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement ſeat of God, againſt whom they chiefly offended, Iſa. 7,13. zech. 13,10. mich 6,1,2.

b In every place appeareth a libertie to moſt hainous vices, ſo that one followeth in the necke of another.

c As though he would ſay that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will ſpeake againſt the prophets and prieſts whoſe office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye ſhall periſh all together the one becauſe hee would not obey, and the other, becauſe he would not admoniſh.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boaſteſt.

f That is, the Prieſts ſhall be caſt off, becauſe that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and inſtruct others, Deut. 33,3. Mal. 2,7.

g Meaning, the whole body of the people, which were wearie with hearing the word of God.

h The more I was beneficiall unto them.

i To wit, the Prieſts ſeeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their ſinnes.

k Signifying, that as they have ſinned together, ſo ſhall they be puniſh together.

HEare the word of the Lord, yee children of Iſrael: for the Lord a hath a controverſie with the inhabitants of the land, becauſe there is no trueth, nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By ſwearing, and lying, and killing, and ſtealing, and whoring, they breake out, and b blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore ſhall the land mourne, and every one that dwelleth therein ſhalbe cut off, with the beaſts of the field, and with the foules of the heaven, and alſo the fiſhes of the ſea ſhalbe taken away.

4 Yet c let none rebuke, nor reproove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Prieſt.

5 Therefore ſhalt thou fall in the d day, and the Prophet ſhall fall with thee in the night, and I will deſtroy thy e mother.

6 My people are deſtroyed for lacke of knowledge, becauſe f thou haſt refuſed knowledge, I will alſo refuſe thee that thou ſhalt be no Prieſt to me: and ſeeing g thou haſt forgotten the Law of thy God, I will alſo forget thy children.

7 As they were h increaſed, ſo they ſinned againſt me: therefore will I change their glory into ſhame.

8 i They eate up the ſinnes of my people, and lift up their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there ſhalbe like people like k prieſt: for I will viſit their wayes upon them, and reward them their deedes.

10 For they ſhall eat, and not have enough, they ſhall l commit adultery, and ſhall not increaſe, becauſe they have left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 m Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My n people aske counſell at their ſtockes, and their ſtaffe teacheth them: for the o ſpirit of fornications hath cauſed them to erre, and they have gone a whoring from under their God.

13 They ſacrifice upon the tops of the mountaines, and burne incenſe upon the hils under the oakes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, becauſe the ſhadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters ſhall be p harlots, and your ſpouſes ſhall be whores.

14 I will not q viſit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your ſpouſes, when they are whores: for they themſelves are ſeparated with harlots, and ſacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not underſtand, ſhall fall.

l Shewing that their wickedneſſe ſhalbe puniſhed on all ſorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wives, to have many children, yet they ſhalbe deceived of their hope.

m In giving themſelves to pleaſures, they become like brute beaſtes.

n Thus he ſpeaketh by deriſion in calling them his people, which now for their ſinnes they were not: for they ſought helpe of ſtockes and ſtickes.

o They are caried away with a rage.

p Becauſe they take away Gods honour, and give it to idoles: therefore he will giue them up to their luſts, that they ſhall diſhonour their owne bodies, Rom 1,28.

q I will not correct your ſhame to bring you to amendement, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation, 15 Though thou Iſrael, play the harlot, yet r let not Iudah ſinne: come not ye unto ſ Gilgal, neither goe ye up to t Beth-aven, nor ſweare, The Lord liveth.

16 For Iſrael is rebellious as an unruly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a u lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkenneſſe ſtinketh: they have committed whoredome: their rulers love to ſay with ſhame, x Bring ye.

19 The winde hath y bound them up in her wings, and they ſhalbe aſhamed of their ſacrifices.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne to returne in time.

f For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time paſt by his preſence, yet becauſe it was abuſed by their idolatrie, hee would not that his people ſhould reſort thither.

t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the houſe of God, Beth-aven, that is, the houſe of iniquitie, becauſe of their abominations ſet up there, ſignifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worſhipped.

u God will ſo diſperſe them, that they ſhall not remaine in any certaine place.

x They are ſo impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them unto them.

y To cary them ſuddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Againſt the Prieſts and rulers of Iſrael. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

OYee Prieſts, heare this, and hearken yee, O houſe of Iſrael, and give ye eare, O houſe of the King: for iudgement is toward you, becauſe you have beene a a ſnare on Mizpah, and a net ſpread upon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound to decline to b ſlaughter, though I have bene a c rebuker of them all.

3 I know d Ephraim, and Iſrael is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Iſrael is defiled.

4 They will not give their minds to turne unto their God: for the ſpirit of fornication is in the mids of them, and they have not knowen the Lord.

5 And the e pride of Iſrael doeth teſtifie to his face: therefore ſhall Iſrael and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah alſo ſhall fall with them.

6 They ſhall goe with their ſheepe, and with their bullockes, to ſeeke the Lord: but they ſhall not finde him: for he hath withdrawen himſelfe from them.

7 They have tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord: for they have begotten f ſtrange children: now ſhall a g moneth devoure them with their portions.

8 Blow yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the ſhaume in Ramah: cry out at Beth-aven, after thee, O h Benjamin.

9 Ephraim ſhall be deſolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Iſrael have I cauſed to i know the trueth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that k remoove the bound: therefore will I power out my wrath upon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppreſſed and broken in iudgement, becauſe he willingly walked after the l commandement.

12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a moth, and to the houſe of Iudah as a rottenneſſe.

13 When Ephraim ſaw his ſickeneſſe, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim unto m Aſſhur, and ſent unto king n Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound:

14 For I will be unto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lions whelpe, to the houſe of Iudah: I, even I will ſpoyle and goe away: I will take away, and none ſhall re cue it.

15 I will go, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and ſeeke mee: in their affliction, they will ſeeke me diligently.

a The Prieſts and Princes catched the poore people in their ſnares, as the foulers did the birds, in theſe two high mountaines, b Notwithſtanding they ſeemed to be given altogether to holines, and to ſacrifices which here hee calleth ſlaughter in contempt.

c Though I had admoniſhed them continually by my Prophets.

d They boaſted themſelves not onely to be Iſraelites, but alſo Ephramites, becauſe their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions.

f That is, their children are degenerate, ſo that there is no hope in them.

g Their deſtruction is not far off.

h That is, all Iſrael comprehended under this part, ſignifying that the Lords plagues ſhould purſue them from place to place till they were deſtroyed.

i By the ſucceſſe they ſhall know that I have ſurely determined this.

k They have turned upſide downe all politicall order and all maner of religion.

and did not rather follow God.

m Inſtead of ſeeking for remedie at Gods hand.

n Who was king of the Aſſyrians.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction caſteth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickedneſſe of the Prieſts.

a Hee ſheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.
b Though he correct us from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.
c You ſeeme to have a certaine holineſſe and repentance, but it is upon the ſudden, and as a morning cloud.
d I have ſtill laboured by my prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not food to feed them, but a ſword to ſlay them.
e My doctrine which I taught thee, was moſt evident.
f He ſheweth to what ſcope his doctrine tended, that they ſhould ioyne the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbour with outward ſacrifices.

COme, and let a us returne to the Lord: for he hath ſpoyled, and hee will heale us: he hath wounded us, and he will bind us up.
2 After two dayes will b hee revive us, and in the third day he will raiſe us up, and we ſhall live in his ſight.
3 Then ſhall we have knowledge, and indevour our ſelves to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he ſhall come unto us as the raine, and as the latter raine unto the earth.
4 O Ephraim, what ſhall I doe unto thee? O Iudah, how ſhall I intreat thee? for c your goodneſſe is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.
5 Therefore have I d cut downe by the Prophets: I have ſlaine them by the words of my mouth, and thy e iudgements were as the light that goeth foorth.
6 For I deſired f mercy, and not ſacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.
7 But they g like men have tranſgreſſed the covenant: there have they treſpaſſed againſt me.
8 h Gilead is a city of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.
9 And as theeves wait for a man, ſo the company of Prieſts murther in the way by conſent: for they worke miſchiefe.
10 I have ſeene villenie in the houſe of Iſrael: there is the whoredome of Ephraim, Iſrael is defiled.
11 Yea, Iudah hath ſet a i plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captivitie of my people.

g That is, like light and weake perſons. h Which was the place where the Prieſts dwelt, and which ſhould have beene beſt inſtructed in my word. i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonneſſe of the people. 11 Of their puniſhment.

a Meaning, that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were ſubiect to all wickedneſſe, both ſecret and open.
b They eſteeme their wicked king Ieroboam above God, and ſeeke but how to flatter and pleaſe him.
c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning oven which the baker heateth, ſtill till his dough be leavened and raiſed.
d They uſed all riot and exceſſe in their feaſts, and ſolemnities where by their king was overcome with ſurfet, and brought into diſeaſes, and delighted in flatteries.
e By their occaſion God hath deprived them of all good rulers.

WHen I would have healed Iſrael, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was diſcovered, and the wickednеſſe of Samaria: for they have dealth fallly: and a the thiefe commeth in, and the robber ſpoyleth without.
2 And they conſider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednеſſe: now their owne inventions have beſet them about: they are in my ſight.
3 They make the b king glad with their wickednеſſe, and the princes with their lies.
4 They are all adulterers, and as a very c oven heated by the baker, which ceaſeth from raiſing up, and from kneading the dough untill it be leavened.
5 This is the d day of our king: the princes have made him ſicke with flagons of wine: he ſtretcheth out his hand to ſcorners.
6 For they have made ready their heart like an oven whiles they lie in wait: their baker ſleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.
7 They are all hote as an oven, and have e devoured their iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth unto me.
8 Ephraim hath f mixt himſelfe among the people: Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.
9 Strangers have devoured his ſtrength, and he knoweth it not: yea, g gray haires are here, and there upon him, yet he knoweth not.
10 And the pride of Iſrael teſtifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor ſeeke him for all this.
11 Ephraim alſo is like a dove deceived without h heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Aſſhur.
12 But when they ſhall goe, I will ſpread my net upon them, and draw them downe as the foules of the heaven: I will chaſtiſe them as their i Congregation hath heard.
13 Woe unto them: for they have fled away from me: deſtruction ſhalbe unto them, becauſe they have tranſgreſſed againſt me: though I have k redeemed them, yet they have ſpoken lies againſt me.
14 And they have not cried unto me with their hearts, l when they howled upon their beds: m they aſſemble themſelves for corne, and wine, and they rebell againſt me.
15 Though I have bound and ſtrengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine miſchiefe againſt me.
16 They returne, but not to the moſt hie: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes ſhall fall by the ſword, for the rage n of their tongues: this ſhall be their deriſion in the land of Egypt.

f That is, hee counterfeited the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but a cake baked on the one ſide, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hote, nor thorow colde, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile. g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions. h That is, without all iudgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleave onely to God, or to ſeeke the helpe of man. i According to my curſes made to the whole Congregation of Iſrael. k That is, divers times redeemed them, and delivered them from death. l When they were in affliction, and cried out for paine, they ſought not unto me for helpe. m They onely ſeeke their owne commodities and wealth, and paſſe not for me their God. n Becauſe they boaſt of their owne ſtrength, and paſſe not what they ſpeak againſt me and my ſervants, Pſal. 73, 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael, becauſe of their idolatrie.

a God encourageth the Prophet to ſignifie the ſpeedie comming of the enemy againſt Iſrael, which was once the people of God.
b They ſhall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.
c That is, Ieroboam by whom they ſought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, upright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was invented by themſelves, and of their fathers in the wildernеſſe.
f Shewing that their religon hath but a ſhow, and in it ſelfe is but vanitie.
g They never ceaſe, but runne to and fro to ſeeke helpe.
h That is, for the king and the princes ſhall lay upon them: which meanes the Lord uſed to bring them to repentance.
i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as ſtrange in reſpect of their owne inventions.
k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no ſervice, which he himſelfe hath not appointed.

SEt the trumpet to thy a mouth, he ſhall come as an eagle againſt the Houſe of the Lord, becauſe they have tranſgreſſed my covenant, and treſpaſſed againſt my Law.
2 Iſrael ſhall b cry unto mee, My God, we know thee.
3 Iſrael hath caſt off the thing that is good: the enemie ſhall purſue him.
4 They have ſet up a c king, but not by mee: they have made princes, and I knew it not: of their ſilver and their gold have they made them idols: therefore ſhall they be deſtroyed.
5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath caſt thee off: mine anger is kindled againſt them: how long will they be without d innocencie!
6 e For it came even from Iſrael, the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria ſhall be broken in pieces.
7 For they have f ſowen the winde, and they ſhall reape the whirlewind: it hath no ſtalke: the bud ſhall bring forth no meale: if ſo be it bring forth, the ſtrangers ſhall devoure it.
8 Iſrael is devoured, now ſhall they be among the Gentiles as a veſſell wherein is no pleaſure.
9 For they are gone up to Aſſhur: they are as a g wilde aſſe alone by himſelfe: Ephraim hath hired lovers,
10 Yet though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them and they ſhall ſorow a little for the h burden of the king and the princes. i 11 Becauſe Ephraim hath made many altars to ſinne, his altars ſhalbe to ſinne.
12 I have written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a i ſtrange thing.
13 They ſacrifice fleſh for the ſacrifices of mine offrings, and eat it: but the k Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and viſite their ſinnes: they ſhall returne to Egypt.

14 For 14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire upon his cities, and it shall devoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captivity of Israel.

REioyce not, O Israel, for ioy a as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loved b a reward upon every corne floore.

2 c The floore, and the wine presse shall not feed them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate uncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer d wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant unto him: but they shall be unto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof shall be polluted: for their bread e for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe f then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from g destruction: but Egypt shall gather them up, and Memphis shall bury them, the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their silver, and the throne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: h the Prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim i should be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his waies, and hatred in the house of his God.

9 They k are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like l grapes in the wildernesse: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figge-tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselves unto that shame, and their abominations were according to m their lovers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth n and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring up their children, yet I will deprive them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, is as a tree o in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lord, give them: what wilt thou give them? give them a p barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in q Gilgal; for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inventions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will love them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried up: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring foorth, yet will I slay even the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idolet. 14 His destruction for the same.

ISrael is an a emptie vine, yet hath it brought foorth fruit unto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the b goodnesse of their land they have made faire images.

2 Their heart is c divided: now shall they be found faulty: he shall breake downe their altars; he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We have no d King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to us?

4 They have spoken words, swearing falsly in making e a covenant: thus f iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the fielde.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall g feare because of the calfe of Beth-aven; for the people thereof shall mourne over it, and the h Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Asshur, for a present unto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the some upon the water.

8 The high places also of i Aven shall be destroyed, even the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow upon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, * Cover us, and to the hils, Fall upon us.

9 O Israel, thou hast k sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they l stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not m touch them.

10 It is my desire n that I should chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two o furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer used to delight in p threshing: but I will passe by her q faire neck: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iaakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sowe to your selves in righteousnesse: reape after the measure of mercy: r breake up your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousnesse upon you.

13 But you have plowed wickednes: ye have reaped iniquity: you have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as s Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day a Foreshough all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatry in hope of reward, and to have thy barnes filled, Iere. 44.17. as an harlot that had rather live by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her owne husband.
c These outward things that thou seekest, shall be taken from thee.
d All their doings both touching policy and religion, shall be reiected as things polluted.
e The meat offring which they offred for themselves.
f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of serving him, which shall be the most grievous point of your captivitie, when ye shall see your selves cut off from God.
g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.
h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them, who challenged to themselves to be their prophets and spirituall men.
i The Prophets duety is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.
k This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was never more corrupt, Iudg. 19.22.
l Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delited in them a Whereof though the grapes were gathered, yet ever as it gathered newe strength, it increased new wickednesse, so that the correction which should have brought them to obedience, did but utter their stubburnenesse.

b As they were rich and had abundance.
c To wit, from God.
d The day shall come that God shall take away their king, and then they shall feele the fruits of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17, 6, 7.
e In promising to be faithfull toward God.
f Thus their integrity and fidelity which they pretended, was nothing but bitternesse and griefe.
g When the calfe shall be caried away.
h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous priests, which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices, and cryed with a loud voyce: which superstition Elijah derided, 1. King. 18.27. reade 2. King. 23.5.
i This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4.15.
* Isa. 2.19. Luke 23.30. Revel. 6.16. and 9.6.
k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there plainly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deedes were as wicked as theirs.

m In They were as abominable unto me, as their lovers the idolets. n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry means, and so consume them by little and little. o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserve them from the cold ayre of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first unto mee, but now I will give him to the slaughter. p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come upon their children. q The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my Religion in Gilgal.

l To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remayned in that stubburnnesse from that time. m The Israelites were not moved by their example to cease from their sinnes. n Because they are so desperate, I will delight to destroy them. o That is, when they have gathered all their strength together. p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and paine. q I will lay my yoke upon her fatte necke. r Reade Ieremi. 4.3. s That is, Shalmanazzar in the destruction of that citie spared neither kinde nor age.

of battell: the mother with the children was daſhed in pieces.

15 So ſhall Beth-el doe unto you, becauſe of your malicious wickednes: in a morning ſhall the king of Iſrael be deſtroyed

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Iſrael. 5 Their ingratitude againſt him.

WHen Iſrael [a] was a child, then I loved him, and called my ſonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they [b] went thus from them: they ſacrificed unto Baalim, and burnt incenſe to images.

3 I led Ephraim alſo, as one ſhould beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I ledde them with coards [c] of a man, even with bands of love, and I was to them, as he was taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layde the meat unto them.

5 He ſhall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Aſſhur ſhall be his [d] King, becauſe they refuſed to convert.

6 And the ſword ſhall fall on his cities, and ſhall conſume his barres, and devoure them, becauſe of their owne counſels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion againſt me: though [e] they called them to the moſt hie, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 [f] How ſhall I give thee up, Ephraim? how ſhall I deliver thee, Iſrael? how ſhall I make thee, as [g] Admah? how ſhall I ſet thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: [h] my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fierceneſſe of my wrath: I will not returne to deſtroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the city.

10 They ſhall walke after the Lord: he ſhall roare like a lion: when hee ſhall roare, then the children of the Weſt ſhall feare.

11 [k] They ſhall feare as a ſparow out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Aſſhur, and I will place them in their houſes, ſayth the Lord.

12 Ephraim compaſſeth mee about with lies, and the houſe of Iſrael with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with [l] God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

a While the Iſraelites were in Egypt, and did not provoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.
b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.
c That is, friendly and not as beaſts or ſlaves.
d Seeing they contemne all this kindneſſe, they ſhall be led captive into Aſſyria.
e To wit, the Prophets.
f God conſidereth with himſelfe, and that with a certaine griefe, how to puniſh them.
g Which were two of the cities that were deſtroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29. 23.
h Meaning, that his love wherewith he firſt loved them, made him betweene doubt and aſſurance what to do: and herein appeareth his Fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his ſhall overcome his iudgements, as he declareth in the next verſe.
i To conſume thee, but will cauſe thee to yeeld, and ſo receive thee to mercy: and this is meant of the ſmall number who ſhall walke after the Lord.
k The Egyptians, and the Aſſyrians ſhall be afraid when the Lord maintaineth his people.
l Governeth their ſtate according to Gods word, and doeth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

Hee admoniſheth by Iaakobs example to truſt in God, and not in man.

a That is, flattereth himſelfe with vaine confidence.
b Meaning, preſents to get friendſhip.
c Which in theſe points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.
d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.
e Reade Gen. 32. 28.
f God found Iaakob as hee lay ſleeping in Bethel, Gen. 28. 12. and ſo ſpake with him there, that the fruite of that ſpeach appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

EPhraim is fed [a] with the wind, and followeth after the Eaſt winde: he increaſeth dayly lies and deſtruction, and they doe make a covenant with Aſſhur, and [b] oyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath alſo a controverſie with [c] Iudah, and will viſite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will he recompenſe him.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his ſtrength he had [d] power with God.

4 And had [e] power over the Angel, and prevailed: he wept and prayed unto him: [f] he found him in Beth-el, and there he ſpake with us.

5 Yea the Lord God of hoaſtes, the Lord is himſelfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope ſtill in thy God.

7 Hee is [g] Canaan: the balances of decree are in his hand: he loveth to oppreſſe.

8 And Ephraim ſayd, Notwithſtanding I am rich, I have found mee out riches in all my labours: they ſhall find none iniquitie in me, [h] that were wickednеſſe:

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the ſolemne feaſt.

10 I have alſo ſpoken by the Prophets, and I have multiplied viſions, and uſed ſimilitudes by the miniſtery of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k] iniquitie in Gilead? ſurely they are vanity: they ſacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Iſrael ſerved for a wife, and for a wife he kept ſheepe.

13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lord brought Iſrael ont of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee reſerved.

14 But Ephraim provoked him with high places: therefore ſhall his blood be powred upon him, and his reproach ſhall his Lord reward him.

g As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites, then godly Abraham or Iaakob.
h Thus the wicked meaſure Gods favour by outward proſperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any ſhould reproove their doings.
i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents, as in the feaſt of the tabernacles, which thou doſt now contemne.
k The people thought that no man durſt have ſpoken againſt Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet ſayeth, that all their religion was but vanitie.
l If you boaſt of your riches and nobilitie, yee ſeeme to reproach your father, who was a poore fugitive and ſervant.
m Meaning, Moſes, whereby appeareth, that whatſoever they have, it commeth of Gods free goodneſſe.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Iſrael, 9 and cauſe of their deſtruction.

WHen Ephraim ſpake, there was [a] trembling: hee [b] exalted himſelfe in Iſrael, but he hath ſinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.

2 And now they ſinne more and more, and have made them molten images of their ſilver, and idoles according to their owne underſtanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen: they ſay one to another whiles they ſacrifice a [d] man, Let them kiſſe the calves.

3 Therefore they ſhall be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that paſſeth away, as the chaffe that is driven with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the ſmoake that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou ſhalt know no God but mee: for there is no Saviour beſide me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderneſſe, in the land of drought.

6 As in their paſtures, ſo were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore have they forgotten me.

7 And I will be unto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Aſſhur.

8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will devoure them like a lion: the wilde beaſts ſhall teare them.

9 O Iſrael, one [f] hath deſtroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 [g] I am: where is thy king that ſhould helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou ſaydeſt, Give me a king and princes?

11 I gave thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

a Hee ſheweth the excellencie and authoritie that this tribe had above all the reſt.
b He made a king of his tribe.
c The Ephraimites are not farre from deſtruction, and have loſt their authoritie.
d The falſe prophets perſwaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he ſheweth how they would exhort one another to the ſame, and to kiſſe and worſhip theſe calves which were their idoles.
e He calleth them to repentance, and reprooveth their ingratitude.
f Thy deſtruction is certaine, and my benefits toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatry and vaine confidence in men muſt needs be the cauſe thereof.
g I am all one, Iames 1. 17.

12 The

b It is surely layd up to be punished, as Iere. 17.1.
i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this dangers wherein he is and not tarry to be relieved.
k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliver his, but even in death will he give them life.
l Because they will not turne to me, I will change my purpose.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is b bound up: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a travailing woman shall come upon him: he is an unwise sonne, els would he not stand still at the time, even at the i breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the grave: I will deliver them from death: O k death, I will be thy death, O grave, I will be thy destruction, l repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though hee grow up among his brethren, an East wind shall come, even the winde of the Lord shall come up from the wilderneſſe, and dry up his veine, and his fountaine shall be dried up: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth praise and thanks.

a Hee exhorteth them to repentance to avoyd all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.
b He sheweth them how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

SAmaria shallbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God; they shall fall by the sword: their infants shallbe dashed in pieces, and their women with child shallbe ript.

2 O Israel, a returne unto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

3 Take unto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say unto him, b Take away all iniquitie, and receive us graciously, so will we render the calves of our c lips.

c Declaring that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithfull can offer, even thanks and praise, Hebr. 13.15.
d We will leave off all vaine confidence and pride.
e He declareth how ready God is to receive them that do repent.
f Whosoever ioyne themselves to this people, shall be blessed.
g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe, as a protection, and safegard unto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profit.
h Signifying, that the true wisedome and knowledge consisteth in this, even to rest upon God.

4 Asshur shall d not save us, neither will wee ride upon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercy.

5 e I will heale their rebellion: I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dewe unto Israel: he shall grow as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive-tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell under his f shadow, shall returne: they shall revive as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What have I to doe any more with idoles: I g have heard him, and looked upon him: I am like a greene firre-tree: upon me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is h wise, and hee shall understand these things? and prudent, and hee shall know them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

I O E L.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grow daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, hee exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceed from the heart, because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, hee promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his covenant that hee made with their fathers, but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting for the misery that was at hand.

a Signifying the Princes, the Priests and the governours.
b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had now plagued the fruites of the ground for the space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.
c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse & drunkennes was take away.
d This was another plague wherewith God had punished them when he stirred up the Assyrians against them. e Mourne grievously as a woman which hath lost her husband to whom she hath bin maried in her youth.
f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, in so much as Gods service was left off.

THe word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare yee this, O a Elders, and hearken yee all inhabitants of the land, whether b such a thing hath beene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children, to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpiller eaten.

5 Awake yee c drunkards, and weepe and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine, for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, d a nation commeth upon my land, mighty and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and hee hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 Hee maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my fig-tree: hee maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sackcloath, for the e husband of her youth.

9 The meat offring and the drinke offring is f cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The fielde is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the new wine is dried up, and the oyle is decayed.

g All comfort and substance for nourishment is taken away.

11 Be yee ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vinedressers for the wheate and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried up, and the fig-tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the fielde are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 h Gird your selves and lament ye Priestes: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloath, yee ministers of my God: for the meat offering and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to avoid Gods wrath, and to have all things restored, is unfained repentance.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord.

15 Alas: for the day, for the i day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

i We see by these great plagues that utter destruction is at hand.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnes from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten under their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the heards of cattell pine away, because they have no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath devoured the paſtures of the wildeꝛneſſe, and the flame hath burnt up all the trees of the field.

20 The beaſts of the field crie alſo unto thee: for the river of waters are dried up, and the k fire hath devoured the paſtures of the wildernes.

k That is, drought.

CHAP. II.

Hee prophecieth of the comming and cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moove them to convert. 18 The love of God toward his people.

a He ſheweth the great iudgements of God, which are at hand, except they repent.

BLow a the trumpet in Zion, and ſhout in mine holy mountaine, let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

b Of affliction and trouble.

2 A b day of darknes, and of blackeneſſe, a day of cloudes and obſcuritie, as the morning ſpread upon the mountaines, ſo is there a c great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither ſhallbe any more after it, unto the yeeres of many generations.

c Meaning, the Aſſyrians.

3 A fire devoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth up: the land is as the garden of d Eden before him, and behind him a deſolate wilderneſſe, ſo that nothing ſhall eſcape him.

d The enemy deſtroyed our plentifull countrey, wheꝛeſoever he commeth.

4 The beholding of him is like the ſight of horſes, and like the horſmen, ſo ſhall they runne.

5 Like the noyſe of charets in the tops of the mountaines ſhall they leape, like the noyſe of a flame of fire that devoureth the ſtubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

e They ſhalbe pale and blacke for feare, as Nah. 2, 10.

6 Before his face ſhall the people tremble: all faces e ſhall gather blackeneſſe.

7 They ſhall runne like ſtrong men, and goe up to the wall like men of warre, and every man ſhall go forward in his wayes, and they ſhall not ſtay in his paths.

f For none ſhalbe able to reſiſt them.

8 Neither ſhall one f thruſt another, but every one ſhall walke in his path: and when they fall upon the ſword, they ſhall not be wounded.

9 They ſhall runne to and fro in the citie: they ſhall run upon the wall: they ſhall climbe up upon the houſes, and enter in at the windowes like the thiefe.

g Read verſ. 2, 31. and Iſa. 13, 10. ezek 32, 7. chap. 3. 15. matt. 24, 29.

10 The earth ſhall tremble before him, the heavens ſhall ſhake, the g ſunne and the moone ſhalbe darke, and the ſtarres ſhall withdraw their ſhining.

h The Lord ſhall ſtirre up the Aſſyrians to execute his iudgements. * Ier. 30, 7. amos 5. 18. zeph. 1, 15.

11 And the Lord ſhall h utter his voyce before his hoaſt: for his hoaſt is very great: for he is ſtrong that doeth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

i Mortifie your affections and ſerve God with pureneſs of heart, and not with ceremonies.

12 Therefore alſo now the Lord ſaith, Turne you unto me with all your heart, and with faſting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And i rent your heart, and not your cloathes: and turne unto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſſe, and repenteth him of the evill.

k He ſpeaketh this to ſtirre up their ſlouthfulneſſe, and not that he doubted of Gods mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, reade Ierem. 18, 8.

14 Who knoweth if he will k returne and repent and leave a bleſsing behind him, even a meat offring and a drinke offering unto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, ſanctifie a faſt, call a ſolemne aſſembly.

l That as all have ſinned, ſo all may ſhew forth ſigns of their repentance, that men ſeeing the children which are not free from Gods wrath, might be the more lively touched with the conſideration of their owne ſinnes.

16 Gather the people, ſanctifie the congregation: gather the elders: aſſemble the l children, and thoſe that ſuck the breſts: let the bridegrome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Prieſtes, the miniſters of the Lord, weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them ſay, Spare thy people, O Lord, and give not thine heritage into reproach, that the heathen ſhould rule over them. * Wherefore ſhould they ſay among the people, Where is their God?

* Pſal. 79, 10.

18 Then will the Lord be m iealous over his land, and ſpare his people.

m If they repent he ſheweth that God will preſerve and defend them with a moſt ardent affection.

19 Yea, the Lord will anſwere and ſay unto his people, Beholde, I will ſend you corne and wine, and oyle, and you ſhallbe ſatisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen.

n That is, the Aſſyrians your enemies.

20 But I will remoove farre off from you the a Northren army, and I will drive him into a land, barren and deſolate with his face toward the o Eaſt ſea, and his end to the utmoſt ſea, and his ſtinke ſhall come up, and his corruption ſhall aſcend, becauſe he hath exalted himſelfe to doe this.

o Called the ſalt ſea, or Perſian ſea: meaning, that though his army were ſo great that it filled all from this ſea to the ſea called Mediterraneum, yet hee would ſcatter them.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will do great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beaſts of the field: for the paſtures of the wilderneſſe are greene for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge-tree and the vine doe give their force.

p That is, ſuch as ſhould come by iuſt meaſure, and as was went to be ſent when God was reconciled with them. * Levit. 26, 4. deut. 11, 14.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God, for he hath given you the raine of p righteouſnes, * and he will cauſe to come downe for you the raine, even the firſt raine, and the latter raine in the firſt moneth.

q That is, in greater abundance, and more generally then in times paſt: and this was fulfilled under Chriſt, when as Gods graces, and his Spirit under the Goſpell was abundantly given to the Church. Iſa. 44, 3. acts 2, 17. Iohn 7, 38, 39.

24 And the barnes ſhallbe full of wheate, and the preſſes ſhall abound with wine and oyle.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the graſhopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpiller and the palmer worme, my great hoaſt which I ſent among you.

r As they had viſions and dreames in olde time, ſo ſhall they now have cleaner revelations.

26 So you ſhall eat and be ſatisfied and praiſe the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealth marveilouſly with you: and my people ſhall never be aſhamed.

27 Ye ſhall alſo know that I am in the mids of Iſrael, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people ſhall never be aſhamed.

f He warneth the faithfull what terrible things ſhould come, to the intent that they ſhould not looke for continuall quietneſſe in this world, and yet in all theſe troubles he would preſerve them.

28 And afterward will I powre q out my Spirit upon all fleſh: and your ſonnes and your daughters ſhall prophecie: your old men ſhall dreame r dreames, and your yong men ſhall ſee viſions.

29 And alſo upon the ſervants, and upon the maids in thoſe dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will ſhew ſ wonders in the heavens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of ſmoake.

t The order of nature ſhall ſeeme to be changed for the horrible afflictions that ſhalbe in the world. Iſa. 13. 10. ezek. 32, 7. chap. 3, 15. mat. 24, 29.

31 The t ſunne ſhallbe turned into darknes, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

u Gods iudgements are for the deſtruction of the infidels, and to moove the godly to call upon the Name of God, who will give them ſalvation. x Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10, 13.

32 But whoſoever ſhall call u on the name of the Lord, ſhallbe ſaved: for in mount Zion, and in Ieruſalem ſhalbe deliverance as the Lord hath ſaid, and in the x remnant, whom the Lord ſhall call.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God againſt the enemies of his people.

a When I ſhall deliver my Church, which ſtandeth of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

FOr behold, in a thoſe dayes and in that time, when I ſhall bring againe the captivity of Iudah and Ieruſalem, b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Iehoſhaphat, when as God without mans helpe deſtroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20, 26. alſo he hath reſpect to this word Iehoſhaphat, which ſignifieth pleading or iudgement, becauſe God would iudge the enemies of his Church, as hee did there.

2 I will alſo gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the b valley of Iehoſhaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Iſrael: whom they have ſcattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they have caſt lottes for my people, and have given the child c for the harlot, and ſold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

and

4 Yea, and d what have you to do with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coaſts of Paleſtina? will yee render mee e a recompenſe? and if yee recompenſe mee, ſwiftly and ſpeedily will I render your recompenſe upon your head:

5 For ye have taken my ſilver and my gold, and have caried into your temples my goodly and pleaſant things.

6 The children alſo of Iudah and the children of Ieruſalem have you ſolde unto the Grecians, that ye might ſend them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raiſe them out of the place where ye have ſold them, and will render your reward upon your owne head.

8 And I will ſell your ſonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they f ſhall ſend them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off, for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake up the mightie men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come up.

10 g Breake your plowſhares into ſwords, and your ſithes into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

11 Aſſemble your ſelves, and come all ye heathen, and gather your ſelves together round about: there ſhall the Lord caſt downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be weakened, and come up to the valley of Iehoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your h ſithes, for the harveſt is ripe, come, get you downe, for the winepreſſe is full: yea, the winepreſſes runne over, for their wickedneſſe is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threſhing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The ſunne and moone ſhallbe darkened, and the ſtarres ſhall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord alſo ſhall roare out of Zion, and utter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the heavens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lord will be the i hope of his people, and the ſtrength of his children of Iſrael.

17 So ſhall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then ſhall Ieruſalem be holy, and there ſhall no ſtrangers goe k thorow her any more.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines l drop downe new wine, and the hilles ſhall flowe with milke, and all the rivers of Iudah ſhall runne with waters, and a fountaine ſhall come foorth of the Houſe of the Lord, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim.

19 m Egypt ſhallbe waſte, and Edom ſhallbe a deſolate wilderneſſe, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, becauſe they have ſhed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah ſhall dwell for ever, and Ieruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will n cleanſe their blood, that I have not cleanſed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

e That which the enemie gate for the ſale of my people, he beſtowed upon harlots and drinke.
d He taketh the cauſe of his Church in hand againſt the enemie, as though the iniurie were done to himſelfe.
e Have I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?
f For afterward God ſold them by Nebuchad-nezzar and Alexander the great, for the love he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted, as though the price had bin theirs.
g When I ſhall execute my iudgements againſt mine enemies, I will cauſe every one to be readie, and to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another for my Churches ſake.
h Thus he ſhall encourage the enemies when their wickednes is full ripe, to deſtroy one another, which hee calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.
i God aſſureth his againſt all trouble, that when he deſtroyeth his enemies, his children ſhallbe delivered.
k The ſtrangers ſhall no more deſtroy his Church: which if they doe, it is the people, which by their ſinnes make the breach for ỹ enemie.
l He promiſeth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47. 1. Which ſhould water and comfort the moſt barren places. Amos 9. 13.
m The malicious enemies ſhal have no part of this grace.
n He had ſuffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthines, but now he promiſeth to cleanſe them, and to make them pure unto him.

A M O S.

THE ARGUMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raiſed up to admoniſh the Iſraelites of his plagues for their wickedneſſe and idolatrie, hee ſtirred up Amos, who was an heardman or ſhepheard of a poore towne, and gave him both knowledge and conſtancie to reproove all eſtates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them, that if God ſpare not the other nations about them, who had lived as it were in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſinnes will puniſh them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lord by unfained repentance. And finally, hee comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Meſſiah, by whom they ſhould have perfect deliverance and ſalvation.

CHAP. I.

x The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord againſt Damaſcus. 6 The Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea, and Ammon.

THe wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen at a Tecoa, which he ſaw upon Iſrael, in the dayes of Uzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of b Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioaſh king of Iſrael, two yeeres before the c earthquake.

2 And he ſaid, The Lord ſhall roare from Zion, and utter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſhepheards ſhall periſh, and the top d of Carmel ſhall wither.

3 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For e three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they have f threſhed Gilead with threſhing inſtruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I ſend a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall devoure the g palaces of Benhadad.

5 I will breake alſo the barres of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-aven: and him that holdeth the ſcepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram ſhall goe into captivitie unto h Kir, ſaith the Lord.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they i caried away priſoners the whole captivitie to ſhut them up in Edom.

7 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon the walles of Azzah, and it ſhall devoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aſhdod, and him that holdeth the ſcepter from Aſhkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philiſtims ſhall periſh, ſaieth the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, a Which was a towne ſixe miles from Ieruſalem in Iudea, but he prophecied in Iſrael.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Iſrael did moſt flouriſh.
c Which as Ioſephus writeth, was when Uzziah would have uſurped the Prieſts office, and therefore was ſmitten with the leproſie.
d Whatſoever is fruitfull and pleaſant in Iſrael, ſhall ſhortly periſh.
e He ſheweth firſt that all the people round about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifold ſinnes: which are meant by three and foure, which make ſeven, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhould the more deepely conſider Gods iudgements toward them.
f If the Syrians ſhall not be ſpared for committing this crueltie againſt one citie, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhould eſcape puniſhment which hath committed ſo many and grievous ſinnes againſt God and man.
g The antiquitie of their buildings ſhall not avoyde my iudgements, read Iere. 49. 27.
h Tiglath Pileſer led the Aſſyrians captive, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.
i They ioyned themſelves with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captives.

it, becauſe they ſhut the whole captivitie in Edom, and have not remembred the k brotherly covenant.

k For Eſau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren, therefore they ought to have admoniſhed them of their brotherly friendſhip, and not to have provoked them to hatred.

10 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon the walles of Tyrus, and it ſhall devoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe he did purſue his brother with the ſword, and † did caſt off all pitie, and his anger ſpoyled him evermore, and his wrath watched him l away.

l He was a continuall enemie unto him.

12 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon Teman, and it ſhall devoure the places of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they m have ript up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

m He noteth the great cruelties of the Ammonites, that ſpared not the women, but moſt tyrannouſly tormented them. and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the houſhold of Abraham.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it ſhall devoure the palaces thereof, with ſhouting in the day of battell, and with a tempeſt in the day of the whirlewind.

15 And their king ſhall goe into captivitie, he and his princes together, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Againſt Moab, Iudah, and Iſrael.

THus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe it burnt the a bones of the king of Edom into lime.

a For the Moabites were ſo cruell againſt the king of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, ſeeing they would revenge themſelves of the dead.

2 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon Moab, and it ſhall devoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab ſhall die with tumult, with ſhouting, and with the ſound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will ſlay all the princes thereof with him, ſaith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Iudah, and for foure, b I will not turne to it, becauſe they have caſt away the Law of the Lord, and have not kept his commandements, and their lies cauſed them to erre after the which their fathers have walked.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not ſo farre knowledge were thus puniſhed, Iudah which was ſo fully inſtructed of the Lords will might not thinke to eſcape.

5 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon Iudah, and it ſhall devoure the palaces of Ieruſalem.

6 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of c Iſrael, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they ſold the righteous for ſilver, and the poore for d ſhooes.

c If he ſpare not Iudah unto whom his promiſes were made, much more he will not ſpare this degenerate kingdome.

d They eſteemed moſt vile bribes more then mens lives.

7 They gape over the head of the poore, in the e duſt of the earth, and pervert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayd, to diſhonour mine holy Name.

e When they have ſpoyled him and throwen him unto the ground, thy gape for his life.

8 And they lye downe upon cloathes layde to pledge f by every altar: and they g drinke the wine of the condemned in the houſe of their God.

f Thinking by theſe ceremonies, that is, by ſacrificing, and being nere mine altar, they may excuſe all their other wickedneſſe.

9 Yet deſtroyed I the h Amorite before them, whoſe height was like the height of the cedars, and he was ſtrong as the oakes: notwithſtanding I deſtroyed his fruit from above, and his roote from beneath.

g They ſpoyle others and offer thereof unto God, thinking that he will diſpenſe with them, when hee is made partaker of their iniquitie.

10 Alſo I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you fourty yeeres thorow the wildernes, to poſſeſſe the land of the Amorite.

h The deſtruction of their enemies and his mercie toward them, ſhould have cauſed their hearts to melt for love toward him.

11 And I raiſed up of your ſonnes for Prophets, and of i your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord?

i Ye contemned my benefits, and abuſed my graces, and craftily went about to ſtoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.

12 But ye gave the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, ſaying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am k preſſed under you as a cart is preſſed that is full of ſheaves.

k You have wearied me with your ſinnes, Iſa. 1. 14.

14 Therefore the flight ſhall periſh from the l ſwift, and the ſtrong ſhall not ſtrengthen his force, neither ſhall the mightie ſave his life.

l None ſhall be delivered by any meanes.

15 Nor he that handleth the bow ſhall ſtand, and hee that is ſwift of foote, ſhall not eſcape, neither ſhall hee that rideth the horſe, ſave his life.

16 And he that is of a mightie courage among the ſtrong men, ſhall flee away naked in that day, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

Hee reproveth the houſe of Iſrael of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will puniſh them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth againſt you, O children of Iſrael, even againſt the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 You a onely have I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore will I viſit you for all your iniquities.

a I have onely choſen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you have forſaken me.

3 Can two walke together except they be b agreed?

b Hereby the Prophet ſignifieth that he ſpeaketh not of himſelfe, but as God guideth and mooveth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

4 Will a c lyon roare in the forreſt, when he hath no pray? or will a lyons whelpe cry out of his den, if he have taken nothing?

c Will God threaten by his Prophet, except there be ſome great occaſion?

5 d Can a bird fall in a ſnare upon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take up the e ſnare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all?

d Can any thing come without Gods providence?

e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

6 Or f ſhall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraid? or ſhall there g be evill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but hee h revealeth his ſecret to his ſervants the Prophets.

g Doth any adverſitie come without Gods appointment? Iſa. 45. 7.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath ſpoken, who can but i prophecie?

h God dealeth not with the Iſraelites, as he doeth with other people: for he ever warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

9 Proclaime in the palaces at k Aſhdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelves upon the mountaines of Samaria: ſo behold the great tumults in the middes thereof, and the oppreſſed in the middes thereof.

i Becauſe the people ever murmured againſt the Prophets, he ſheweth that Gods ſpirit mooved them ſo to ſpeake as they did.

10 For they know not to doe right, ſaith the Lord: they ſtore up violence, and robberie l in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, An adverſarie ſhall come even round about the countrey, and ſhalll bring downe thy ſtrength from thee, and thy palaces ſhalibe ſpoyled.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord, As the ſhepheard taketh m out of the mouth of the lyon two legs, or a piece of an eare: ſo ſhall the children of Iſrael be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed: and in n Damaſcus as in a couch.

13 Heare, and teſtifie in the houſe of Iaakob, ſaith the Lord God, the God of hoaſtes.

k He calleth the ſtrangers, as the Philiſtims and Egyptians, to be witneſſe of Gods iudgements againſt the Iſraelites for their cruelties and oppreſſion.

l The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they have in their houſes.

m When the lyon hath ſatiate his hunger, the ſhepheard findeth a legge or a tippe of an eare, to ſhew that the ſheepe have beene woried. they ought to have had a ſure hold, and to have beene in ſafetie.

n Whose

14 Surely in the day that I ſhall viſit the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael upon him, I will alſo viſit the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altars ſhall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will ſmite the winter houſe with the ſummer houſe, and the houſes of yuorie ſhall periſh, and the great houſes ſhall be conſumed, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

Againſt the governours of Samaria.

HEare this word, yee a kine of Baſhan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppreſſe the poore, and deſtroy the needie, and they ſay to their maſters, b Bring, and let us drinke.

2 The Lord God hath ſworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes ſhall come upon you, that hee will take you away with c thornes, and your poſterity with fiſh-hookes.

3 And ye ſhall goe out at the breaches every kowe forward: and ye ſhall caſt your ſelves out of the palace, ſaith the Lord.

4 Come to d Beth-el, and tranſgreſſe: to Gilgall, and multiplie tranſgreſſion, and bring your ſacrifices in the morning, and your riches after three e yeeres.

5 And offer a thankeſgiving f of leaven, publiſh and proclaime the free offerings: for this g liketh you, O ye children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

6 And therefore have I given you h cleanneſſe of teeth in all your cities, and ſcarceneſſe of bread in all your places, yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

7 And alſo I have withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the harveſt, and I cauſed it to raine upon one citie, and have not cauſed it to raine upon another city: one piece was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred unto one citie to drinke water, but they were k not ſatisfied: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

9 I have ſmitten you with blaſting and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your fig-trees, and your olive-trees did the palmer-worme devoure: yet have yee not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

10 Peſtilence have I ſent among you after the maner of l Egypt: your yong men have I ſlaine with the ſword, and have taken away your horſes: and I have made the ſtinke of your tents to come up even into your noſtrels, yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

11 I have overthrowen you, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a m firebrand pluckt out of the burning, yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I doe unto thee, O Iſrael: and becauſe I will doe thus unto thee, prepare to n meet thy God, O Iſrael.

13 For loe, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth unto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkeneſſe, and walketh upon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hoaſtes is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captivitie of Iſrael.

HEare ye this word, which I liſt up unto you, even a lamentation of the houſe of Iſrael.

2 The a virgine Iſrael is fallen, and ſhall no more riſe: ſhe is left upon her land, and there is none to raiſe her up.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord God, the city which went out by a thouſand, ſhall leave b an hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, ſhall leave ten to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord unto the houſe of Iſrael, Seeke ye me, and ye ſhall live.

5 But ſeeke not Beth-el, nor enter into c Gilgal, and go not to Beer-ſheba: for Gilgal ſhall go into captivity, and Beth-el ſhall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and yee ſhall live, leaſt hee breake out like fire in the houſe of Ioſeph and deboure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne d iudgement to wormewood, and leave off righteouſnes in the earth.

8 Hee e maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the ſhadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out upon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He ſtrengtheneth the deſtroyer againſt the mighty, and the deſtroyer ſhall come againſt the fortreſſe.

10 They have hated him f that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that ſpeaketh uprightly.

11 Foraſmuch then as your treading is upon the poore, and g ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye have built houſes of hewen ſtone, but ye ſhall not dwell in them: ye have planted pleaſant vineyards, but ye ſhall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold tranſgreſſions, and your mighty ſinnes: they afflict the iuſt, they take rewards, and they oppreſſe the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore h the prudent ſhall keepe ſilence in that time, for it is an evill time.

14 Seeke good and not evill, that ye may live: and the Lord God of hoaſtes ſhall be with you, as you have ſpoken.

15 Hate the evill, and love the good, and eſtabliſh iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hoaſtes will be mercifull unto the remnant of Ioſeph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hoaſtes, the Lord ſaith thus, Mourning ſhalbe in all ſtreets: and they ſhall ſay in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they ſhall call the i husbandman to lamentation, and ſuch as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines ſhalbe lamentation: for I will paſſe through thee, ſaith the Lord.

18 Woe unto you, that k deſire the day of the Lord: what have you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkneſſe and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the houſe, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a ſerpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkneſſe, and not light, even darkeneſſe and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feaſt dayes, and I will not ſmell in your ſolemne aſſemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offrings and meat offrings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offrings of your fat beaſts.

23 Take thou away from mee the multitude of thy ſongs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy violes.)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as m waters, and righteouſnes as a mighty river.

25 Have ye offered unto me ſacrifices and offrings in the wilderneſſe fourtie yeeres, O houſe of Iſrael?

a Thus he calleth the princes and governours, which being overwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beaſts and not of men.
b They encourage ſuch as have authoritie over the people to powle them, ſo that they may have profite by it.
c He alludeth to fiſhers, which catch fiſh by hookes and thornes.
d He ſpeaketh this in contempt of them which reſorted to thoſe places, thinking that their great devotion and good intention had bene ſufficient to have bound God unto them. e Read Deut. 14, 28.
f As Levit. 7, 13.
g You onely delight in theſe outward ceremonies and have none other reſpect.
h That is, lacke of bread and meat.
i I ſtayed the raine till the fruits of the earth were deſtroyed with drought, and yet you would not conſider it to returne to me by repentance.
k They could not find water enough where they had heard ſay it had rained.
l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9, 10.
m You were almoſt all conſumed, and a few of you wonderfully preſerved, 2. king. 14. 26.
n Turne to him by repentance.

a He ſo calleth them, becauſe they ſo boaſted of themſelves, or becauſe they were given to wantonneſſe and daintineſſe.

b Meaning, that the tenth part ſhould ſcarcely be ſaved.

c In thoſe places they worſhipped new idoles, which a foretime ſerved for the true honour of God: therefore he ſaith that theſe ſhall not ſave them.
d In ſtead of iudgement and equitie they execute crueltie and oppreſſion.
e He deſcribeth the power of God, Iob 9, 9.

f They hate the Prophets, which reprooue them in the open aſſemblies.
g Ye take both his money and alſo his food, wherewith he ſhould live.

h God will ſo plague them that they ſhall not ſuffer the godly once to open their mouths to admoniſh them of their faults.

i So that all degrees ſhall have matter of lamentation for the great plagues.
k Thus he ſpeaketh, becauſe the wicked and hypocrites ſaid they were content to abide Gods iudgement, whereas the godly tremble and feare. Iere. 30, 7. Ioel 2, 2, 11. Zeph. 1, 15.
l Becauſe ye have corrupt my true ſervice, and remaine obſtinate in your vices, Iſa. 1, 11. Iere. 6, 20.
m Do your duety to God, and to your neighbour and ſo ye ſhall feele his grace plentifully, if you ſhew your abundant affection according to Gods word.

26 But you have borne n Siccuth your king, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods which you made to your selves.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captivitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hoasts.

n That idole which you esteemed as your King, and caried about as you did Chiun in which images you thought that there was a certaine divinity.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel living in pleasure.

WOe to a them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, b which were famous at the beginning of the nations; and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you unto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be c they better then these kingdoms? or the border of their land greater then your border.

3 Yee that put farre away the d evill day, and approach to the seate of iniquity?

4 They lie upon beds of yvorie, and stretch themselves upon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they invent to themselves instruments of musicke like e David.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and annoint themselves with the chiefe oyntments, but no man is f sorie for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captive with the first that goe captive, and g the sorow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand.

8 h The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hoastes, I abhorre i the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his uncle k shall take him up and burne him, to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him, that is by the l sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And hee shall say, None. Then shall he say, m Hold thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses n runne upon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee have turned iudgement into gall, and the fruit of righteousnesse into o wormewood.

13 Yet reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Have not wee gotten us p hornes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hoasts: and they shall afflict you from the entring in of q Hamath unto the river of the wilderness.

a To devoure the land: and he alludeth to the invading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was given: or as some reade, when the kings sheepe were shorne.

c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubburnesse of this people.

e Signifying that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would deferre his iudgement no longer.

f That is, when Amos had prophecied that the king should be destroyed: for the wicked Priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for love toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, whereas none other could take place.

g When this instruments of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the king, he assayed by another practise, that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not remoove their idolatry there openly, and so hinder his profit.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocatoin, that God had given him a charge, which he must needs execute.

i Thus God used to approove the authority of his Prophets, by his plagues and iudgements against them which were malicious enemies, Iere. 28, 12. and 29, 22, 25.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 12 The false accusation of Amaziah, 14 His crafsie counsell.

THus hath the Lord God shewed unto mee, and behold, hee formed a grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter grouth: and loe, it was in the latter grouth b after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I said, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise up Iaakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed unto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, d and it devoured the great deepe, and did eat up a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise up Iaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe hee shewed mee, and behold, the Lord stood upon a wall made by line e with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said unto mee, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the high place of Isaak shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ f Then Amaziah the priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captive out of their owne land.

12 Also g Amaziah said unto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eat thy bread, and prophecie there.

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappell, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no h Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said unto me, Goe prophecie unto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Isaak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, i Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be devised by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captivitie forth of his land.

a Which signified the ripenesse of their sins, and the readines of Gods iudgements.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies

1 That idole which you esteemed as your king, and caried about as you did Chiun in which images you thought that there was a certaine divinity.

2 The Prophet threateth the wealthie, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing availe them that were there borne, why should you looke that they should save you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?

c If God have destroyed these excellent cities in three diverse kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse then yours ye are, think ye you to be better, or to escape?

d Ye that continue still in your wickednes, and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but give your selves to all idlenesse, wantonnesse and riot.

e As he caused divers kindes of instruments to be made to serve Gods glory, so these did contend to invent as many to serve their wanton affections and lustes.

f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slaine and caried away captive.

g Some reade, the ioy of them that stretch themselves, shall depart.

h Reade Ierem. 51, 14. i That is, the riches and pompe. k The destruction shall be so great, that none shall almost be left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carie out the burnt ashes with more ease.

l That is, to some neighbour that dwelleth round about. m They shalbe so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumbe when they heare Gods name, and abhorre it, so they that are separate, or reprobate. n Hee compareth them to barren rockes, whereupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefits can have no place among them. o Reade Chap. 5, 7. p That is, power and glory.

q From one corner of the countrey to another.

at this day he goeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lord God shewed unto mee, and behold, a basket of sommer fruit.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of a sommer fruit. Then said the Lord unto mee, The end is come upon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

bodies ſhall be in every place: they ſhall caſt them forth with b ſilence.

4 Heare this, O yee that c ſwallow up the poore, that yee may make the needy of the land to faile.

5 Saying, When will the b new moneth be gone, that we may ſell corne? and the Sabbath, that wee may ſet foorth wheate, and make e the Ephah ſmall and the ſhekell great, and falſifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for ſilver, and the needie for ſhooes: yea, and ſell the refuſe of the wheate.

7 The Lord hath ſworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely, d I will never forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it ſhall riſe up wholly as a flood, and it ſhall be caſt out, and f drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, ſaith the Lord God, I will even cauſe the g Sunne to goe downe at noone: I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feaſtes into mourning: and all your ſongs into lamentation: and I will bring ſackecloath upon all loynes, and baldneſſe vpon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely ſonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord God, that I will ſend a famine in the Land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they ſhall wander from ſea to ſea, and from the North even unto the Eaſt ſhall they runne to and fro to ſeeke the h word of the Lord, and ſhall not finde it.

13 In that day ſhall the faire virgins and the yong men periſh for thirſt.

14 They that ſweare by the ſinne i of Samaria, and that ſay, Thy God, O Dan, liveth, and k the maner of Beerſheba liveth, even they ſhall fall, and never riſe up againe.

b There ſhall be none left to mourne for them.
c By ſtaying the ſale of food, and neceſſarie things which you have gotten into your owne hands, and ſo cauſe the poore to ſpend quickely that little that they have, and at length for neceſſitie to become your ſlaves.
d When the dearth was once come they were ſo greedy of gain, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance unto them.
e That is, the meaſure ſmall, and the price great.
f That is, the inhabitants of the land ſhallbe drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it overfloweth.
g In the middes of their proſperitie, I will ſend great affliction.
h Whereby he ſheweth that they ſhall not onely periſh in body, but alſo in ſoule for lacke of Gods word, which is the food thereof.
i For the idolaters did uſe to ſweare by their idoles: which here be calleth their ſinne, as the Papiſts yet doe by theirs.
k That is, the common maner of worſhipping, and the ſervice or religion there uſed.

CHAP. IX.

Threatnings againſt the Temple. 2 And againſt Iſrael.
11 The reſtoring of the Church.

I Saw the Lord ſtanding upon the a Altar, and he ſaid, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the poſts may ſhake: and cut them in pieces, even the b heads of them all, and I will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: hee that fleeth of them, ſhall not flee away: and he that eſcapeth of them, ſhall not be delivered.

2 Though they digh into the hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them: though they climbe up to heaven, thence will I bring them downe.

a Which was at Ieruſalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Iſrael.
b Both the chiefe of them and alſo the common people.

3 And though they hide themſelves in the top of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my ſight in the bottome of the ſea, thence will I command the c ſerpent, and he ſhall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captivitie before their enemies, thence will I command the ſword, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes upon them for evill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hoaſts ſhall touch the land, and it ſhall melt away, and all that dwell therein ſhall mourne, and it ſhall riſe up wholly like a flood, and ſhall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his d ſpheres in the heaven, and hath laid the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out upon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians e unto me, O children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? have not I brought up Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiſtims from f Chaptor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are upon the ſinfull kingdome, and I will deſtroy it cleane out of the earth. Nevertheleſſe I will not utterly g deſtroy the houſe of Iaakob, ſaith the Lord.

9 For loe, I will command and I will ſift the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as corne is ſifted in a ſieve: yet ſhall not the h leaſt ſtone fall upon the earth.

10 But all the ſinners of my people ſhall die by the ſword, which ſay, The evill ſhall not come, nor haſten for us.

11 In that day will I raiſe up the i Tabernacle of Daniel, that is fallen downe, and cloſe up the breaches thereof, and will raiſe up his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of old,

12 That they may poſſeſſe the remnant of k Edom, and of all the heathen, becauſe my Name is called upon them, ſaith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that the plowman ſhall l touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that ſoweth ſeed: and the mountaines ſhall m drop ſweet wine, and all the hils ſhall melt.

14 n And I will bring againe the captivitie of my people of Iſrael: and they ſhall builde the waſte cities, and inhabite them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and drinke the wine thereof: they ſhall alſo make gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

14 And I will plant them upon their land, and they ſhall no more be pulled up againe out of their land which I have given them, ſaith the Lord thy God.

c He ſheweth that God will declare himſelfe enemie unto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures ſhall be enemies to deſtroy them.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Idumeans, vvhich came of Eſau, vvere mortall enemies alvvayes to the Iſraelites, vvhich came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually vvith ſundry kindes of crueltie, but alſo ſtirred up others to fight againſt them. Therefore vvhen they vvere nevv in their greateſt proſperitie, and did moſt triumph againſt Iſrael, vvhich vvas in great affliction and miſerie, God raiſed up his Prophet to comfort the Iſraelites, for as much as God had nevv determined to deſtroy their adverſaries, vvhich did ſo ſore vexe them, and to ſend them ſuch as ſhould deliver them, and ſet up the kingdome of Meſſiah, vvhich he had promiſed.

THe visiõ of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, a We have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and b let us rise up against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art utterly despised.

3 The c pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwellest in the clifts of the rocks, whose habitation is high, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 d Came theeves to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not have stollen till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leave some grapes?

6 How are the things of Esau sought up, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie e have driven thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee: they that eate thy f bread, have laid a wound under thee: there is none understanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, even destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because every one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy cruelty against thy g brother Iaakob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 When thou stoodest h on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots upon Ierusalem, even thou was as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not have beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made i a stranger, neither shouldest thou have reioyced over the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not have spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not have entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou have once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor have laid hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou have stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou have shut up the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day k of the Lord is neere, upon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne upon thine head.

16 For as yee have l drunke upon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow up, and they shall be m as though they had not bene.

17 But upon mount Zion shallbe deliverance, and it shallbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions.

18 And the house of Iaakob shall be n a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and devoure them: and there shallbe no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the o mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin shall have Gilead.

20 And the captivitie of this hoast of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shall possesse unto Zarephath, and the captivitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they q that shall save, shall come up to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

a God hath certainely revealed so his prophets, that he will raise up the heathen to destroy the Idomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Iere. 49. 14.

b Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

c Which despiseth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet art but an handfull in comparison of others, and art shut up among the hils as separate from the rest of the world.

d God will so destroy them that he will leave none, though theeves when they come, take but till they have enough, and they that gather grapes, ever leave some behinde them, Ier. 49. 9.

e They in whom thou diddest trust for to have helpe and friendship of them, shall be thine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends and ghests have by secret practises destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharpely punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom he now comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nebuchadnezzar came against Ierusalem, thou joynedst with him, and hadst part of the spoile, and so diddest reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother were afflicted, whereas thou shouldst have pitied and holpen thy brother.

i When the Lord deprived them of their former dignitie, and gave them to be caried into captivitie.

k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shall be utterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will reserve my Church and restore it.

n God attributeth this power, to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged and have great possessions but this chiefly is accomplished under Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

p By the Canaanites, the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad Spaine.

q Meaning that God will raise up in his Church such as shall rule and governe for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies under Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here, the Lord and head of this kingdome.

IONAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Ionah had long prophecied in Israel and had little profited, God gave him expresse charge to go and denounce his iudgements against Nineveh, the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should convert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not converted unto the Lord, for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophecied under Ioah, and Ieroboam. 2. King. 14, 25.

CHAP. I.

1 Ionah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THe word of the Lord came a also unto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to b Nineveh, that c great citie, and cry against it: for their wickednesse is come up before me.

3 But Ionah rose up to d flee into Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to e Iapho: and he found a shippe going to Tarshish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them unto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophecied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1, 1.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might provoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineveh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as authours write, it conteined in circuit about eight and fortie mile, and had a thousand and five hundreth towers, and at this time there were an hundreth and twentie thousand children therein, Chap. 4, 11.

d Whereby he declared his weaknesse, that would not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gave place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that he should nothing at all profit there, seeing he had done small good among his owne people, Chap. 4, 2.

e Which was the heaven, and port to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would have assisted him.

the

the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed every man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe g into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast a sleepe.

6 So the Shipmaster came to him, and sayd unto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call upon thy h God, if so be that God will thinke upon us, that we perish not.

7 And they sayd every one to his fellow, Come, and let us cast i lots, that wee may know for whose cause this evill is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Ionah.

8 Then sayd they unto him, Tell us for whose cause this evill is upon us? What is thine occupation? and whence commest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heaven, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceeding afraid, and sayd unto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them)

11 Then sayd they unto him, What shall wee doe unto thee, that the sea may be calme unto us? (for the sea wrought, and was troublous)

12 And he sayd unto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is upon you.

13 Neverthelesse the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed unto the Lord, and sayd, k We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this mans life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke up Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men l feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered sacrifice unto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Ionah: and Ionah was in the m belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

g As one that would have cast off this care and sollicitude by seeking rest and quietnesse.
h As they had called on their idols, which declareth that idolaters have no stay nor certainty, but in their troubles seeke they cannot tell to whom.
i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremity and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them, for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.
k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee unto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.
l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and beganne to worship the true God by whom they saw themselves so wonderfully delivered: but this was done for feare, and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word.
m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his favour and support in this his charge which was enioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is delivered.

THen Ionah prayed unto the Lord his God a out of the fishes belly.

2 And sayd, I cryed in mine affliction unto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly b of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waves passed over me.

4 Then I sayd, I am c cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed mee about unto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for ever, yet hast thou brought up my d life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembred the Lord: and my prayer came unto thee into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite upon lying e vanities: forsake their owne f mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice unto thee with the voyce of thankesgiving, and will pay that that I have vowed: salvation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake unto the fish, and it cast out Ionah upon the dry land.

a Being now swallowed up of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith brast out unto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliver him.
b For he was now in the fishes belly as in a grave or place of darknesse.
c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gate the victory.
d Thou hast delivered mee from the belly of the fish and all these dangers, as it were rayling me from death to life.
e They that depend upon any thing save on God alone.
f They refuse their owne felicity, and that goodnesse which they should else receive of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineveh. 5 The repentance of the king of Nineveh.

ANd the word of the Lord came unto a Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go unto Nineveh that great citie, and preach unto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose, and went to Nineveh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineveh was a b great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes c iourney, and he cried and sayd, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineveh shalbe overthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineveh d beleeved God, and proclaymed a fast, and put on sackcloath, from the greatest of them, even to the least of them.

6 For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and hee arose from his throne, and he layd his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloath, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaymed and sayd thorow Nineveh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor e beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackecloath, and f cry mightily unto God: yea, let every man turne from his evill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their h works that they turned from their evill wayes: and i God repented of the evill that he had sayd that he would doe unto them, and he did it not.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiveth him againe, and sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmity.
b Reade Chap. 1, 2.
c He went forward one day in the city, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was converted.
d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them. e Not that the dumbe beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their exemple man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged over all creatures.
f He willed that the men should earnestly call unto God for mercy.
g Put partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conscience, hee doubted whether God would shew them mercie.
h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceede of faith, which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet.
i Reade Ierem. 18, 8.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeaseth a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed unto the Lord, and sayd, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I prevented it to flee unto b Tarshish: for I knew, that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to live.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which hee preached, should be blasphemed.
b Reade Chap. 1, 3.
c Thus he prayed of griefe fearing least Gods Name by this forgivenesse might be blasphemed, as though he sent his Prophets for th to denounce his iudgements in vaine.

4 Then

4 Then sayd the Lord, Doest thou well to be d angry?

5 So Ionah went out of the city, and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and sate under it in the shadow e till hee might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a f gourd, and made it to come up over Ionah, that it might be a shadow over his head, and deliver him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the ground, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a fervent East winde: and the sunne beat upon the head of Ionah, that he fainted and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to die then to live.

9 And God sayd unto Ionah, Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he sayd, I doe well to be g angry unto the death.

10 Then sayd the Lord, Thou hast had pity on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it grow, which came up in a night and perished in a night, 11 And should h not I spare Nineveh that great city, wherein are fixescore thousand persons, that i cannot discerne betweene their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattell?

d Wilt thou be iudge when I doe things for my glory, and when I doe not?

e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercy or not, and therefore after fortie dayes he departing out of the citie, looking what issue God would send.

f Which was a further meanes, to cover him from the heate of the sunne, as he remained in his boothe.

g This declareth the great inconveniences whereinto Gods servants doe fall when they give place to their owne affections, and doe not in all things willingly submit themselves to God.

h Thus God mercifully reprooveth him which would pitie himselfe, and this gourd, and yet would restraine God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people.

i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

MIcah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah served in the worke of the Lord concerning Iudah and Israel at the least thirtie yeeres: at what time Isaiah prophecied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednesse, but chiefly for their idolatry. And to this end hee noteth the wickednesse of the people, the crueltie of the princes and governours, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he setteth forth the comming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicity thereof. This prophet was not that Micah which resisted Ahab and all his false Prophets, as 1. Kng. 22, 8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Ierusalem because of the idolatry.

THE word of the Lord, that came unto Micah the a Morasthite in the dayes of Iothan, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Ierusalem.

2 Heare b all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnesse against you, even the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come c downe, and tread upon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt under him (so shall the valleys cleave) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednesse of Iaakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? and which are the high e places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof shall be broken, and all the f gifts thereof shall be burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne g to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without cloathes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemie is come unto the gate of my people, unto Ierusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at h Gath, neither weepe yee: for the house of i Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at k Saphir, goe together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come foorth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie shall l receive of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but evill came from the Lord unto the m gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beasts n of price: she o is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou give presents to Moresheth p Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an q heire unto thee, O inhabitant of Maresha, he shall come unto Adullam r the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee bald, and shave thee for thy delicate children: inlarge thy baldnes as the eagle, for they are gone into captivitie from thee.

a Borne in Maresha a citie of Iudah.

b Because of the malice, and obstinacie of the people, whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, hee summoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures, and God himselfe to witnes, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they have abused, shall be revenged.

c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holdes.

d Samaria, which should have bene an example to all Israel of true religion and iustice, was the puddle, and stewes of all idolatry and corruption, and boasted themselves of their father Iaakob.

e That is, the idolatrie and infection.

f Which they gathered by evill practises, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their service unto them.

g The gaine that came by their idoles shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

h Least the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction.

i Which was a citie neere to Ierusalem. Iosh. 15, 23. there called Ophrah, and signifieth dust therefore he willeth them to mourne and roule themselves in the dust, for their dustie citie.

k These were cities whereby the enemie should passe as he came to Iudah.

l Hee shall not depart before he hath overcome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.

m For Rabshakeh had shut up Ierusalem, that they could not send to succour them.

n To flee away: when he sent his captaines and armie against Ierusalem. o Thou first receivedst the idolatry of Ieroboam, and so diddest infect Ierusalem. p Thou shalt bribe the Philistims thy neighbours, but they shall deceive thee, as well as they of Ierusalem. q He prophecieth against his owne citie: and because it signified an heritage, he saith that God would send an heire to possesse it. r For so they thought themselves for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and daintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WOe unto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednesse upon their beds: a when the morning is light they practise it, because their hand † hath power.

a Assoone as they rise, they execute their wicked devises of the night, and according to their power hurt others.

2 And

2 And they covet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, even man and his heritage.

b Thus the Iewes lament and say that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are divided among the enemies.
c Ye shall have no more lands to divide as you had in times past, and as you used to measure them in the Iubile.
d Thus the people warne the prophets that they speake to them no more, for they cannot abide their threatnings.
e God sayth that they shall not prophecie, nor receive no more of their rebukes nor taunts.
f Ate these your workes according to his Law?
g Do not the godly finde my words comfortable?
h That is, aforetime.
i The poore can have no commoditie by them, but they spoile them, as though they were enemies.
k That is, their substance, and living, which is Gods blessings, and as it were part of his glory.
l Ierusalem shall not be your safegard: but the cause of your destruction.
m That is, shew himselfe to be a Prophet.
n Hee sheweth what prophets they delite in, that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, against this familie have I devised a plague, whereout ye shall not plucke your neckes, and yee shall not goe so proudly, for this time is evill.

4 In that day shall they take up a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, b We be utterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it unto mee? hee hath divided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt have none that shall cast a cord by lot in c the congregation of the Lord.

6 d They that prophecie, Prophecie ye not. e They shall not prophecie to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortened? f are these his workes? are not my workes good unto him g that walketh uprightly?

8 But he that was h yesterday my people, is risen up on the other side, as against an enemy: they spoyle the i beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The woman of my people have yee cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children have ye taken away k my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your l rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction.

11 If a man m walke in the spirit, and would lie falsly, saying, n I will prophecie unto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall even be the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather o thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, even as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the cities shall be full of brute of the men.

13 The p breaker up shall come up before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be q upon their heads.

o To destroy thee. p The enemie shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea. q To drive them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyranny of princes and false prophets.

A Nd I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know a iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and love the evill: they plucke off their skinnes from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skin from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then c shall they cry unto the Lord: but he will not heare them: hee will even hide his face from them at that time, because they have done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceived my people, and d bite them with their teeth, and cry, peace, but if a man put not into their mouths, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore e night shall be unto you for a vision, and darknesse shalbe unto you for a divination, and the Sunne shall go downe over the prophets, and the day shall be darke over them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the Soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all cover f their lippes, for they have none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full g of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare unto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and pervert all equity.

10 They build up Zion with h blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophecie for money: yet will they i leane upon the Lord and say, Is not the Lord among us? no evill can come upon us.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be k plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the high places of the forest.

d They devoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well, but if one restraine from their bellyes, then they invent all wayes to mischiefe.
e As you have loved to wilke in darknesse, and to prophecie lyes, so God shall reward you with grosse blindnesse and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, yee shall as blinde men grope as in the night.
f When God shall discover them to the world, they shalbe afraid to speake: for all shall know that they were but false prophets, and did belie the word of God.
g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God hath given him gifts, abilitie and knowledge, to discerne betweene good and evill, reproove the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them.
h They build them houses by briberie, which he calleth blood and iniquitie.
i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name, as a pretense to cloake their hypocrisie.
k Reade Ierem. 26, 18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

BUt in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it shalbe exalted above the b hilles, and people shall flow unto it,

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let us goe up to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iaakob, and hee will c teach us his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Law shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and d rebuke mighty nations afarre off, and they shall breake their swordes into mattockes, and their speares into e sithes, nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they f learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man under his vine, and under his figge-tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke g every one in the name of his god, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for ever and ever.

6 At the same day sayth the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I have afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halteth, h a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation, and the Lord shall reigne over them in a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed.

b Reade Isa. 2, 2.
c He sheweth that there is no true Church but where as the people are taught by Gods pure word.
d By his corrections and threatnings he will bring the people into subiection which are in the utmost corners of the world.
e They shall abstaine from all evill doing, and exercise themselves in godlinesse and in well doing to others.
f Reade Isa. 2, 4.
g Hee sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all the world should give themselves to their superstition and idolatrie.
h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and so almost destroyed, shall live againe, and grow into a great people, a. That thine which is iust and lawfull, both to governe my people aright, and also to discharge your owne conscience.

b. The Prophets condemneth the wicked governours not onely of covetousnesse, theft and murther but compareth them to wolves, lions and most cruell beasts.
c That is, when I shall visit their wickednesse: for though I heare the godly before they cry, Isa. 65. 24. yet I will not heare those though they cry, Isa. 1, 15. and Ezek. 8, 18. Iam. 2, 13. 1. Pet. 3, 11, 12.

Mount.

Mount Zion, from henceforth even for ever.

8 And thou, O i towre of the flocke, the ſtrong hold of the daughter Zion, unto thee ſhall it come, even k the firſt dominion, and kingdome ſhall come to the daughter Ieruſalem.

9 Now why doeſt thou cry out with lamentation? is l there no king in thee? is thy counſeller periſhed? for ſorow hath taken thee, as a woman in travaile.

10 Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in travaile: for now ſhalt thou go forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and ſhalt go into Babel, but there ſhalt thou be delivered: there the Lord ſhall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now alſo many nations are gathered againſt thee, ſaying, Zion ſhall be condemned, and our eye ſhall looke upon Zion.

12 But they m know not the thoughts of the Lord: they underſtand not his counſell, for he ſhall gather them as the ſheaves in the barne.

13 Ariſe and threſh, n O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooves braſſe, and thou ſhalt breake in pieces many people: and I will conſecrate their riches unto the Lord: and their ſubſtance unto the ruler of the whole world.

i Meaning, Ieruſalem, where the Lords flock was gathered.

k The flouriſhing ſtate of the Kingdome, as it was under David and Salomon, which thing was accompliſhed to the Church by the coming of Chriſt.

l In the meane ſeaſon he ſheweth that they ſhould endure great troubles and tentations when thy ſaw themſelves neither to have king nor counſell.

m He ſheweth that the faithfull ought not to meaſure Gods iudgements by the brags and threatnings of ỹ wicked, but thereby are admoniſhed to lift up their hearts to God to call for deliverance.

n God giveth his Church this victory, ſo oft as he overcommeth their enemies: but the accompliſhment thereof ſhall be at the laſt comming of Chriſt.

CHAP. V.

a The deſtruction of Ieruſalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

NOw aſſemble thy gariſons; O daughter a of gariſons: he hath laid ſiege againſt us: they ſhall ſmite the iudge of Iſrael with a rod upon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art b little to be among the thouſands of Iudah, yet out of thee ſhall he come forth unto me, that ſhalbe the ruler in Iſrael, whoſe c goings foorth have bene from the beginning, and from everlaſting.

3 Therefore will he give them up, untill the time that d ſhe which ſhalt beare, ſhall travaile: then the remnant of their brethren ſhall returne unto the children of Iſrael.

4 And he ſhall e ſtand, and feed in the ſtrength of the Lord, and in the maieſtie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they ſhall dwell ſtill: for now ſhall he be magnified unto the ends of the world.

5 And he f ſhalbe our peace when Aſſhur ſhall come into our land: when hee ſhall tread in our palaces, then ſhall we ariſe againſt him ſeven ſhepheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they ſhall deſtroy g Aſſhur with the ſword, and the land of Nimrod with their ſwords: thus ſhall he p deliver us from Aſſhur, when he commeth into our land, and when he ſhall tread within our borders.

7 And the i remnant of Iaakob ſhalbe among many people: as a dew from the Lord, and as the ſhowres upon the graſſe, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the ſonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob ſhalbe among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the Lion among the beaſts of the foreſt, and as the Lions whelpe among the flockes of ſheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver.

9 Thine hand ſhall be lift up upon thine adverſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall be cut off.

10 And it ſhall come to paſſe in that day, ſaith the Lord, that I will cut off thine k horſes out of the mids of thee, and I will deſtroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and overthrow all thy ſtrong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou ſhalt have no more ſoothſayers.

13 Thine idoles alſo will I cut off, and thine images out of the mids of thee: and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke up thy groves out of the mids of thee: ſo will I deſtroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation upon the heathen, l which they have not heard.

a He forewarneth them of the dangers that ſhall come before they enioy theſe comforts, ſhewing that foraſmuch as Ieruſalem was accuſtomed with her gariſons to trouble others, the Lord would now cauſe other gariſons to vexe her, and that her rulers ſhould be ſmitten on the face moſt contemptuouſly.

b For ſo the Iewes divided their countrey that for every thouſand there was a chiefe captaine: and becauſe Bethleem was not able to make a thouſand, he calleth it litle, but yet God will raiſe up his captaine and governour therein: and thus it is not the leaſt by reaſon of this benefite, as Matt. 2. 6.

c He ſheweth that the comming of Chriſt and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d He compareth the Iewes to women with childe, who for a time ſhould have great ſorowes, but at length they ſhould have a comfortable deliverance, Ioh. 16. 21.

e That is, Chriſts kingdome ſhalbe ſtable and everlaſting, and his people aſwell the Gentiles as the Iewes ſhall dwell in ſafety.

f This Meſſiah ſhall be a ſufficient ſafegarde for us, and though the enemie invade us for a time, yet ſhall God ſtirre up many which ſhall be able to deliver us.

g Theſe whom God ſhall raiſe up for the deliverance of his Church, ſhall deſtroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Aſſyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.

h By theſe governours will God deliver us when the enemie commeth into our land.

i This remnant or Church which God ſhall deliver ſhall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the graſſe of the field, and not on the hope of man.

k I will deſtroy all things wherein thou putteſt thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatry, and ſo will helpe thee.

l It ſhall be ſo terrible that the like hath not beene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the iudgement againſt Iſrael being unkinde. 6 What manner of ſacrifices doe pleaſe God.

HEarken yee now what the Lord ſayth, Ariſe thou, and contend before the a mountaines, and let the hils heare thy voyce.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarrell, and ye mighty foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell againſt his people, and he will pleade with Iſrael.

3 O my people, what have I done unto thee? or wherein have I grieved thee? teſtifie againſt mee.

4 Surely, I b brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſervants, and I have ſent before thee, Moſes, Aaron and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deviſed, and what Balaam the ſonne of Beor had anſwered him, from c Shittim unto Gilgal, that yee may know the d righteouſneſſe of the Lord.

6 Wherewith e ſhall I come before the Lord, and bow my ſelfe before the high God? ſhall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calves of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord be pleaſed with thouſands of rams, or with ten thouſand rivers of oyle? ſhall I give my f firſt borne for my tranſgreſſion, even the fruit of the body, for the ſinne of my ſoule?

8 Hee hath ſhewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: g ſurely to doe iuſtly, and to love mercy, and to humble thy ſelfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce crieth unto the h city, and the man of wiſedome ſhall ſee thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treaſures of wickedneſſe in the houſe of the wicked, and the ſcant meaſure, that is abominable?

a He taked the high mountaines and hard rockes to witneſſe againſt the obſtinacie of his people.

b I have not hurt thee, but beſtowed infinite benefits upon thee.

c That is, remember my benefits from the beginning how I delivered you from Balaams curſe, and alſo ſpared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promiſed.

d That is, the trueth of his promiſe and his manifold benefits toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocriſie aske how to pleaſe God and are content to offer ſacrifices, but will not change their lives.

f There is nothing ſo deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it unto God, if they thinke thereby to avoyde his anger: but they will never be brought to mortifie their owne affections, and to give themſelves willingly to ſerve God as he commanderh.

g The Prophet in few words calleth them to the obſervation of the ſecond Table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, ſaying that God hath preſcribed them to doe this.

h Meaning, that when God ſpeaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maieſtie, & conſider not the mortall man that bringeth ỹ threatning, but God that ſendeth it.

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men thereof i are full of cruelty, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and k thy casting downe shalbe in the middes of thee, and thou l shalt take hold, but shalt not deliver, and that which thou deliverest, will I give up to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sow, but not reape: Thou shalt tread the olives, but thou shalt not anoynt thee with oyle, and make sweet wine, but shall not drinke wine.

16 For the m statutes of Omry are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore yee shall beare the reproach of my people.

i That is, of Ierusalem.
k Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe and evils.
l Meaning, that the citie should goe about to save her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserve.
m You have received all the corruption and idolatry, wherewith the ten tribes were infected under Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the Kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisedome and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment: but as I have shewed you great favour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12.47.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of these times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

WOe is mee, for I am as the a Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule defired the first ripe fruits.

a The Prophet taketh upon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remayning: for all are given to crueltie and deceit; so that none spareth his owne brother.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lie in wait for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

b He sheweth what the prince, the iudge, and the rich man are linked together all to doe evill, and to cloake the doings one of another.

3 To make good for the evill of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrapt it up.

c That is, the rich man that is able to give money, abstaineth from no wickednesse nor iniurie.

4 The best of them is as e a briar, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall be their confusion.

d These men agree among themselves and conspire with one consent to doe evill.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne revileth the father: the daughter riseth up against her mother, the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

e They that are of most estimation and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

7 Therefore g I will looke unto the Lord: I will waite for God my Saviour: my God will heare me.

f Meaning of the Prophets and governours.

8 Reioyce not against mee, h O mine enemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darknesse, the Lord shalbe a light unto me.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate evils, is to flee unto God for succour.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I have sinned against him, untill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring mee foorth to the light, and i I shall see his righteousnesse.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall looke upon it, and shame shall cover her, which said unto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

i To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliverer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

11 This is k the day that thy walles shall be built: this day shall drive farre away l the decree.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

12 In this day also they shall come unto thee from m Assur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes even unto the river, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world unto her, so that neither holds, rivers, seas, nor mountaines shalbe able to let them.

13 Notwithstanding the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of n their inventions.

m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grievously the hypocrites themselves shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.

14 o Feed thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: led them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in old time.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull unto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitary places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall unto them as in times past.

15 According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew unto him marveilous things.

o God promiseth to be favourable to his people, as he had beene afore time.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p lay their hand upon their mouth: q their eares shall bee deafe.

p They shall be as dumme men and dare bragge no more.

17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent: they shall moove out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

q They shalbe astonished and afraid to heare men speake, least they should heare of their destruction.

18 Who is a God like unto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and s passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! Hee retaineth not his wrath for ever, because mercie pleaseth him.

r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare.

19 He will turne againe, and have compassion upon us: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all t their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.

20 Thou wilt performe thy u trueth to Iaakob, and mercy to Abraham, as thou hast sworne unto our fathers in old time.

t Meaning of his elect.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which he had made of old to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

NAHVM.

THE ARGUMENT.

AS they of Nineveh shewed themselves prompt and ready to receive the word of God, at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giving themselves to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun; they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and provoked Gods iust iudgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineveh was destroyed, and Merach-baladan king of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth up his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And it seemeth, he prophecied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliverance of Israel.

THE [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.

2 God is [d] ielous, and the Lord revengeth: the Lord revengeth: euen the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserveth vvrath for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the vvicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and hee drieth vp all the rivers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good [h] and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe ye [k] imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For he shall come as vnto [l] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dryed.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counseller.

12 Thus sayth the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graven, and the molten image: I will make it thy grave for thee, for thou art vile.

15 * Behold vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth [p] peace: O Iudah, keep thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes, for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Reade Iesa.13.1.
b The vision or revelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninevites.
c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.
d Meaning, of his glory.
e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger never aswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.
f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.
g If all creatures be at Gods commandement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, and thinke by any meanes to escape, when he prouoketh his God to anger?
h Least the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercie apperraine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them.
i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and never recover their strength againe.
k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that he should not need to returne the second time.
l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him.
m Which may be vnderstood either of Senaherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineveh.
n Though they thinke themselves in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, hee will destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an end of punishing them by the Assyrians.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THE [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe thy munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mightie men is made red, [d] the valiant men are in scarlet: the charets shall be as in the fire and flames in the day of his prepreration, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall returne to and fro in the high wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoot like the lightning.

5 [f] Hee shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the river shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shall be led away captive, and her maides shall lead her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineveh is [g] of old like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoyle ye the silver, spoyle the gold: for there is none end of the store and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] Shee is emptie and voide and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorow is in all loines, and the faces [k] of them all gather blackenesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lions, and the pasture of the lions whelpes? where the lion and the lyonesse waked, and the lions whelpe, and none made them afraid.

12 The lion did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and woried for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his dennes with spoyle.

13 Behold, I come vnto thee, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will burne her charets in the [m] smoke, and the sword shall deuoure the yong lions, and I will cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy [n] messengers shall no more be heard.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prospher dereideth the enterprises of the Assyrians which prepared to resist him.
b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom he scourged them, reade Isa. 10. 12.
c Signifying, that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.
d Both to feare the enemy, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them.
e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.
f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.
g The Assyrians will flatter themselves and say, that Nineveh is so ancient that it can never perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes cannot touch, but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them.

l Meaning, Nineveh, whose inhabitants were cruell like the Lions, and given to all oppression, and spared no violence of tyrannie to prouide for their wives and children.
m That is, as soone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.
n Signifying the heralds, which were accustomed to proclaime warre. Some reade, of thy gumme teeth wherewith Nineveh was woont to bruise the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the fall of Nineveh. 3 No power can escape the hand of God.

O Bloody citie, it is all full of lyes and robbery: [a] the pray departeth not.

2 The noyse of a whip, [b] and the noyse of the mooving of the wheeles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horseman lifteth up both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude are slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none end of their corpses, they stumble vpon their corpses.

4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her a It never ceaseth to spoyle and robbe.

b He sheweth how the Caldeans shall haste, and how couragious their horses shall be in beating the ground when they come against the Assyrians.
c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beauty and subtilie entiseth yong men, and bringeth them to destruction.

her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I come upon thee, saith the Lord of hoastes, and will discover thy skirts upon thy face, and will shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.

6 And I will cast filt upon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gazing stocke.

7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke upon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineveh is destroyed, who will have pity upon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was now destroyed.

8 Art thou better then d No, which was full of people? that lay in the rivers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none end: Put and Lubim were ‖ her helpers.

‖ Or, thist.

10 Yet was shee caried away, and went into captivitie: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streets: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.

11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke help because of the enemy.

12 All thy strong cities shalbe like fig-trees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shalbe opened unto thine enemies, and the fire shall devoure thy barres.

14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holds: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make strong bricke.

15 There shall the fire devoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee up like the e locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and multiplied like the grashopper.

e Signifying that Gods iudgements should suddenly destroy the Assyrians, as these vermine are with raine or change of weather.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy marchants above the starres of heaven: the locust spoileth and flyeth away.

17 Thy princes are as the grashoppers, and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the cold day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.

18 Thy f shepheards do sleepe, O king of Ashur: thy strong men lye downe: thy people is scattered upon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

f Thy princes and counsellers.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grievous: all that heare the bruite of thee, shall clappe the hands over thee: for upon g whom hath not thy malice passed continually?

g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

HABAKKVK.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth unto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none end. Therefore hee had this revelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captives, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles, as yet, because of their stubburnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And least the Godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and shewed them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselves.

CHAP. I.

a A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

THe burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not heare! even cry out unto thee a for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

a The Prophet complaineth unto God and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie and brotherly love: but in stead hereof reigneth cruelty, theft, contention and strife.

3 Why doest thou shew me iniquitie, and cause me to behold sorow? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise up strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is dissolved, and iudgement doth never go forth: for the wicked doeth b compasse about the righteous, therefore c wrong iudgement proceedeth.

b To suppresse him, if any should shew himselfe zealous of Gods cause.

c Because the iudges which should redresse this excesse, are as evill as the rest.

5 Behold among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and marveile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: d yee will not beleeve it, though it be told you.

d As in times past you would not beleeve Gods word, so shall ye not now beleeve the strange plagues which are at hand.

6 For loe, I raise up the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe upon the bredth of the land to possesse the dwelling places that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: e their iudgement, and their dignitie shall proceed of themselves.

e They themselves shall be your iudges in this cause, and none shall have authoritie over them to controll them.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolves in the * evening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate.

* Zeph.3.3.

9 They come all to spoyle: for their faces shalbe an f East winde, and they shall gather the captivitie g as the sand.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruits.

g They shalbe so many in number.

10 And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shalbe a scorne unto them: they shall deride every strong hold: for they shall gather h dust, and take it.

h They shall cast up mounts against it.

11 Then shall they i take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power unto their god.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victory, and become proud and insolent, attributing the prayse hereof to their idoles.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy One? we shall not k die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, and also that their sinner requireth such a sharpe rod.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see evill: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke upon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked devoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

l So that the great devoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

14 And makest men as the l fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that have no ruler over them?

15 They

15 They take up all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, wherof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice unto their [m] net, and burne incense unto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net, and not spare continually to slay [n] the nations?

CHAP. II.

2 A vision. 5 Against pride, covetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatry.

I Will stand upon my [a] watch, and set mee upon the towre, and will looke and see what he would say unto me, and what I shall answered to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and sayd, Write the vision, and make it plaine upon tables, that he may runne [b] that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] last it shall speake and not lie: though it tary, wait: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Beholde, [d] hee that lifteth up himselfe, his mind is not uptight in him, but the iust shall live by his faith.

5 Yea, indeede the proud man is as [e] hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall hee not endure, because hee hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathered unto him all nations, and heapeth unto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take up a parable against him, and a taunting proverbe against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his? [f] how long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall [g] they not rise up suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and unto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coveteth an evill covetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of evill.

10 Thou [h] hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the [i] stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe unto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a city by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the [k] Lord of hoastes, that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall even wearie themselves for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall [l] be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea.

15 Woe unto him that giveth his neighbour [m] drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their privities.

16 Thou art filled with shame [n] for glory: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned unto thee, and shamefull spuing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the [o] crueltie of Lebanon shall cover thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and unto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the [p] image? for the maker therefore hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe unto him that sayth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise up, it shall teach thee: [q] behold, it is layd over with gold and silver, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAP. III.

2 A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O Lord, I have heard thy voyce, and was afraide, O Lord, revive thy [c] worke in the mids of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God commeth from [d] Teman, and the holy One from mount Paran, Selah. His glory covereth the heavens, the earth is full of his prayse.

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: [e] he had hornes comming out of his hand, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolved the nations, and the everlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hillles did bow: his [f] ways are everlasting.

7 [g] For his iniquity I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the [h] rivers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride upon thine horses? thy charets brought salvation.

9 Thy [k] bowe was manifestly revealed, and the [l] oathes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou [m] diddest cleave the earth with rivers.

10 The mountaines saw thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water [n] passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift up his hand on high.

11 The [o] sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger,

---

[m] Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselves and glory in their owne force, power and wit.

[n] Meaning, that they should not.

[a] I will renounce mine owne iudgment, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shall answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

[b] Write it in great letters, that he that runneth may reade it.

[c] Which contained the destruction of the enemy, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hasty affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at this time appointed.

[d] To trust in himselfe, or in any worldly thing, is never to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay upon God by faith. Rom. 1,17. Gal. 3,11. Hebr. 10,38.

[e] He compareth the proud and covetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Chaldeans.

[f] Signifying, that all the world shall wish the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression and covetousnes, they heape but upon themselves more heavie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

[g] That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

[h] Signifying, that the covetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelty and oppression.

[i] The stones of the house shall cry, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe.

[k] Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire.

[l] In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare through all the world.

[m] Hee reprocheth thus the king of Babylon, who as he was drunken with covetousnesse and cruelty, so hee provoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.

[n] Whereas thou thoughtest to have glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drink of the same cup with others in thy turne.

[o] Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like crueltie shall be executed against them.

[p] Hee sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing availe them, for they were but blockes or stones, reade Iere. 10,8.

[q] If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

[a] The Prophet instructeth his people to pray unto God, not onely for their great sins, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

[b] Thus the people were afraid when they heard Gods threatnings, and prayed.

[c] That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish, before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be under Christ.

[d] Teman and Paran were neere Sinai, where the Law was given: whereby is signified that his deliverance was as present now as it was then.

[e] Whereby is meant a power that was ioyned with his brightnesse, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was revealed in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31. 16.

[f] Signifying, that God hath wonderfull meanes, and ever had a marveilous power when he would deliver his Church.

[g] The iniquity of the king of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 5,20. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselves, Iudg. 7,22.

[h] Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meanes he would destroy his enemies and deliver his Church.

[i] And so diddest use all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

[k] That is, thy power.

[l] For hee had not onely made a covenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posteritie.

[m] Read Num. 20. 11.

[n] He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gave passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience as it were by the lifting up their hands.

[p] According to thy commandement, the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward, and diddest threst the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation of thine q Anoynted: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the r necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest s strike thorow with his owne staues the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewind to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I t heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in u the day of trouble, for when he commeth vp x vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the fig-tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labour of the oliue shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meat: the sheep shallbe cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy y in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. z To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

q Signifying, that there is no saluation but by Christ.
r From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies
s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.
t He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements.
u He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.
x That is, the enemy, but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.
y He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.
z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musicke, shall haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand; shewing that their countrey should be vtterly desolate, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he prophecied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to find mercy by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatry.

THE word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Iosiah, the sonne of * Amon king of Iudah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the a foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shallbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the b Chemarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the houses tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by c Malcham.

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests.

8 And it shallbe in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visit the princes and the kings children, and all such as are cloathed with a strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visit all those that d dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shallbe a noise, and crie from the e fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of g the lowe place: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with h lights, and visit the men that are frozen i in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall be spoyled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: k the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscurity and darkenesse, a day of cloud and blackenesse, 16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shallbe powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their gold shallbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land shalbe deuoured by the fire of his iealousie: for he shall make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

He moueth to returne to God. 5 prophecying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites and others.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the ſeuentie yeeres captiuitie propheſied by Ieremiah, vvas expired, God raiſed vp Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi, to comfort the Ievves, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, vvhich vvas a figure of the ſpirituall Temple and Church of God, vvhoſe perfection and excellencie ſtood in Chriſt. And becauſe that all vvere giuen to their ovvne pleaſures and commodities, hee declareth that that plague of famine vvith God ſent then among them, vvas a iuſt revvard of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, vvho had deliuered them. Yet hee comforteth them, if they vvill returne to the Lord, vvith the promiſe of great felicitie, for aſmuch as the Lord vvill finiſh the vvorke that he hath begun, and ſend Chriſt vvhom hee had promiſed, and by vvhom they ſhould attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the Prophecie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the ſecond yeere of king a Darius, in the ſixt moneth, the firſt day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the miniſterie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto b Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the high Prieſt, ſaying,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoaſtes, ſaying, This people ſay, The time is not yet come c that the Lords houſe ſhould be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the miniſterie of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

4 Is it time for your ſelues to dwell in your d ſieled houſes, and this houſe lie waſte?

5 Now therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, Conſider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 e Ye haue ſowen much, and bring in little: ye eat, but ye haue not enough: ye drinke, but yee are not filled: ye cloathe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, Conſider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Go f vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this houſe, and g I will be fauourable in it, and I will h be glorified, ſaith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blow i vpon it. And why, ſaith the Lord of hoaſts? Becauſe of mine Houſe that is waſte, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne houſe.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you ſtayed it ſelfe from dew, and the earth ſtayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the high Prieſt, with all the remnant of the people, heard the k voyce of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had ſent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then ſpake Haggai the Lords meſſenger in the Lords meſſage vnto the people, ſaying, I am with you, ſaith the Lord.

14 And the Lord ſtirred vp l the ſpirit of Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel, a Prince of Iudah, and the ſpirit of Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Prieſt, and the ſpirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the Houſe of the Lord of hoaſtes their God.

a Who was the ſonne of Hiſtaſpis and the third king of the Perſians, as ſome think.

b Becauſe the building of the Temple began to ceaſe, by reaſon that the people were diſcouraged by their enemies: and if theſe two notable men had needed to be ſtirred vp and admoniſhed of their duties, what ſhall wee thinke of other gouernours, whoſe doings are either againſt God, or very cold in his cauſe?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie and priuate profit to religion, being content with ſmall beginnings.

d Shewing that they ſought not onely their neceſſities, but their very pleaſures before Gods honour.

e Conſider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and becauſe ye ſeeke not him firſt of all.

f Meaning, that they ſhould leaue off their owne commodities, and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the ſetting forth of his religion.

g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promiſe, 2 Chron. 7. 21. 29.

h That is, my glory ſhall be ſet forth by you.

i And ſo bring it to nothing.

k This declareth that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the miniſter, as Exod. 14. 31. Iudg. 7. 20. Act. 15. 28.

l Which declareth that men are vaapt and dull to ſerue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his meſſengers, before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new ſpirits, Iohn 6. 44.

CHAP. II.

He ſheweth that the glory of the ſecond Temple ſhall exceede the firſt.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the ſixt moneth, in the ſecond yeere of king Darius,

2 In the ſeuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the miniſtery of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the ſonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoſhua the ſonne of Iehozadak the hie Prieſt, and to the reſidue of the people, ſaying,

4 Who is left among you that ſawe this a Houſe in her firſt glory, and how doe you ſee it now? is it not in your eyes, in compariſon of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, ſaith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoſhua, ſonne of Iehozadak the high Prieſt: and be ſtrong, all ye people of the land, ſaith the Lord, and b doe it: for I am with you, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes.

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: ſo my Spirit ſhall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, c Yet a little while, and I will ſhake the heavens and the earth, and the ſea, and the dry land:

8 And I will moouе all nations, and d the deſire of all nations ſhall come, and I will fill this Houſe with glory, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes.

9 The e ſilver is mine, and the gold is mine, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes.

10 The glory of this laſt Houſe ſhall be greater then the firſt, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes: and in this place will I giue f peace, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes.

11 g In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the ſecond yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, Aske now the Prieſts concerning the Law, and ſay, 13 If one beare g holy fleſh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread or the pottage, or the wine, or oile, or any meat, ſhall it be holy? And the Prieſts anſwered and ſaid, No.

14 Then ſaid Haggai, If a pollured perſon touch any of theſe, ſhall it be vncleane? And the a For the people according as Iſa. 30. 11. and Eze. 41. 14. had propheſied, thought this Temple ſhould haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was deſtroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the ſpirituall Temple, the Church of Chriſt.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorteth them to patience though they ſee not as yet this Temple ſo glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this ſhould be accompliſhed in Chriſt, by whom all things ſhould be reuued.

d Meaning Chriſt, whom all ought to looke for and deſire: or by deſire he may ſignifie all precious things, as riches, and ſuch like.

e Therefore when his time commeth, he can make all the treaſures of the world to ſerue his purpoſe: but the glory of this ſecond Temple doth not ſtand in materiall things, which can be built.

f Meaning all ſpirituall bleſſings and felicitie purchaſed by Chriſt, Phil. 4. 7.

g That is, the fleſh of the ſacrifices whereby he ſignifieth that that thing which of it ſelfe is good: cannot make another thing ſo: and therefore they ought not to iuſtifie themſelues by their ſacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary he that is vncleane, and not pure of heart, doth corrupt thoſe things and make them deteſtable vnto God which elſe are good and godly.

Priests answered and said, It shall be vncleane.

13 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

14 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this [h] day and afore, euen afore a stone was layd vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

15 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten, when one came to the wine-presse, for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

16 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

17 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was layde: consider it in your minds.

18 Is the seede yet in the barne? as yet ✠ vine, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.

19 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

20 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [m] will shake the heauens and the earth.

21 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

22 In that day, saith the Lord of hoastes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealthiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a [o] signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hoastes.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.
i That is, before the building was begun.
k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

I He exhorteth them to patience, and to abide till the harueſt came, & then they should see Gods blessings.
m I will make a change, and renue all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.
n Hereby hee sheweth that there shall be no let or hinderance, when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.
o Signifying, that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophecie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore, hee putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefits of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne, by Christ. But because they remained still in their wickednesse, and coldnesse to set foorth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

a He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 Hee signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, [d] Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hoastes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hoastes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former * Prophets haue cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Turne yee now from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where [e] are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my words and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take hold of [f] your fathers? and [g] they returned, and saide, As the Lord of hoastes hath determined to doe vnto vs according to our owne wayes, and according to our works, so hath he dealt with vs.

a Who was the sonne of Histaspis.
b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2 Chron. 24. 20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitours as of Ioiada or Berechiah, and Iddo.
c Hee speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they should not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.
d Let your fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit, and mortified you: for else man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18. Iament. 5. 21. Isa. 21. 8. and 31. 6. and 45. 22. * Ierem. 3. 12. Ezec. 18. 30. Hose. 14. 2. Ioel 2. 12. e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2. Pet. 1. 15. f Seeing yee saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe ye not feare the threatnings conteined in the same, and declared by my Prophets? g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth [h] Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I [i] saw by night, and behold, [k] a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottome, and behind him were there i red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still and is at rest.

12 Then the [m] Angel of the Lord answered and said, O Lord of hoastes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with mee, with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the h Which conteineth part of Ianuary and part of February.

i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church: but as yet it should not appeare to mans eyes which is here meant by the night, by the bottome, and by the myrrhe trees which are blacke, and giue a darke shadow, yet bee compareth God to a King, who hath his posts and messengers abroad by whom he still worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.
k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsemen.
l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels by whom God sometime punisheth and sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his workes in diuers sorts.
m That is, Christ the mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled, when all the countreys about them were at rest.

Lord

Lord of hoastes, I am [p] ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale.

15 And am greatly angry against the careleſſe heathen: for I was angry but [o] a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ieruſalem with tender mercy; mine houſe ſhall be builded in it, ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, and a line [p] ſhallbe ſtretched vpon Ieruſalem.

17 Crie yet, and ſpeake, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, My cities ſhall yet [q] be broken with plenty: the Lord ſhall yet comfort Zion, and ſhall yet chuſe Ieruſalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and ſaw, and behold, [r] foure hornes.

19 And I ſaid vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be theſe? And he anſwered me, Theſe are the hornes which haue ſcattered Iudah, Iſrael and Ieruſalem.

20 And the Lord ſhewed me foure [s] carpenters.

21 Then ſaid I, What come theſe to doe? And he anſwered and ſaid, Theſe are the hornes, which haue ſcattered Iudah, ſo that a man duirſt not lift vp his head; but theſe are come to fray them, and to caſt out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to ſcatter it.

o Though for a time God deferre his help and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them ſtill moſt dearely, as a moſt mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.

o In deſtroying the reprobate, I ſhewed my ſelfe but a little angry toward my church: but the enemie would haue deſtroyed them alſo, and conſidered not the end of my chaſtiſements.

p To meaſure out the buildings.

q The abundance ſhalbe ſo great, that the places of ſtore ſhall not be able to containe theſe bleſſings that God will ſend, but ſhall euen breake for fulneſſe.

r Which ſignified all the enemies of the Church, Eaſt, Weſt, North, South.

s Theſe Carpenters or Smiths are Gods inſtruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake theſe hard and ſtrong hornes which ſhould ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is ſo ſtrong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The reſtoring of Ieruſalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe, and looked, and behold, a [a] man with a meaſuring line in his hand.

2 Then ſayd I, Whither goeſt thou? And he ſayd vnto mee, To meaſure Ieruſalem, that I may ſee what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and another Angel went out to meet him.

4 And ſayd vnto him, Runne, ſpeake to this [b] yong man, and ſay, [c] Ieruſalem ſhallbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, ſaith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of [d] fire round about, and will [e] be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth and flee from the land of the North, ſaith the Lord, for I haue ſcattered you into [f] foure [g] windes of the heauen, ſaith the Lord.

7 [h] Saue thy ſelfe, O Zion, that dwelleſt with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, After this i glory hath he ſent mee vnto the nations, which ſpoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the [k] apple of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand [l] vpon them: and [m] they ſhallbe a ſpoyle to thoſe that ſerued them, and yee ſhall know that the Lord of hoaſts hath [n] ſent me.

10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, ſaith the Lord.

11 And many nations ſhall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and ſhalbe my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, and thou ſhalt know that the Lord of hoaſts hath ſent mee vnto thee.

12 And the Lord ſhall inherit Iudah his portion in the holy land, and ſhall chuſe Ieruſalem againe.

13 Let all fleſh be ſtill before the Lord: for he is raiſed vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophecie of Chriſt and of his kingdome.

AND he ſhewed mee Iehoſhua the high Prieſt, [a] ſtanding before the Angel of the Lord, and [b] Satan ſtood at his right hand to reſiſt him.

2 And the [c] Lord ſaid vnto Satan, The Lord reproue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath choſen Ieruſalem, reproue thee. Is not this a [d] brain taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoſhua was cloathed with [e] filthie garments, and ſtood before the Angel.

4 And he anſwered and ſpake vnto thoſe that ſtood before him, ſaying, Take away the [e] filthy garments from him. And vnto him he ſaid, Behold, I haue [f] caused thine iniquity to depart from thee, & I will cloathe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I ſaid, Let them [g] ſet a faire diademe vpon his head. So they ſet a faire diademe vpon his head, and cloathed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord ſtood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord teſtified vnto Iehoſhua, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou ſhalt alſo [h] iudge mine houſe, and ſhalt alſo keepe my [i] courts, and I will giue thee place among [k] theſe that ſtand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoſhua the hie Prieſt, thou and thy fellowes that ſit before thee: for they [l] are monſtrous perſons: but behold, I will bring forth the [m] Branch my ſeruant.

9 For loe, the [n] ſtone that I haue laid before Iehoſhua: vpon one ſtone ſhall be ſeuen eyes: behold, I [o] will cut out the grauing thereof, ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, and I will take [p] away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, ſhall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the [q] vine, and vnder the figtree.

a This is the Angel who was Chriſt: for in reſpect of his office he is oftimes called an Angel, but in reſpect of his eternall eſſence, is God, and ſo called.

b Meaning, himſelfe Zecharish.

c Signifying the ſpirituall Ieruſalem and Church vnder Chriſt, which ſhould be extended by the Goſpel through all the world, and ſhould need no materiall walles, nor truſt in any worldly ſtrength, but ſhould be ſafely preſerued and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies and to deſtroy them if they approach neere.

e In me they ſhall haue their full felicitie and glory.

f He calleth to them, which partly for feare, and partly for their owne caſe, remained ſtill in captiuity, and ſo preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promiſed in his Church.

g As it was I that ſcattered you, ſo haue I power to reſtore you.

h By fleeing from Babylon, and comming to the Church.

i Seeing that God had begun to ſhew his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the ſame ſtill toward you, and therefore ſendeth me his Angel and his Chriſt to defend you from your enemies, that they ſhall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

k Yee are ſo deare vnto God, that he can no more ſuffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thruſt in the eye. Pſal. 17, 8.

l Vpon the heathen your enemies.

m They ſhall be your ſeruants, as you haue bene theirs.

a This muſt neceſſarily be vnderſtood of Chriſt, who being God equall with his Father, was ſent as he was Mediatour to dwell in his Church and to gouerne them.

a He prayed to Chriſt the Mediatour for the ſtate of the Church.

b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with fleſh and blood, but with Satan himſelfe and ſpirituall wickednes, Epheſ. 6, 12.

c That is, Chriſt ſpeaketh to God as the Mediatour of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here he ſheweth himſelfe to be the continuall preſeruer of his Church.

d Meaning, that Iehoſhua was wonderfully preſerued in the captiuity, and now Satan ſought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.

e In reſpect of the glorious garments and precious ſtones that the Prieſts did weare before the captiuity: and by this contemptible ſtate the Prophet ſignifieth, that theſe ſmall beginnings ſhould be made excellent when Chriſt ſhall make the full reſtitution of his Church.

f He ſheweth of what apparell he ſpeaketh, which is, when our filthy ſinnes are taken away, and wee are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the ſpirituall reſtitution.

g The Prophet prayeth, that beſides the raiment, the Prieſt might alſo haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Prieſthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Chriſt, who was both Prieſt and King: and here all ſuch are condemned, that can content themſelues with any meane reformation in religion, ſeeing the Prophet deſireth the perfection, and obtaineth it.

h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church, as they predeceſſors haue had.

i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and miniſtery of the Church.

k That is, the Angels, who repreſented the whole number of the faithfull: ſignifying that all the godly ſhould willingly receiue him.

l Becauſe they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, and eſteemed as monſters, Iſa. 8, 18.

m That is, Chriſt, who did ſo humble himſelfe, that not onely he became the ſeruant of God, but alſo the ſeruant of men: and therefore in him they ſhould haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Iſa. 11. 1. iere. 23, 5. and 33, 14. 15.

n He ſheweth that the miniſters cannot build, before God lay the firſt ſtone, which is Chriſt, who is full of eyes, both becauſe he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to ſeeke light at him. Chap. 4. 10.

o That is, I will make perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of GOD.

p Though I haue puniſhed this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and viſit their ſinnes no more.

q Ye ſhall then liue in peace and quietneſſe, that is, in the kingdome of Chriſt, Iſa. 2, 2. micah. 4, 4. haggai. 2, 10.

Priests answered and said, It shall be vncleane.

13 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this h day and afore, euen afore a stone was layd vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

i That is, before the building was begun.

17 i Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten, when one came to the winepresse, for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from k this day, and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was layde: consider it in your minds.

20 Is the l seede yet in the barne? as yet ṽ vine, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.

l He exhorteth them to patience, and to abide till the harueſt came, & then they should see Gods blessings.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I m will shake the heauens and the earth.

m I will make a change, and renue all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the n kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

n Hereby hee sheweth that there shall be no let or hinderance, when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hoastes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealthiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a o signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hoastes.

o Signifying, that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophecie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore, hee putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefits of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne, by Christ. But because they remained still in their wickednesse, and coldnesse to set foorth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschewe the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 Hee signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of a Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto b Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

a Who was the sonne of Histaspis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2 Chron. 24. 20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitours as of Iojada or Berechiah, and Iddo.

2 The Lord hath bene c sore displeased with your fathers.

c Hee speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they should not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, d Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hoastes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hoastes.

d Let your fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit, and mortified you: for else man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ierem. 31, 18. lament. 5, 21. Isa. 21, 8. and 31, 6. and 45, 22. * Ierem. 3. 12. Ezec. 18, 30. Hose. 14. 2. Ioel 2. 12.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former * Prophets haue cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Turne yee now from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord.

e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2. Pet. 1, 15.

5 Your fathers, where e are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer?

f Seeing yee saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe ye not feare the threatnings conteined in the same, and declared by my Prophets?

6 But did not my words and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take hold of f your fathers? and g they returned, and g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

saide, As the Lord of hoastes hath determined to doe vnto vs according to our owne wayes, and according to our works, so hath he dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth h Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

h Which conteineth part of Ianuary and part of February.

8 I i saw by night, and behold, k a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottome, and behind him were there i red horses speckled and white.

i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church: but as yet it should not appeare to mans eyes which is here meant by the night, by the bottome, and by the myrrhe trees which are blacke, and giue a darke shadow, yet hee compareth God to a King, who hath his posts and messengers abroad by whom he still worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still and is at rest.

12 Then the l Angel of the Lord answered and said, O Lord of hoastes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsemen.

l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels by whom God sometime punisheth and sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his workes in diuers sorts.

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with mee, with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that commuued with me, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the m That is, Christ the mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled, when all the countreys about them were at rest.

Lord

Lord of hoastes, I am o ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale.

15 And am greatly angry against the careleſſe heathen: for I was angry but o a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy; mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hoasts, and a line p shallbe stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, My cities shall yet q be broken with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuſe Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and saw, and behold, foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be theſe? And he answered me, Theſe are the hornes which haue ſcattered Iudah, Iſrael and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord ſhewed me foure r carpenters.

21 Then ſaid I, What come theſe to doe? And he answered and ſaid, Theſe are the hornes, which haue ſcattered Iudah, ſo that a man durſt not lift vp his head; but theſe are come to fray them, and to caſt out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to ſcatter it.

o Though for a time God deferre his help and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them ſtill moſt dearely, as a moſt mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.

o In deſtroying the reprobate, I ſhewed my ſelfe but a little angry toward my church, but the enemie would haue deſtroyed them alſo, and conſidered not the end of my chaſtiſements.

p To meaſure out the buildings.

q The abundance ſhalbe ſo great, that the places of ſtore ſhall not be able to containe theſe blessings that God will ſend, but ſhall euen breake for fulneſſe.

r Which ſignified all the enemies of the Church, Eaſt, Weſt, North, South.

CHAP. II.

The reſtoring of Ieruſalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe, and looked, and behold, a a man with a meaſuring line in his hand.

2 Then ſayd I, Whither goeſt thou? And he ſayd vnto mee, To meaſure Ieruſalem, that I may ſee what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and another Angel went out to meet him.

4 And ſayd vnto him, Runne, ſpeake to this b yong man, and ſay, c Ieruſalem ſhallbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, ſaith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of d fire round about, and will e be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come f forth and flee from the land of the North, ſaith the Lord, for I haue ſcattered you into ſ foure g windes of the heauen, ſaith the Lord.

7 h Saue thy ſelfe, O Zion, that dwelleſt with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, After this i glory hath he ſent mee vnto the nations, which ſpoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the k apple of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand l vpon them: and m they ſhallbe a ſpoyle to thoſe that ſerued them, and yee ſhall know that the Lord of hoaſts hath n ſent me.

10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, ſaith the Lord.

11 And many nations ſhall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and ſhalbe my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, and thou ſhalt know that the Lord of hoaſts hath ſent mee vnto thee.

12 And the Lord ſhall inherit Iudah his portion in the holy land, and ſhall chuſe Ieruſalem againe.

13 Let all fleſh be ſtill before the Lord: for he is raiſed vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophecie of Chriſt and of his kingdome.

A Nd he ſhewed mee Iehoſhua the high Prieſt, a ſtanding before the Angel of the Lord, and b Satan ſtood at his right hand to reſiſt him.

2 And the c Lord ſaid vnto Satan, The Lord reprooue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath choſen Ieruſalem, reprooue thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoſhua was cloathed with e filthie garments, and ſtood before the Angel.

4 And he anſwered and ſpake vnto thoſe that ſtood before him, ſaying, Take away the e filthy garments from him. And vnto him he ſaid, Behold, I haue f caused thine iniquity to depart from thee, & I will cloathe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I ſaid, Let them g ſet a faire diademe vpon his head. So they ſet a faire diademe vpon his head, and cloathed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord ſtood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord teſtified vnto Iehoſhua, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou ſhalt alſo h iudge mine houſe, and ſhalt alſo keepe my i courts, and I will giue thee place among k theſe that ſtand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoſhua the hie Prieſt, thou and thy fellowes that ſit before thee: for they l are monſtrous perſons: but behold, I will bring forth the m Branch my ſeruant.

9 For loe, the n ſtone that I haue laid before Iehoſhua: vpon one ſtone ſhall be ſeuen eyes: behold, I o will cut out the grauing thereof, ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, and I will take p away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, ſhall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figtree.

a This is the Angel who was Chriſt: for in reſpect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in reſpect of his eternall eſſence, is God, and ſo called.

b Meaning, himſelfe Zecharish.

c Signifying the ſpirituall Ieruſalem and Church vnder Chriſt, which ſhould be extended by the Goſpel through all the world, and ſhould need no materiall waller, nor truſt in any worldly ſtrength, but ſhould be ſafely preſerued and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

g As is was I that ſcattered you, ſo haue I power to reſtore you.

h By fleeing from Babylon, and comming to the Church.

i Seeing that God had begun to ſhew his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the ſame ſtill toward you, and therefore ſendeth me his Angel and his Chriſt to defend you from your enemies, that they ſhall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

k Yee are ſo deare vnto God, that he can no more ſuffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thruſt in the eye. Pſal. 17.8.

CHAP. IV.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

AND the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

2 And said vnto mee, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a a candlestick all of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen b pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof,

3 And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto c Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by d an army nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts.

7 Who art thou, O e great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and f he shall bring foorth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and g thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the h small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of i tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: k these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two oliue branches, which thorow the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the gold?

13 And he answered mee, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two l oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

a Which was euer in the mids of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.
b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces and to bring his promise to passe though he had no helpe of man.
c Who was a figure of Christ and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.
d He sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though he vse not mans helpe thereunto.
e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies dayly labour to let in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine.
f Though the enemies thinke so stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple. g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building and preseruation of my spirituall Temple. h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple. i Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.
k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about to bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke. Chap. 5. 9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of grace.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theeues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THEN I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying a booke: the length thereof is twentie cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

3 Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that b stealeth, shall be cut off, as well on this c side, as on that: and euery one that e sweareth, shall be cut off, as well on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I sayd, What is it? And hee sayd, This is an e Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee sayd moreouer, This is the f sight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a g talent of lead: and this is a h woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is i wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then I lift mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two k women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And he sayd vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar: and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, hee sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.
b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour.
c Meaning, wheresoeuer he be in the world.
d He that transgresseth the first table, and seeketh not God aright but abuseth Gods Name.
e Which was a measure in drie things, conteining about ten pottels.
f That is, all the wickednes of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which hee keepeth in a measure, and can shut it or open it at his pleasure.
g To couer the measure.
h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse. i Signifying, that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as hee had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquity in a measure as in a prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgement by the meanes of the weake and infirme meanes. l To remooue the iniquity and affliction that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure Monarchies.

AGAINE I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure a charets out from betweene b two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse,

2 In the first charet were c red horses, and in the second charet d blacke horses,

3 And in the third charet e whit horses, and in the fourth chatet, horses of f diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and sayde vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto mee, These are the foure g spirits of the heauen, which goe foorth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into a By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute & declare his will.

b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the externall counsell, and prouidence of God whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.
c Which signified the great crueltie and persecution that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies. d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented their state vnder the Persians, which restored them to libertie. f Which signified, that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Ninene, and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare through all the world, the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went foorth toward the [h] South countrey.

7 And the [i] reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe thorow the world, and he said, Go, passe thorow the world. So they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward the North countrey, haue pacified my [k] spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house of [l] Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the [m] head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hoasts, and saith, Behold, the man whose name is the [n] Branch, and he shall growe [o] vp out of his place, and he shall [p] build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the [q] glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shallbe betweene [r] them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to [s] Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, and to [t] Hen the son of Zephaniah, for a [u] memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are [x] farre off, shall come and builde in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hoastes hath sent mee vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will [y] obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

[h] That is, toward Egypt, and other countreys these about.
[i] That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict, till God giue it him. Iob 1. 12.
[k] By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased, and you were deliuered.
[l] To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authority among the Iewes, and doubted of the restitution of the kingdome, and of the Priesthood, and hurt others by their example.
[m] Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.
[n] Meaning Christ, of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greek they were both called Iesus.
[o] That is, of himselfe without the helpe of man.
[p] Which declareth, that none could build this Temple whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall. Haggai 2. 10.
[q] Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow. [r] The two offices of the kingdome, and Priesthood shall be so ioyned together, that they shall be no more disseuered.
[s] Who was also called Heldai. [t] He was also called Iosiah. [u] That they may knowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue beene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelity these two crownes shall remaine as tokens. Acts 1, 16. [x] That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel, shall helpe toward the building of the spirituall Temple. [y] If yee will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

A Nd in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in [a] Chisleu,

2 For [b] they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hoastes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I [c] weepe in the fift moneth, and [d] separate my selfe as I haue done these so many [e] yeeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hoastes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the [f] Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift & seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? [g] doe I approue it?

6 And when yee did eate, and when yee did drinke, did ye not eat [h] for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should yee not heare the wordes which the Lord [i] hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hoastes, saying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and shew mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Law and the words which the Lord of hoasts sent in his [m] Spirit by the ministerie of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hoasts.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hoasts.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate [n] after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land [o] waste.

[a] Which conteined part of November and part of December.
[b] That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feasts were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Iere. 41, 2.
[c] By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting.
[d] That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to his fast.
[e] Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.
[f] For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reason of it, as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.
[g] For they thought they had deserued toward God because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued.
[h] Did ye not eate and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie, and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Law.
[i] Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.
[k] He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth. 23, 23.
[l] And would not carie the Lords burthen, which was sweete and ease, but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehe. 9, 29.
[m] Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them.
[n] That is, after they were called captiue.
[o] By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

a Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

A Gaine the word of the Lord of hoastes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, I was [a] iealous for Zion with great iealousie, and I was iealous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a [b] citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hoastes, the holy Mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, There shall yet old [c] men and old women dwell in the streets of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Though it be [d] vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hoastes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

[a] I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should doe her any iniury.
[b] Because she shall be faithfull and loyall toward me her husband.
[c] Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance.
[d] He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gen. 18, 14. Rom. 4, 20.

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shallbe sure and stable.
f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which encourage you thereevnto.
g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 18. 20.
i Which declareth that man can not turne to God till he change mans heart by his spirit, and so begin to do well, which is to pardon his sinnes and to giue him his graces.
k Which fast was appointed when the city was besieged, and was the first fast of these foure: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heauines: for God will send them ioy and gladnesse.
l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ.
* Isa. 2, 2. mich. 4, 1.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall e dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shallbe my people, & I will be their God in trueth, & in righteousnes.
9 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Let your f hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hoastes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.
10 For before these dayes there was no hire for g man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.
11 But now, I will not entreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hoastes.
12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe; and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.
13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shallbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.
14 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes, As I thought to punish h you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hoastes, and repented not,
15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes i to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.
16 These are the things that ye shall do, Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely, and vprightly in your gates.
17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oathe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.
18 And the word of the Lord of hoastes came vnto me, saying,
19 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the k tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous high feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace.
20 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, That there shall yet come l people, and the inhabitants of great cities.
21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, * Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hoasts: I will goe also.
22 Yea great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hoastes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.
23 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Iew, and say; We will goe with you: for we haue heard that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatnings of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burthen of the worde of the Lord in the land of a Hadrach: and Damascus shallbe his b rest: when the c eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shallbe toward the Lord.
2 And Hamath also shall border d thereby:

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.
b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.
c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.
d That is, by Damascus: meaning, that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be e very wise.
3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the mire of the streets.
4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her f power in the sea, and shee shall be deuoured with fire.
5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed; and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.
6 And the g stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.
7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his h teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shallbe for our God, and he shallbe as a prince in Iudah, but i Ekron shallbe as a Iebusite.
8 And I will campe about k mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now I haue I seene with mine eyes.
9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion, shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy king commeth vnto thee: m he is iust, and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an n asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.
10 And I will cut off the o charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shallbe from p sea vnto sea, and from the q Riuer to the end of the land.
11 r Thou also shallbe saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy s prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.
12 Turne you to the t strong hold, ye u prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the x double vnto thee.
13 For Iudah haue I bent as a y bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.
14 And the Lord shallbe seene ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come foorth with the whirlewinds of the South.
15 The Lord of hoastes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, z and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noise as through wine, and they shallbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the Altar.
16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they

e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloaked with this name of wisedome.
f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuinsible by reason of the sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.
g Meaning, that all should be destroyed, saue a very few, that should remaine as strangers.
h He promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their cruelties and wrongs done to them.
i As the Iebusites had bin destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.
k He sheweth that Gods power onely shallbe sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries be they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.
l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue bene afflicted by their enemies.
m That is, he hath righteousnesse and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.
n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eies of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Matt. 21, 5.
o No power of man or creature shallbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word. p That is, from the red sea, to the sea, called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world. q That is, from Euphrates. r Meaning Ierusalem, or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church: and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy land where the city and the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefits and prosperity, in respect of that which your fathers enioyned from Dauids time to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee here meaneth by the Grecians. z He promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies, and haue abundance and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to mooue them to intemperancie, but to sobriety, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

a The faithfull shallbe preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great when hee met Iaddus the high Priest.

shallbe as the a stones of his crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! corne shall make the young men cheerefull, and new wine the maydes.

CHAP. X.

1 The vanitie of Idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoid this plague, he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.
b Hecalleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles and sorcerers who euer deceiued them.
c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.
d Meaning, the cruell gouernours which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34, 16, 17.
e He will be merciful to his Church and cherish them as a king or prince doth his best horse which shallbe for his owne vse in the warre.
f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceede, who shall be as a corner to vphold the building, and as a nayle to fasten it together.
g Ouer their enemies.
h That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.
i Whereby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when he will deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse hee can call them from all places suddenly. k Though they shall yet be scattered and seeme to be lost, yet it shallbe profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached.
l Not that they should returne into their country, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel. m Hee alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

ASke you of the a Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely the b idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore c they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visite the d goates; but the Lord of hoasts will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as e his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out f of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the nayle, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery g appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shallbe as the mighty men, which tread downe their enemies in the myre of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shallbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the h house of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pity them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant: and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will i hisse for them: and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will k sow them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreyes: and they shall liue with their children and l turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he m shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depths of the riuer shall drie vp: and the pride of Asshur shallbe cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple, 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

OPen thy doores, O a Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, b firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: howle ye, Ookes of Bashan, for the c defenced forrest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their d glory is destroyed, the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus sayeth the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the e slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them f and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, g Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but loe, h I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his i king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 m Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed n them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then sayd I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the o poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Cast it vnto the q potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe: euen the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Take to thee yet r the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that s standeth vp, but he shall eate flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shallbe vpon his t arme, and vpon his a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountaine, that no enemy could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receiue them.

b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.
c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.
d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Israel should perish.
e Which being now destinate to be slaine, where deliuered as out of the lyons mouth.
f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doo euill.
g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessings, which commeth of the spoyle of their brethren.
h I will cause one to destroy another.
i Their gouernors shall execute crueltie ouer them.
k That is, the small remnant, whom he bought worthie to shew mercie vnto.
l God sheweth his great benefits toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bands, Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed. m Whereby hee sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue. n Meaning, the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefits of God. o He sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements. p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of nought. q Shewing that it was too litle to pay his wages, which could scarse suffice to make a few tyles for to couer the Temple. r Signifying that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment and outward shew of gouernement: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolues, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards. s And is in health and sound. t By the armes he signifieth strength, as he doeth wisedome and iudgements by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

right eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shalbe vtterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lord vpon a Israel, sayth the Lord, which spred the heauens, and layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a[b] cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will hee be in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, sayth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The [c] inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hoastes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserue the [d] tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shalbe as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shalbe as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, the Spirit of [e] grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon mee, whom they haue [f] pierced, and they shall lament for [g] him as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the [h] mourning of [i] Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the [k] land shall bewaile euery familie apart, the family of the [m] house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of [n] Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that [o] remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in deliuering their brethren, and had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home when God called them.
b Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies: so shall God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.
c Euery captaine, that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.
d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their kings (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.
e They shall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compassion on them.
f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, and grieued my Spirit, Ioh. 19. 37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.
g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grieuously offended by their ingratitude.
h They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God. i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2. Chron. 35, 22. k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefes, shall lament. m Vnder these certaine families hee containeth all the tribes; and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priestes had by their sinnes pierced Christ. n Called also Simeon. o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatry.
3 The exile of the godly against false prophets.

IN that day there a shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 And in that day, sayth the Lord of hoasts, I will cut off the [b] names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembred: and I will cause the [c] prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet [d] prophecie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lyes in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, [e] shall thrust him through, when he prophecieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets [f] be ashamed euery one of his vision, when hee hath prophecied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shall say, I am no [g] Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an heardman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these [h] wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 ¶ Arise, O sword, vpon my [i] shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, sayth the Lord of hoastes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, sayth the Lord, [k] two parts therein shalbe cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trie them as gold is tried: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

a He sheweth what shalbe the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remission of sinnes by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continuall running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleannesse.
b He promiseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shalbe pure.
c Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.
d That is, when they shall prophecie lyes, and make God, who is the author of truth, a cloake thereunto.
e Hee sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdome of Christ, Deute. 13. 6. 9.
f God shall make them ashamed of their errours and lyes, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy.
g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing. h Hereby hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealth more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer.
i The Prophet waroeth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible diffipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastours, Mat. 26, 31.
k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shalbe tried with great afflictions, so that it shallbe knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preserue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

BEhold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall be a diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall go into captiuity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut of from the citie.

3 Then the Lord shall goe foorth, and fight against those nations, as when he [b] fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feete shall stand in that day vpon the [c] mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the mids thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great [d] valley, and halfe a He armeth the godly against the great tentations that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might know that they were warned of them afore.

b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times.
c By this maner of speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how hee will as it were by miracle saue it. d So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

of the mountaine ſhall remoone toward the North, and halfe the mountaine toward the South.

5 And yee ſhall flee vnto the e valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines ſhall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye ſhall flee like as ye fled from the f earthquake, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah: and the Lord g my God ſhall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day ſhall there be no cleare light but darke.

7 And there ſhall be a day (it is knowen to the Lord) h neither day nor night, but about the euening time it ſhall be light.

8 And in that day ſhall there i waters of life go out from Ieruſalem, halfe of them toward the Eaſt ſea, and halfe of them toward the vttermoſt ſea, and ſhalbe, both in ſummer and winter.

9 And the Lord ſhall be King ouer all the earth: in that day ſhall there be one k Lord, and his Name ſhall be one.

10 All the land ſhall be turned l as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ieruſalem, and it ſhall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the firſt gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel vnto the kings winepreſſes.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhalbe no more deſtruction, but Ieruſalem ſhall be ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhalbe the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite all people, that haue fought againſt Ieruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtand vpon their feete, and their eyes ſhall conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhall conſume in their mouth.

13 But in that day m a great tumult of the Lord ſhalbe among them, and euery one ſhall take n the hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhall riſe vp againſt the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah ſhall fight alſo againſt Ieruſalem, and the arme of all the heathen ſhall be gathered round about, with o golde and ſiluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this ſhall be the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camell and of the aſſe, and of all the beaſts that be in theſe tents at this p plague.

16 But it ſhall come to paſſe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came againſt Ieruſalem, ſhall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worſhip the King the Lord of hoaſts, and to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

17 And who ſo will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ieruſalem to worſhip the King the Lord of hoaſtes, euen vpon them ſhall come no raine.

18 And if the family of q Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it ſhall not raine vpon them. This ſhall be the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of tabernacles.

19 This ſhalbe the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

20 In that day ſhall there be written vpon the r bridles of the horſes, The holineſſe vnto the Lord, and the ſ pots in the Lords houſe ſhall be like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ieruſalem and Iudah ſhall be holy vnto the Lord of hoaſtes, and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeeth therein: and in that day there ſhalbe no more the t Canaanite in the houſe of the Lord of hoaſtes.

e He ſpeaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods preſence, but ſhould flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines.
f Reade Amos 1. 1.
g Becauſe they did not credit the Prophets words, hee turneth to God and comforteth himſelfe in that that hee knew that theſe things ſhould come, and ſayth, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to perfomne this great thing.
h Signifying, that there ſhould be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is heere meant by the euening) God would ſent comfort.
i That is, the ſpirituall graces of God, which ſhould euer continue in moſt abundance.
k All idolatry and ſuperſtition ſhall be aboliſhed, and there ſhall be one God, one faith and one religion.
l This new Ieruſalem ſhalbe ſeene through all the world, and ſhall excell the firſt in excellencie, wealth and greatneſſe.

m God will not onely rayſe vp warre without, but ſedition at home to try them.
n To hurt and oppreſſe him.
o The enemies are rich, and therefore ſhall not come for a pray, but to deſtroy and ſhed blood.
p As the men ſhould be deſtroyed, verſe 12.

q By the Egyptians, which were greateſt enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the gentiles.
r Signifying, that to what ſervice they were put now (whether to labour, or to ſerve in warre) they were now holy, becauſe the Lord had ſanctified them.
ſ As precious the one as the other, becauſe they ſhall be ſanctified.
t But all ſhall be pure and cleane, and there ſhall neither be hypocriſie, nor any that ſhall corrupt the true ſervice of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet vvas one of the three, vvhich God raiſed vp for the comfort of the Church after the captiuitie, and after him there vvas no more vntill Iohn Baptiſt vvas ſent, vvhich vvas either a token of Gods vvrath, or an admonition that they ſhould vvith more feruent deſires looke for the comming of Meſſiah. Hee confirmeth the ſame doctrine, that the tvvo former doe, chiefly hee reproueth the Prieſts for their couetouſneſſe, and for that they ſerued God after their ovvne fantaſies, and not according to the preſcript of his vvord. He alſo noteth certaine peculiar ſinnes, vvhich vvere then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many vviues, murmurings againſt God, impatiencie, and ſuch like. Notvvithſtanding, for the comfort of the godly hee declareth that God vvould not forgeth his promiſe made vnto their fathers, but vvould ſend Chriſt his meſſenger, in vvhom the couenant ſhould be accompliſhed, vvhoſe comming ſhould be terrible to the vvicked, and bring all conſolation and ioy to the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint againſt Iſrael, and chiefly the Prieſts.

THe a burden of the worde of the Lord to Iſrael by the miniſtery of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, ſayth the Lord: yet yee ſay, b Wherein haſt thou loued vs? Was not Eſau Iaakobs brother, ſaith the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob.

3 And I c hated Eſau, and made his mountaine waſte, and his heritage a wilderneſſe for dragons.

4 Though Edom ſay, Wee are impoueriſhed, but we will returne and build the deſolate places: yet ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes, They ſhall build, but I will deſtroy it, and they ſhall call them, The border of wickednеſſe, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes ſhall ſee it, and ye ſhall ſay, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Iſrael.

6 A ſonne honoureth his father, and a ſeruant his maſter. If then I be a father, where is my honour? and if I be a maſter, where is my feare, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes vnto you, d O Prieſts that deſpiſe my Name? and ye ſay, e Wherein haue wee deſpiſed thy Name?

a Reade Iſa. 13. 1.
b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was ſo euident, in that he choſe Abraham from out of all the world, and next choſe Iaakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Eſau thee'lder.
c For beſide her the ſignes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made ſeruant vnto his yonger brother being yet in his mothers belly, and alſo afterward in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the ſignes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lieth waſte and he ſhall neuer returne to inhabite.
i Whereas ye my people, whom the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you delivered, read Rom. 9. 13.

d Beſides the reſt of the people hee condemneth the Prieſts chiefly, becauſe they ſhould haue reprooued others for their hypocriſie, and obſtinacie againſt God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.
e Hee noteth their groſſe hypocriſie, which would not ſee their faults, but moſt impudently couered them, and ſo were blind guides.

7 Yee

f Yee receiue all maner offrings for your owne greedineſſe, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law, or no.
g Not that they sayd thus, but by their doings they declared no leſſe.
h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it ſufficient to ſerue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantaſie: and ſo come not to the puremeſſe of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproach he ſheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be ſo ſerued
i He derideth the Prieſts who bare the people in hand that they prayed for them, and ſheweth that they were the occaſion, that theſe euils came vpon the people.
k Will God conſider your office and ſtate, ſeeing you are ſo couetous and wicked?
l Becauſe the Leuites who kept the doores did not erie whether the ſacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God wiſheth that they would rather ſhut the doores, then to receiue ſuch as were not perfect. m God ſheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true ſeruice ſtuall be the cauſe of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Law, framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and ſacrifice he meaneth the ſpirituall ſeruice of God, which ſhould be vnder the Goſpel, when an end ſhould be made to all theſe legall ceremonies by Chriſtes onely ſacrifice. n Both the Prieſts and the people were infected with this errour, that they paſſed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane, as with the fat: but in the meane ſeaſon they ſhewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and ſo committed both impiety, and alſo ſhewed their contempt of God, and couetouſneſſe. o The Prieſts and people were both weary with ſeruing God, and paſſed not what maner of ſacrifice and ſervice they gaue to God: for that which was leaſt profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath abilitie to ſerue the Lord according to his word, and yet will ſerue him according to his couetous mind.

7 Ye offer f vncleane bread vpon mine altar: and you ſay, Wherein haue we polluted thee? in that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is not g to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blind for ſacrifice, it is h not euill: and if ye offer the lame and ſicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy princes: will he be content with thee, or accept thy perſon, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes?

9 And now I pray you, i pray before God that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regard k your perſons, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes?

10 Who is there euen among you l that would ſhut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleaſure in you, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the riſing of the ſunne vnto the going downe of the ſame, my Name is m great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incenſe ſhalbe offered vnto my Name, and a pure offring: for my Name is great among the heathen, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye ſay, n The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye ſaid alſo, Behold, it is a o wearineſſe, and ye haue ſnuffed at it, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the ſicke: thus yee offred an offring: ſhould I accept this of your hand, ſayth the Lord?

14 But curſed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke p a male, and voweth, and ſacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great king, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

CHAP. II.

x Threatnings againſt the Prieſts, being ſeducers of the people.

a He ſpeaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people alſo.
b To ſerue mee according to my word.
c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.
d Your ſeede ſowen ſhall come to no profit.
e You boaſt of your holineſſe, ſacrifices and feaſts, but they ſhall turne to your ſhame and be as vile as dung.
f The Prieſts obiected againſt the Prophet that he could not reprooue them, but he muſt ſpeake againſt the Prieſthood, and the office eſtabliſhed of God by promiſe, but hee ſheweth that the office is nothing ſlaundred, when theſe villainies and doung are called by their owne names.

A Nd now, O ye a Prieſts, this commandement is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor conſider it in your heart, to giue glory b vnto my Name, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes, I will euen ſend a curſe vpon you, and will curſe your c bleſsings: yea, I haue curſed them already, becauſe yee doe not conſider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt d your ſeede, and caſt dung vpon your faces, euen the e dung of your ſolemne feaſts, and you ſhall be like vnto it.

4 And yee ſhall know, that I haue f ſent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Levi, might ſtand, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

5 My g couenant was with him of life and peace, and I h gaue him feare, and hee feared me, and was afraid before i my Name.

6 The Law of k trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: he walked with mee in peace and equity, and did turne many away from iniquity.

7 For the Prieſtes l lippes ſhould preſerue knowledge, and they ſhould ſeeke the Law at his mouth: for hee is the m meſſenger of the Lord of hoaſtes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue cauſed many to fall by the Law: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

9 Therefore haue I alſo made you to be deſpiſed, and vile before all the people, becauſe yee kept not my wayes, but haue beene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one n father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we tranſgreſſe euery one againſt his brother, and breake the couenant of o our fathers?

11 Iudah hath tranſgreſſed, and an abomination is committed in Iſrael and in Ieruſalem: for Iſrael hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the p daughter of a ſtrange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the maſter and the ſeruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that q offereth an offring vnto the Lord of hoaſts.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and r couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: becauſe the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee ſay, s Wherein? Becauſe the Lord hath bene witneſſe betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, againſt whom thou haſt tranſgreſſed: yet is ſhee thy t companion, and the wife of thy u couenant.

15 And did not x he make one? yet had he y abundance of ſpirit: and wherefore one? becauſe he ſought a godly z ſeed: therefore keepe your ſelues in your a ſpirit, and let none treſpaſſe againſt the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hateſt her, b put her away, ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, yet he couereth c the iniury vnder his garment, ſayth the Lord of hoſts: therefore keepe your ſelues in your ſpirit, and tranſgreſſe not.

17 Yee haue d wearied the Lord with your wordes: yet ye ſay wherein haue we wearied him? When ye ſay, Euery one that doeth e euill, is good in the ſight of the Lord, and hee deliteth in them. Or where is the God of f iudgement?

g Hee ſheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui on Gods part, that hee would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part, that they ſhould faithfully ſerue him according to his word.
h I preſcribed Leui a certaine Law to ſerue me.
i He ſerued mee and ſet foorth my glory with all humilitude and ſubmiſſion.
k Hee ſheweth that the Prieſtes ought to haue knowledge to inſtruct other in the word of the Lord.
l Hee is as the treaſure houſe of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their neceſſitie, and not to reſerue it for himſelue m Shewing that whoſoeuer doth not declare Gods will, is not his meſſenger, and Priest.
n The Prophet accuſeth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for ſeeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.
o Whereby they had bound themſelues to God to be an holy people p They haue ioyned themſelues in mariage with them th it are of another religion.
q That is, the Prieſt.
r Yet cauſe the people to lament, becauſe that God doeth not regard their ſacrifices, ſo that they ſeeme to ſacrifice in vaine. f This is another fault, whereof he accuſeth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage. t As the one halfe of thy ſelfe. u Shee that was ioyned to thee by a ſolemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name. x Did not God make man and woman as one fleſh and not many? y By his power and vertue hee could haue made many women for one man. z Such as ſhould be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no exceſſe of luſtes. a Containe your ſelues within your bounds, and be ſober in minde, and bridle your affections. b Not that hee doeth allow divorcement, but of two faults hee ſheweth, which is the leſſe. c He thinketh it ſufficient to keepe his wife ſtill, albeit hee take others, and ſo as it were coureth his fault. d Yee murmure againſt God, becauſe hee heard not you aſſoone as ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no reſpect to them that ſerue him. f Thus they blaſphemed God in condemning his power and iuſtice, becauſe he iudged not according to their fantaſies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the meſſenger of the Lord Iohn Baptiſt, and of Chriſts office.

BEhold, I will ſend my a meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before mee: and the b Lord whom ye ſeeke, ſhall ſpeedily come to his Temple: euen the c meſſenger of the Couenant, whom ye deſire: behold, hee ſhall come, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

2 But who d may abide the day of his comming? and who ſhall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers ſope.

3 And hee ſhall ſit downe to trie and fine the ſiluer: he ſhall euen fine the ſonnes of e Leui and purifie them as golde and ſiluer, that they may bring offrings vnto the Lord in righteouſneſſe.

4 Then ſhall the offrings of Iudah and Ieruſalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgment, and I will be a ſwift witnes againſt the ſoothſayers, and againſt the adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, and againſt thoſe that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widow, and the fatherleſſe, and oppreſſe the ſtranger, and feare not me, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and yee ſonnes of Iaakob f are not conſumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: g returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, ſayth the Lord of hoaſts: but ye ſayd, Wherein ſhall we returne?

8 Will a h man ſpoyle his gods? yet haue yee ſpoyled me: but ye ſay, Wherein haue we ſpoyled thee? In i tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are curſed with a curſe: for ye haue ſpoyled me: euen this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the ſtorehouſe, that there may be meate in my houſe, and prooue me now herewith, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a bleſſing k without meaſure.

11 And I will rebuke the l deuourer for your ſakes, and hee ſhall not deſtroy the fruite of your ground, neither ſhall your vine be barren in the field, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

12 And all nations ſhall call you bleſſed: for ye ſhalbe a pleaſant land, ſayth the Lord of hoaſts.

13 Your words haue bene ſtout m againſt me, ſayth the Lord: yet ye ſay, What haue we ſpoken againſt thee?

14 Yee haue ſayd, It is in vaine to ſerue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hoaſtes?

15 Therefore we count the proude bleſſed: euen they that worke wickedneſſe, are ſet vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are n deliuered.

16 o Then ſpake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a p booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they ſhall be to mee, ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, in that day q that I ſhall do this, for a flock, and I will r ſpare them, as a man ſpareth his owne ſonne that ſerueth him.

18 Then ſhall you returne, and diſcerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that ſerueth God, and him that ſerueth him not.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptiſt, as Chriſt expounded it, Luke 7. 27.
b Meaning, Meſſias. Pſal. 40. 1. 7. Dan. 9. 17. 21.
c That is, Chriſt by whom the couenant was made and ratified, who is called the Angel or meſſenger of the couenant, becauſe he reconcileth vs to his father, and is Lord or king, becauſe hee hath the gouernement of his Church.
d He ſheweth that the hypocrites which wiſh ſo much for the Lords comming, will not abide when hee draweth neere: for he will conſume them, and purge his and make them cleane.
e He beginneth at the Prieſts that they might be lights, and ſhine vnto others.
f They murmured againſt God, becauſe they ſaw not his helpe euer preſent to defend them: and therefore he accuſeth them of ingratitude, and ſheweth that in that they are not dayly conſumed, it is a token, that he doeth ſtill defend them, and ſo his mercy toward them neuer changeth.

m The Prophet condemneth them of double blaſphemie againſt God: firſt, in that they ſayd that God had not reſpect to them that ſerued him, and next, that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not onely preferred to honour, but alſo deliuered from dangers.
o After theſe admonitions of the Prophet, ſome were liuely touched, and encouraged others to feare God.
p Both becauſe the thing was ſtrange that ſome turned to God in that great and vniuerſall corruption, and alſo that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penetent ſinners.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lord before the which Eliah ſhould come.

FOr behold, the day commeth that ſhall a burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, ſhall be ſtubble, and the day that commeth, ſhall burne them vp, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes, and ſhall leaue them neither roote nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, ſhall the b ſunne of righteouſneſſe ariſe, and health ſhall be vnder his wings, and ye ſhall go c forth, and grow vp as fat calues.

3 And ye ſhall tread downe the wicked: for they ſhall be duſt vnder the ſoales of your feete in the day that I ſhall doe this, ſayth the Lord of hoaſtes.

4 d Remember the Law of Moſes my ſeruant, which I commaunded vnto him in Horeb for all Iſrael with the ſtatutes and iudgements.

5 Beholde, I will ſend you e Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and f fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And he ſhall g turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, leaſt I come and h ſmite the earth with curſing.

a He prophecieth of Gods iudgements againſt the wicked, who would not receiue Chriſt, when as God ſhould ſend him for the reſtauration of his Church.
b Meaning, Chriſt who with his wings or beames of his grace ſhould lighten and comfort his Church, Epheſ. 5. 14. and he is called the ſunne of righteouſneſſe, becauſe in himſelfe he hath all perfection and alſo the iuſtice of the Father dwelleth in him: whereby he regenerateth vs vnto righteouſneſſe, cleanſeth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God.
c Yee ſhall be ſet at libertie and increaſe in the ioy of the Spirit. 2. Cor. 3. 17.
d Becauſe the time was come that the Iewes ſhould be deſtitute of Prophets vntill the time of Chriſt, becauſe they ſhould with more feruent minds deſire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exerciſe themſelues diligently in ſtudying the Law of Moſes in the meane ſeaſon, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and alſo be armed againſt all tentations.
e This Chriſt expoundeth of Iohn Baptiſt, Matth. 11. 13. 14. Who both for his zeale, and reſtoring of religion, is aptly compared to Elijah.
f Which as it is true for the wicked, ſo doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance.
g He ſheweth wherein Johns office ſhould ſtand: in the turning of men to God, and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: ſo that the father ſhall returne to the religion of his ſonne which is conuerted to Chriſt, and ſ ſonne ſhall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob.
h The ſecond point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements againſt them that would not receiue Chriſt.

THE PRINTER to the diligent Reader.

DEare Chriſtian Reader, to the intent that thou mighteſt the better enioy the benefit of theſe notes or expoſitions vpon the New Teſtament: I thought it not amiſſe to declare vnto thee the vſe of the ſame. And firſt, foraſmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, conteining like phraſe or ſence, haue bene ſo placed, that none without great labour could find out the text alledged, I haue made theſe ſix ſeuerall figures or marks, ⁂ * * *, and haue ſet them aſwel in the margent as in the text, ſo that thou mayeſt eaſily finde that which thou deſireſt. For example, in the firſt worde of the firſt Chapter of Matthew is placed this firſt marke ⁂: looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou ſhalt finde Luke 3. 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew: and ſo likewiſe thou ſhalt finde in the reſidue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word, or ſentence, the firſt is onely marked, and thoſe that follow vnmarked, appertaine to the ſame. And if it fall out that there be more then ſixe directions in one columne, then is the firſt repeated againe, and the reſidue following in order as at the beginning: as it appeareth in the firſt calumne of Matthew, where both in the text and margent alſo, they are all two times ſet downe, and the foure firſt repeated againe.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmeticke, as 1. 2. 3. 4. &c. thorowout the Euangeliſts and Acts, declare the effect or ſumme of the doctrine conteined betweene one of the ſayd figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the firſt line and firſt worde of Matthew vnto the figure 2 in the 18 ℣. of the ſame chapter, the doctrine there gathered is ſet downe in the margent in this ſort: 1 Ieſus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the ſtocke of Dauid as God promiſed. And in the Epiſtles in like ſort they declare the methode and arte which the Apoſtles vſe, and how euery argument or reaſon dependeth one vpon another: theſe figures are begunne againe at the beginning of euery Chapter.

Laſtly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like anſwering vnto them in the margent, ſerue to expound and lighten the darke wordes and phraſes immediatly following them. As in the firſt line and ſecond worde, the letter, a, being referred vnto, a directly againſt him in the margent, ſheweth that this word, Booke, ſignifieth A rehearſall as the Hebrewes vſe to ſpeake: as Geneſ. 5. 1. The booke of the generations. Theſe letters beginne at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto z. and ſo beginning againe with a, if there be ſo many Notes that they do exceede in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruit, and giue the prayſe to God.

Farewell.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEW.

CHAP. I.

1 That Iesus is that Messias, the Saviour promised to the Fathers. 18 The nativitie of Christ.

THe ✣ 1 a booke of the b generation of Iesus Christ the sonne of David, the c sonne of Abraham.

2 ✣ Abraham begate Isaac. * And Isaac begate Iacob. And * Iacob begate Iudas and his brethren.

3 * And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.

4 And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon.

5 And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And ✣ Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Iesse.

6 And ✣ Iesse begate David the King. And David the King begate Salomon of her that was * the wife of Urias.

7 And * Salomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.

8 And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Hozias.

9 And Hozias begate Ioatham. And Ioatham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias.

10 And * Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias.

11 And * Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim d begat Iechonias and his brethren about the time they were caried away to Babylon.

12 And after they were caried away into Babylon, * Iechonias begate Salathiel. And ✣ Salathiel begate Zorobabel.

13 And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliacim. And Eliacim begate Azor.

14 And Azor begate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.

15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob.

16 And Iacob begate Ioseph the husband of Mary, of whom was borne Iesus, ỳ is called Christ.

17 So e all the generations from Abraham to David, are fourteene generations. And from David untill they were caried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations.

18 ¶ Now the birth of 2 Iesus Christ was thus, When as his mother Mary was * betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to * make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of David, feare not to f take Mary thy g wife: for that which is h conceived in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And shee shall bring 3 foorth a sonne, and thou shalt * call his name IESUS: for hee shall ✣ i save his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done ỳ it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by ỹ Prophet, saying,

23 ỹ Behold, a k virgine shall be with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with us.

24 ¶ Then Ioseph being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But he knew her not, l till she had brought foorth her first borne sonne, and hee called his name IESUS.

CHAP. II.

The wise men, who are the first fruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Ioseph fleed into Egypt with Iesus and his mother, 16 Herod slayeth the children.

WHen ✣ 1 Iesus then was borne at Bethlehem in a Iudea, in the dayes of Herod the king, behold, there came b Wise men from the East to Hierusalem,

2 Saying, Where is the King of the Iewes that is borne? for we have seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 When king Herod heard this, he was c troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the d chiefe Priestes and e Scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 And they sayd unto him, At Bethlehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 ✣ And thou Bethlehem in the land of Iuda, art not the f least among the Princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the governour that g shall feede my people Israel.

7 Then Herod privily called the Wise men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Bethlehem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when yee have found him, bring me word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the king, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and h fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their i treasures, and presented unto him gifts, even gold, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were k warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

✣ Luke 2.6.

a Christ being yet scarce borne, beginneth to be crucified for us, both in himselfe, and also in his members.

13 ¶ a After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, & flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word, for Herod will seeke the babe to destroy him.

14 So he arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

15 And was there unto the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the ✻ Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my sonne.

✻ Hos. 11, 1.

16 ¶ Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Bethleem, and in all the coastes thereof from two yeere old and under, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wise men.

17 Then was that fulfilled which is spoken l by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, l Ier. 31, 15.

¶ For God speaketh by the mouth of the Prophets.

18 ✤ In Rhama was m a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: n Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.

m A voyce of lamenting, weeping, and howling.

n That is to say, All that compasse about Bethlehem: for Rachel Iacobs wife, who died in childebed, was buried in the way that leadeth to this towne, which is also called Ephrata, because of the soile, and plenty of corne.

19 ¶ And when Herod was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Ioseph in Egypt,

3 Christ is brought up in Nazareth after the death of the tyrant by Gods providence: that by the very name of the place, it might plainly appeare to the world, that he is the Lords true Nazarite.

20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then he arose, and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea instead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the parts of Galile.

23 And went and dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That he should be called a Nazarite.

CHAP. III.

1 Iohn preacheth, 4 His apparell and meate. 5 He baptizeth. 8 The fruits of repentance. 10 The axe to the roote of the trees. 12 The fanne and the chaffe. 13 Christ is baptized.

✤ Mar. 1, 4. luk. 3, 3.

IN a those daies, 1 Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the b wildernes of Iudea, a Not when Ioseph went to dwell at Nazareth, but a great while after, about the space of 25 yeeres: for in the 30 yeere of his age was Iesus baptized of Iohn: therefore by those daies is meant, at that time that Iesus remained as yet an inhabitant of the towne of Nazareth.

b Iohn, who through his singular holinesse and rare austerenesse of life caused all men to cast their eyes upon him, prepareth the way for Christ following fast on his heeles, as the Prophet Esai foretold, and delivereth the summe of the Gospell, which in short space after should be delivered more fully. b In an hilly countrey, which was notwithstanding inhabited, for Zacharie dwelt there, Luke 1, 40. and there was Ioabs house, 1 Kings 2, 34. and besides these, Iebosthua maketh mention of sixe townes that were in the wildernes, chap. 15, 61. c The word in the Greeke tongue signifieth a changing of our minds and hearts from evill to better. d The kingdome of Messias, whose government shalbe heavenly, an nothing but heavenly. ✤ Esa. 40, 3. Mar. 1, 3. Luk. 3, 4. Iohn 1, 23. e Make him a plaine and smooth way. ✤ Mar. 1, 6. f Locusts were a kind of meate which certains of the East people use, which were therefore called devourers of Locusts. Eust. in Od. 9. * Mar. 1, 5. Luk. 1, 17. g The people of Ierusalem. h Acknowledging that they were saved onely by free remission and forgivenesse of their sinnes. 2 There is nothing that stopped up the way of mercy and salvation against us so much as the opinion of our owne righteousnesse doth.

2 And saith, • Repent: for the kingdome of heaven is at hand.

3 For this is he of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Esaias, saying, ✤ The voyce of him that crieth in the wildernes, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: e make his pathes streight.

4 ✻ And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skin about his loynes, his meate was also f locusts and wild hony.

5 * Then went out to him g Ierusalem and all Iudea, and all the region round about Iordan,

6 And they were baptized of him in Iordan, h confessing their sinnes.

7 2 Now when he saw many of the Pharises, and of the Sadduces come to his baptisme, he said unto them, ✤ O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come?

✻ Chap. 12, 34.

3 True repentance is an inward thing which hath it seate in the mind & heart.

8 3 Bring forth therefore fruit worthy amendment of life,

4 The faith of the fathers availeth y unbeleeving children nothing at all: and yet for all that God playeth not the liar, nor dealeth unfaithfully in his league which he made with the holy fathers.

9 4 And i thinke not to say k with your selves, ✤ We have Abraham to our father: for I say unto you, that God is able even of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham.

i Thinke not that you have any cause to be proud of Abraham.

k In your hearts.

10 And now also is the axe put to the root of the trees: * therefore every tree which bringeth not foorth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

✤ Iohn 8, 39. Acts 14, 26.

* Chap. 7, 19.

11 ✤ 5 Indeed I baptize you with water to l amendment of life, but he that commeth after me is mightier then I, whose shooes I am not worthy to beare, he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

✤ Marke 1, 8. 5, 16. Ioh. 1, 26. act. 1, 5. and 2, 4. and 8, 17. and 19, 4.

5 We may neither dwell upon the signes which God hath ordained as meanes to leade us unto our salvation, neither upon them: but we must clime up to the matter it selfe, that is to say, to Christ, who inwardly worketh that effectually, which is outwardly signified unto us.

12 6 Which hath his fanne in his hand, and will m make cleane his floore, and gather his wheate into his garner, but will burne up the chaffe with unquenchable fire.

I The outward signe putteth us in minde of this, that we must change our lives and become better, assuring us as by a seale, that we are ingraffed into Christ, where by our old man dieth and the new man viveth up. Rom. 6.

13 ¶ ✤ 7 Then came Iesus from Galile to Iordan unto Iohn to be baptized of him.

14 But Iohn earnestly put him backe, saying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and commeth thou to mee?

15 Then Iesus answering, said to him, Let be now: for thus it becommeth us to fulfill n all righteousnesse. So he suffered him.

16 And Iesus when he was baptized, came straight out of the water. And lo, the heavens were opened unto o him, and Iohn saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him.

17 8 And loe, a voyce came from heaven, saying, * This is my beloved Sonne, in whom I am p well pleased.

6 The triumphs of the wicked shall end in everlasting torment. m Will cleanse it thoroughly, and make a full riddance. ✻ Mar. 1, 9. Luke 3, 21. 7 Christ sanctified our baptisme in himselfe. n All such things as it hath appointed us to keepe. o To Iohn. 8 Christs full consecration and authorising to the office of the mediatourship, is shewed by the fathers owne voyce, and a visible signe of the holy Ghost. * Col. 2, 13. 2 Pet. 1, 17. p *The Greeke word betoketh a thing of great account, and such as highly pleaseth a man. CHAP. IV.

1 Christ is tempted. 4 Hee vanquisheth the devill with Scripture. 11 The Angels minister unto him. 12 He preacheth repentance, and that himselfe is come. 18 The calling of Peter, Andrew, 22 Iames and Iohn. 24 He preacheth the Gospel, and healeth the diseased.

✻ Marke 1, 12. Luke 4, 1.

1 Christ was tempted all maner of wayes, & still overcometh, that we also through his vertue may overcome.

2 And when he had fasted a fourty daies, and forty nights, he was afterward hungry.

3 Then came to him the tempter, and said, If thou be the sonne of God, commaund that these stones be made bread.

26 So if Satan caſt out Satan, hee is diuided againſt himſelfe: how ſhall then his kingdome endure?

3 Then he ſpeake many things to them in parables, ſaying, Behold, a ſower went forth to ſow, 4 And as he ſowed, ſome fell by the way ſide, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.

5 And ſome fell vpon ſtony ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they ſprung vp, becauſe they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the ſunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

[a] Though there be mention made of the hearts, yet this sowing is referred to hearing without understanding. For whether the seed be received in the heart or noyet he that soweth, soweth to the heart.

20 And hee that received seede in the stony ground, is he which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy receiveth it,

21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for assoone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that received ỹ seed among thornes, is hee that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulnesse of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But he that received the seed in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixtie fold, and some thirtie fold.

[4] Christ sheweth in another parable of the evill seed mixt with ỹ good, that the Church shall never be free and quit from offences, both in doctrine and maners, vntill the day appointed for the restoring of all things to come, and therefore the faithfull have to arme themselves with patience and constancy.

24 ¶ 4 Another parable put hee foorth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heaven is like vnto a man which sowed good seed in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemy and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the servants of the housholder, and sayd unto him, Master, soweſt thou not good seede in thy field? from whence then hath it tares.

28 And he sayd unto them, Some envious man hath done this. Then the servants sayd unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?

29 But he sayd, Nay, least while ye goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke up also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntill the harveſt, and in time of harveſt I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and bind them in sheaves to burne them: but gather the wheat into my barne.

15 ¶ And when even was come, ✣ his diſciples came to him, ſaying, This is a deſert place, and the time is already paſt: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and buy them vitailes.

16 But Ieſus ſayd to them, They have no need to goe away: give ye them to eat.

17 Then ſayd they vnto him, Wee have here but five loaves, and two fiſhes.

18 And he ſayd, Bring them hither to me.

19 And hee commaunded the multitude to ſit downe on the graſſe, and tooke the five loaves, and the two fiſhes, and looked up to heaven, and bleſſed, and brake, and gave the loaves to his diſciples, and the diſciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were ſufficed, and they tooke up of the fragments that remained, twelve baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about five thouſand men, beſide women and little children.

22 ¶ And ſtraightway Ieſus compelled his diſciples to enter into a ſhip, and to goe over before him, while he ſent the multitude away.

23 And aſſoone as he had ſent the multitude away, he went up into a mountaine alone to pray: and * when the evening was come, hee was there alone.

24 3 And the ſhip was now in the mids of the ſea, and was toſſed with waves: for it was a contrary wind.

27 But ſtraightway Ieſus ſpake vnto them, ſaying, Be of good comfort, it is I: be not afraid.

28 4 Then Peter anſwered him, and ſayd, Maſter, if it be thou, bid mee come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he ſayd, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ſhip, hee walked on the water to goe to Ieſus.

30 But when he ſaw a mightie winde, he was afraid: and as he began to ſinke, he cried, ſaying, Maſter, ſave me.

31 So immediatly Ieſus ſtretched foorth his hand, and caught him, and ſayd to him, O thou of little faith, wherefore diddeſt thou doubt.

32 And aſſoone as they were come into the ſhip, the winde ceaſed.

33 Then they that were in the ſhip, came and worſhipped him, ſaying, Of a trueth thou art the Sonne of God.

A Nd, ✣ it came to paſſe, that when Ieſus had finiſhed theſe ſayings, he [a] departed from Galile, and came into the coaſts of Iudea beyond Iordan.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 ¶ [1] Then came unto him the Phariſes tempting him, and ſaying to him, Is it lawfull for a man to [b] put away his wife upon every occaſion?

9 I ſay therefore unto you, * that whoſoever ſhall put away his wife, except it be [b] for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adulterie: and whoſoever marrieth her which is divorced, doeth commit adulterie.

22 And when the yong man heard that ſaying, hee went away ſorowfull: for hee had great poſſeſſions.

24 And againe I ſay unto you, It is [o] eaſier for a [p] camel to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his diſciples heard it, they were exceedingly amaſed, ſaying, Who then can bee ſaved?

26 And Ieſus beheld them, and ſaid unto them, With men this is vnpoſsible, but with God all things are poſsible.

27 ¶ ✣ Then anſwered Peter, and ſaid to him, Behold, we have forſaken all, and followed thee: what therefore ſhall we have?

24 Then Iesus answered, and said unto them, I also will aske of you l a certaine thing, which if ye tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I doe these things.

25 The m baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? from n heaven, or of men? Then they o reasoned among themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven, hee will say unto us, Why did ye not then beleeve him?

26 And if we say, Of men, we feare the multitude, * for all hold Iohn as a Prophet.

27 Then they answered Iesus, and sayd, We can not tell. And hee sayd unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I doe these things.

28 ¶ 7 But what thinke ye? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and said, Sonne, goe and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But he answered, and sayd, I will not: yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and sayd likewise. And he answered, and sayd, I will, Sir: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They sayd unto him, The first. Iesus sayd unto them, Verely I say unto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots p goe before you into the kingdome of God.

32 For Iohn came unto you in the q way of righteousnesse, and yee beleeved him not: but the Publicanes and the harlots beleeved him, and ye though ye saw it, were not mooved with repentance afterward, that ye might beleeve him.

33 ¶ 8 Heare another parable, There was a certaine housholder, ✲ which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a winepresse thetein, and r built a tower, & let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew neere, he sent his servants to the husbandmen to receive the fruits thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his servants and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Againe he sent other servants, moe then the first: and they did the like unto them.

37 But last of all hee sent unto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reverence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the sonne, they sayd among themselves, * This is the heire: come, let us kill him, & let us ſ take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will hee doe to those husbandmen?

41 They sayd unto him, He will t cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard unto other husbandmen, which shall deliver him the fruits in their seasons.

42 Iesus sayd unto them, Reade ye never in the Scriptures, ✱ The stone which the u builders refused, the same is x made the y head of the corner? z This was the Lords doing, and it is marveilous in our eyes.

43 Therefore I say unto you, The kingdome of God shall be taken from you, and shall be given to a nation, which shall bring foorth the a fruits thereof.

3 And sent foorth his servants, to call them that were bidde to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Againe he sent foorth other servants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are a killed, and all things are ready: come unto the mariage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his servants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

7 2 But when the king heard it, he was wroth, and sent foorth his warriours, and destroyed those murtherers, and burnt up their citie.

8 Then sayd hee to his servants, Truely the b wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9 3 Goe yee therefore out into the hie wayes, and as many as ye find, bid them to the marriage.

10 So those servants went out into the high wayes, and gathered together all that ever they found, both good and c bad: so the wedding was furnished with ghests.

17 ⁋ Tell us therefore, how thinkeſt thou? Is it lawfull to give k tribute unto Ceſar, or not?

37 Ieſus ſaid to him, * Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy p ſoule, and with all thy minde.

39 And the ſecond is like unto this, ✣ Thou ſhalt love thy q neighbour as thy ſelfe.

32 7 Now learne the parable of the figge tree: when her bough is yet tender, & it putteth forth leaves, ye know that sommer is neere.

34 Verely I say unto you, this t generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

35 * 8 Heaven and earth shall passe away: but my wordes shall not passe away.

36 9 But of that day & houre knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heaven, but my father onely.

44 Therefore be ye also ready: for in the houre that ye thinke not, will the Sonne of man come.

45 * Who then is a faithfull servant and wise, whom his Master hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in season?

46 Blessed is that servant, whom his master when he commeth, shall find so doing.

47 Verely I say unto you, hee shall make him ruler over all his goods.

1 The Virgins looking for the Bridegroome. 13 We must watch. 14 The talents delivered unto the servants. 24 The evill servants. 30 After what sort the last iudgement shalbe. 41 The cursed.

THen a the kingdom of heaven shall be likened unto ten virgines, which tooke their lampes and went forth to meet the bridegroome.

2 And five of them were wise, and five fooliſh.

a The pompe of brides-ales was woont for the most part to be kept in the night season, and that by damsels.

1 We must desire strength at Gods hand, which may serve us as a torch, while we waike through this darkenesse, to bring us to our desired ende: otherwise if wee become slouthfull and negligent as wearie of our paines and travell, wee shall be shut out of the dores

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all b slumbred and slept.

b Their eyes being heavie with sleepe.

6 And at midnight there was a crie made, Behold, the bridegroome commeth: goe out to meet him.

7 Then all those virgines arose and trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish said to the wise, Give us of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, least there will not be ynough for us and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selves.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrom came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

14 ✣ a For the kingdome of heaven is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his servants, and delivered to them his goods.

15 And unto one he gave five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to every man after his owne ability, & straightway went from home.

16 Then hee that had received the five talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other five talents.

17 Likewise also he that received two, hee also gained other two.

18 But hee that received that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those servants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came hee that had received five talents, and brought other five talents, saying, Master, thou deliveredst unto mee five talents: behold, I have gained with them other five talents.

21 Then his master saide unto him, It is well done good servant and faithfull, Thou hast beene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler over much: d enter into thy masters ioy.

d Come, and receive the fruit of goodnesse, now the Lords ioy is doubled, Iohn 15,11. that my ioy may remaine in you, and your ioy be fulfilled.

24 Then hee that had received the one talent, came, and said, Master, I knewe that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraid, and went, and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.

8 And when his d disciples sawe it, they had indignation, saying, What needeth this e waste?

9 For this oyntment might have beene sold for much, and bene given to the poore.

17 ✠ * 6 Now g on the first day of the feast of unleavened bread, the disciples came to Iesus, saying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eate the Passeover?

18 And he sayd, Goe ye into the citie to such a man, and say on him, The master saith, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Passeover at thine house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Iesus had given them charge, and made ready the Passeover.

20 * So when the even was come, hee h sate downe with the twelve.

21 And as they did eate, he sayd, * Verely, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorowfull, and began every one of them to say unto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And he answered and sayde, ✠ Hee that i dippeth his hand with mee in the dish, hee shall betray mee.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but wo be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had beene good for that man, if he had never bene borne.

25 Then Iudas k which betrayed him, answered, and sayd, Is it I, Master? Hee saide unto him, Thou hast said it.

26 ¶ ✠ And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had l blessed, he brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eate: m this is my body.

27 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had given thankes, he gave it to them, saying, Drinke ye n all of it, 28 o For this is my blood of the p newe Testament that is shed for many, for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say unto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruit of the vine untill that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdome.

30 And when they had sung q a Psalme, they went out into the mount of Olives.

31 ¶ ✠ Then said Iesus unto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I * will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe of the flocke shalbe scattered.

32 But ✠ after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galile.

33 But Peter answered, and saide unto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I never be offended.

34 ✠ Iesus saide unto him, Verely I say unto thee, that this night, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter saide unto him, Though I should die with thee, I will in no case deny thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 ¶ * 9 Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and said unto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe, and pray yonder.

39 So he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, s let this t cup passe from me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 11 After, hee came unto the disciples, and found them asleepe, and said to Peter, What? could ye not watch with me one houre?

a By this worde Feast, it meant the whole feast of unleavened bread: the first and eight day whereof were so holy, that they might do no maner of worke therein, though the whole company of the Sanhedrin determined otherwise: And yet it came to passe through Gods providence, that Christ suffered at that time, to the ende that all the people of Israel might be witnesses of his everlasting sacrifice.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 9 And when hee had gone a litle further thence, he saw Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the ship with his hired servants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So ✣ they entred into k Capernaum: and straightway on the Sabbath day hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonied at his doctrine, ✣ for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ 10 And there was in their Synagogue a man l in whom was an uncleane spirit, and hee cried out,

24 Saying, Ah, what have we to doe with thee, O m Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy us? I know thee what thou art, even that n holy one of God, 25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the uncleane spirit o tare him, and cried with a loud voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amased, so that they demanded p one of another, saying, What thing is this? What new doctrine is this? for he q commandeth even the foule spirits with authoritie, & they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame spread abroad throughout all the region r bordering on Galile.

29 ¶ * 11 And as soone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wives mother lay sicke of a fever, and anon they told him of her.

31 And hee came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her up, and the fever forsooke her by and by, and she ministred unto them.

32 And when even was come, at what time the Sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were sicke of divers diseases: and hee cast out many devils, and s suffered not the devils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very earely before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they said unto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 Then he said unto them, Let us goe into the t next townes, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the devils out.

40 ¶ * 12 And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeled downe unto him, & said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put foorth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will: be thou cleane.

42 And assoone as hee had spoken, immediatly the leprosie departed from him, and hee was made cleane.

43 And after hee had given him a straight commandement, he sent him away forthwith, 44 13 And sayd unto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shew thy selfe to the u ✣ Priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moyses commanded, for a testimoniall unto them.

45 But when he was departed,* he beganne to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from every quarter.

4 And hee saide to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deede on the Sabbath day, or to doe evill? to save the b life, or to kill? but they held their peace.

5 Then he looked round about on them c angerly, mourning also for the d hardnesse of their hearts, and saide to the man, Stretch foorth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored, as whole as the other.

6 ¶ a And the Pharises departed, and straightway gathered a councill with the e Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

8 And from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and f beyond Iordan: and they that dwelled about Tyrus and Sidon, when they had heard what great things he did, came unto him in great number.

9 And he commanded his disciples, that a little ship should g wait for him, because of the multitude, least they should throng him.

¶ The parable of the sower. 14 And the meaning thereof. 18 Thornes. 21 The candle. 26 Of him that sowed, and then slept. 31 The graine of mustard seed. 38 Christ sleepeth in the ship.

A Nd * he began againe to teach by the a sea side, and there gathered unto him a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship, and sate in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and sayd unto them in his doctrine,

3 1 Hearken: Behold, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the foules of the heaven came, and devoured it up.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang up, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But assoone as the Sunne was up, it was burnt up, and because it had not roote, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew up, and choked it, so that is gave no fruit.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yeelde fruite that sprung up, & grew, and it brought foorth, some thirtie folde, some sixtie folde, and some an hundreth fold.

9 Then he sayd unto them, He that hath eares, to heare, let him heare.

10 And when he was c alone, they that were d about him with the twelve, asked him of the parable.

11 And hee sayd unto them, To you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdome of God: but unto them that are e without, all things be done in parables, 12 # That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing, may heare, and not understand, least at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should be forgiven them.

13 Againe he sayd unto them, Perceive ye not this parable? how then should yee vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receive the seede by the wayes side, in whom the word is sowen: but when they have heard it, Satan commeth immediatly, and taketh away the word that was sowen in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receive the seede in stony ground, are they, which when they have heard the word, straightwayes receive it with gladnesse.

17 Yet have they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receive the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares f of this world, and the ✣ deceitfulnesse of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that have received seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receive it, and bring foorth fruit: one corne thirtie, an other sixtie, and some an hundreth.

21 ¶ 2 Also he sayd unto them, ✣ Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put in a candlesticke?

22 * For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened, neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man have eares to heare, let him heare.

24 3 And he sayd unto them, Take heed what ye heare. * With what measure you mete, it shall be measured unto you: and unto you that heare, shall more be given.

25 ✣ For unto him that hath, shall it be given, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away even that he hath.

26 ¶ 4 Also he sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seed in the ground.

27 And g should sleepe, and rise up night and day, and the seed should spring and grow up, hee h not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth foorth fruite i of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full come in the eares.

29 And assoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 ¶ * 5 He sayd moreover, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seeds that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth up, and is greatest of all herbes, & beareth great branches, so that the foules of the heaven may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And ✣ with many such parables he preached the word unto them, * as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake he nothing unto them, but he l expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ ✣ Nowe the same day when even was come, he sayd unto them, Let us passe over unto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as he was in the shippe, and there was also with him other little ships.

e This whole countrey is for the greater part of it very hilly, for the mountaines of Galaad runne through it.

11 Now there was there in the e mountaines a great heard of ſwine, feeding.

12 And all the deuils beſought him, ſaying, Send us unto the ſwine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Ieſus gave them leave. Then the uncleane ſpirits went out and entred into the ſwine, and the heard ranne headlong from the high banck into the f ſea, (and there were about two thouſand ſwine) & they were choked up in the ſea.

f Strabo in the ſixteenth booke ſaith that in Gadaris there is a ſtanding poole of very naughtie water, which if beaſts taſte of, they ſhead their haire, nailes, or hoves and hornes.

14 And the ſwineheards fled, and told it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to ſee what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Ieſus, and ſaw him that had bene poſſeſſed with the devill, and had the legion, ſit both cloathed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

16 And they that ſaw it, told them, what was done to him that was poſſeſſed with the devill, and concerning the ſwine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that he would depart from their coaſts.

18 And when hee was come into the ſhip, hee that had bene poſſeſſed with the devill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Ieſus would not ſuffer him, but ſayd unto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and ſhewe them what great things the Lord hath done unto thee, and howe hee hath had compaſſion on thee.

20 So hee departed, and began to publiſh in Decapolis, what great things Ieſus had done unto him: and all men did marveile.

21 ¶ And when Ieſus was come over againe by ſhip unto the other ſide, a great multitude gathered together to him, and he was neere unto the ſea.

✣ Matth 9.18. luke 8.41.

g The whole company aſſembled not diſorderly, but in every Synagogue there were certaine men which governed the people.

22 ✣ And g beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whoſe name was Iairus: and when he ſaw him, he fell downe at his feete, 23 And beſought him inſtantly, ſaying, My little daughter lieth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldeſt come and lay thine hands on her, that ſhe may be healed, and live.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him and thronged him.

h Ieſus being touched with true faith although it be but weake, doth heale us by his vertue.

25 (h And there was a certaine woman, which was diſeaſed with an iſſue of blood twelue yeeres, 26 And had ſuffred many things of many phyſicians, and had ſpent all that ſhee had, and it auailed her nothing, but ſhe became much worſe.

27 When ſhee had heard of Ieſus, ſhee came in the preaſſe behind, and touched his garment.

28 For ſhe ſayd, if I may but touch his cloathes, I ſhall be whole.

29 And ſtraightway the courſe of her blood was dryed up, and ſhee felt in her body, that ſhee was healed of that plague.

30 And immediatly when Ieſus did know in himſelfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the preaſe, and ſayd, Who hath touched my cloathes?

31 And his diſciples ſaid unto him, Thou ſeeſt the multitude throng thee, and ſayeſt thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about, to ſee her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for ſhee knew what was done in her, and ſhee came and fell downe before him, and told him the whole trueth.

34 And he ſayd to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While hee yet ſpake, there came from the ſame ruler of the Synagogues houſe certaine which ſayd, Thy daughter is dead: why diſeaſeſt thou the maſter any further?

i Fathers appertend by faith the promiſes of life even for their children.

36 i Aſſoone as Ieſus heard that word ſpoken, hee ſayd unto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleeve.

37 And he ſuffered no man to follow him ſaue Peter and Iames, and Iohn the brother of Iames.

38 So hee came unto the houſe of the ruler of the Synagogue, and ſaw the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And hee went in, and ſayd unto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the child is not dead, but ſleepeth.

k Such as mocke, and ſcorne Chriſt, are vnworthy to be witneſſes of his goodneſſe.

41 And tooke the childe by the hand, and ſayd unto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Mayden, I ſay unto thee, ariſe.

42 And ſtraightway the mayden aroſe, and walked: for ſhe was of the age of twelve yeeres, and they were aſtonied out of meaſure.

A Nd ✻ 1 he departed thence, and came into his owne countrey, and his diſciples followed him.

2 And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, and many that heard him, were aſtonied, and ſaide, From whence hath this man theſe things? and what wiſedome is this that is given unto him, that even ſuch a great works are done by his hands?

3 Is not this that carpenter Maries ſonne, the brother of Iames and Ioſes, and of Iuda and Simon? and are not his b ſiſters here with us? And they were offended in him.

4 And Ieſus ſaide unto them, A ✻ Prophet is not without c honour, but in his owne countrey, and among his owne kinred, and in his owne houſe.

5 And he d could there doe no great workes, ſave that he laid his hands upon a few ſicke folke, and healed them.

6 And hee marveiled at their unbeliefe, * and went about by the townes on every ſide, teaching.

7 ¶ ✻ 2 And hee called unto him the twelve, and began to ſend them foorth two and two, and gave them power over uncleane ſpirits,

8 3 And commaunded them that they ſhould take nothing for their iourney, ſave a ſtaffe onely: neither ſcrip, neither bread, neither money in their girdles:

9 But that they ſhould be ſhod with ✣ e ſandals, and that they ſhould not put on f two coates.

10 And hee ſaid unto them, Whereſoever yee ſhall enter into an houſe, g there abide till ye depart thence.

11 ¶ ✣ And whoſoever ſhall not receive you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence, ✣ ſhake off the duſt that is under your feete, for a witneſſe unto them. Verely I ſay unto you, It ſhallbe eaſier for Sodome, or Gomorrha at the day of Iudgement, then for that citie.

12 ¶ And they went out, and preached, that men ſhould amend their lives.

13 And they caſt out many devils: and they ✣ h anoynted many that were ſicke, with oyle, and healed them.

14 ¶ * 5 Then King Herod heard of him (for his Name was made manifeſt) and ſaide, Iohn Baptiſt is riſen againe from the dead, and therefore great i workes are wrought by him.

15 Other ſaid, It is Elias: and ſome ſaid, It is a Prophet, or as one of ✣ k thoſe Prophets.

16 ✣ So when Herod heard it, he ſaid, It is Iohn whom l I beheaded: he is riſen from the dead.

17 For Herod himſelfe had ſent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in priſon for Herodias ſake, which was his brother Philips wife, becauſe he had married her.

18 For Iohn ſaide unto Herod, ✣ It is not lawfull for thee to have thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias m laid wait againſt him: and would have killed him, but ſhe could not:

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iuſt man, and an holy, and reverenced him, and when he heard him, hee did many things, and heard him n gladly.

21 But the time being convenient, when Herod on his birth-day made a banket to his princes and captaines, and chiefe eſtates of Galile:

22 And the daughter o of the ſame Herodias came in, and danced, and pleaſed Herod, and them that ſate at table together, the King ſaide unto the maide, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will give it thee.

23 And hee ſware unto her, Whatſoever thou ſhalt aske of mee, I will give it thee, even unto the halfe of my kingdome.

24 * So p ſhe went forth, and ſaid to her mother, What ſhall I aske? And ſhe ſaid, Iohn Baptiſts head.

25 Then ſhe came in ſtraightway with haſte unto the King, and asked, ſaying, I would that thou ſhouldeſt give me even now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptiſt.

26 Then the King was very ſory: yet for his oathes ſake, and for their ſakes which ſate at table with him, he would not refuſe her.

27 And immediatly the King ſent the q hangman, and gave charge that his head ſhould be brought in. So hee went and beheaded him in the priſon, 28 And brought his head in a charger, and gave it to the maide, and the maide gave it to her mother.

29 And when his diſciples heard it, they came and tooke up his body, and put it in a tombe.

30 ¶ ✻ And the Apoſtles gathered themſelves together to Ieſus, and tolde him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 6 And hee ſaide unto them, Come ye apart into the wilderneſſe, and reſt a while: for there were many commers and goers, that they had not leaſure to eate.

32 ✻ So they went by ſhip out of the way into a deſart place.

33 But the people ſawe them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran a foote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and aſſembled unto him.

34 * Then Ieſus went out and ſaw a great multitude, and had compaſſion on them, becauſe they were like ſheepe which had no ſhepheard: ✣ and he began to teach them many things.

35 ✣ And when the day was now farre ſpent, his diſciples came unto him, ſaying, This is a deſart place, and now the day is farre paſſed.

36 Let them depart, that they may goe into the countrey and townes about, and buy them bread: for they have nothing to eate.

37 But hee anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Give ye them to eate. And they ſaid unto them, r Shall we goe, and buy s two hundreth peny worth of bread, and give them to eate?

3 And hee answered, and said unto them, What did * Moses command you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away.

5 1 Then Iesus answered, and said unto them, For the hardnesse of your heart hee wrote this b precept unto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation ✝ God made them male and female:

7 ✝ For this cause shall man leave his father and mother, and cleave unto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 * Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let no man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And he said unto them, * Whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another, committeth adulterie c against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adulterie.

13 ¶ * 2 Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus sawe it, hee was displeased, and said to them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdome of God 3 as a little childe, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he tooke them up in his armes, and put his hand upon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ 4 And when he was gone out on the way, there came one * running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternall life?

18 Iesus said to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good but one, even God.

19 Thou knowest the commandements, ✝ Thou shalt not commit adulterie, Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witnesse. Thou shalt d hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things have I observeth from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked upon him, and loved him, and saide unto him, One thing is lacking unto thee, Goe and sell all that thou hast, and give to the poore, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come, followe me, and take up the crosse.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said unto his disciples, How hardly doe they that have riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and said unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that thrust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God?

25 It is easier for a camell to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 But Iesus looked upon them, and said, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ ✝ 5 Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have forsaken all, and have followed thee.

13 ¶ a And seeing a figge-tree a farre off, that had leeves, he went to see if hee might finde any thing thereon: but when hee came unto it, hee found nothing but leaves: for the time of figges was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered and said to it, Never man eate fruite of thee hereafter while the world standeth, and his disciples heard it.

15 ¶ 3 And they came to Ierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde and bought in the Temple, and overthrewe the tables of the money-changers, and the seates of them that solde doves.

16 Neither would hee suffer that any man should cary a c vessel through the Temple.

21 Then Peter remembred, and said unto him, Master, behold, the figge-tree which thou cursedst, is withered.

22 And Iesus answered, and saide unto them, Have c the faith of God.

23 For verely I say unto you, that whosoever shall say unto this mountaine, Be thou taken away, and cast into the sea, and shall not waver in his heart, but shall beleeve that those things which he saith, shall come to passe, whatsoever he saith, shall be done to him.

26 For if you will not forgive, your Father which is in heaven, will not pardon you your trespasses.

27 ¶ ✣ 5 Then they came againe to Hierusalem: and as he walked in the Temple, there came to him the hie Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders, 28 And said unto him, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authoritie, that thou shouldest doe these things?

29 Then Iesus answered, & said unto them, I will also aske you a certain thing, & answere ye me, and I will tell you by what authoritie I do these things.

32 ✣ But if wee say, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted Iohn that he was a Prophet indeed.

33 Then they answered, and saide unto Iesus, We cannot tell. And Iesus answered, and said unto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the vineyard. 10 Christ the stone refused of the Iewes. 12 Of tribute to be given to Cesar. 11 The Sadduces denying the resurrection. 28 The first commandement. 31 To love God and the neighbour is better then sacrifices. 36 Christ Davids sonne. 38 To beware of the Scribes and Pharises. 42 The poore widow.

AND 1 hee began to speake unto them in a parables, * A certaine man planted a vineyard, and compassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepresse, and built a tower in it, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

2 b And at the time, hee sent to the husbandmen a servant, that hee might receive of the husbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.

3 But they tooke him, and beat him, and sent him away emptie.

4 And againe he sent unto them another servant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefull handled.

5 And againe hee sent another, and him they slew, and many other, beating some, & killing some.

6 Yet had hee one sonne, his deare beloved: him also hee sent the last unto them, saying, They will reverence my sonne.

7 But the husbandmen said among themselves, This is the heire: come, let us kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they tooke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and give the vineyard to others.

10 Have ye not read so much as this Scripture, ✣ The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is marveilous in our eyes.

12 Then they c went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 ¶ ✣ 2 And they sent unto him certaine of the Pharises, and of the Herodians, that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they saide unto him, Master, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou d considerest not the person of men, but teachest the e way of God truely, Is it lawfull to give tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should we give it, or should we not give it? but he knew their hypocrisie, and said unto them, Why tempt yee me? Bring me a penie, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and hee said unto them, Whose is this image and superscription? and they said unto him, Cesars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and said unto them, * Give to Cesar the things that are Cesars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marveiled at him.

18 ¶ ✣ Then came the Sadduces unto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, ' Moses wrote unto us, If any mans brother die, and leave his wife, and leave no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

20 There were seven brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, and he died, neither did he yet leave issue, and the third likewise:

22 So these seven had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall she be of them? for seven had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered and said unto them, Are ye not therefore deceived, because yee know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marrie, nor wives are married, but are as the Angels which are in heaven.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, have ye not read in the booke of Moses how in the bush God spake unto him, saying, I ✣ am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iakob?

27 God is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. Ye are therefore greatly deceived.

28 ¶ ✣ 4 Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiving that hee had answered them well, hee asked him, Which is the first commandement of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandements is, ✣ Heare, Israel, The Lord our God is the onely Lord.

1 The Priests conspiracie against Christ. 3 The woman powring oyle on Christs head. 12 The preparing of the Passeover. 22 The institution of the Supper. 41 Christ delivered into the hands of men. 43 Iudas betrayeth him with a kisse. 53 Christ is before Caiaphas. 66 Peters deniall.

AND ✣ 1 two dayes after followed the feast of the Passeover, and of unleavened bread: and the hie Priests, and Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they sayd, Not in the feast day, least there be any tumult among the people.

3 ✣ And when he was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he sate at ✣ table, there came a woman having a boxe of ointment of Spikenard, very costly, and she brake the boxe, and powred it on his head.

4 a Therefore some disdained among themselves, and sayd, To what end is this waste of ointment?

5 For it might have bene sold for more then a three hundreth pence, and bene given unto the poore, and they murmured against her.

6 But Iesus sayd, Let her alone: Why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 a For ye have the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not have alwayes.

8 4 She hath done that shee could: she came aforehand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verely I say unto you, wheresoever this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shalbe spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ✣ ✣ 5 Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went away unto the hie Priests, to betray him unto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would give him money: therefore he sought how he might conveniently betray him.

12 ✣ ✣ 6 Nowe the first day of unleavened bread, b when c they sacrificed the d Passeover, his disciples sayd unto him, Where wilt thou that wee goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Passeover?

13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and sayd unto them, Goe ye into the citie, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And whithersoever he goeth in, say ye to the good man of the house, The master saieth, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Passeover with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you an e upper chamber vvhich is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it readie for us.

16 So his disciples went foorth, and came to the citie, and found as he had said unto them, and made ready the Passeover.

17 ✣ And at even he came with the twelve.

18 ✣ ✣ 7 And as they sate at table and did eate, Iesus said, Verely I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me.

19 Then they began to be sorowfull and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve that f dippeth with mee in the platter.

21 Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: ✣ but woe be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had beene good for that man, if hee had never beene borne.

22 ✣ And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when hee had given thankes, hee brake it and gave it them, and said, Take, eat, this is my bodie.

23 Also hee tooke the cup, and when hee had given thanks, gave it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And he said unto them, This is my blood of that new Testament which is shed for many.

25 Verely I say unto you, I will drinke no more of the fruit of the vine untill that day, that I drinke it newin the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Olives.

27 ✣ ✣ 8 Then Iesus said unto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, ✣ I will smite the shephearde, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will go into ✣ Galile before you.

29 9 And Peter saide unto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus said unto him, Verely I say unto thee, this day, even in this night before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie me thrise.

31 But he said g more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also sayd they all.

32 ✣ ✣ 10 After, they came into a place named Gethsemane, then hee said to his disciples, Sit yee here, till I have prayed.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and he beganne to be troubled, and in great heavinesse, 34 And said unto them, My soule is verie heavie, even unto the death: tarie here, and watch.

35 So he went forward a little, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

1 The Priests conspiracie against Christ. 3 The woman powring oyle on Christs head. 12 The preparing of the Passeover. 22 The institution of the Supper. 41 Christ delivered into the hands of men. 43 Iudas betrayeth him with a kisse. 53 Christ is before Caiaphas. 66 Peters denial.

AND ✣ 1 two dayes after followed the feast of the Passeover, and of unleavened bread: and the hie Priests, and Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they sayd, Not in the feast day, least there be any tumult among the people.

3 ✣ And when he was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he sate at ỹ table, there came a woman having a boxe of ointment of Spikenard, very costly, and she brake the boxe, and powred it on his head.

4 a Therefore some disdained among themselves, and sayd, To what end is this waste of ointment?

5 For it might have bene sold for more then a three hundreth pence, and bene given unto the poore, and they murmured against her.

6 But Iesus sayd, Let her alone: Why trouble yee her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 a For ye have the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not have alwayes.

8 ✣ She hath done that shee could: she came aforehand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verely I say unto you, wheresoever this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shalbe spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ✣ ✣ 5 Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went away unto the hie Priests, to betray him unto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would give him money: therefore he sought how he might conveniently betray him.

12 ✣ ✣ 6 Nowe the first day of unleavened bread, b when c they sacrificed the d Passeover, his disciples sayd unto him, Where wilt thou that wee goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Passeover?

13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and sayd unto them, Goe ye into the citie, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And whithersoever he goeth in, say ye to the good man of the house, The master saieth, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Passeover with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you an e upper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it readie for us.

16 So his disciples went foorth, and came to the citie, and found as he had said unto them, and made ready the Passeover.

17 ✣ And at even he came with the twelve.

18 ✣ ✣ 7 And as they sate at table and did eate, Iesus said, Verely I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me.

19 Then they began to be sorowfull and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve that f dippeth with mee in the platter.

21 Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: ✣ but woe be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had beene good for that man, if hee had never beene borne.

22 * And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when hee had given thankes, hee brake it and gave it them, and said, Take, eat, this is my bodie.

23 Also hee tooke the cup, and when hee had given thanks, gave it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And he said unto them, This is my blood of that new Testament which is shed for many.

25 Verely I say unto you, I will drinke no more of the fruit of the vine untill that day, that I drinke it new in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Olives.

27 ✣ ✣ ✣ 8 Then Iesus said unto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, ✣ I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will go into * Galile before you.

29 9 And Peter saide unto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus said unto him, Verely I say unto thee, this day, even in this night before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie me thrise.

31 But he said g more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also sayd they all.

32 ✣ ✣ 10 After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then hee said to his disciples, Sit yee here, till I have prayed.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and he beganne to be troubled, and in great heavinesse,

34 And said unto them, My soule is verie heavie, even unto the death: tarie here, and watch.

35 So he went forward a little, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

38 ‡ Watch yee, and pray, that yee enter not into tentation: the spirit indeede is ready, but the flesh is weake.

39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40 And he returned, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heavie: neither knewe they what they should answere him.

41 And he came the third time, and said unto them, Sleepe hencefoorth, and take your rest: it is ynough: the houre is come, behold, the Sonne of man is delivered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise up: let us goe: loe, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

43 ✠ 12 And immediatly while hee yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.

44 And he that betrayed him, had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kisse, he it is: take him and leade him away safely.

45 And assoone as hee was come, hee went straightway to him, and sayd, Haile Master, and kissed him.

46 Then they layd their handes on him, and tooke him.

47 And k one of them that stood by, drewe out a sword, and smote a servant of the Hie Priest, and cut off his eare.

48 And Iesus answered, and sayd to them, Yee be come out as against a thiefe, with swords and with staves, to take me.

49 I was dayly with you, teaching in the Temple, and ye tooke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they l all forsooke him, and fled.

51 13 And there followed him a certaine yong man, cloathed in m linnen upon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloath, and fled from them naked.

53 ‡ So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came n together all the hie Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him a farre off, even into the hall of the hie Priest, and sate with the servants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.

55 14 And the * hie Priests, and all the Counsell sought for witnesse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witnesse against him, but their witnesse agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnesse against him, saying,

58 Wee heard him say, * I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witnes yet agreed not together.

60 Then the hie Priest stoode up amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare witnesse against thee?

61 But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, and sayd unto him, Art thou that Christ the sonne of the o blessed?

62 And Iesus sayd, I am he, ✠ and yee shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heaven.

63 Then the hie Priest rent his cloathes, and said, What have we any more neede of witnesses?

64 Ye have heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to be worthie of death.

65 15 And some began to spit at him, and to cover his face, and to beate him with fists, and to say unto him, Prophecie. And the sergeants smote him with their rods.

66 ‡ 15 And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the hie Priest.

67 And when she saw Peter warming himselfe, shee looked on him, and sayd, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But he denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 * Then p a maid saw him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But hee denied it againe: and anon after, they that stoode by, saide againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them; for thou art of Galile, and thy speach is like.

71 And hee began to curse, and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 * Then the second time the cocke crewe, and Peter remembred the word that Iesus had laid unto him, Before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie me thrise, and weighing that with himselfe, he wept.

28 Thus the ſcripture was fulfilled, which ſayth, * And he was counted among the wicked.

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and ſaying, * Hey, thou that deſtroyeſt the Temple, and buildeſt it in three dayes, 30 Save thy ſelfe, and come downe from the croſſe.

32 Let Chriſt the king of Iſrael now come downe from the croſſe, that we may ſee, and beleeve. They alſo that were crucified with him, reviled him.

33 ¶ Now when the ſixt houre was come, 6 darknes aroſe over c all the land untill the ninth houre.

34 And at the 7 ninth houre Ieſus cried with a loud voice, ſaying, ✠ Eloi, Eloi, lamma-ſabachthani? which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſake me?

35 And ſome of them that ſtood by, when they heard it, ſayd, Beholde, he calleth Elias.

36 And one ranne, and filled a ✠ ſpunge full of vineger, and put it on a reed, & gave him to drinke, ſaying, Let him alone, let us ſee if Elias will come, and take him downe.

37 And Ieſus cried with a loud voice, and gave up the ghoſt.

38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome.

39 Now when the Centurion, which ſtood over againſt him, ſaw that he thus crying gave up the ghoſt, he ſayd, Truely this man was the Sonne of God.

40 ¶ 8 There were alſo women which beheld afarre off, among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of Iames the leſſe, and of Ioſes, and Salome, 41 Which alſo when he was in Galile, * followed him, and miniſtred unto him, and many other women which came up with him unto Hieruſalem.

42 * And now when the night was come (becauſe it was the day of the preparation that is before the Sabbath)

43 * Ioſeph of Arimathea, an d honourable counſellour, which alſo looked for the kingdome of God, came, and went in e boldly unto Pilate, and asked the body of Ieſus.

44 And Pilate marveiled, if he were alreadie dead, and called unto him the Centurion, and aſked of him whether he had bene any while dead.

45 And when he knew the trueth of the Centurion, he gave the body to Ioſeph:

46 Who bought a linnen cloath, and tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloath, and layed him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a ſtone unto the doore of the ſepulchre:

47 And Marie Magdalene, and Marie Ioſes mother, beheld where he ſhould be layed.

FOrasmuch as 1 many have a taken in hand to set foorth the storie of those things, whereof we are fully perswaded,

2 b As they have delivered them unto us, which from the beginning saw them their selves, and were ministers of the word,

3 It seemed good also to mee (c most noble Theophilus) assoone as I had searched out perfectly all things d from the beginning, to write unto thee thereof from point to point,

4 That thou mightest e acknowledge the certaintie of those things whereof thou hast bene instructed.

5 IN a the f time of g Herod king of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the ✣ h course of Abia: and his wife was of he daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabet.

6 Both were i iust before God, and k walked in all the l commandements and ordinances of the Lord, m without reproofe.

7 And they had no childe, because that Elisabet was barren, and both were well stricken in age.

8 And it came to passe, as hee executed the Priests office before God, as his course came in order, 9 ✣ According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the n Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, * while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared unto him an Angel of the Lord, standing at the right side of the Altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and feare fell upon him.

13 But the Angel sayd unto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisabet shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.

14 And thou shalt have ioy and gladnesse, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

15 For hee shall be great in the o sight of the Lord, and shall neither drinke wine, nor p strong drinke: and he shalbe filled with the holy Ghost, even from his mothers wombe.

16 * And many of the children of Israel shall he q turne to their Lord God.

17 ✣ For he shall goe r before him s in the spirit and power of Elias, to turne the t hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the u wisdome of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

x That appeare, for so the Hebrewes vse this word (to stand) meaning that they are ready to doe his commandement.

3 The Angel setting the Lord which should be borne, is sent to the virgin Marie, in whom the Sonne of the most high promised to David, is conceived by the vertue of the holy Ghost.

✣ Matth.1.18.

y As much is to be said of Marie, otherwise Christ had not bene of the stocke, nor the sonne of David.

z It might be rendred worde for word, full of fauour and grace, and hee sheweth straight after, laying out plainely vnto vs, what that fauour is, in that he saith, the Lord is with thee.

a Of God.

d He shallbe declared so to be, for he was the Sonne of God from everlasting, but was made manifest in the flesh in his time.

✣ Dan.7.14 27. micah.4.7.

e The greatnesse of the matter causeth the Virgin to aske this question, not that she distrusteth any whit at all, for she asketh only of the maner of the conceiving, so that it is plaine she beleeved all the rest.

f So speake the Hebrewes, signifying by this modest kinde of speech the company of man and wife together, and this is the meaning of it: how shall this be, forseeing I shallbe Christ his mother, I am very sure, I shall not know any man: for the godly virgin had learned by the Prophets that the Messias should be borne of a Virgin.

g That is, the holy Ghost shall cause thee to conceive by his mighty power.

h That pure thing and word of all spot of vncleannesse: for he that was to take away sinne, must needs be void of sinne.

i Declared, and shewed to the world, to be the Soone of God.

k Though Elisabet were of the tribe of Levi, yet she might be Maries cousin: for whereas it was forbidden by the Law, for maidens to be maried to men of other tribes, this could not let, but that the Levites might take them wives out of any tribe: for the Levites had no portion allotted them, when the land was divided among the people.

l That is now the sixth moneth from the time when she conceived.

by shall I know this? for I am an olde man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angell answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel x that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumme, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things be done, because thou beleevest not my wordes, which shallbe fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marveiled that he taried so long in the Temple.

22 And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceived that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the daies of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabeth conceived, and hid her selfe fiue moneths, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the dayes wherein hee looked on me, to take from mee my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ 3 And in the sixth moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, 27 ✣ To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the y house of David, and the virgins name was Marie.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and sayd, Haile thou that art z freely beloved: the Lord is with thee: a blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, shee was b troubled at his saying, and thought what maner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said vnto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast c found favour with God.

31 ✣ For loe thou shalt conceive in thy whombe, and beare a sonne, * and shalt call his Name Iesus.

32 He shall be great, and shall be d called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall give vnto him the throne of his father David.

33 * And hee shall reigne over the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none ende.

34 Then said Marie vnto the Angel, e How shall this be, seeing f I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost g shall come upon thee, and the power of the most High shall overshadow thee: therefore also that h Holy thing which shallbe borne of thee, shallbe i called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy k cousin, Elisabet, she hath also conceived a sonne in her old age: and this is her l sixt moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.

38 Then Marie said, Beholde the servant of the Lord: be it vnto me according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ 4 And Marie arose in those dayes, and went into the m hill countrey with haste to a n citie of Iuda, 40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elizabet heard the salutation of Marie, the babe o sprang in her bellie, and Elisabet was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cried with a loud voyce, and said, Blessed art thou among women, because p the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence commeth this to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, assoone as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioy.

45 And blessed is shee that beleeved: for those things shallbe performed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 5 Then Marie said, My soule magnifieth the Lord,

47 And my spirit reioyceth in God my Saviour.

48 For hee hath q looked on the r poore degree of his servant: for beholde, from hencefoorth shall all ages call me blessed,

49 Because he that is mighty hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them s that feare him.

51 ✣ He that shewed strength with his t arme: ✣ he hath u scattered the proud in the x imagination of their hearts.

53 * Hee hath filled the a hungrie with good things, and sent away the rich empty.

54 b ✣ He hath upholden Israel his servant to be mindfull of his mercy.

55 (* As hee hath c spoken to our fathers, to vvit, to Abraham and his seed) for ever.

56 ¶ And Marie aboade with her about three moneths: after, she returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ 6 Now Elisabets time was fulfilled, that she should be delivered, and she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbours and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie upon her, and they ✣ reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and sayd, Not so, but he shallbe called Iohn.

61 And they sayd vnto her, There is none of thy kinred that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would have him called.

63 So he asked for writing-tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marveiled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediatly, and his tongue, ‖ and he spake and praised God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dwelt neere vnto them, and all d these words were noised abroad thorowout all the hill countrey of Iudea.

Augustus Cesar taxeth all the world. 7 Christ is borne. 13 The Angels sing. 22 Christ is circumcised. 22 Marie purified. 28 Simeon taketh Christ in his armes. 29 His song. 36 Anna the Prophetesse. 40 The childe Christ. 36 Iesus disputeth with the doctours.

1 Christ the sonne of God, taking upon him the forme of a servant, and making himselfe of no reputation, is poorely borne in a stable: and by the meanes of Augustus the mightiest prince in the world (thinking nothing lesse) hath his cradle prepared in Beth-leem, as the Prophets forewarned.
a So farre as the Empire of the Romanes did stretch.
b That is, the inhabitants of every citie should have their names taken, and their goods rated at a certaine value, that the Emperour might vnderstand, how rich every countrey, citie, family, and house was. c Which David was borne, and brought up in. ✣ John 7. 42.

AND 1 it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a decree from Augustus Cesar, that all the a world should be b taxed.

2 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenius was governour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed, every man to his owne citie.

4 And Ioseph also went up from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Iudea, unto the c citie of David, which is called Beth-leem (because he was of the house and linage of David.)

5 To be taxed with Mary that was given him to wife, which was with childe.

6 ¶ And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that shee should be delivered.

7 And shee brought foorth her first begotten sonne, and wrapped him in swadling cloathes, and laid him in a cratch, because there was no roome for them in the Inne.

8 ¶ 2 And there were in the same countrey shepheards, d abiding in the fielde, and keeping watch by night over their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord e came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid.

10 Then the Angel saide unto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people, 11 That is, that unto you is borne this day in the citie of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shallbe a signe unto you, Yee shall finde the babe swadled, and laid in a cratch.

13 And straightway there was with the Angel f a multitude of heavenly souldiers, praising God, and saying, 14 Glory be to God in the high heavens, and peace in earth, and towards men g good will.

15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heaven, that the shepheards saide one to another, Let us goe then unto Beth-leem, and see this thing that is come to passe, which the Lord hath shewed unto us.

16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Ioseph and the babe layd in the cratch.

17 And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing that was tolde them of that childe.

18 And all that heard it, wondred at the things which were tolde them of the shepheards.

19 But Mary kept all those sayings, and pondred them in her heart.

20 And the shepheards returned glorifying and praising God, for all that they had heard and seene, as it was spoken unto them.

21 ¶ ✣ 3 And when the eight dayes were accomplished, that they should circumcise the child, his name was then called ✣ Iesus, which was named of the Angel, before he was conceived in the wombe.

22 4 And when the dayes of h her purification, after the Law of Moyses, were accomplished, they brought him to Hierusalem, to present him to the Lord,

23 (As it is written in the Lawe of the Lord, ✲ Every man childe that first openeth the wombe, shallbe called holy to the Lord.)

24 And to give an oblation, ✲ as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a paire of turtle doves, or two yong pigeons.

25 5 And beholde, there was a man in Hierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the i holy Ghost was upon him.

26 And it was declareth to him from God by the holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before he had seene that Anointed of the Lord.

27 And he came by the motion of the spirit into the Temple, and when the k parents brought in the babe Iesus, to doe for him after the custome of the Law,

28 Then he tooke him in his armes, and praised God, and sayd,

29 Lord, now l letteſt thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy m word,

30 For n mine eyes have seene thy o salvation, a The Angels themselves declare to poore shepheards (nothing regarding the pride of the mightie) the Godhead and office of the childe lying in the crib.

d Lodging without doores, and open in the aire.
e Came suddenly upon them, when they thought of no such matter.

5 Simeon doth openly in the Temple foretell the deafe, of the comming of Messias, of the casting out of the greatest part of Israel, and of the calling of the Gentiles.
i He was indued with the gifts of the holy Ghost, and this is spoken by the figure Metonymie.
k Ioseph and Marie: and so he speaketh, as it was commonly taken. l Letteſt me depart out of this life, to be joyned to my fathers. m As thou promisedst me. n That is, for I have seene with my very eyes: for he saw before in minde, as it is said of Abraham, He saw my day, and rejoyced. o That, wherein thy salvation is conteined.

33 And Ioseph and his mother marueiled at those things, which were spoken touching him.

34 And Simeon blessed them, and sayde vnto Mary his mother, beholde, this child is q appointed for the ✠ r fall and rising againe of many in Israel, and for a ſ signe which shall be spoken against,

36 6 And there was a Propheteſſe, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aſer, which was of a great age, after she had lived with an husband seuen yeeres from her virginity:

6 Another witnesse beside Simeon against whom no exception may be brought, inuiting all men to the receiuing of the Messias.

37 And she was widow about foureſcoure, and foure yeeres, and went not out of the Temple, but serued God with fastings and prayers night and day.

38 She then comming at the same instant vpon them, confeſſed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things, according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth.

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong in Spirit, u and was filled with wisedome, and the grace of God was with him.

u As Christ grew vp in age, so the riuerue of his Godhead shewed it selfe more and more.

44 But they supposing that he had bene in the company, went a dayes iourney, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hieruſalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the mids of the doctours, both hearing them, and asking them questions:

47 And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding and answeres.

48 8 So when they saw him, they were amaſed, and his mother sayd vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealth with vs? behold, thy father and I have sought thee with very heavie hearts.

8 All dueties which we owe to men as they were not to be neglected, so are they according to our vocation, not to be preferred before the glory of God.

49 Then sayd he vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew yee not that I must goe about my Fathers busines?

50 But they vnderstood not the word that hee spake to them.

51 9 Then hee went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

9 Christ very man is made like vnto vs in all things, except sinne.

4 Iohn exhorteth to repentance. 15 His testimony of Christ.
20 Herod putteth him in prison. 21 Christ is baptised.
23 His pedegree.

1 Iohn commeth at the time foretolde of the Prophets, and layeth the foundation of the Gospel which is exhibited vnto vs, setting forth the true obseruing of the Law, & free mercy in Christ, which commeth after him, vsing also baptisme the effectuall signe both of regeneration and also of forgiueneſſe of sinnes.

a Iosephus calleth him Ananus.

3 ✠ And he came into all the coastes about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes, ✠ Matth. 3,2. marke 1,4.

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Propher, which saith, * The voyce of him that crieth in the wildernes is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

* Esai. 40, 3. Iohn 1, 23.

5 Every valley shallbe filled, and every mountaine and hill shall be brought low, and crooked things shallbe made straight, and the rough wayes shall be made smooth.

c Which was payd them, partly in money, and partly in victuall.

12 Then came there Publicanes also to be baptized, and sayd vnto him, Maſter, what shall we doe?

2 If we will rightly, and fruitfully receiue the sacraments, we must neither rest in the signes, neither in him that ministreth the signes, but lift vp our eyes to Christ, who is the author of the sacraments, and the giuer of that which is represented by the sacraments.

13 And he sayd vnto them, Require no more then that which is b appointed vnto you.

14 The souldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he sayd vnto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your c wages.

15 2 As the people waited, and all men mused in their hearts of Iohn, if he were not that Christ.

16 Iohn answered, and sayd to them all, * Indeed I baptize you with water, but one stronger then I, commeth, whose shooes latchet I am not worthy to vnloose: hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

CHAP. IV.

1 Of Christes temptation, and fasting. 16 Hee teacheth in Nazareth to the great admiration of all. 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his owne countrey is contemned. 33 One possessed of the devil is cured. 38 Peters mother in lawe is healed, 40 and diuers sicke persons are restored to health. 41 The devils acknowledge Christ.

ANd 1 Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was led by that Spirit into the wildernesse.

2 ✣ And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the devill, & in those dayes he did eat nothing, but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.

3 2 Then the devill sayd unto him, If thou be the sonne of God, command this stone, that it be made bread.

4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, ✣ That man shall not live by bread onely, but by every word of God.

5 Then the devill tooke him up into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkeling of an eye.

6 And the devill sayde unto him, All this a power will I give thee, and the glory of those kingdomes: for that is b delivered to me: and to whomsoever I will, I give it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shallbe all c thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and sayd, Hence from me, Satan: for it is written, ✣ Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone thou shalt serve.

9 Then he brought him to Hierusalem, and set him on a pinacle of the Temple, and sayd unto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence, 11 And with their handes they shall lift thee up, least at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and sayd unto him, It is sayd, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the devill had ended all the tentations, he departed from him for a little season.

17 And there was delivered unto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when hee had d opened the booke, he found the place, where it was written,

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And hee closed the booke, and gave it againe to the minister, and sate downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then hee began to say unto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 ¶ And all e bare him witnes, and f wondred at the g gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and sayd, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then he sayd unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this Proverbe, Physician, heale thy selfe: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine owne countrey.

2 Christ by healing the leper with his onely touch, and sending him to the Priest, witnesseth that it is he, through whom and by whom apprehended by faith, all we which are uncleane, according to the Lawe, by the witnesse of God himselfe, are pronounced to be pure and cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him.

16 But he kept himselfe apart in the wildernes, and prayed.

20 And when he saw their faith, hee said unto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharises began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceived their reasoning, hee answered, and said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

30 But they that were Scribes and Phariſes among them, murmured againſt his diſciples, ſaying, Why eate ye and drinke yee with Publicanes and ſinners?

22 ¶ ✠ 5 And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he said unto them, Let us goe over unto the other side of the lake. And they lanched forth.

23 And as they sailed, hee fell h asleepe, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and i they were filled with water, and were in ieopardie.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waves of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then he saide unto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, and wondered among themselves, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him?

26 ¶ ✠ So they sailed unto the region of the Gadarenes, which is over against Galile.

27 6 And as hee went out to land, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had devils long time, and he ware no garment, neither aboade in house, but in graves.

28 And when he saw Iesus, hee cried out, and fell downe before him, and with a loud voyce said, What have I to doe with thee, Iesus the sonne of God the most High? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For he commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times hee had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bands, k and was caried of the devill into wildernesses.)

30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he said, Legion, because many devils were entred into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to goe out into the deepe.

32 And there was thereby an heard of many swine feeding on an hill: and the devils besought him, that hee would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33 Then went the devils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the heard was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choaked.

34 When the heardman sawe what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they told it in the citie and in the countrey.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whom the devils were departed, sitting at the feete of Iesus, cloathed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, tolde them by what meanes he that was possessed with the devill, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarenes, besought him that hee would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man, out of whom the devils were departed, besought him that hee might be with him: but Iesus sent him away, saying,

39 Returne into thine owne house, and shewe what great things God hath done to thee. So hee went his way, and preached l throughout all the citie, what great things Iesus had done unto him.

28 ✣ And

28 ✣ 6 And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and Iames, and went up into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his contenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And, beholde, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glorie, and tolde of his h departing, which hee should accomplish at Hierusalem.

32 But Peter and they that were with him, were heavie with sleepe, and when they awoke, they saw his glorie, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said unto Iesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: let us therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias, and wist not what he said.

34 Whiles hee thus spake, there came a cloude and overshadowed them, and they feared when they where entring into the cloud.

35 ✣ And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is that my beloved Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Iesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and tolde no man in i those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 ¶ 7 And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 * And beholde, a man of the companie cryed out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my sonne: for he is all that I have.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he crieth, and he teareth him, that he fometh, and hardly departeth from him, when hee hath k bruised him.

40 Nowe I have besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles hee was yet comming, the devill rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the uncleane spirite, and healed the childe, and delivered him to his father.

43 ¶ 8 And they were all amased at the mightie power of God: and while they all wondered at al things which Iesus did, he said unto his disciples, 44 l Marke these wordes diligently: ✣ for it shall come to passe, that the sonne of man shall be delivered into the hands of men.

45 But they understood not that worde: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceive it: and they feared to aske him of that word.

46 ¶✣ 9 Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 When Iesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a little child, and set him by him,

48 And saide unto them, Whosoever receiveth this little childe in my Name, receiveth mee: and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, hee shall be great.

49 ¶ * 10 And Iohn answered and sayde, Master, we sawe one casting out devils in thy Name, and we forbad him, because he followeth thee not with us.

50 Then Iesus saide unto him, Forbid yee him not: for he that is not against us, is with us.

51 ¶ 11 And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that he should be received up, he m setled himselfe fully to goe to Hierusalem, 52 And sent messengers before him, and they went and entred into a towne of the Samaritanes, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they wouldе not receive him, because his behaviour was as though he would goe to Hierusalem.

54 12 And when his disciples, Iames and Iohn saw it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that we command, that fire come downe from heaven, and consume them, even as Elias did?

55 But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what n spirit ye are.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens lives, but to save them. Then they went to another towne.

57 ¶ 13 And it came to passe that as they went in the way, ✣ a certaine man saide unto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whither soever thou goest.

58 And Iesus saide unto him, The Foxes have holes, and the birdes of the heaven nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lay his head, 59 14 But hee said unto another, Followe mee. And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to goe and burie my father.

60 And Iesus said unto him, Let the dead burie o their dead: but goe thou, and preach the kingdom o f God.

61 15 Then another said, I will followe thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

62 And Iesus saide unto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe, is apt to the kingdome of God.

12 For I say unto you, that it shall be easier in that day for them of Sodome, then for that citie.

13 * Woe be to thee, Chorazin, woe be to thee, Beth-saida: for if the miracles had beene done in Tyrus and Sidon, which have beene done in you, they had a great while agone repented, sitting in sackcloath and ashes.

14 Therefore it shall be easier for Tyrus, and Sidon, at the iudgement, then for you.

15 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heaven, shalt be thrust downe to hell.

16 ¶ ✠ Hee that heareth you, heareth me: and he that dispiseth you, dispiseth me: and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me.

17 ¶ 4 And the seventie turned againe with ioy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subdued to us e through thy Name.

18 And hee saide unto them, I sawe Satan, like lightning, f fall downe from heaven.

19 Beholde, I give unto you power to tread on Serpents, and Scorpions, and over all the power of the enemie, and nothing shall g hurt you.

20 Nevertheless, in this reioyce not, that the spirites are subdued unto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in heaven.

21 ¶ 5 That same houre reioyced Iesus in the spirite, and said, I confesse unto thee, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the h wise and understanding, and hast revealed them to babes: even so, Father, because it so pleased thee. ‖

22 6 All things are given me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, save the Sonne, and he to whome the Sonne will reveale him.

23 ¶ 7 And he turned to his disciples, and said secretly, Blessed are the eyes, which see that ye see.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings have desired to see those things, which ye see, and have not seene them: and to heare those things which ye heare, and have not heard them.

25 ¶ * 8 Then beholde, i a certaine Lawyer stoode up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I doe to inherite eternall life?

26 And hee saide unto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And hee answered and saide, ✠ Thou shalt love thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, ✠ and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

28 Then he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt live.

29 9 But hee willing to k iustifie himselfe, saide unto Iesus, Who is then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and saide, A certaine man went downe from Hierusalem to Iericho, and fell among theeves, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departing, leaving him halfe dead.

31 Now so it fell out, that there came downe a certaine Priest that same way, and when hee sawe him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Levite, when hee was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine Samaritane, as he iourneyed, came neere unto him, and when he sawe him, he had compassion on him.

34 And went to him, and bound up his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made provision for him.

35 And on the morrow when he departed, hee tooke out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which nowe of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the theeves?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercie on him. Then said Iesus unto him, Goe, and doe thou likewise.

38 ¶ 10 Now it came to passe, as they went, that hee entred into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, received him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sate at Iesus feet, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was combred about much serving, and came to him, and saide, Master, doest thou not care that my sister hath left mee to serve alone? bid her therefore, that shee helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou caresst, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needfull. Marie hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

4 The parable of the lost sheepe. 8 Of the groate. 18 And of the prodigall sonne.

THen ❋ resorted unto 1 him 2 all the Publicanes and sinners, to heare him.

❋ Or, drew neere.

1 We must not despaire of them, which have gone out of the way, but according the example of Christ, we must take great paines about them.

2 Some Publicans and sinners came to Christ from all quarters.

2 Therefore the Phatises, and Scribes murmured, saying, Hee receiveth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 ❋ What man of you having an hundreth sheepe, if hee lose one of them, doth not leave ninetie and nine in the wildernesse, and goe after that which is lost, untill he finde it?

❋ Matth. 18. 12.

5 And when he hath found it, hee layeth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when he commeth home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Reioyce with mee: for I have founde my sheepe which was lost.

7 I say unto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heaven for one sinner that converteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman having tenne groates, if shee loose one groate, doeth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till she findeit?

9 And when she hath found it, shee calleth her friendes, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I have found the groat which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say unto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that converteth.

11 ‡ 12 Hee said moreover, A certaine man had two sonnes.

12 And the yonger of them sayde to his father, Father, give mee the portion of the goods that falleth to mee. So hee divided unto them his substance.

2 Men by their voluntary falling from God, having spoiled themselves of the benefits which they received of him, cast themselves headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodnesse, offering themselfe freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatnesse of their miserie wherewith they were tained, doeth not onely gently receive them, but also enricheth them with farre greater gifts, and blesseth them with the chiefest blisse.

13 So not many dayes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, he tooke his iourney into a farre countrey, and there hee wasted his goods with riotous living.

14 Nowe when hee had spent all, there arose a great dearth thorowout that land, and hee began to be in necessitie.

15 Then hee went and clave to a citizen of that countrey, and hee sent him to his farme, to feed swine.

16 And hee would faine have filled his bellie with the huskes that the swine ate; but no man gave them him.

17 3 Then he came to himselfe, and sayd, How many hired servants at my fathers have bread enough, and I die for hunger?

3 The beginning of repentance is the acknowledging of the mercy of God, which stireth us to hope well.

18 I will rise and go to my father, and say unto him, Father, I have sinned against b heaven, and before thee.

b Against God because he is sayd to dwell in heaven.

19 And am no more worthy to be called thy sonne: make my as one of thine hired servants.

20 So he arose and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 4 And the sonne said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

4 In true repentance there is a feeling of our sinnes, ioyned with sorrow and shame, from whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgivenesse.

22 Then the father sayd to his servants, Bring foorth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet.

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let us eat, and be merry:

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is alive againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merry.

25 5 Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came & drew neere to the house, he heard melodie.

5 Such as truely feare God, desire to have all men to be their fellowes.

26 And called one of his servants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he sayd unto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat calfe, because he hath received him safe and sound.

28 Then he was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.

29 But he answered, and sayd to his father, Loe, these many yeeres have I done thee service, neither brake I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou never gavest me a kid that I might make merry with my friends.

30 But

30 But when this thy ſonne was come, which hath devoured thy goods with harlots, thou haſt for his ſake killed the fat calfe.

31 And he ſaid unto him, Sonne, thou art ever with me, and all that I have, is thine. It was meete that we ſhould make mery, and bee glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive againe: and he was loſt, but he is found.

1 The parable of the ſteward accuſed to his maſter. 13 To ſerve two maſters. 16 The law and the Prophets. 19 Of Dives and Lazarus.

A Nd he ſayd alſo unto his diſciples, 1 There was a certaine rich man, which had a ſteward, and he was accuſed unto him, that hee waſted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and ſayde unto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Give an account of thy ſtewardſhip: for thou mayeſt be no longer ſteward.

3 Then the ſteward ſayde within himſelfe, What ſhall I doe? for my maſter taketh away from me the ſtewardſhip, I cannot digge, and to begge I am aſhamed.

4 I knowe what I will doe, that when I am put out of the ſtewardſhip, they may receive me into their houſes.

5 Then called he unto him every one of his maſters debters, and ſayd unto the firſt, How much oweſt thou unto my maſter?

6 And he ſayd, An hundreth meaſures of oyle. And he ſaide to him, Take thy writing, and ſit downe quickely, and write fiftie.

7 Then ſaid he to another, How much oweſt thou? And he ſayde, An hundreth meaſures of wheate. Then he ſayd to him, Take thy writing and write foureſcore.

8 And the Lord commended a the vniuſt ſteward, becauſe he had done wiſely. Wherefore the b children of this world are in their generation wiſer then the children of light.

9 And I ſay unto you, Make you friends with the riches c of iniquitie, that when ye ſhall want, they may receive you into everlaſting d habitations.

10 e He that is faithfull in the leaſt, he is alſo faithfull in much, and he that is vniuſt in the leaſt, is vniuſt alſo in much.

11 If then yee have not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will truſt you in the e true treaſure?

12 And if yee have not bene faithfull in another mans goods, who ſhall give you that which is yours?

13 ✣ 3 No ſervant can ſerve two maſters: for either he ſhall hate the one, and love the other: or els he ſhall leane to the one, and deſpiſe the other. Ye cannot ſerve God and riches.

14 All theſe things heard the Phariſes alſo which were covetous, and they ſcoffed at him.

18 ✣ ✣ Whoſoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adulterie: and whoſoever marrieth her g that is put away from her husband, committeth adulterie.

19 ✣ 6 There was a certaine rich man, which was cloathed in k purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Alſo there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layde at his gate full of ſores, 21 And deſired to bee refreſhed with the crummes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his ſores.

22 And it was ſo that the begger died: and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams boſome. The rich man alſo died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, i he lift up his eyes, and ſaw Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his boſome.

24 Then hee cried, and ſayd, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and ſend Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham ſayd, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiveſt thy pleaſures, and likewiſe Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Beſide all this, betweeney ou and us there is a great gulfe ſet, ſo that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to us.

27 7 Then he ſayd, I pray thee therefore father that thou wouldeſt ſend him to my fathers houſe, 28 (For I have five brethren) that he may teſtifie unto them, leſt they alſo come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham ſayd unto him, They have Moyſes and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he ſayd, Nay father Abraham: but if one come unto them from the dead, they will amend their lives.

31 Then he ſaid unto them, If they heare not Moyſes and the Prophets, neither will they be perſuaded, though one riſe from the dead againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Offences. 3 We muſt forgive him that treſpaſſeth againſt us. 10 Wee are unprofitable ſervants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the comming of the kingdome of heaven. 33 Falſe Chriſts. 36 After what maner Chriſts comming ſhall be.

T Hen ſayd hee to his diſciples, ✣ 1 It can not be avoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great milſtone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were caſt into the ſea, then that he ſhould offend one of theſe little ones.

3 ✣ 2 Take heed to your ſelves: if thy brother treſpaſſe againſt thee, rebuke him: and if hee repent, forgive him.

2 Seeing that men oftentimes purchaſe friendſhip to themſelves, by other mens coſts, it is a ſhame for us, if with a free and liberall beſtowing of the goods which the Lord hath given us to that purpoſe, we doe not pleaſe him, nor procure the good will of our neighbours, ſeeing that by this onely meanes, riches, which are oftentimes occaſions of ſinne, are turned to another ende and purpoſe.

a This parable doth not approove the ſtewards naughtie dealing, for it was very theft: but parables are ſet forth, to ſhew a thing covertly & as it were under a figure to repreſent the trueth, though it agree not throughly with the matter it ſelfe: ſo that Chriſt meaneth by this parable to teach us, that worldly men are more hedie in the affaires of this world, then children of God are carefull for everlaſting life.

b Men that are given to this preſent life, contrary to whom the children of light are ſet: S. Paul calleth thoſe ſpirituall, and the other carnall.

c This is not ſpoken of goods that are evill gotten, for God will have one bountifulneſſe to the poore, from a good fountaine: but he calleth theſe riches of iniquitie, which men uſe naughtily.

d To wit, the poore Chriſtians: for they are the inhabiters of theſe Tabernacles. Theophil.

e We ought to take heede that for abuſing our earthly function and duetie, wee be not deprived of heavenly giftes: for howe can they vſe ſpirituall giftes aright, who abuſe worldly things?

f That is, heavenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fleeting ſubſtance.

g Matth. 6, 14.

3 No man can love God and riches together.

4 Our ſinnes are not hidden to God, although they be hidden to man, yea although they be hidden to them whoſe ſinnes they are.

✣ Matth. 11, 12.

5 The Phariſes deſpiſed the excellencie of the new Covenant, in reſpect of the olde, being ignorant of the perfect righteouſneſſe of the Law, and how falſe expounders they were of the Law, Chriſt declareth by the ſeventh Commandement.

g They that gather by this place, that a man cannot be maried againe after that he hath put away his wife for adulterie, while ſhe liveth, reaſon findly: for Chriſt ſpeaketh of thoſe divorces which the Iewes uſed, of which for we can not take the diſorcement for adultery, for adulterers were put to death by the law.

6 The end of the poverty and miſerie of the godly, ſhalbe everlaſting ioy: as the end of the rioteouſneſſe and cruell pride of the rich ſhallbe everlaſting miſerie, without all hope of mercy.

k Very gorgeouſly and ſumptuouſly: for purple garments were coſtly, and this fine linnen which was a kinde of linnen that came out of Achaia, was as deare as golde.

i Heavenly and ſpirituall things are expreſſed, and ſet forth under colours and reſemblances fit for our ſenſes.

7 Seeing that we have a moſt ſure rule to live by, layd forth unto us in the word of God, raſhly and vainely doe men ſeeke for other revelations.

✣ Matth. 18, 7. marke 9, 42.

times in a day, and seven times in a day turne a-gaine to thee, saying, It repenteth mee, thou shalt forgive him.

5 ¶ 3 And the Apostles sayd unto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, ✠ If ye had faith, as much as is a graine of mustard seed, and should say unto this mulberie-tree, Plucke thy selfe up by the roores, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should even obey you.

7 ¶ 4 Who is it also of you, that having a servant plowing or feeding cattell, would say unto him by and by, when hee were come from the field, Goe, and sit downe at table?

8 And would not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, and gird thy selfe, and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drinke thou?

9 Doeth hee thanke that servant, because hee did that which was commanded unto him? I trow not.

10 ¶ 5 So likewise yee, when yee have done all those things, which are commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duetie to doe.

11 ¶ 6 And so it was when he went to Hierusalem, that hee passed through the middes of Samaria, and Galile.

12 And as hee entred into a certaine towne, there mette him ten men that were lepers, which stood a farre off.

13 And they lift up their voyces and sayd, Iesus, Master, have mercy on us.

14 And when he saw them, he sayd unto them, ✠ Go, shew your selves unto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were clensed.

15 Then one of them, when hee saw that hee was healed, turned backe, and with a loud voyce praysed God.

16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gave him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Iesus answered, and sayd, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to give God prayse, save this stranger.

19 And hee sayd unto him, Arise, goe thy way, thy faith hath saved thee.

20 ¶ 7 And when hee was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God should come, he answered them, and sayd, The kingdome of God commeth not with b observation.

21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdome of God is c within you.

22 ¶ 8 And he sayd unto the disciples, The dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see d one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 ✠ 9 Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but goe not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lightneth out of the one part under heaven, shineth unto the other part under heaven, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things, and be reproved of this generation.

26 ✠ 10 And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wives, and gave in marriage unto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 ✠ Likeneese also as it was in the dayes of Lot: They ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all.

30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the sonne of man revealed.

31 11 At that day he that is upon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behinde.

32 * Remember Lots wife.

33 Whosoever will seeke to save his soule, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, shall e get it life.

34 ✠ I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shallbe received, and the other shallbe left.

35 Two women shallbe grudging together, the one shallbe taken, and the other shallbe left.

36 Two shallbe in the field: one shallbe received, and another shallbe left.

37 12 And they answered, and sayde to him, Where, Lord? And he sayd unto them, Wheresoever the body is, thither shall also the egles be gathered together.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The parable of the unrighteous Iudge and the widow. 10 Of the Pharise and the Publicane. 15 Children are of the kingdome of heaven. 22 To sell and give to the poore. 28 The Apostles forsake all. 31 Christ foretelleth his death. 35 The blinde man receiveth sight.

AND 1 hee spake also a parable unto them, to this end, that they ✠ ought alwayes to pray, and not to a waxe faint,

2 b Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine city, which feared not God, neither reverenced man.

3 And there was a widow in that city, which came unto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine adversarie.

4 And hee would not of a long time: but afterward he sayd with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reverence man,

5 Yet because this widow troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last shee come and c make me weary.

6 And the Lord sayd, Heare what the unrighteous Iudge saith.

7 Now shall not God avenge his elect, which cry night and day unto him, yea, though d he suffer long for them?

8 I tell you he will avenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, shall hee find faith on the earth?

9 ¶ 2 He spake also this parable unto certaine which trusted in themselves that they were iust, and despised other.

10 Two men went up into the Temple to pray:

3 God will never be unmyndfull or lacking to the Godly (although he be not so perfitly with them, as they would) even in those difficulties, which cannot be overcome by mans reason.

✠ Matth. 17. 20.

a If you had no more faith but the quantitie of the graine of mustard seede.

4 Seeing that God may challenge unto himselfe of right, both us and all that is ours, he can be debter unto us for nothing, although we labour manfully even unto death.

5 The most perfit keeping of the Law, which we can performe, deserved no reward.

6 Christ doeth well even unto such, as will be unthankfull, but the benefits of God profite them onely to salvation, which are thankfull.

✠ Levit. 14. 2.

7 The kingdome of God is not marked of many, although it be most present before their eyes: because they fondly perswade themselves, that it is joyned with outward pompe.

b With any outward pompe and shew of maiestie, to be knowne by: for there were otherwise many plaine and evident tokens whereby men might have understood, that Christ was the Messias, whose kingdome was so long looked for: but he speaketh in this place of those figues which the Pharises dreamed of, which looked for an earthly kingdome of Messias.

c You looke about for Messias as though he were absent, but he is amongst you in the middes of you.

8 Wee oftentimes neglect those things when they be present, which wee afterward desire when they are gone, but in vaine. d The time will come that you shall seeke for the Sonne of man with great sorow of heart & shall not finde him.

a Yeelde to afflictions, and adversities as they doe which are out of heart.

b He doeth not compare things that are equall together, but the lesse with the greater: If a man get his right at a most unrighteous iudges hands, much more shall the prayers of the godly prevaile before God.

c Word for word, beate mee downe with her blowes, and it is a metaphore taken of wrestlers, who beate their adversaries with their fistes or clubbes: so doe they that are importunate beate the iudges eares with their crying out, even as it were with blowes. d Though he seeme slowe in revenging the iniurie done to his.

2 Two things especially make our prayers voyde and of none effect: confidence of our owne righteousnesse, and the contempt of other: and an humble heart is contrary to both these,

the one a Phariſe, and the other a Publican.

11 3 The Phariſe ſtoode and prayed thus with himſelfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, uniuſt, adulterers, or even as this Publican.

12 I faſt twiſe in the weeke: I give tithe of all that ever I poſſeſſe.

13 But the Publican ſtanding e a farre off, would not lift up ſo much as his eyes to heaven, but ſmote his breſt, ſaying, O God, be mercifull to mee a ſinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed to his houſe, iuſtified rather then the other: 4 for every man that exalteth himſelfe ſhall be brought low, and he that humbleth himſelfe ſhalbe exalted.

15 ¶ ✠ f They brought unto him alſo babes that he ſhould touch them. 4 And when his diſciples ſaw it, they rebuked them.

16 5 But Ieſus g called them unto him, and ſaid, Suffer the babes to come unto mee, and forbid them not: for of ſuch is the kingdome of God.

17 6 Verely I ſay unto you, whoſoever receiveth not the kingdome of God as a babe, hee ſhall not enter therein.

18 * Then a certaine ruler asked him, ſaying, Good Maſter, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life?

19 And Ieſus ſayd unto him, Why calleſt thou me good? none is good, ſave one, even God.

20 Thou knoweſt the commandements, * Thou ſhalt not commit adulterie: Thou ſhalt not kill: Thou ſhalt not ſteale: Thou ſhalt not beare falſe witneſſe: Honour thy father and thy mother.

21 7 And he ſayd, All theſe have I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Ieſus heard that, hee ſayd untó him, yet lackeſt thou one thing, Sell all that ever thou haſt, and diſtribute unto the poore, and thou ſhalt have treaſure in heaven, and come follow me.

23 But when he heard thoſe things, he was very heavy: for he was marveilous rich.

24 8 And when Ieſus ſaw him very ſorowfull, he ſayd, With what difficultie ſhall they that have riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

25 Surely it is eaſier for a camel to go through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then ſaid they that heard it, And who then ſhall be ſaved?

27 And he ſayd, The things which are unpoſſible with men, are poſsible with God.

28 ¶ ✠ Then Peter ſaid, Loe, we have left all, and have followed thee.

29 9 And he ſayd unto them, Verely I ſay unto you, there is no man that hath left houſe, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods ſake, 30 Which ſhall not receive much more in this world, and in the world to come life everlaſting.

31 ¶ * 10 Then Ieſus tooke unto him ✠ twelve, and ſayd unto them, Behold, we goe up to Hieruſalem, and all things ſhall be fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he ſhall be delivered unto the Gentiles, and ſhall be mocked, and ſhalbe ſpitefully entreated, and ſhalbe ſpited on.

33 And when they have ſcourged him, they will put him to death: but the third day hee ſhall riſe againe.

34 But they underſtood h none of theſe things, and this ſaying was hid from them, neither perceived they the things, which were ſpoken.

35 ¶ ✠ 11 And it came to paſſe, that as he was come neere unto Iericho, a certaine blinde man ſate by the way ſide, begging.

36 And when he heard the people paſſe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they ſayd unto him, that Ieſus of Nazareth paſſed by.

38 Then he cried, ſaying, Ieſus the Sonne of David, have mercy on me.

39 12 And they which went before, rebuked him that hee ſhould hold his peace, but hee cryed much more, O Sonne of David, have mercy on me.

40 And Ieſus ſtood ſtill, and commanded him to be brought unto him. And when hee was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe unto thee? And hee ſayd, Lord, that I may receive my ſight.

42 And Ieſus ſayd nnto him, Receive thy ſight: thy faith hath ſaved thee.

43 Then immediatly he received his ſight, and followed him, praiſing God: and all the people, when they ſaw this, gave praiſe to God.

NOw 1 when Ieſus entred and paſſed through Iericho,

2 Beholde, there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the a chiefe receiver of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And hee ſought to ſee Ieſus, who he ſhould be, and could not for the preaſſe, becauſe hee was of a low ſtature.

4 Wherefore he ranne before, and climed up into a wilde ſigge-tree, that he might ſee him: for he ſhould come that way.

5 And when Ieſus came to the place, hee looked up, and ſaw him, and ſaid unto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I muſt abide at thine houſe.

6 Then he came downe haſtily, and received him ioyfully.

7 2 And when all they ſaw it, they murmured, ſaying, that hee was gone in to lodge with a ſinfull man.

8 3 And Zaccheus ſtood forth, and ſaid unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the halfe of my goods I give to the poore: and if I have taken from any man by b forged cavillation, I reſtore him foure fold.

9 Then Ieſus ſayd to him, This day is ſalvation come unto this houſe, foraſmuch as he is alſo become the c ſonne of Abraham.

10 ✠ For the ſonne of man is come to ſeeke, and to ſave that which was loſt.

11 4 And whiles they heard theſe things, hee continued and ſpake a parable, becauſe hee was neere to Hieruſalem, and becauſe alſo they thought that the kingdome of God ſhould ſhortly appeare.

12 He ſayd therefore, * A certaine noble man went into a farre countrey, to receive for himſelfe a kingdome, and ſo to come againe.

13 5 And

13 § And he called his ten ſervants, and delivered them ten pieces of money, and ſaid unto them, Occupy till I come.

§ There are three ſorts of men in the Church: the one ſort fall from Chriſt whom they ſee not: the other, which according to their vocation, beſtow the gifts which they have received of God, to his glory with great paines and diligence: the third live idlely, and do no good. As for the firſt, the Lord when hee commeth will juſtly puniſh them in his time: the other he will bleſſe, according to the paines which they have taken: and as for the ſlouthfull and idle perſon, he will puniſh them at the firſt.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and ſent an ambaſſage after him, ſaying, Wee will not have this man to reigne over us.

15 And it came to paſſe, when he was come againe, and had received his kingdome, that he commanded the ſervants to be called to him, to whom he gave his money, that he might know what every man had gained.

16 Then came the firſt, ſaying, Lord, [d] thy piece hath encreaſed ten pieces.

17 And he ſaide unto him, Well, good ſervant: becauſe thou haſt bene faithfull in a very little thing, take thou authoritie over ten cities.

18 And the ſecond came, ſaying, Lord, thy piece hath encreaſed five pieces.

19 And to the ſame he ſaid, Be thou alſo ruler over five cities.

d This was a piece of money, which the Grecians uſed, and was in value about an hundred pence, which is about ten crownes.

20 § So the other came, and ſaid, Lord, behold thy piece, which I have layd up in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, becauſe thou art a ſtraite man: thou takeſt up that thou laiedſt not downe, and reapeſt that thou diddeſt not ſow.

22 Then hee ſaid unto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O evill ſervant. Thou kneweſt that I am a ſtraite man, taking up that I laid not downe, and reaping that I did not ſow.

23 Wherefore then gaveſt not thou my money into the [e] banke, that at my comming I might have required it with vantage?

24 And hee ſaid to them that ſtood by, Take from him that piece, and give it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they ſaide unto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

26 ✣ For I ſay unto you, that unto all them that have, it ſhallbe given: and from him that hath not, even that he hath, ſhallbe taken from him.

27 Moreover, thoſe mine enemies, which would not that I ſhould reigne over them, bring hither, and ſlay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus ſpoken, [f] hee went foorth before, aſcending up to Hieruſalem.

29 ✣ § 7 And it came to paſſe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, beſides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, he ſent two of his diſciples, 30 Saying, Go ye to the towne which is before you, wherein aſſoone as ye are come, ye ſhall finde a colt tied, whereon never man ſate: looſe him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any aske you, why ye looſe him, thus ſhall ye ſay unto him, Becauſe the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were ſent, went their way, and found it as he had ſaid unto them.

33 And as they were looſing the colt, the owners thereof ſaid unto them, Why looſe yee the colte?

34 And they ſayd, The Lord hath neede of him.

35 ¶ * So they brought him to Ieſus, and they caſt their garments on the colt, and ſet Ieſus thereon.

36 And as hee went, they ſpred their cloathes in the way.

37 And when hee was now come neere to the going downe of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the diſciples began to reioyce, and to praiſe God with a loude voyce, for all the great workes that they had ſeene, 38 Saying, Bleſſed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the higheſt places.

39 § Then ſome of the Phariſes of the company ſaid unto him, Maſter, rebuke thy diſciples.

40 But he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, I tell you, that if theſe ſhould holde their peace, the ſtones would cry.

41 ¶ ✣ 9 And when he was come neere, he beheld the Citie, and wept for it, 42 Saying, [h] O if thou haddeſt even knowen [i] at the leaſt in this [k] thy day thoſe things, which belong unto thy [l] peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes ſhall come upon thee, that thine enemies ſhall caſt a trench about thee, and compaſſe thee round, and keepe thee in on every ſide, 44 And ſhall make thee even with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they ſhall not leave in thee a ſtone upon a ſtone, becauſe thou kneweſt not [m] that ſeaſon of thy viſitation.

45 ¶ § 10 Hee went alſo into the Temple, and began to caſt out them that ſold therein, and them that bought,

46 Saying unto them, It is written, * Mine houſe is the houſe of prayer, ✻ but ye have made it a denne of theeves.

47 And he taught dayly in the Temple. And the hie Prieſtes and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people ſought to deſtroy him.

48 But they coulde not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hanged upon him when they heard him.

CHAP. XX.

4 From whence Johns Baptiſme was. 9 The wickednesse of the Prieſts is noted by the parable of the vineyard and the husbandmen. 21 To giue tribute to Cesar. 27 He conuinceth the Sadducets denying the reſurrection. 41 How Chriſt is the ſonne of David.

AND ✣ 1 it came to paſſe, that on one of thoſe dayes, as hee taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Goſpel, the hie Prieſtes and the Scribes came upon him, with the Elders,

2 And ſpake unto him, ſaying, Tell us by what authoritie thou doeſt theſe things, or who is hee that hath given thee this authoritie?

3 And he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, I alſo will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptiſme of Iohn, was it from heaven, or of men?

5 And they reaſoned within themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, From heaven, he will ſay, Why then beleeved ye him not?

6 But if wee ſhall ſay, Of men, all the people will ſtone us: for they be perſwaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they anſwered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Ieſus ſaid unto them, Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I doe theſe things.

9 ¶ * 2 Then began he to ſpeake to the people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard, ✣ Matth. 21, 23. marke 11, 27.

7 Chriſt ſheweth in his owne perſon, that his kingdome is not of this world.

and let it foorth to husbandmen: and went into a ſtrange countrey, for a great time.

10 And at the time convenient hee ſent a ſervant to the husbandmen, that they ſhould give him of the fruite of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and ſent him away emptie.

11 Againe hee ſent yet another ſervant: and they did beate him, and foule intreated him, and ſent him away emptie.

12 Moreover he ſent the thirde, and him they wounded and caſt out.

13 Then ſaid the Lord of the vineyard, What ſhall I doe? I will ſende my beloved ſonne: it may be that they will do reverence when they ſee him.

14 But when the husbandmen ſawe him, they reaſoned with themſelves, ſaying, This is the heire: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they caſt him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What ſhall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe unto them?

16 Hee will come and deſtroy theſe husbandmen, and will give our his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they ſaid, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and ſayd, What meaneth this then that is written, ✣ The ſtone that the builders refuſed, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whoſoever ſhall fall upon that ſtone, ſhall be broken: and on whomſoever it ſhall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

19 Then the high Prieſtes, and the Scribes the ſame houre went about to lay hands on him (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had ſpoken this parable againſt them.

20 ¶ 3 And they [a] watched him and ſent foorth [b] ſpies, which ſhould faine themſelves iuſt men [c] to take him in his talke, and to deliver him unto the power and [d] authoritie of the governour.

21 And they asked him, ſaying, Maſter, we know that thou ſayeſt, and teacheſt right, neither doeſt thou accept [e] any mans perſon, but teacheſt the way of God truely.

22 Is it lawfull for us to give Ceſar tribute or no?

23 But he perceived their [f] craftineſſe, and ſaid unto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shewe mee a pennie. Whoſe image and ſuperſcription hath it? They anſwered, and ſayde, Ceſars.

25 Then hee ſaid unto them, * Give then unto Ceſar the things which are Ceſars, and to God thoſe which are Gods.

26 And they could not reproove his ſaying before the people: but they marveiled at his anſwere, and held their peace.

27 * 4 Then came to him certaine of the Sadduces (which deny that there is any reſurrection) and they asked him, 28 Saying, Maſter, ✣ Moſes wrote unto us, If any mans brother die having a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother ſhould take his wife, and raiſe up ſeede unto his brother.

29 Now there were ſeven brethren, and the firſt tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the ſecond tooke the wife, and he died childleſſe.

31 Then the thirde tooke her: and ſo likewiſe the ſeven died, and left no children.

32 And laſt of all, the woman died alſo.

33 Therefore at the reſurrection, whoſe wife of them ſhall ſhe be? for ſeven had her to wife.

34 Then Ieſus anſwered, and ſaide unto them, The [g] children of this world marry wives, and are married, 35 But they which ſhall be counted worthy to enioy that world, and the reſurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, foraſmuch as they are equall unto the Angels, and are the ſonnes of God, ſince they are the [h] children of the reſurrection.

37 And that the dead ſhall riſe againe, even ✣ Moſes ſhewed it beſides the buſh, when he ſaide, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Iacob.

38 For he is not the God of the dead, but of them which live: for all [i] liue unto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes anſwered, and ſaid, Maſter, thou haſt well ſaid.

40 And after that, durſt they not aske him any thing at all.

41 ¶ * 5 Then ſaid he unto them, How ſay they that Chriſt is Davids ſonne?

42 And David himſelfe ſaith in the booke of the Pſalmes, * The Lord ſaide unto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 43 Till I have make thine enemies thy footeſtoole.

44 Seeing David called him Lord, how is hee then his ſonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he ſayd unto his diſciples,

46 * 6 Beware of the Scribes, which willingly goe in long robes, and love ſalutations in the markets, and the higheſt ſeates in the aſſemblies, and the chiefe roomes at feaſts:

AND ✣, as he beheide, hee ſawe the rich men which caſt their gifts into the treaſurie.

2 And hee ſawe alſo a certaine poore widowe which caſt in thither two mites:

3 And he ſaide, Of a trueth I ſay unto you, that this poore widowe hath caſt in more then they all.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 He is accusſth before Pilate. 7 He is sent to Herode. 12 He is mocked. 14 Pilate yeldeth him up to the Iewes request. 27 The women bewaile him. 33 He is crucified. 39 One of the theeves reuileth him. 43 The other is saued by faith. 45 He dieth. 53 He is buried.

THen 1 the whole multitude of them arose, and led him unto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We have found this man a perverting the nation, ✣ and forbidding to pay tribute to Cesar, saying, That he is Christ a King.

3 * And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the hie Priestes, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, Hee mooveth the people, teaching throughout all Iu-dea, beginning at Galile, even to this place.

6 2 Now when Pilate heard of Galile, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of b Herodes iurisdiction, hee sent him to Herod, which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes.

8 And when Herod saw Iesus, he was exceedingly glad: for hee was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and trusteth to have seene some signe done by him.

9 Then questioned hee with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The hie Priestes also and Scribes stoode foorth and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his c men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, and araied him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 3 And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

13 ¶ 4 Then Pilate called together the high Priests, and the d rulers, and the people,

14 ✣ And said unto them, Yee have brought this man unto me, as one that perverted the people: and beholde, I have examined him before you, and have found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him:
and loe, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

16 5 I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 (For of necessitie hee must have let one loose unto them at the feast.)

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying,
Away with him, and deliver unto us Barabbas:

19 Which for a certaine insurrection made in the citie, and murther, was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

21 But they cryed, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

22 6 And he said unto them the third time, But what evill hath hee done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were instant with loud voyces, and required that he might be crucified: and the voyces of them and of the hie Priests prevailed.

24 So Pilate gave sentence, that it should be as they required.

25 And hee let loose unto them him that for insurrection and murther was cast into prison, whom they desired, and delivered Iesus to doe with him what they would.

26 ¶ ✣ 7 And as they ledde him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, comming out of the field, and on him they laid the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

27 8 And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Iesus turned backe unto them, and said, Daughters of Hierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selves, and for your children.

29 For behold, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that never bare, and the pappes which never gave sucke.

30 Then shall they begin to say to the moun-taines, ✣ Fall on us: and to the hilles, Cover us.

31 * For if they doe these things to a e greene tree, what shall be done to the drie?

32 ✣ And there were two others, which were evill doers, led with him to be slaine.

33 9 And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvarie, there they crucified him, and the evill doers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 10 Then said Iesus, Father, forgive them: for they knowe not what they doe. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, Hee saved others: let him save himselfe, if he be that Christ the f Chosen of God.

36 The souldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vineger,

37 And said, If thou be the King of the Iewes, save thy selfe.

38 11 And a superscription was also written over him, in Greeke letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE IEWES.

39 ¶ g And 12 one of the evill doers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be that Christ, save thy selfe and us.

saying, Feareſt thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

IN 1 the a beginning b was c that Word, and that Word was d with God, and that e Word was God.

2 This same was in the beginning with God.

3 ✣ 2 All f things were made by it, and g without it h was made nothing that was made.

4 i In it k was life, and that life was l the light of men.

1 The Sonne of God is of one, and the selfe same eternitie or everlastingnesse, and of one and the selfe same essence or nature, with the Father.

a From his beginning, as the Euangelist saith, 1. epistle 2,1. as though he said, that the world began not then to have his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the word was even then when all things that were made, began to be made, and therefore hee was before the beginning of all things.

b Had his being.

c This word, That, pointeth out unto us a peculiar and choise thing above all other, and putteth a difference betweene this Worde, which is the Sonne of God, and the Lawes of God, which otherwise also are called the word of God.

d This word (With) putteth out the distinction of persons to us.

e This worde (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, and is that which the learned call (Subiectum:) and this word (God) is the latter in order, and the same which the learned call (Predicatum.)

✣ Col. 1.16.

2 The Sonne of God declareth that same his everlasting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preserving of them, and especially by the excellent gifts of reason and understanding, wherewith he that beautified man above all other creatures.

f Paul expoundeth this place, Coloss. 1.15. and 16 verses.

g That is, as the Father did worke, so did the Sonne worke with him: for he was fellow-worker with him.

h Of all these things which were made, nothing was made without him.

i That is, by him: and it is spoken after the manner of the Hebrewes: meaning thereby that by his force and working power all life commeth to the world.

k To wit, even then, when all things are made by him, for els he would have said, Life is in him, and not life was.

l That force of reason and understanding, which is kindled to our mindes to knowledge him the author of so great a benefite.

5 3 And that light shineth in the wildernesse, and the darkenesse m comprehended it not.

6 ¶ ✣ 4 There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn.

7 This same came for a witnesse, to beare witnesse of that light, that all men n through him might beleeve.

8 Hee was not o that light, but was sent to beare witnesse of that light.

9 5 This was p that true light, which lighteth every man that commeth into the world.

10 q Hee was in the world, and the worlde was ✱ made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came r unto his owne, and his owne received him not.

12 6 But as many as received him, to them hee gave s prerogative to be the sonnes of God, even to them that beleeve in his Name, 13 Which are borne not of blood, nor of the t will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

3 The light of men is turned into darkenesse, but yet so that there is clearenes ynough to make them without excuse.

m They could not perceive nor reach unto it, to receive any light of it, no, they did not so much as acknowledge him.

✣ Matth. 3,1. marke 1,4. luke 3,2.

4 There is another more full manifestation of the Sonne of God, to the consideration whereof men are in good time stirred up, even by Iohns voice, who is as it were the herault of Christ.

n Through Iohn.

o That light which we spake of, to wit, Christ, who onely can lighten our darkenesse.

5 When as the Sonne of God sawe, that man did not acknowledge him by his workes, although they were endued with understanding (which hee had given to them all) hee exhibited himselfe unto his people to be seene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receive him.

p Who onely and properly deserveth to be called the light, for he shineth of himselfe and borroweth light of noue.

q That person of the Word, was made manifest even at that time when the worlde was made.

r The Word shewed himselfe againe, when he came in the flesh.

6 The Sonne being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a fewe, doth regenerate them by his owne vertue and power, and receiveth them into that honour which is common to all the children of God, that is to bee the sonnes of God.

s He vouchsafed to give them that prerogative to take them to be his children.

t Of that grosse and corrupt nature of man; which is throughout the Scriptures set as enemie to the Spirit.

* Matth.1.16.
7 That Sonne, who is God from everlasting, tooke upon him mans nature, that one and the selfe same might be both God and man, which manifestly appeared to many witnesses, that saw him amongst whom he was conversant, and unto whome by sure and undoubted arguments he shewed both his natures.
u That is, man: so that the part is taken for the whole, by the figure Synecdoche: for he tooke upon him all our whole nature, that is to say, a true body, and a true soule.
x For a season, and when that was ended, he went up into heaven: for the word which he useth, is taken from tents: and yet notwithstanding, his absence from us in body is not such, but that he is alwayes present with us, though not in flesh, yet by the vertue of his spirit.
‡ Matth.17.2. 2.pet.1.17.
y The glory which he speaketh of here, is that manifestation of Christ his maiestie, which was as it were layd open before our eyes when the Sonne of God appeared in flesh. z This word (as) doeth not in this place betoken a likenesse, but the trueth of the matter, for his meaning is this, that we saw such a glorie, as beseemed and was meete for the true and onely begotten Sonne of God, who is Lord and King over all the world. a Hee was not onely a partaker of grace and trueth, but was full of the very substance of grace and trueth.
8 Iohn is a faithfull witnesse of the excellencie of Christ. b That is, Hee before whome I am sent to prepare him the way: so that these words are referred to the time of his calling, and not of his age, for Iohn was six moneths older then he.

9 Now when the governour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for hee knew not whence it was, but the servants, which drew the water, knew) the governour of the feast called the bridegrome.

10 And sayd unto him, All men at the beginning set foorth good wine, and when men have e well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine untill now.

13 Iesus answered, and sayd unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water, shall thirst againe:

14 But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him, shall never be more athirst: but the water that I shall give him, shallbe in him a well of water, springing up into everlasting life.

15 The woman said unto him, Sir, give me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to draw.

16 Iesus said unto her, Goe, call thine husband, and come hither.

17 The woman answered, and sayd, I have no husband. Iesus sayd unto her, Thou hast well sayd, I have no husband.

18 For thou hast had five husbands, and hee whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saydest thou truely.

19 The woman sayd unto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.

20 3 Our fathers worshipped in this [f] mountaine, and yee say, that in * Ierusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Iesus sayd unto her, Woman, beleeve me, the houre commeth, when yee shall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hierusalem worship the Father.

22 Ye worship that which ye [g] know not: we worship that which wee know: for salvation is of the Iewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in [g] Spirit and Trueth: for the Father requireth even such to worship him.

24 * God is a [h] Spirit, and they that worship him, must worship him in Spirit and Trueth.

25 The woman sayd unto him, I know well that Messias shall come, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell us all things.

26 Iesus sayd unto her, I am he that speake unto thee.

27 ¶ And upon that, came his disciples, and marveiled that hee talked with a woman: yet no man sayd unto him, What askest thou? or why talkest thou with her.

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the city, and sayd to the men, 29 Come, see a man which hath told mee all things that ever I did: is not he that Christ?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came unto him.

31 ¶ In the meane while, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat.

32 4 But hee sayd unto them, I have meat to eat, that ye know not of.

33 Then sayd the disciples betweene themselves, Hath any man brought him meat?

34 Iesus sayd unto them, My meat is that I may doe the will of him that sent mee, and finish his worke.

35 5 Say not ye, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth harvest? Behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and looke on the regions: † for they are white already unto harvest.

36 6 And hee that reapeth, receiveth reward, and gathered fruit unto life eternall, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth might rejoyce together.

37 For herein is the [i] saying true, that one soweth and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reape that, whereon ye bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entred into their labours.

39 7 Now many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleeved in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He that tolde me all things that ever I did.

40 Then when the Samaritans were come unto him, they besought him, that he would tary with them: and he aboade there two dayes.

41 And many moe beleeved because of his owne word.

42 And they sayd unto the woman, Now we beleeve, not because of thy saying: for wee have heard him our selves, and know that this is indeed that Christ the Saviour of the world.

43 ¶ [l] So two dayes after he departed thence, and went into [k] Galile.

44 For Iesus himselfe had * testified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his owne contrey.

45 Then when hee was come into Galile, the Galileans received him, which had seene all the things that he did at Hierusalem at the feast: for they went also to the feast.

46 9 And Iesus came againe into [g] Cana a towne of Galile, where he had made of water wine. And there was a certaine [l] ruler, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Iesus was come out of Iudea into Galile, hee went unto him, and besought him that he would goe downe, and heale his sonne: for he was even readie to die.

48 Then sayd Iesus unto him, Except yee see signes and wonders, ye will not beleeve.

49 The ruler sayd unto him, Sir, go downe before my sonne die.

50 Iesus sayd unto him, Goe thy way, thy sonne liveth: and the man beleeved the word that Iesus had spoken unto him, and went his way.

51 And as hee was now going downe, his servants met him, saying, Thy sonne liveth.

52 Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amend. And they sayd unto him, Yesterday the seventh houre the fever left him.

53 Then the father knew that it was the same houre in the which Iesus had sayd unto him, Thy sonne liveth. And he beleeve, and all his houshold.

54 This second miracle did Iesus againe, after he was come out of Iudea into Galile.

8 Ieſus ſayd unto him, Riſe: take up thy bed, and walke.

11 He anſwered them, He that made me whole he ſayd unto me, Take up thy bed, and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which ſayd unto thee, Take up thy bed, and walke?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Ieſus had conveyed himſelfe away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Ieſus found him in the Temple, and ſayd unto him, Beholde, thou art made whole: ſinne no more, leaſt a worſe thing come unto thee.

15 § The man departed, and tolde the Iewes that it was Ieſus that had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Iewes did perſecute Ieſus, and ſought to ſlay him, becauſe he had done theſe things on the Sabbath day.

17 3 But Ieſus anſwered them, My father worketh hitherto, and I worke.

18 ✠ Therefore the Iewes ſought the more to kill him: not onely becauſe hee had broken the Sabbath: but ſayd alſo that God was c his Father, and made himſelfe equall with God.

19 Then anſwered Ieſus, and ſayd unto them, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, The Sonne can doe nothing d of himſelfe, ſave that he ſeeth the Father doe: for whatſoever things he doeth, the ſame things doth the Sonne f in like maner.

20 For the Father loveth the Sonne, and ſheweth him all things, whatſoever he himſelfe doeth, and he will ſhew him greater workes then theſe, that ye ſhould marveil.

24 Verely, verely I ſay unto you, he that heareth my word, and beleeveth him that ſent mee, hath everlaſting life, and ſhall not come into condemnation, but hath paſſed from death to life.

25 6 Verely, verely I ſay unto you, the heoure ſhall come, and now is, when the dead ſhall heare the voice of the Sonne of God: and they that heare it ſhall live.

26 For as the Father hath life in himſelfe, ſo likewiſe hath he given to the Sonne to have life in himſelfe.

AFter these things, Iesus went his way, ouer the sea of Galile, which is Tiberias.
2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, which he did on them that were diseased.
3 Then Iesus went up into a mountaine, and there he sate with his disciples.
4 Nowe the Passeouer, a ✱ feast of the Iewes was neere.
5 ✣ 1 Then Iesus lift up his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came unto him, he said unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might eat?
6 (And this hee sayd to proove him: for hee himselfe knew what he would do.)
7 Philip answered him, Two hundreth peniworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.
8 Then sayd unto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother, 9 There is a little boy here, which hath five barley loaves, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?
10 And Iesus said, Make the people sit downe. (Now there was much grasse in that place.) Then the men sate downe, in number about five thousand.
11 And Iesus tooke the bread, and gaue thanks, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.
12 And when they were satisfied, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost.
13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the broken meate of the five barley loaves, which remained unto them that had eaten.
14 Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, said, This is of a trueth that Prophet that should come into the world.
15 2 When Iesus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a king, he departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.
16 ¶ 3 When euen was now come, his disciples went downe unto the sea, 17 ✱ And entred into a ship, and went ouer the sea, b towards Capernaum: and now it was darke, and Iesus was not come to them.
18 And the Sea arose with a great winde that blew.
19 And when they had rowed about five and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they saw Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing neere unto the ship: so they were afraid.
20 But he said unto them, It is I: be not afraid.
21 Then c willingly they received him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.
22 ¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, saue that one, whereinto his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone,
23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias neere unto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had given thankes.
24 Nowe when the people saw that Iesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also tooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Iesus.
25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

32 7 Then Iesus sayd unto them, Verely, verely I say unto you, Moses gaue you not h that bread from heaven, but my Father giveth you that true bread from heaven.
33 For the bread of God is hee which commeth downe from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.
34 Then they sayd unto him, Lord, evermore give us this bread.
35 And Iesus sayd unto them, I am that bread i of life: he that commeth to me, shall not hunger, and he that beleeveth in me, shall never thirst.
36 But I say unto you, that ye also have seene me, and beleeve not.
37 8 All that the Father giveth me, shall come to me: and him that commeth to me, I cast not away.
38 For I came downe from heaven, not to doe mine k owne will, but his will which hath sent me.

50 p That is that bread, which commeth downe from heaven, that he which eateth of it, should not die.

51 q I am that q living bread, which came downe from heaven: if any man r eate of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for he life of the world.

52 s Then the Iewes strove among themselves, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eate?

53 Then Iesus sayd unto them, Verely, verely I say unto you, Except ye eate the flesh of the Son of man, and drinke his blood, ye have t no life in you.

54 Whosoever eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raise him up at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meate indeede, and my blood is drinke indeede.

56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As u that living Father hath sent me, so live I by the u Father, and he that eateth me, even hee shall live by me.

58 This is that bread which came downe from heaven: not as your fathers have eaten Manna, and are dead. He that eateth of this bread, shall live for ever.

59 These things spake hee in the Synagogue as he taught in Capernaum.

60 x Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) saide, This is an heard saying: who can heare it?

61 But Iesus knowing in himselfe, that his disciples murmured at this, said unto them, Doeth this offend you?

62 What then if yee should see that Sonne of man ascend up ✣ where he was before?

63 y It is the x spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the wordes that I speake unto you, are spirit and life.

64 But there are some of you that beleeve not: for Iesus knewe from the beginning, which they were that beleeved not, and who should betray him.

65 And he said, Therefore said I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it be given unto him of my Father.

66 z From that time, many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.

67 Then saide Iesus to the twelve, Will ye also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we goe? thou hast the wordes of eternall life:

69 And wee beleeve and knowe that thou art that Christ that Sonne of the living God.

70 a Iesus answered them, Have not I ✣ chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devill?

71 Now he spake it of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon: for hee it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelve.

a Christ, after his cousins were gone up to the feast of Tabernacles, 10 goeth thither privily. 12 The peoples sundry opinions of him. 14 He teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Priests command to take him. 41 Strife among the multitude about him. 47 and betweene the Pharises and the officers that were sent to take him, 50 and Nicodemus.

AFter these things, Iesus walked in Galile, and would not walke in Iudea: for the Iewes sought to kill him.

2 Now the Iewes ✣ a feast of the Tabernacles was at hand.

3 b His brethren therefore sayd unto him, Depart hence, and goe into Iudea, that thy disciples may see thy works that thou doest.

4 For there is no man that doth any thing secretly, & he himselfe seeketh to be famous. If thou doest these things, shew they selfe to the world.

5 For as yet his b brethren beleeved not in him.

6 a Then Iesus sayd unto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

7 The world can not hate you: but me it hateth, because I testifie of it, that the works thereof are evill.

8 Go ye up into this feast: I will not go up yet unto this feast: * for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 ¶ These things he sayd unto them, and aboade still in Galile.

10 3 But assoone as his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were privily.

11 Then the Iewes sought him at the feast, and sayd, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some sayd, He is a good man: other sayd, Nay: but he deceiveth the people.

13 Howbeit no man spake c openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

14 4 Now when d halfe the feast was done, Iesus went up into the Temple, and taught.

15 And the Iewes marveiled, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that he never learned!

3 An example of horrible confusion in the very bosom of the Church. The Pastours oppresse the people with terrours and feare: the people seeke Christ, when he appeareth not, when he offereth himselfe, they neglect him.

c Or, boldly, and freely: for the chiefe of the Iewes sought nothing so much, as to bury his fame and name.

4 Christ striveth with goodnesse against the wickednesse of the world: in the meane season the most part of men take occasion of offence even by that same, whereby they ought to have bene stirred up to embrace Christ.

15 Such is the malice of men, that they take occasion of their owne destruction, even of the very doctrine of salvation (unlesse it be a few, which beleeve through the singular gift of God.)

16 The number of the professours of Christ is very small, and among them also there be some hypocrites, and worse then all other.

✣ Matth. 26, 16.

16 5 Iesus answered them, and sayd, e My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.

17 If any man will doe his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe.

18 6 He that speaketh of himselfe, seeketh his owne glory: but hee that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousnesse is in him.

19 ✣ 7 Did not Moses give you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? ✣ Why goe yee about to kill me?

20 The people answered, and sayd, Thou hast a devill: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 8 Iesus answered, and sayd unto him, I have done one worke, and ye all marveile.

22 * Moses therefore gave unto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the * fathers) and yee on the Sabbath day circumcise a man.

23 If a man on the Sabbath receive circumcision, that the f Law of Moses should not be broken, be ye angry with mee, because I have made a man every whit whole on the Sabbath day?

24 ✣ 9 Iudge not g according to the appearance, but iudge righteous iudgement.

25 9 10 Then sayd some of them of Hierusalem, Is not this he whom they goe about to kill?

26 And behold, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: doe the rulers know indeed that this is indeed that Christ?

27 11 Howbeit we know this man whence hee is: but when that Christ commeth, no man shall know whence he is.

28 ¶ 12 Then cryed Iesus in the Temple as hee taught, saying, Ye both know mee, and knowe whence I am: yet am I not come of my selfe, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.

29 But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me.

30 13 Then they sought to take him, but no man layd hands on him, because his houre was not yet come.

31 Now many of the people beleeved on him, and sayd, When that Christ commeth, will he doe moe miracles then this man hath done?

32 14 The Pharises heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharises, and high Priests sent officers to take him.

33 Then sayd Iesus unto them, Yet am I a little while h with you, and then goe I unto him that sent me.

34 * Ye shall seeke me, and shall not find mee, and where I am can ye not come.

35 Then sayde the Iewes among themselves, Whither will hee goe, that we shall not find him? Will hee go unto them that are h dispersed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

36 What saying is this that hee sayd, Yee shall seeke mee, and shall not find mee? and where I am, can ye not come?

37 15 Now in the i last and ✣ great day of the feast, Iesus stood and cryed, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drinke.

38 He that beleeveth in mee, ✣ as sayth the * Scripture, out of his belly shall flow rivers of water of life.

39 (* This spake hee of the Spirit, which they that beleeved in him, should receive: for the l holy Ghost was not yet given, because that Iesus was not yet m glorified.)

40 16 So many of the people, when they heard this saying, sayd, * Of a trueth this is that Prophet.

41 Other sayd, This is that Christ: and some sayd, But shall that Christ come out of Galile?

42 * Saith not the Scripture that that Christ shall come of the seede of David, and out of the towne of Beth-lehem, where David was?

43 So was there discension among the people for him.

44 And some of them would have taken him, but no man laid hands on him.

45 17 Then came the officers of the hie Priests and Pharises, and they sayd unto them, Why have ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Never man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharises, Are ye also deceived?

48 18 Doeth any of the rulers, or of the Pharises beleeve in him?

49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed.

50 Nicodemus sayd unto them, (* he that came to Iesus by night, and was one of them.)

51 Doth our Law iudge a man before it heare him, ✣ and know n what he hath done?

52 They answered, and said unto him, Art thou also of Galile? Search and looke: for out of Galile ariseth no Prophet.

52 19 And every man went unto his own house.

5 ✣ 1 Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should be stoned: what saiest thou therefore?

6 And this they said to tempt him, that they might have, whereof to accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, & with his finger wrote on the ground.

10 3 When Ieſus had liſt up himſelfe againe, & ſaw no man, but the woman, hee ſayd unto her, Woman, where are thoſe thine accuſers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She ſaid, No man, Lord. And Ieſus ſaid, Neither do I condemne thee: go and ſinne no more.

12 4 Then ſpake Ieſus againe unto them, ſaying, I ✣ am that light of the world: hee that followeth me, ſhall not walke in darkeneſſe, but ſhall have that light of life.

13 5 The Phariſes therefore ſayde unto him, a Thou beareſt record of thy ſelfe: thy record is not true.

14 ✣ Ieſus anſwered & ſayd unto thē, b Though I beare record of my ſelfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I come, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I came, and whether I goe.

15 Ye iudge after the fleſh: I c iudge no man.

16 And if I alſo iudge, my iudgement is true, for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that ſent me.

17 And it is alſo written in your Law,* that the teſtimonie of two men is true.

18 d I am one that beare witneſſe of my ſelfe, and the Father that ſent me beareth witneſſe of me.

19 6 Then ſayd they unto him, Where is that Father of thine? Ieſus anſwered, Ye neither know me, nor the Father of mine. If ye had knowen me, ye ſhould have knowen that Father of mine alſo.

20 Theſe words ſpake Ieſus in the e treaſurie, as he taught in the Temple, and no man layd hands on him: 7 for his houre was not yet come.

21 8 Then ſayd Ieſus againe unto them, I goe my way, and ye ſhall ſeeke me, and ſhall die in your ſinnes. Whither I goe, can ye not come.

22 Then ſayd the Iewes, Will he kill himſelfe, becauſe he ſaith, Whither I goe, can ye not come?

23 And he ſayd unto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from above: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I ſayd therefore unto you, That yé ſhall die in your ſinnes: for except ye beleeve, that I am he, ye ſhall die in your ſinnes.

25 9 Then ſayd they unto him, Who art thou? And Ieſus ſayd unto them, Even f the ſame thing that I ſayd unto you from the beginning.

26 10 I have many things to ſay, and to iudge of you, but he that ſent me, is true, and the things that I have heard of him, thoſe ſpeake I to the world.

27 11 They underſtood not that hee ſpake to them of the Father.

28 Then ſayd Ieſus unto them, When yee have lift up the Sonne of man, then ſhall ye know that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my ſelfe, but as my Father hath taught me, ſo I ſpeake theſe things.

29 For he that ſent me, is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, becauſe I do alwayes thoſe things that pleaſe him.

30 ✣ As he ſpake theſe things, many beleeved in him.

31 12 Then ſayd Ieſus to the Iewes which beleeved in him, If ye continue in my word, yee are verely my diſciples, 41 Ye doe the works of your father. Then ſaid they to him, We are not borne of fornication: we have one Father, which is God.

54 18 Ieſus anſwered, If I honour my ſelfe, mine honour is ſ nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth mee, whom ye ſay, that he is your God.

55 19 Yet yee have not knowen him: but I know him, and if I ſhould ſay I know him not, I ſhould be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keepe his word.

56 20 Your father Abraham t reioyced to ſee my u day, and he x ſaw it, and was glad.

57 Then ſayd the Iewes unto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeere olde, and haſt thou ſeene Abraham?

58 Ieſus ſaid unto them, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, before Abraham was, I y am.

59 21 Then tooke they up ſtones to caſt at him, but Ieſus hid himſelfe, and went out of the Temple: And hee paſſed through the middes of them, and ſo went his way.

18 There is nothing farther off from all ambition then Chriſt, but his Father hath ſet him above all things.
ſ This is ſpoken by manner of a graunt: as if he had ſayd, Be it ſo, let this report which I give of my ſelfe, be of no force: yet there is another that glorifieth me, that is, that honoureth my Name.
19 There is no right knowledge of God, without Chriſt, neither any right knowledge of Chriſt without his word.
20 The vertue of Chriſt ſhewed it ſelfe through all former ages in the Fathers, for they ſaw in the promiſes, that hee ſhould come, and did very ioyfully lay holde on him with a lively faith. t Was very deſirous. u A day is a ſpace that a man liveth in, or doeth any notable acte, or ſuffereth any great thing.

CHAP. IX.

Chriſt giveth ſight on the Sabbath day, to him that was borne blinde. 13 Whom, after he had long reaſoned againſt the Phariſes, 22,35 and was caſt out of the Synagogue, 36 Chriſt endueth with the knowledge of the everlaſting light.

AND 1 as Ieſus paſſed by, he ſaw a man which was blinde from his birth.

2 And his diſciples asked him, ſaying, Maſter, who did ſinne, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blinde?

3 Ieſus anſwered, a Neither hath this man ſinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God ſhould be ſhewed on him.

4 2 I muſt worke the workes of him that ſent me, while it is b day: the night commeth when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, ✣ I am the light of the world.

6 3 Aſſoone as he had thus ſpoken, he ſpat on the ground, and made clay of the ſpettle, and anoynted the eyes of the blinde with the clay,

7 And ſaid unto him, Goe waſh in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and waſhed, and came againe ſeeing.

8 4 Now the neighbours and they that had ſeene him before, when he was blinde, ſayd, Is not this he that ſate and begged?

9 Some ſaid, This is he: and other ſaid, He is like him, but he himſelfe ſayd, I am he.

10 Therefore they ſaid unto him, How were thine eyes c opened?

1 Sinne is the beginning even of all bodily diſeaſes, and yet doeth it not follow, that God alway reſpecteth the ſinnes whom he moſt ſharpely puniſheth.
a Chriſt reaſoneth here, as his diſciples thought, which preſuppoſe that there come no diſeaſes but for ſinnes onely: whereupon he anſwereth that there was another cauſe of this mans blindneſſe, and that was, that God his worke might be ſeene.
2 The workes of Chriſt are as it were a light, which lighten the darkeneſſe of the world.
b By (day) is meant the light, that is the lightſome doctrine of the heavenly trueth: and by (night) is meant the darkeneſſe which commeth by the obſcuritie of the ſame doctrine. ✣ Chap. 1, 9. and 8.12. and 13.35. 3 Chriſt healing the man borne blinde, by taking the ſigne of clay, and afterward the ſigne of the fountaine of Siloam (which ſignifieth Sent) ſhewech that as he at the beginning made man, ſo doeth he againe reſtore both his body and ſoule: and ver. 5, that hee himſelfe commeth firſt of his owne accord to heale us. 4 A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blinde, doe neither themſelves receive the light that is offered unto them, nor ſuffer it in other, and yet make a great adoe amongſt themſelves, 11 Hee anſwered, and ſaid, The man that is called Ieſus, made clay, and anoynted mine eyes, and ſaid unto mee, Goe to the poole of Siloam and waſh. So I went and waſhed, and received ſight.

12 Then they ſayd unto him, Where is hee? He ſaid, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Phariſes him that was once blinde.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Ieſus made the clay, and openeth his eyes.

15 Then againe the Phariſes alſo asked him, how he had received ſight. And he ſaid unto them, He laid clay upon mine eyes, and I waſhed, and doe ſee.

16 5 Then ſaid ſome of the Phariſes, This man is not of God, becauſe hee keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others ſaid, How can a man that is a ſinner, doe ſuch miracles? and there was a diſſenſion among them.

17 Then ſpake they unto the blinde againe, What ſayeſt thou of him, becauſe he hath opened thine eyes? And he ſayd, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Iewes did not beleeve him (that he had bene blinde, and received his ſight) untill they had called the parents of him that had received ſight.

19 And they asked them, ſaying, Is this your ſonne, whom ye ſay was borne blinde? How doeth he now ſee then?

20 His parents anſwered them, and ſayd, Wee know that this is our ſonne, and that he was borne blinde:

21 But by what meanes he now ſeeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is olde ynough: aske him: he ſhall anſwere for himſelfe.

22 Theſe wordes ſpake his parents, becauſe they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confeſſe that hee was Chriſt, hee ſhould be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore ſayde his parents, Hee is olde ynough: aske him.

24 Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, and ſaid unto him, d Give glory unto God: we know that this man is a e ſinner.

25 Then he anſwered, and ſaid, Whether he be a ſinner or no, I can not tell: one thing I know, that I was blinde, and now I ſee.

26 Then ſaid they to him againe, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He anſwered them, I have tolde you alreadie, and ye have not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it againe? will ye alſo be his diſciples?

28 6 Then reviled they him, and ſaid, Be thou his diſciples: we be Moſes diſciples.

29 We know that God ſpake with Moſes: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man anſwered, and ſayd unto them, Doubtleſſe, this is a marveilous thing, that yee know not whence hee is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now wee know that God heareth not ſinners: but if any man be a worſhipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde, c This is an Hebrewe kinde of ſpeech, for they call a mans eyes ſhut, when they cannot receive any ſight: And therefore they are ſayd to have their eyes opened which of blinde men are made to ſee.

5 Religion is not aſſaulted by any meanes more then by pretence of Religion: but the more it is preſſed downe, the more it riſeth up.
d A ſolemne order, whereby men were conſtrained in olde time to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they ſhould ſay, Conſider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter, and therefore ſee thou reverence his maieſtie, and doe him this honour, rather to confeſſe the whole matter openly, then to lie before him, Ioſh. 7, 19. 1. Sam. 6, 5.
e He is called a ſinner in the Hebrew tongue, which is a wicked man, and maketh as it were an arte of ſinnes.
6 Proud wickedneſſe muſt needes at length breake forth: which in vaine lieth hid under a ſcale of godlineſſe.

33 If this man were not of God, he could have done nothing.

34 They answered and sayd unto him, f Thou art altogether borne in sinnes, and doest thou teach us? so they cast him out.

35 7 Iesus heard that they had cast him out: and when hee had found him, he sayd unto him, Doest thou beleeve in the Sonne of God?

36 He answered, and sayd, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleeve in him?

37 And Iesus sayd unto him, Both thou hast seene him, and he it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then he said, Lord I beleeve, and worshipped him.

39 8 And Iesus sayd, I am come unto g iudgement unto this world, that they h which see not, might see: and that they ✣ which see, might be made blinde.

40 And some of the Pharises which were with him, heard these things, and said unto him, Are we blinde also?

41 Iesus sayd unto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not have sinne: but now ye say: Wee see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

f Thou art naught even from the cradle, and as we use to say, there is nothing in thee but sinne.

7 Most happy is their state, which are cast furthest out of the Church of the wicked (which proudly boast themselves of the name of the Church) that Christ may come never to them.

8 Christ doeth lighten all them by the preaching of the Gospell, which acknowledge their owne darkenesse, but such as seeme to themselves to see carely ynough, those he altogether blindeth: of which sort are they oftentimes, which have the hiest place in the Church.

g With great power and authoritie, to doe what is righteous and iust as if he said, These men take upon them to governe the people of God after their owne lusts, as though they saw all things and no man but they: but I will rule farre otherwise then these men doe: for whom they account for blinde men, them will I lighten, and such as take themselves to be wisest, them will I drowne in most grosse darkenesse of ignorance.

h In these words (of seeing and not seeing) there is a secret taunting and cheeke to the Pharises: for they thought all men blinde but themselves.

CHAP. X.

1 Christ proueth that the Pharises are the evill shepheards, 8 and by many reasons, that himselfe, 11, 14 is the good shepheard: 19 And thereof dissension ariseth. 31 They take up stones, 39 and goe about to take him, but he escapeth.

VErely, 1 verely I say unto you, He that entreth not in by the doore into the sheepefold, but climeth up another way, he is a theefe and a robber.

2 But hee that goeth in by the doore, is the shepheard of the sheepe.

3 To him the a porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when hee hath sent foorth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheepe follow him: for they know his voyce.

5 And they will not follow a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voyce of strangers.

6 This b parable spake Iesus unto them: but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them.

7 Then sayd Iesus unto them againe, Verely, verely I say unto you, I am that doore of the sheepe,

8 a All that c ever came before me, are theeves and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

9 3 I am that doore: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall d goe in, and goe out, and finde pasture.

1 Seeing that by Christ onely we have accesse to the Father, there are neither other true shepheards, then those which come to Christ themselves, and bring other thither also, neither is any to be thought the true sheepefold, but that which is gathered to Christ.

a In those dayes they used to have a servant alwayes sitting at the doore, & therefore he speaketh after the maner of those dayes.

b This word (parable) which the Euangelist useth here, signifieth a darke kinde of speach, when words are taken from their naturall meaning, to signifie another thing to us.

a It maketh no matter how many, neither how old the false teachers have bene.

c These large termes must be applyed to the matter hee speaketh of. And therefore when he calleth himselfe the doore, he calleth all them theeves and robbers which take upon them this name of Doore, which none of the Prophets can, for they shewed the sheepe, that Christ was the doore.

3 Onely Christ is the true Pastor: and that onely is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their onely Pastor: To him are opposite theeves which feede not the sheepe, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flocke in time of danger, because they feede it onely for their owne profite and gaines.

d Thatis, shall live safely: So use the Iewes to speake, as Deut. 26, 6. and yet there is a peculiar alluding to the shepheards office, 10 The thiefe commeth not, but for to steale, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and have it in abundance.

11 ✣ I am that good shepheard: that good shepheard giveth his life for his sheepe.

12 But an hireling, and hee which is not the shepheard, neither the sheepe are his owne, seeth the wolfe comming, and hee leaveth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth them, and scattereth the sheepe.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe.

14 I am that good shepheard, and know mine, and am know of mine.

15 As the Father e knoweth me, so know I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my sheepe.

16 4 Other sheepe I have also, which are not of this fold: them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce: and ✣ there shall be one sheepefold, and one shepheard.

17 5 Therefore doeth my Father love mee, because * g I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from mee, but I lay it downe of my selfe: I have power to lay it downe, and have power to take it againe: this * commandement have I received of my Father.

19 9 6 Then there was a dissension againe among the Iewes for these sayings, 20 And many of them said, He hath a devill, and is mad: why heare ye him?

21 Others said, These are not the words of him that hath a devill: can the devill open the eyes of the blinde?

22 And it was at Hierusalem the feast of the h Dedication, and it was winter.

23 6 And Iesus walked in the Temple, in Solomons porch.

24 Then came the Iewes round about him, and sayd unto him, How long doest thou make us to doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell us plainely.

25 8 Iesus answered them, I told you, and yee beleeve not: the workes that I doe in my Fathers Name, they beare witnesse of me.

26 9 But ye beleeve not: i for ye are not of my sheepe, as I said unto you.

27 My sheepe heare my voyce, and I know them, and they follow me.

28 And I give unto them eternall life, and they shall never perish, neither shall any pluck them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gave them mee, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 ✣ 10 Then the Iewes againe tooke up stones, to stone him.

32 Iesus answered them, Many good workes have I shewed you from my k Father: for which of these workes doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him, saying, For the good worke wee stone thee not, but for blasphemie, and that thou being a man, madest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, It is not written in your Law, * I sayd, Ye are gods?

CHAP. XI.

1 Chriſt, to ſhewe that hee is, 25 the life and the reſurrection, 14 commeth to Lazarus being dead, 17, 34 and buried, 43 and raiſeth him up. 47 As the Prieſts were conſulting together, 49 Caiaphas 50 prophecieth that one muſt die for the people. 56, 57 They command to ſeeke Chriſt out, and to take him.

A Nd 1 a certaine man was ſicke, named Lazarus of Bethania, the a towne of Marie, and her ſiſter Martha.

2 (And it was that ✣ Marie which anointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whoſe brother Lazarus was ſicke.)

3 Therefore his ſiſters ſent unto him, ſaying, Lord, behold, he whom thou loveſt, is ſicke.

4 When Ieſus heard it, he ſayd, This ſickeneſſe is not unto b death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Now Ieſus loved Martha and her ſiſter, and Lazarus.

6 2 And after he had heard that hee was ſicke, yet aboade hee two dayes ſtill in the ſame place where he was.

7 Then after that, ſayd he to his diſciples, Let us goe into Iudea againe.

8 3 The diſciples ſaid unto him, Maſter, the Iewes lately ſought to ✣ ſtone thee, and doeſt thou goe thither againe?

9 Ieſus anſwered, Are there not c twelve hours in the day? If a man walke in the day, he ſtumbleth not, becauſe hee ſeeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee ſtumbleth, becauſe there is no light in him.

11 Theſe things ſpake he, and after, he ſaid unto them, Our friend Lazarus d ſleepeth: but I goe to wake him up.

12 Then ſayd his diſciples, Lord, if he ſleepe, he ſhall be ſafe.

13 Howbeit, Ieſus ſpake of his death: but they thought that he had ſpoken of the naturall ſleepe.

14 Then ſaid Ieſus unto them plainely, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your ſakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleeve: but let us go unto him.

16 Then ſayd Thomas (which is called Didymus) unto his fellow diſciples, Let us alſo goe, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Ieſus, and found that he had lien in the grave foure dayes already.

18 (Now Bethania was neere unto Hieruſalem, about fifteene furlongs off.)

19 4 And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when ſhee heard that Ieſus was comming, went to meete him: but Mary ſate ſtill in the houſe.

21 Then ſaid Martha unto Ieſus, Lord, if thou hadſt bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

22 But now I know alſo, that whatſoever thou askeſt of God, God will give it thee.

23 Ieſus ſayd unto her, Thy brother ſhall e riſe againe.

24 Martha ſayd unto him, I know that he ſhall riſe againe ✣ in the reſurrection at the laſt day.

25 Ieſus ſaid unto her, I am the reſurrection and the life: ✣ hee that beleeveth in me, though he were dead yet ſhall he live.

26 And whoſoever liveth, and beleeveth in me, ſhall never die: Beleeveſt thou this?

27 She ſayd unto him, Yea, Lord, I beleeve that thou art that Chriſt that Sonne of God, which ſhould come into the world.

28 ¶ And when ſhe had ſo ſayd, ſhe went her way, and called Mary her ſiſter ſecretly, ſaying, The Maſter is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when ſhe heard it, ſhe aroſe quickely, and came unto him.

30 For Ieſus was not yet come into the towne, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the houſe, and comforted her, when they ſaw Mary, that ſhe roſe up haſtily, and went out followed her, ſaying, She goeth unto the grave, to weepe there.

32 Then when Marie was come where Ieſus was, and ſaw him, ſhee fell downe at his feete, ſaying unto him, Lord if thou haddeſt bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 5 When Ieſus therefore ſaw her weepe, and the Iewes alſo weepe which came with her, hee f groned in the ſpirit, and was troubled in himſelfe, 34 And ſayd, Where have yee layd him? They ſayd unto him, Lord come and ſee.

35 And Ieſus wept.

36 Then ſayd the Iewes, behold, how he loved him.

37 And ſome of them ſayd, * Could not hee which opened the eyes of the blind, have made alſo, that this man ſhould not have died?

38 Ieſus therefore againe groned in himſelfe, and came to the grave. And it was a cave, and a ſtone was layd upon it.

39 Ieſus ſayd, Take ye away the ſtone. Martha the ſiſter of him that was dead, ſayd unto him, Lord he ſtinketh already, for hee hath bene dead foure dayes.

40 Ieſus ſayd unto her, Sayd I not unto thee, that if thou diddeſt beleeve, thou ſhouldeſt ſee the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the ſtone from the place where the dead was layd. And Ieſus lift up his eyes, and ſayd, Father, I thanke thee, becauſe thou haſt heard me.

42 I know that thou heareſt me alwayes, but becauſe of the people that ſtand by, I ſayd it, that they may beleeve, that thou haſt ſent me.

43 As hee had ſpoken theſe things, hee cried with a loud voyce, Lazarus come foorth.

44 Then he that was dead, came foorth, bound hand and foote with bandes, and his face was bound with a napkin. Ieſus ſayd unto them, Looſe him, and let him goe.

Mary, and had seene the things, which Iesus did, beleeved in him.

47 Then gathered the hie Priests, and the Pharises a g councill, and sayd, What shall we doe? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will beleeve in him, and the Romanes will come and b take away both our place, and the nation.

49 7 Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere, said unto them, Ye perceive nothing at all,

50 ✣ Nor yet doe you consider that it is expedient for us, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 8 This spake he not of himselfe: but being hie Priest that same yeere, he prophecied that Iesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which i were scattered.

53 Then from that day foorth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 9 Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence unto a countrey neere to the wildernesse, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes Passeover was at hand, and many went out of the countrey up to Hierusalem before the Passeover, to purifie themselves.

56 Then sought they for Iesus, and spake among themselves, as they stoode in the Temple, What thinke ye, that he commeth not to the feast?

57 Now both the high Priests and the Pharises had given a commandement, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

8 Christ doeth sometime so turne the tongues, even of the wicked, that in cursing, they bleesse.

i For they were not gathered together in one countrey, as the Iewes were, but to be gathered from all quarters, from the East to the West.

9. Wee may give place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient so to doe, but yet in such sort, that we swarve not from Gods vocation.

a Christ is at supper with Lazarus, 3 Marie anointeth his feete. 5 Iudas findeth fault with her. 7 Christ defendeth her. 10 The Priests would put Lazarus to death. 12 As Christ commeth to Hierusalem. 18 The people meet him. 22 The Grecians desire to see him. 42 The chiefe rulers that beleeve in him, but for feare dot not confesse him, 44 hee exhorteth to faith.

✣ Chap. 26. 17. marke 14. 3.

THen ✣ Iesus, sixe dayes before the Passeover, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper, and Martha served: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at the table with him.

a An horrible example in Iudas of a minde blinded with couetousnes, and yet pretending godlinesse.

✣ Chap. 13. 25.

3 Then tooke Marie a pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and anointed Iesus feete, and wiped his feete with her haire, and the house was filled with the savour of the ointment.

4 Then sayd one of his disciples, even Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, which should betray him:

5 1 Why was not this ointment sold for three hundreth pence, and given to the poore?

b This Extraordinarie anointing which was for a signe, is so allowed of God, that hee witnesseth how he will not be worshipped with outward pompe, or costly service, but with almes.

6 Now he sayd this, not that he cared for the poore, but because he was a thiefe, and c had the bagge, and bare that which was given.

7 2 Then sayd Iesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it.

8 For the poore alwayes yee have with you, but me ye shall not have alwayes.

9 3 Then much people of the Iewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also.

11 Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleeved in Iesus.

12 ¶ ✣ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus should come to Hierusalem, 13 Tooke branches of palme-trees, and went foorth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the king of Israel that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Iesus found a yong asse, and sate thereon, as it is written.

15 ✣ Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King commeth sitting on an asses colt.

16 But his disciples vnderstoode not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembred they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things unto him,

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witnesse that hee called Lazarus out of the grave and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 4 And the Pharises said among themselves, Perceive ye how ye prevaile nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certaine Greekes among them that a came up to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galile, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Iesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and againe Andrew and Philip told Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 5 Verely, verely I say unto you, Except the wheat corne fall into the ground and b die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth foorth much fruit.

25 * He that loveth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keepe it unto life eternall.

26 * If any man serve me, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall my servant be: and if any man serve me, him will my father honour.

27 6 Now is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, save me from this c houre: but therefore came I unto this houre.

28 Father, d glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then sayd the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other said, An Angel spake to him.

30 7 Iesus answered and sayd, This voyce came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

3 When the light of the Gospell sheweth it selfe, some are found to be curious, and others (which least ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will straightway fall from: and very few doe so reverently receive him as they ought: Notwithstanding Christ beginneth his spirituall kingdome in the mids of his enemies.

5 The death of Christ is as it were a sowing, which seemeth to be a dying to the corne, but indeed is the cause of a far greater harvest: and such as is the condition of the head, so shall it be of the members.

c To wit, of death that is now at hand.

d So then the Fathers glory is Christs his glory.

7 Christ foretelleth to the deafe, the manner of his death, the overcomming of the devill and the world, and in conclusion his triumph.

✣ Chap.3.14.

11 The summe of the Gospel, and therefore the salvation, which Christ witnessed in the middest of Hierusalem, by his crying out, is this: to rest upon Christ through faith, as the only Saviour appointed and given us of the Father.

32 ✣ And I, if I were a lift up from the earth, will draw f all men unto me.
33 Now this said he, signifying what death he should die.
34 The people answered him, We have heard out of the ✣ Law, that that Christ bideth for ever: and how saiest thou, that that Sonne of man must be lift up? Who is that Sonne of man?
35 § Then Iesus saide unto them, Yet a little while is * the light with you: walke while ye have that light, least the darkenesse come upon you: for he that walketh in the darke, knoweth not whither he goeth.
36 While ye have that light, beleeve in that light, that ye may be the g children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them.
37 § 9 And though he had done so many miracles before them, yet beleeved they not on him, 38 That the saying of Esaias the Prophet might be fulfilled, that he said, * Lord, who beleeved our report? and to whom is the h arme of the Lord revealed?
39 Therefore could they not beleeve, because that Esaias saith againe, 40 ✣ He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heale them.
41 These things said Esaias when he sawe his glory, and spake of him.
42 10 Nevertheless, even among the chiefe rulers, many beleeved in him: but because of the Pharises they did not confesse him, least they should be cast out of the Synagogue.
43 * For they loved the praise of men, more then the prayse of God.
44 11 And Iesus cryed, and said, He that beleeveth in me, beleeveth i not in me, but in him that sent me, 45 And he that seeth mee, seeth him that sent mee.
46 I ✣ am come a light into the world, that whosoever beleeveth in me, should not abide in darkenesse.
47 § And if any man heare my wordes, and beleeve not, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to save the world.
48 He that refuseth me, and receiveth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: * the word that I have spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day.
49 For I have not spoken of my selfe: but the Father which sent mee, he gave me a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake.
50 And I know that his commandement is life everlasting: the things therefore that I speake, I speake them so as the Father saide unto me.

i This word Not doth not take any whit of this from Christ, which is here spoken of, but is in way of correction rather, as if he said, He that beleeveth in me, doth not so much beleeve in me, as in him that sent me. So is it in Marke 9,37.

NOwe * 1 before the feast of the Passeover, when Iesus knewe that his houre was come, that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, forasmuch as he loved his a owne which were in the world, unto the end he loved them.
2 And when supper was done (and that the devill had now put in the heart of Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, to betray him,)
3 Iesus knowing that the Father hath given all things into his b hands, and that he was come forth from God, and went to God,
4 He c riseth from Supper, and laieth aside his upper garments, and tooke a towell, and girded himselfe.
5 After that, hee powred water into a basen, and beganne to wash the disciples feete, and to wipe them with the towell, wherewith hee was girded.
6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who said to him, Lord, doest thou wash my feete?
7 Iesus answered, and said unto him, What I doe thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know it hereafter.
8 Peter said unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feete. Iesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt have d no part with me.
9 Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, not my feete onely, but also the hands and the head.
10 Iesus said to him, He that is washed, needeth not, save to wash his feete, but is cleane every whit: and ye are ✣ cleane, but not all.

a That is, if it were not ſo as I tell you, to wit, unleſſe there were place yough not onely for me, but for you alſo, in my fathers houſe, I would not thus deceive you with a vaine hope, but I would have tolde you ſo plainely. b All the ſpeech is by way of an allegorie, whereby the Lord comforteth his owne, declaring unto them his departure into heaven, which is, not to reigne there alone, but goe before, and prepare a place for them. 2 Chriſt went not away from us, to theend to forſake us, but rather that hee might at length take us up with him into heaven. c Theſe words are to be referred to the whole Church. Sc therefore the Angels ſayd to ☧ diſciples when they were aſtoniſhed, What ſtand you gazing up into heaven? This Ieſus ſhall ſo come as you ſaw him goe up, Actes 1, 11. and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God ſhall be all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption. 3 Chriſt onely is the way to true and everlaſting life, for he it is to whom the Father hath revealed himſelfe.

d This ſaying ſheweth unto us both the nature, the will and office of Chriſt.
e It is plaine by this place, that to know God, and to ſee God is all one: Now wheras he ſaith before, that no man ſawe God at any time, that is to be underſtood thus, without Chriſt: or were it not through Chriſt, no man could ever ſee, nor ſaw God at any time: for as Chriſtome ſaith, the Sonne is a very ſhort and eaſie ſetting foorth of the fathers nature unto us.
4 The maieſtie of God ſheweth it ſelfe moſt evidently, both in Chriſtes doctrine and deedes.
5 The approoving of the vertue of Chriſt is not included within his owne perſon, but it is ſpred through the body of his whole Church.

i The Sonne is in the Father after ſuch ſort, that he is of one ſelfeſame ſubſtance with the Father, but he is in his diſciples in a certaine reſpect as an ayder and helper of them. k I will ſhew my ſelfe to him, and be knowen of him, as if he ſaw me with his eyes: but this ſhewing of himſelfe is not bodily, but ſpiritually, yet ſo plaine as none can be more. 7 Wee muſt not aske why the Goſpel is revealed to ſome rather then to other, but we muſt rather take heede, that we embrace Chriſt who is offered unto us, and that we truely love him, that is to ſay, that we give our ſelves wholly to his obedience. 8 It is the office of the holy Ghoſt to imprint in the midſt of the elect in their times and ſeaſons, that which Chriſt once ſpake. ✣ Chap. 15, 26.

9 All true felicity commeth to us by Christ alone.

10 So farre is it, that we should be sory for the departing of Christ, from according to the flesh, that we should rather reioyce for it, seeing that all the blessing of the members dependeth upon the glorifying of the head.

1 This is spoken in that, that he is Mediatour, for so the Father is greater then he, in as much as the person to whom request is made, is greater then hee that maketh the request.

2 We are of nature drie and fit for nothing, but the fire: Therefore that we may live and be fruitfull, we must first be grafted into Christ, as it were into a vine by the Fathers hand: and then be daily shred with continuall meditation of the word and the crosse; otherwise it shall not availe any man at all to have bene grafted, unlesse he cleave fast unto the vine, and so draw iuice out of it.

3 ✣ Now are ye cleane through the word, which I have spoken unto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch can not beare fruit of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am that vine, ye are the braunches: he that abideth in mee, and I in him, the same bringeth foorth much fruit: for without me can ye doe nothing.

6 * If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.

7 * 2 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, aske what ye will, and it shall be done to you.

8 a Herein is my Father glorified, that ye beare much fruit, and be made my disciples.

9 3 As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: b continue in that my love.

10 If ye shall keepe my commandements, yee shall abide in my love, as I have kept my Fathers commandements, and abide in his love.

11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full.

12 ✣ This is my commandement, that ye love one another, as I have loved you.

13 Greater love then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends, if ye doe whatsoever I commaund you.

15 4 Henceforth call I you not servants: for the servant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I have called you friends: for all things that I have heard of my Father, have I made knowen to you.

16 5 Ye c have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, ✣ that ye goe and bring forth fruits, and that your fruit remaine, that whatsoever ye shall aske of the Father in my Name, hee may give it you.

17 These things commaund I you, that ye love one another.

18 6 If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before you.

19 If ye were of the worlde, the world would love his owne: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I said unto you, ✣ The servant is not greater then his master. * If they have persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they have kept my worde, they will also keepe yours.

21 7 But * all these things will they doe unto you for my Names sake, because they have not knowen him that sent me.

22 d If I had not come and spoken unto them, they should not have had sinne: but now have they no cloake for their sinne.

23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done workes among them which none other man did, they had not had sinne: but now have they both seene, and have hated both me, and my Father.

25 But it is that the worde might bee fulfilled, that is written in their e Lawe, ✣ They hated mee without a cause.

26 8 But when that Comforter shall come, * whom I will sende unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of trueth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me.

27 And ye shall witnesse also, because ye have bene with me from the beginning.

4 Christ is the authour and preserver of the ministerie of the Gospell, even to the worlds end, but the ministers have above all thing need of prayer and brotherly love.

c This place teacheth us plainely, that our salvation commeth from the only favour and grant us goodnesse of the everlasting God towards us, and of nothing that we doe or can deserve.

✣ Matth. 28,19.

6 It ought not onely not to feare, but rather confirme the faithfull ministers of Christ, when they shall be hated of the world as their Master was.

✣ Chap. 13,16. matth. 10,24.
* Matth. 24,9.

7 The hatred that the world beareth against Christ, proceedeth of the blockishnesse of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntarie blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to cover their fault.

* Chap. 16,4.

d As who would say, If I had not come, these men would not have stuck to have said still before Gods iudgement seat, that they are religious, and void of sinne: but seeing I come to them, and they cleane refuse me, they can have no cloake for their wickednesse.

e Some timely this word, Lawe, are meant the five bookes of Moses, but in this place the whole Scripture: for the place alledged is in the Psalmes.

✣ Psal. 35,19.

8 Against the rage of the wicked, we shall stand surely by the inward testimonie of the holy Ghost: But the holy Ghost speaketh no otherwise, then he spake by the mouth of the Apostles.

* Chap. 14,26. luke 24,49.

CHAP. XVI.

2 Hee foretelleth the disciples of persecution. 7 Hee promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 22 Hee compareth the affliction of his, to a woman that travaileth with child.

THese 1 things have I saide unto you, that yee should not be offended.

1 The ministers of the Gospel must looke for all maner of reproaches, not onely of them which are open enemies, but even of them also which seeme to be of the same household, and the verie pillars of the Church.

✣ Chap. 15,21.

2 They shall excommunicate you: yea the time shall come, that whosoever killeth you, will thinke that he doth God service.

3 And these things will they doe unto you, because they have not knowen the Father, nor me.

4 ✣ But these things have I told you, that when the houre shall come, ye might remember, that I told you them. And these things saide I not unto you from the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I goe my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, whither goest thou?

6 But because I have said these things unto you, your hearts are full of sorow.

7 2 Yet I tell you the trueth, It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you,

2 The absence of Christ, according to the flesh, is profitable to the Church, that we may wholly depend upon his spirituall power.

3 The Spirit of God worketh ſo mightily by the preaching of the word, that he conſtraineth the world, will it, nill it, to confeſſe it owne unrighteouſneſſe, and Chriſts righteouſneſſe and almightineſſe.

8 3 And when he is come, hee will a reproove the b world of ſinne, and of righteouſneſſe, and of iudgement.

9 Of ſinne, becauſe they beleeve not in me:

10 Of c righteouſneſſe, becauſe I goe to my Father, and ye ſhall ſee me no more.

11 Of d iudgement, e becauſe the prince of this world is iudged.

12 4 I have yet many things to ſay unto you, but ye cannot beare them now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the ſpirit of trueth, he will lead you into all trueth: for he ſhall not ſpeake of himſelfe, but whatſoever hee ſhall heare, ſhall he ſpeake, and he will ſhewe you the things to come.

14 5 He ſhall glorifie me: for hee ſhall receive of mine, and ſhall ſhew it unto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore ſaid I, that hee ſhall take of mine, and ſhew it unto you.

16 6 A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee mee: and againe a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me; f for I goe to the Father.

17 Then ſaid ſome of his diſciples among themſelves, What is this that hee ſaith unto us, A little while, and yee ſhall not ſee mee, and againe a little while? and yee ſhall ſee me, and, For I goe to the Father.

18 They ſaide therefore, What is this that hee ſaith, A little while? we know not what he ſaith.

19 Now Ieſus knew that they would aske him, and ſaid unto them, Doe yee enquire among your ſelves, of that I ſaid, A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me: and againe, a little while, & ye ſhall ſee me?

20 Verely, verely I ſay unto you, that ye ſhall weepe and lament, and the world ſhall reioyce, and ye ſhall ſorowe, but your ſorow ſhall be turned to ioy.

21 A woman when ſhe travaileth hath ſorowe becauſe her houre is come: but as ſoone as ſhee is delivered of the child, ſhee remembreth no more the anguiſh, for ioy that a man is borne into the world.

22 And yee now therefore are in ſorow: but I will ſee you againe, and your hearts ſhall reioyce, and your ioy ſhall no man take from you.

23 And in that day ſhall yee aske me nothing. ✠ Verely, verely, I ſay unto you, whatſoever yee ſhall aske the Father in my Name, hee will give it you.

24 Hitherto have yee asked nothing in my Name: aske, and ye ſhall receive, that your ioy may be full.

25 7 Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you in parables: but the time will come, when I ſhall no more ſpeake to you in parables: but I ſhall ſhewe you plainely of the Father.

26 8 At that day ſhall yee aske in my Name, and I ſay not unto you, that I will pray unto the Father for you:

27 For the Father himſelfe loveth you, becauſe ye have loved me, ✠ and have beleeved that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: againe I leave the world, and goe to the Father.

29 9 His diſciples ſaid unto him, Loe, now ſpeakeſt thou plainely, and thou ſpeakeſt no parable.

30 Nowe knowe wee that thou knoweſt all things, and needeſt not that any man ſhould aske thee: By this wee beleeve, that thou art come out from God.

31 Ieſus anſwered them, Doe you beleeve now?

32 ✠ 10 Behold, the houre commeth, and is alreadie come, that yee ſhall be ſcattered every man into his owne, and ſhall leave me alone: But I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

33 11 Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, that b in me ye might have peace: in the world ye ſhall have affliction, but be of good comfort: I have overcome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Chriſt prayeth that his glorie together with his Fathers may be made manifeſt. 9 He prayeth for his Apoſtles, 20 and for all beleevers.

THeſe 1 things ſpake Ieſus, and lift up his eyes to heaven, and ſaide, a Father that houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne alſo may glorifie thee.

2 *As thou haſt given him power over a all fleſh, that he ſhould give eternall life to all them that thou haſt given him.

3 And this is life eternall, that they know thee to be the b onely very God, and whom thou haſt ſent, Ieſus Chriſt.

4 I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finiſhed the worke which thou gaveſt me to doe.

5 And now glorifie me, thou Father, with thine owne ſelfe, with the glorie which I had with thee before the world was.

6 3 I have declared thy Name unto the men which thou gaveſt mee out of the worlde: c thine they were, and thou d gaveſt them mee, and they have kept thy word.

7 * Now they know that all things whatſoever thou haſt given me, are of thee.

8 For I have given unto them the words which thou gaveſt me, and they have received them, and have knowen ſurely that I came out from thee, and have beleeved that thou haſt ſent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou haſt given me: for they are thine.

4 The doctrine of the Apoſtles proceeded from the holy Ghoſt, and is moſt perfite.

5 The holy Ghoſt bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was uttered by Chriſtes owne mouth, and imprinteth it in our minds. 6 The grace of the holy Ghoſt is a moſt lively glaſſe, wherein Chriſt is truely beholden with the moſt ſharpe ſighted eyes of faith, and not with the bleated eyes of the fleſh: whereby we feele a continuall ioy even in the middeſt of ſorrowes. f When a little time is once paſt.

g For I paſſe for eternall glorie, ſo that I ſhall be much more preſent with you, then I was before: for then you ſhall feele indeede what I am, and what I am able to doe.

✠ Chap.14.13. marg. 7,7. and 15,22. marke 11,24. luke 11,9. Iames 1,5. 7 The holy Ghoſt which was powred upon the Apoſtles after the Aſcenſion of Chriſt, inſtructed both them in all the chiefeſt myſteries and ſecrets of our ſalvation, and alſo by them the Church, and will alſo inſtruct it to the end of the world. 8 The ſumme of the worſhip of God, is the invocation of the Father in the Name of the Sonne the Mediatour, who is alreadie heard for us, for whom he both abaſed himſelfe, and is now alſo glorified.

✠ Chap.17.8. 9 Faith and fooliſh ſecuritie differ very much.

✠ Matth.26.31. marke 14.27. 10 Neither the wickedneſſe of the world, neither the weakeneſſe of his owne can diminiſh any thing of the vertue of Chriſt. 11 The furetie and ſtay of the Church dependeth onely upon the victorie of Chriſt.

b That in me you might be throughly quieted. For by (peace) is meant in this place, that quiet ſtate of mind, which is cleane contrarie to diſquietnes and heavineſſe.

1 Ieſus Chriſt the everlaſting high Prieſt being readie ſtraightwayes to offer up himſelfe, doth by ſolemne prayers conſecrate himſelfe ſo God the Father as a ſacrifice: and us together with himſelfe. Therefore this prayer was from the beginning, is, and ſhall be to the end of the world, the foundation and ground of the Church of God. 2 He firſt declareth, that as he came into the world to the end that the Father might ſhew to him, being apprehended by faith, his glorie in ſaving his elect, ſo he applyed himſelfe to that onely: and therefore deſireth of the Father, that he would bleſſe the worke which he hath finiſhed. * Matth.28,18. 3 Over all men. b He calleth the Father the onely verie God, to ſet him againſt all falſe gods, and not to ſhut out himſelfe & the holy Ghoſt. For ſtraightwayes hee ioyneth the knowledge of the Father and the knowledge of himſelfe together, and according to his accuſtomed manner, ſetteth foorth the whole Godhead in the perſon of the father: So is the Father alone ſaid to be King, immortall, wiſe, and dwelling in the light which no man can attaine unto, inviſible. Rom.16,27. 1.tim.1,17. 9 Firſt of all he prayeth for thoſe his diſciples, by whome he would have the reſt to be gathered together, and commendeth them unto the Father, (having once reiected the whole companie of the reprobate) becauſe he received them of him into his cuſtodie, and for that they embracing his doctrine, ſhall have ſo many and ſo mightie enemies, that there is no way for them to be in ſafetie, but by his helpe onely. c Hee ſheweth hereby that everlaſting election and choiſe, which was hidden in the good will and pleaſure of God, which is the ground worke of our ſalvation. d He ſheweth how that everlaſting and hidden purpoſe of God is declared in Chriſt, by whome we are iuſtified and ſanctified, if wee lay holde on him by faith, that at length we may come to the glorie of the election. ✠ Chap.16,32.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, even them whom thou hast given me, that they may be e one as we are.

12 While I was with them in the worlde, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gavest me, have I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the 4 Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the world, that they might have my ioy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I have given them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 4 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepe them from evill.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 f Sanctifie them with thy trueth: thy word is trueth.

18 5 As thou diddest send mee into the world, so have I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the g trueth.

20 6 I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleeve in mee, through their word, 21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in mee, and I in thee: even that they may be also one in us, that the world may beleeve that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gavest mee, I have given them, that they may be one, as we are one,

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them as thou hast loved me.

24 ✠ Father, I will that they which thou hast given mee, be with me even where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not knowen thee, but I have knowen thee, and these have knowen, that thou hast sent me.

26 7 And I have declared unto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the love wherewith thou hast loved me, may be in them, and I in them.

e He prayeth that his people may peaceable agree and be ioyned together in one, that as the Godhead is one, so they may be of one mind and one consent together.

4 Psal. 109. 7.

4 Hee sheweth what maner of deliverance he meaneth, not that they should be in no danger, but that they beeing preserved from all, might proove by experience that the doctrine of salvation is true, which they received at his mouth to deliver to other.

f That is, make them holy: and that is sayd to be holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God onely.

5 Hee addeth moreover, that the Apostles have a vocation common with him, and therefore that they must be holden up by the selfe same vertue to give up themselves wholly to God, whereby he being first, did consecrate himselfe to the Father.

g The true and substantiall sanctification of Christ, is set against the outward purifyings.

6 Secondarily hee offereth to God the Father, all his, that is, how many soever shall beleeve in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as he cleaveth unto the Father receiving from him all fulnesse, so they being ioyned with him, may receive life from him and at length being together beloved in him, may also with him enioy everlasting glory.

✠ Chap. 12. 26. 7 He communicateth with his by litle and litle, the knowledge of the Father, which is moste full in Christ the Mediatour, that they may in him be beloved of the Father, with the selfe same love wherewith he loveth the Sonne.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Christes power, whom Iudas betrayeth, 6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22, 23 His answere to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being delivered to Pilate, 36 he declareth his kingdome.

1 Christ goeth of his own accord into a garden, which his betrayer knew, to be taken: that by his obedience he might take away the sinne that entred into the world by one mans rebellion, and that in a garden,

WHen 1 Iesus had spoken these things, hee went foorth with his disciples over the brooke * Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred, and his disciples.

2 And Iudas which betrayed him knewe also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.

2 Christ, who was innocent, was taken as a wicked person, that thee which are wicked might be let goe as innocent.

3 Christs person (but not his vertue) was bound of the aduersaries, when and how he would.

3 ✠ 2 Iudas then after he had received a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.

4 3 Then Iesus, knowing all things that should come unto him, went foorth and said unto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said unto them, I am he. Now Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 Assoone then as he had said unto them, I am he, they went away backwardes, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whom seeke ye? And they sayd, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 4 Iesus answered, I said unto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these go their way.

5 We ought to conteine the zeale we beare to God, within the bounds of our vocation.

11 Then said Iesus unto Peter, Put up thy sworde into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath given me?

12 Then the band and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus and bound him.

13 6 And led him away to * Annas first (for hee was father in lawe to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere.)

17 Then said the maid that kept the doore, unto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the servants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coales: for it was colde, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 ¶ (8 The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine, 9 After that men have once fallen, they cannot onely not lift up themselves by their owne strength, but also they fall more and more into worse, untill they be raised up again by a new vertue of God.

23 Iesus answered him, If I have evill spoken, bare witnesse of the evill: but if I have well spoken, why smitest thou me?

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said unto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gave him none answere.

10 Then sayd Pilate unto him, Speakest thou not unto me? Knowest thou not that I have power to crucifie thee, and have power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thencefoorth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliver him, thou art not Cesars friend: for whosoever maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cesar.

13 ¶ 4 When Pilate heard this word, hee brought Iesus foorth, and sate downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the pavement, and in Hebrew, b Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Passeover, and about the sixt houre: and hee said unto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate saide unto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The hie Priests answered, We have no King but Cesar.

16 5 Then delivered hee him unto them, to be crucified. ✣ And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the mids.

19 ¶ 6 And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrewe, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then said the high Priestes of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he said, I am the King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I have written, I have written.

23 ¶ 7 Then the ✣ souldiours, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to every souldier a part) and his coat: and the coate was without seame woven from the top thorowout.

24 ¶ Therefore they saide one to another, Let us not divide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, ✻ They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things indeed.

25 ¶ 8 Then stoode by the crosse of Iesus his mother, a They will have him crucified, who by an old custome of theirs, they should have stoned and hanged up as convict of blasphemie: but they desire to have him crucified after the maner of the Romans.

3 Pilatus conscience fighteth for Christ, but straightway it yeeldeth, because it is not vpholden with the singular vertue of God.

mother, and his mothers sister, Marie the wvife of Cleophas, and Marie Magdalene.

26 And when Iesus sawe his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he sayd unto his mother, Woman, behold thy sonne.

27 Then sayd he to the disciple, Beholde thy mother: and from that houre, the disciple tooke her home unto him.

28 ¶ After, when Iesus knewe that all things were performed, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled, he said, I thirst.

29 And there was set a c vessell full of vineger, and they filled a sponge with vineger, and put it about an Hyssope stalke, and put it to his mouth.

30 Now when Iesus had received of the vineger, hee sayd, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gave up the ghost.

31 10 The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remaine upon the crosse on the Sabbath day: for the Sabbath was an high day) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

32 Then came the souldiers and brake the legges of the first, and of the other, which was crucified with Iesus.

33 But when they came to Iesus, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs.

34 11 But one of the souldiers with a speare d pearced his side, and foorthwith came there out blood and water.

35 And he that saw it, bare record, and his record is true: and hee knoweth that he saith true, that ye might beleeve it.

36 For these things were done, that the Scripture should be fulfilled, ‡ Not a bone of him shall be broken.

37 And againe another Scripture saith, * They shall see him whom they have thrust thorow.

38 * 12 And after these things, Ioseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Iesus, but secretly for feare of the Iewes) besought Pilate that hee might take downe the body of Iesus. And Pilate gave him licence. Hee came then and tooke Iesus body.

39 And there came * also Nicodemus (which first came to Iesus by night) and brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundreth pound.

40 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen cloathes with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie.

41 And in the place where Iesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was e never man yet layd.

42 There then layd they Iesus, because of the Iewes Preparation day, for the sepulchre was neere.

10 The bodie of Christ which was dead for a season (because it so pleased him) is wounded, but the least bone of it is not broken: and such is the state of his mysticall body.

11 Christ being dead vpon the crosse, witnesseth by a double signe, that he onely is the true satisfaction, and the true washing for the beleevers.

d This wound was a most manifest witnesse of the death of Christ: for the water that issued out by this wound, gave us plainely to understand, that the weapon pearced the very sginne that compasseth the heart, which is the vessel that containeth that water, and that being once wounded, that creature which is so pearced & stricken, cannot chuse but die.

NOw ✣ 1 the first day of the weeke came Marie Magdalene, earely when it was yet darke, unto the sepulchre, and saw the stone taken away from the tombe.

2 Then she ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Iesus loved, and sayd unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him.

3 Peter therefore went foorth, and the other, disciple, and they came unto the sepulchre.

4 So they ranne both together, but the other disciple did outrunne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And he stouped downe, and saw the linnen cloathes lying, yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter * following him, and went into the sepulchre, and sawe the linnen cloathes lie,

8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw it, and beleeved.

9 For as yet they knewe not the Scripture, That he must rise againe from the dead.

10 And the disciples went away againe unto their owne home.

11 ¶ ‡ But Marie stood a without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she bowedher selfe into the sepulchre, 12 2 And sawe two Angels in b white, sitting the one at the head, and the other at the feete, where the body of Iesus had layen.

13 And they said unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She said unto them, They have taken away c my Lord, and I know not where they have layd him.

14 3 When shee had thus said, shee turned her selfe backe, and saw Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

15 Iesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that hee had bene the gardener, saide unto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell mee where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16 Iesus sayth unto her, Marie. She turned her selfe, and said unto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 4 Iesus saith unto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my d brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto e my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and to your God.

18 Marie Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seene the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

25 The other diſciples therefore ſaid unto him, Wee have ſeene the Lord: but he ſaid unto them, Except I ſee in his handes the print of the nayles, and put my finger into the print of the nayles, and put mine hand into his ſide, I will not beleeve it.

26 § And eight dayes after, againe his diſciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Ieſus, when the doore were ſhut, and ſtood in the mids, and ſayd, Peace be unto you.

27 After ſaid he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and ſee mine handes, and put forth thine hand, and put it into my ſide, and be not faithleſſe, but faithfull.

✣ Chap.11,25.

9 To beleeve in Chriſt the Sonne of God, and our onely Saviour, is the ende of the doctrine of the Goſpel, and eſpecially of the hiſtory of the reſurrection.

28 Then Thomas anſwered and ſayde unto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29 8 Ieſus ſaid unto him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeene me, thou beleeveſt: bleſſed are they that have not ſeene, and have beleeved.

30 ✣ § 9 And many other ſignes alſo did Ieſus in the preſence of his diſciples: which are not written in this booke.

31 But theſe things are written that ye might beleeve, that Ieſus is that Chriſt that Sonne of God, and that in beleeving yee might have life through his Name.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Ieſus appeareth to his diſciples as they were a fiſhing, 6,7. whom they knew by a miraculous draught of fiſhes. 15 He committeth the charge of the ſheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

2 In that, that Chriſt here is not onely preſent, but alſo eateth with his diſciples, he giveth a moſt full aſſurance of his reſurrection.

AFter theſe things, 1 Ieſus ſhewed himſelfe againe to his diſciples at the ſea of Tiberias: and thus ſhewed he himſelfe:

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the ſonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his diſciples.

3 Simon Peter ſaid unto them, I goe a fiſhing. They ſayd unto him, Wee alſo will goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a ſhippe ſtraightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Ieſus ſtood on the ſhore: nevertheleſſe the diſciples knew not that it was Ieſus.

5 Ieſus then ſayd unto them, Syrs, have ye any meat? They anſwered him, No.

6 Then he ſayd unto them, Caſt out the net on the right ſide of the ſhip, and ye ſhall finde. So they caſt out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fiſhes.

7 Therefore ſaide the diſciple whom Ieſus loved, unto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his a coat to him (for he was naked) and caſt himſelfe into the ſea.

a It was a linnen garment, which could not let him ſwimming.

8 But the other diſciples came by ſhippe, (for they were not farre from lande, but about two hundreth cubites) and they drewe the net with fiſhes.

9 As ſoone then as they were come to lande, they ſawe hote coales, and fiſh layed thereon, and bread.

10 Ieſus ſayde unto them, Bring of the fiſhes, which ye have now caught.

11 Simon Peter ſtepped forth and drew the net to land, full of great fiſhes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were ſo many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Ieſus ſayde unto them, Come, and dine. And none of the diſciples durſt aske him, Who art thou? ſeeing they knewe that hee was the Lord.

13 Ieſus then came and tooke bread and gave them, and fiſh likewiſe.

14 This is now the third time that Ieſus ſhewed himſelfe to his diſciples, after that he was riſen againe from the dead.

15 ¶, So when they had dined, Ieſus ſayde to Simon Peter, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loveſt thou me more then theſe? He ſaid unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knoweſt that I love thee. He ſaid unto him, Feed my lambes.

16 He ſayd to him againe the ſecond time, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loveſt thou me? He ſayd unto him: Yea, Lord, thou knoweſt that I love thee. He ſayd unto him, Feed my ſheepe.

17 He ſayd unto him b the third time, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loveſt thou me? Peter was ſorie becauſe he ſaid to him the third time, loveſt thou me? and ſaid unto him, Lord, thou knoweſt all things: thou knoweſt that I love thee. Ieſus ſaid unto him, Feed my ſheepe.

a Peter by his triple confeſſion is reſtored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple deniall: and therewithall is adverti-ſed, that he is indeed a paſtour, which ſheweth his love to Chriſt in feeding his ſheepe.

b It was meet that he that had denied him thrise, ſhould confeſſe him thrise, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgivenеſſe of his ſo grievous a ſinne, nor of his reſtoring to the office of the Apoſtleſhip.

3 The violent death of Peter is foretolde.

18 3 Verely, verely I ſay unto thee, When thou waſt yong, thou c girdedſt thy ſelfe, and walkedſt whither thou wouldeſt: but when thou ſhalt be olde, thou ſhalt ſtretch foorth thine handes, and another ſhall d gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wouldeſt e not.

c They that tooke farre iourney, eſpecially in the Eaſt countrey, and in thoſe places were the people vſed long garments, had need to be girded and truſſed up.

d He meant that kinde of girding which is vſed toward captives, when they are bound faſt with cordes and chaines, as who would ſay, Now thou girdeſt thy ſelfe as thou thinkeſt beſt, to go whither thou liſteſt, but the time will be, when thou ſhalt not gird thee with a girdle, but another ſhall binde thee with chaines, and cary thee whither thou wouldeſt not.

19 And this ſpake he ſignifying by what f death he ſhould glorifie God. And when he had ſaid this, he ſaid to him, Follow me.

e Not that Peter ſuffered ought for the trueth of God againſt his will: for wee read that he came with ioy and gladnes when he returned from the Councill where he was wipped: but becauſe this will commeth not from the fleſh, but from the gift of the Spirit which is given us from above, therefore he ſhewed there ſhould be a certaine ſtriving and conflict or repugnancie, which alſo is in us, in all our ſufferances as touching the fleſh.

f That is, that Peter ſhould die by a violent death.

20 4 Then Peter turned about, and ſawe the diſciple whom IESUS loved, following, which had alſo ✣ leaned on his breſt at ſupper, and had ſayde, Lord, which is hee that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore ſaw him, hee ſayd to Ieſus, Lord, what ſhall this man doe?

22 Ieſus ſayd unto him, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me.

23 Then went this worde abroad among the brethren, that this diſciple ſhoulde not die. Yet Ieſus ſaid not to him, Hee ſhall not die: but if I will that hee tary till I come, what is it to thee?

4 Wee muſt take heede, that whiles wee caſt our eyes upon other, wee neglect not that which is inioyned us. ✣ Chap.13,23.

24 5 This is that diſciple, which teſtifieth of theſe things, and wrote theſe things, and we know that his teſtimonie is true.

5 The hiſtorie of Chriſt is true and warily written: not for the curioſitie of men, but for the ſalvation of the godly.

25 ✣ Nowe there are alſo many other things which Ieſus did, the which if they ſhoulde be written every one, I ſuppoſe the worlde coulde not conteine the bookes that ſhould be written. Amen.

THE

THE ACTES OF THE HOLY APOSTLES, WRITTEN BY LVKE THE EUANGELIST.

CHAP. I.

Luke tieth this historie to his Gospell. 9 Christ being taken into heaven, 10 the Apostles, 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 to returne, 14 and give themselves to prayer. 15 By Peters motion, 18 into Iudas the traitours place, 26 Matthias is chosen.

THE former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that Iesus began to [a] doe and teach.

2 Vntill the day that hee was taken up, after that hee through the holy Ghost, had given commaundements unto the Apostles, whom hee had chosen:

3 [1] To whom also hee presented himselfe alive after that hee had suffered, by many [b] infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie dayes, and speaking of those things which appertained to the kingdome of God.

4 ✻ And when he had [c] gathered them together, he commanded them that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, ✣ which saide he, ye have heard of me.

5 ✻ For Iohn indeed baptized with water, but ye shallbe baptized [d] with the holy Ghost within these few dayes.

6 ✣ When then therefore were come together they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time [e] restore the kingdome of Israel?

7 And hee sayd unto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the [f] seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power.

8 ✣ But yee shall receive power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you, and ye shallbe witnesses unto mee both in Hierusalem and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.

9 ✻ ✣ And when hee had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up: for a cloude tooke him up out of their sight.

10 And while they looked stedfastly toward heaven, as hè went, behold, two men stood by them in white apparell.

11 Which also sayd, Yee men of Galile, why stand ye gasing into heaven? This Iesus which is taken up [g] from you into heaven, shall so come, as ye have seene him go into heaven.

12 ¶ Then returned they unto Hierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Olives, which is neere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath [h] dayes iourney.

13 ✣ And when they were [i] come in, they went up into an upper chamber, where abode both Peter and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemew, and Matthewe, Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas Iames [k] brother.

14 These all [k] continued with [l] one accord in [m] prayer and supplication with the [n] women, and Marie the mother of Iesus, and with his [o] brethren.

15 ✣ ✣ And in those dayes Peter stoode up in the middes of the disciples, and sayd (now the number of [p] names that were in one place were about an hundred and twentie.)

16 ✣ Yee men and brethren, this scripture must needes have bene fulfilled, which the ✻ holy Ghost by the mouth of David spake before of Iudas, which was ✣ guide to them that tooke Iesus.

17 For hee was numbred with us, and had obteined fellowship in this [q] ministration.

18 He therefore hath [q] purchased a fielde with the reward of iniquity: and when * he had [r] throwen downe himselfe headlong, he brast asunder in the middes, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it is knowen unto all the inhabitants of Hierusalem, in so much, that that field is called in their owne language, Aceldama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Psalmes, ✣ Let his habitation be voyd, and let no man dwell therein: ✻ also, Let another take his [s] charge.

21 ✣ Wherefore of these men which have companied with us, all the time that the Lord Iesus was [t] conversant among us, 22 Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn unto the day that he was taken up [u] from us, must one of them be made a witnesse with us of his resurrection.

23 ✣ And they [x] presented two, Ioseph called Barsabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these two thou hast chosen, 25 That he may take the [y] roume of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Iudas hath [z] gone astray, to go to his owne place.

26 Then they gave forth their lots: and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a commonconsent counted with the eleven Apostles.

1 A passing over from the historie of the Gospel, that in, from the historie of the sayings and doings of Christ unto the actes of the Apostles.

a The actes of Iesus are the miracles and doings which shewed his Godhead, and his most perfit holinesse and example of his doctrine.

2 Christ did not straightwayes ascend into heaven after his resurrection: because he would throughly prove his resurrection: and with his presence confirme his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had heard.

b He calleth those infallible tokens, which are otherwise turned necessaria: now in that that Christ spake, & walked, and ate, and was felt of many, these are sure signes and tokens that he truely rose againe.

c They were dispersed here and there, but he gathereth them together that they might altogether be witnesses of his resurrection.

4 After that Christ had promised the full vertue of the holy Ghost, wherewith he would governe his Church, although hee should be absent in body, hee tooke up his body from us into the heavenly tabernacles, there to continue untill the latter day of judgement, as the Angels witnesse. g That is out of your sight. h About two miles. 5 Ecclesiasticall assemblies to heare the worde, and to make common prayer. were first instituted and kept in private houses by the Apostles. i They went into the house, which the Church hath chosen at that time to be a receit for the whole assemblie.

k The Greeke word signified an invincible constancy, and steadnesse. l It is to good purpose, that this concord is mentioned: for those prayers are most acceptable to God which are made with agreeing mindes and willes. m The disciples prayed for the sending of the holy Ghost, and also to be delivered from present dangers wherewith they were beset. n For it was behoveable to have the wives confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbands. o Which his kinsfolkes. 6 Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole company of the Apostles, either by secret revelation of the holy Ghost, or by expresse judgement of the Congregation. p Because men are commonly billed and enrolled by their names. 7 Peter preventeth the offence that might be taken of the falling away of Iudas the betrayer, shewing that all things which came unto him, were foretolde by God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Apostles 4 filled with the holy Ghost, 8 speake with divers tongues: 12 They are thought to be drunke, 15 but Peter disproveth that. 34 He teacheth that Christ is the Messias: 37 And seeing the hearts astonied, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.

1 The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemne feast day in one place, that it might evidently appeare to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double signe from heaven authorised, and anointed with all the most excellent giftes of the holy Ghost, and especially with an extraordinarie and necessary gift of tongues.

a Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begunne, as Luke 2,22. For the Hebrewes say that a day, or a yeere is fulfilled or ended, when the former dayes or yeeres are ended, and the other begunne. Iere. 25.12. And it shall come to passe, that when seventie yeeres are fulfilled, I will visite, &c. For the Lord did not bring home his people after the seventieth yeere was ended, but in the seventieth yeere. Nowe the day of Pentecost was the fiftieth day after the feast of the Passeover.

b The twelve Apostles, which were to be the Patriarkes as it were of the Church.

c He calleth them other tongues, which were not the same which the Apostles vsed commonly, and Marke calleth them new tongues.

d Hereby were vnderstand that the Apostles vsed not now one tongue, and then another by haphazard and at all adventure, or as fantasticall men vse to doe, but with good consideration of their hearers: and to be short, that they spake nothing but as the holy Ghost governed their tongues.

e Not that they spake with one voyce and many languages were heard, but that the Apostles spake with strange tongues: for els the miracle had rather been in the hearers, whereas now it is in the speakers, Nazian, in his oration of Whitsunday.

f By Iewes hee meaneth them that were both Iewes by birth, and Iewes by profession of religion though they were borne in other places: and they were Proselytes, which were Gentiles borne and embraced the Iewes religion.

g Gods worde pierceth some so, that it driveth them to seeke out the trueth, and it doeth so choke other, that it forceth them to be witnesses of their owne impudencie.

h Peter his boldnesse is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seene, even straight after the beginning.

i After the sunne rising, which may be about seven or eight of the clocke with us.

k There is nothing that can dissolue questions and doubts, but testimonies taken out of the Prophets: for mens reasons may be overturned, but Gods voyce can not be overturned. ✣ Ioel 2.28. esai. 24.3.

3 Peter setting the trueth of God against the false accusations of men, sheweth in himselfe and in his fellowes, that that is fulfilled which Ioel spake before concerning the full giving of the holy Ghost in the latter dayes: which grace also is offered to the whole Church, to their certaine and undoubted destruction, which doe contemne it.

l All without exception, both upon the Iewes and Gentiles, m That is, men.

1 And when the day of Pentecost was a come, they were b all with one accord in one place.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing and mightie winde, and it filled all the house where they sate.

3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like fire, and it sate upon eache of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speake with c other tongues, as the d Spirit gave them vtterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Iewes, men that feared God, of every nation under heaven.

6 Nowe when this was noised, the multitude came together and were astonied, because that every man heard them speake his owne language.

7 And they wondered all, and marveiled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speake, of Galile?

8 e How then heare we every man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia.

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and f Iewes, and Proselytes, 11 Cretes, and Arabians: we heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderfull vvorkes of God.

12 2 They were all then amased, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?

13 And others g mocked, and sayd, They are full of new wine.

14 ¶ But Peter standing with the eleven, h lift up his voyce, and sayd unto them, Yee men of Iudea, and ye all that inhabite Hierusalem, be this knowen unto you, and hearken unto my words.

15 For these are not drunken, as yee suppose, since it is but the i third houre of the day.

16 But this is that, which was spoken by the k Prophet ✱ Ioel.

17 3 And it shall be in the last dayes, saith God, I will powre out of my Spirit upon l all m fleth, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your olde men shall dreame dreames.

18 And on my servants, and on mine handmaides I will powre out of my Spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophecie.

19 And I will shew wonders in heaven above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapours of smoke.

20 The Sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 4 And it shallbe, that whosoever shall n call on the Name of the Lord, shallbe saved.

22 5 Yee men of Israel, heare these wordes, IESUS of Nazareth, a man o approved of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the mids of you, as ye your selves also know:

23 Him, I say, being delivered by the determinate counsell, and p foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked q hands you have crucified and r slaine.

24 6 Whom God hath raised up, and loosed the s sorrowes of death, because it was unpossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For David saith concerning him, ✣ I beheld the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not t leave my soule in grave, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast u shewed me the wayes of life, and shalt make me full of ioy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldely speake unto you of the Patriarke David, ✱ that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with us unto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had * x sworne with an oathe to him, that of the fruit of his loines he would raise up Christ concerning the flesh, to set him upon his throne.

31 He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that ✱ his soule should not be left in grave, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 7 This Iesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that hee by the y right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath received of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed tooth this which ye now see and heare.

34 For David is not ascended into heaven, but he saith, ✲ The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Vntill I make thine enemies thy foote-stoole.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath z made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom yee have crucified.

4 The chiefest of all the giftes of the holy Ghost, is to bring men to salva tou ty faith.

n This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and craving for helpe at Gods hand.

5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods providence crucified of wicked men.

o Who is by these workes which God wrought by him, so manifestly approoved and allowed of, that no man can gaine say him.

p Gods everlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsel, as the Epicures say, neither yet be the cause of evill: for God in his everlasting and unchangeable counsel, appointed the wicked acte of Iudas to an excellent ende: and God doeth that well which the instruments doe ill

q Gods counsell doeth not excuse the Iewes, whose hands were wicked.

r The fait is layd to be theirs, by whose counsell and egging forward it is done.

6 Christ (as David foretolde) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the grave voide of all corruption.

s The dead that was fast of sorowe both of body and minde: therefore when death appeared conquerour and victorie over those sorowes, Christ is rightly sayd to have overcome those sorowes of death, when as being dead, he overcame death, to live for ever with his Father.

✱ Psal. 16 9.

t Thou wilt not suffer me to remaine in grave. u Thou hast opened mee the way to the true life. ✣ 1 King. 2,10. chap. 13,36. ✱ Psalm 132,11. x Had sworne solemnly. ✲ Psal. 16,10. chap. 3,35. 7 Peter witnesseth that Iesus Christ is the appointed everlasting King, which he prooveth manifestly by the gifes of the holy Ghost, and the testimonie of David. y Might and power of God. ✱ Psal. 110,1. z Christ is sayd to be made, because he was advanced to that dignitie: and therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his state and dignitie.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and ſayd unto Peter and the other Apoſtles, Men and brethren, what ſhall we doe?

38 ſ Then Peter ſayd unto them, Amend your lives, and be baptized every one of you in the Name of Ieſus Chriſt for the remiſsion of ſinnes: and ye ſhall receive the gift of the holy Ghoſt.

39 For the [a] promiſe is made unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afarre off, even as many as the Lord our God ſhall call.

40 ſ And with many other words he beſought and exhorted them, ſaying, Save your ſelves from this froward generation.

41 10 Then they that gladly received his word, were baptized, and the ſame day there were added to the Church about three thouſand ſoules.

42 11 And they continued in the Apoſtles doctrine, and [b] fellowſhip, and [c] breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 ¶ 12 And feare came upon every ſoule: and many wonders and ſignes were done by ſ Apoſtles.

44 13 And all that beleeved, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they ſold their poſſeſsions, and goods, and parted them to all men, as every one had need.

46 14 And they continued dayly with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meat together with gladneſſe and ſingleneſſe of heart.

47 Praiſing God, and had favour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, ſuch as ſhould be ſaved.

ſ Repentance and remiſſion of ſinnes in Chriſt, are two principles of the Goſpell, and therefore of our ſalvation: and they are obtained by the promiſes apprehended by faith, and are ratified in us by Baptiſme, wherewith is ioyned the vertue of the holy Ghoſt.

a The word that is uſed here, giveth us to underſtand that it was a free gift.

9 Hee is truely ioyned to the Church which ſeparateth himſelfe from the wicked.

b Communicating of goods, and all other duetie s of charitie, as is ſhewed afterward.

c The Iewes uſed thin loaves, and therefore they did rather breake them then cut them: So by breaking of bread, they vnderſtood that living together, and the banquets which they uſed to keepe. And when they kept their love feaſtes, they uſed to celebrate the Lords Supper, which even in theſe dayes began to be corrupted. and Paul amendeth it, 1. Cor. 11. 12 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient he bridleth the rage of ſtrangers that the Church may be planted. and have ſome refreſhing. 13 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the uſe according as neceſſitie requireth. 14 The faithfull came together at the beginning with great fruit, not onely to the hearing of the word, but alſo to meat.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter goeth into the Temple with John, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 To the people gathered together to ſee the miracle. 12 he expoundeth the myſterie of our ſalvation through Chriſt, 14 accuſing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring the repentance.

a Both with heart and eyes.

NOw 1 Peter and Iohn went up together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe was carried, whom they layde dayly at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.

3 Who ſeeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into the Temple, deſiring to receive an almes.

4 And Peter earneſtly beholding him with Iohn, ſayd, Looke on us.

5 And he [a] gave heede unto them, truſting to receive ſome thing of them.

6 Then ſaid Peter, Silver and gold have I none, but ſuch as I have, that give I thee: In the Name of Ieſus Chriſt of Nazareth, riſe up and walke.

7 And hee tooke him by the right hand, and lift him up, and immediatly his feete and ankle bones received ſtrength.

8 And he leaped up, ſtoode, and walked, and entred with them into the temple, walking and leaping, and praiſing God.

9 And all the people ſaw him walke, and praiſing God.

10 And they knew him, that it was he which ſate for the almes at the Beautifull gate of the Temple: and they were amaſed, and ſore aſtonied at that which was come unto him.

11 ſ And as the creeple which was healed, [b] held Peter and Iohn, all the people ranne amaſed unto them in the porch which is called Salomons.

12 2 So when Peter ſawe it, hee anſwered unto the people, Ye men of Iſrael, why marveile ye at this? or why looke ye ſo ſtedfaſtly on us, as though by ourowne power or godlineſſe, we had made this man goe?

18 But thoſe things, which God before had ſhewed [e] by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

CHAP IV.

1 Peter and Iohn, 3 are taken and brought before the councell, 7 and 19 They ſpeake boldly in Chriſts cauſe. 25 The diſciples pray unto God. 32 Many ſell their poſſeſſions. 36 Of whom Barnabas is one.

ANd 1 as they ſpake unto the people, the Prieſtes and the [a] Captaine of the Temple,

1 None are commonly more diligent or bolder enemies of the Church, then ſuch as profeſſe themſelves to be head builders: but the more they rage, the more conſtantly the faithfull ſervants of God doe continue.

a The Iewes had certaine gariſons for the garde and ſafetie of the Temple and holy things. Matt. 26, 65. Theſe gariſons had a Captaine, ſuch as Eleazarus Ananias the Prieſtes ſonne was, in the time of the warre that was in Iudea, being a very impudent and proud yong man, Ioſeph. lib. 2. of the taking of Iudea.

and the Sadducees came upon them,

2 Taking it grievously that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they layd hands on them, and put them in hold, vntill the next day, for it was now eventide.

4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, beleeved, and the b number of the men was about five thousand.

5 ¶ And it came to passe on the morrow, that their c rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hierusalem,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the d kindred of the hie Priest.

7 a And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what e Name have ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, sayd unto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel,

9 3 For as much as we this day are examined, of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole,

10 4 Be it knowen unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye have crucified, whom God raised againe from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you, whole.

11 4 This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for among men there is f given none other g Name h vnder heaven, whereby we must be saved.

13 5 Now when they saw the boldnesse of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstood that they were vnlearned men and without i knowledge, they marveiled, and knew them, that they had bene k Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commaunded them to goe aside out of the Councill, and l conferred among themselves, 16 6 Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let us threaten and charge them, that they speake hencefoorth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the Name of Iesus.

19 7 But Peter and Iohn answered unto them, and sayd, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake the thing which we have seene and heard.

21 8 So they threatned them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praysed God for that which was done.

22 For the man was above fourtie yeeres olde, on whom this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 9 Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had sayd unto them.

24 10 And when they heard it, they lift up their voyces to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which had made the heaven, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them.

25 Which by the mouth of thy servant David hast sayd, ♣ Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtlesse, against thine holy Sonne Iesus, whom thou haddest anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the l people of Israel gathered themselves together.

28 To m doe whatsoever n thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatnings, and graunt unto thy servants with all boldnesse to speake thy word,

30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Iesus, 31 11 And when they had prayed, the place was shaken were they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 12 And the multitude of them that beleeved, were of o one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them said, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all things ♣ common.

33 And with great power gave the Apostles witnesse of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was upon them all.

34 13 Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And layde it downe at the Apostles feet, and it was distributed unto every man, according as he had need.

36 Also Ioses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation, the sonne of consolation) being a Levite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, 37 Where as he had land, sold it, and brought the money, and layd it downe at the Apostles feete.

9 The Apostles communicate their troubles with the Congregation.

10 We ought neither to be afraid of the threatnings of our enemies, neither yet foolishly contemne their rage and madnesse against us: but we have to set against their force and malice, an earnest thinking upon the power and good will of God (both which we doe manifestly behold in Christ) and so flee to the ayd and succour of our Father.

b filled thine heart, that thou ſhouldeſt c lye unto the holy Ghoſt, and keepe away part of the price of this poſſeſſion?

4 Whiles it remained, appertained it not unto thee? and after it was ſold, was it not in thine owne power? how is it that thou haſt d conceived this thing in thine heart? thou haſt not lied unto men, but unto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard theſe wordes, he fell downe, and gave up the ghoſt. Then great feare came on all them that heard theſe things.

6 And the yong men roſe up, and tooke him up, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to paſſe about the ſpace of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter ſayd unto her, Tell me, ſold ye the land for ſo much? And ſhe ſaid, Yea, for ſo much.

9 Then Peter ſaid unto her, Why have yee agreed together, to e tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feete of them which have buried thine husband, are at the f doore, and ſhall carie thee out.

10 Then ſhe fell downe ſtraightway at his feet, and yeelded up the ghoſt: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 2 And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard theſe things.

12 Thus by the handes of the Apoſtles were many ſignes and wonders ſhewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Salomons porch.

13 And of the other durſt no man ioyne himſelfe to them: neverthelеſſe the people g magnified them.

14 Alſo the number of them that beleeved in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more.)

15 In ſo much that they brought the ſicke into the ſtreetes, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the leaſt way the ſhadow of Peter, when he came by, might ſhadow ſome of them.

16 There came alſo a multitude out of the cities round about unto Hieruſalem, bringing ſicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane ſpirits, who were all healed.

17 3 Then the chiefe Prieſt roſe up, and all they that were with him (which was the h ſect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation, 18 And laid handes on the Apoſtles, and put them in the common priſon.

19 4 But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the priſon doores, and brought them foorth, and ſaid, 20 5 Gee your way, and ſtand in the Temple, and ſpeake to the people, all the i wordes of this life.

21 6 So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Prieſt came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Iſrael, and ſent to the priſon, to cauſe them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the priſon, they returned and told it,

23 Saying, Certainely we found the priſon ſhut as ſure as was poſſible, and the keepers ſtanding without, before the doores: but when wee had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Prieſt and the captaine of the Temple, and the hie Prieſts heard theſe things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would growe.

25 7 Then came one and ſhewed them, ſaying, Behold, the men that ye put in priſon, are ſtanding in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 8 Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, leaſt they ſhould have bene ſtoned.)

27 And when they had brought them, they ſet them before the Councill, and the chiefe Prieſt asked them, 28 9 Saying, Did not we ſtraightly command you, that ye ſhould not teach in this name? and behold, ye have filled Hieruſalem with your doctrine, and ye would k bring this mans blood upon us.

29 10 Then Peter and the Apoſtles anſwered, and ſaid, We ought rather to obey God then men.

30 11 The ✣ God of our fathers hath raiſed up Ieſus whom ye ſlew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift up with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Saviour, to give repentance to Iſrael, and forgiveneſſe of ſinnes.

32 12 And we are his witneſſes concerning theſe things which wee ſay: yea, and the holy Ghoſt, whom God hath given to them that obey him.

33 Now when they heard it, they l braſt for anger, and conſulted to ſlay them.

34 13 Then ſtood there up in the Councill a certaine Phariſe named Gamaliel, a doctour of the Law, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apoſtles foorth a litle ſpace, 35 And ſaid unto them, Men of Iſrael, take heede to your ſelves, what ye intend to doe touching theſe men.

36 14 For before theſe times, roſe up Theudas m boaſting himſelfe, to whom reſorted a number of men, about a foure hundreth, who was ſlaine: and they all which obeyed him were ſcattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, aroſe up Iudas of Galile, in the dayes of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he alſo periſhed, and all that obeyed him, were ſcattered abroad.

38 And now I ſay unto you, n Refraine your ſelves from theſe men, and let them alone: for if this counſell, or this worke be o men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot deſtroy it, leaſt ye be found even fighters againſt God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apoſtles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they ſhould not ſpeake in the Name of Ieſus, and let them goe.

41 15 So they departed from the Councill, reioycing, that they were counted worthy to ſuffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And dayly in the p Temple, and from houſe to houſe they ceaſed not to teach, and preach Ieſus Chriſt.

b Fully poſſeſſed. c For when they had appointed that ſome or poſſeſſion for the Church, they ſhuckt not at it to ſteale away a part of the price, as though they had had it doe with men, and not with God, and therefore he ſaith afterward that they tempted God. d Hereby is declared an adviſed and purpoſed deceit, and the fault of the man in admitting the devils ſuggeſtions. e Looke how oft men doe things with an evill conſcience, ſo oft they pronounce ſentence againſt themſelves, and as much as in them lieth provoke God to anger, as of ſet purpoſe, minding to trie whether he be juſt and almigh ti or no. f Are at hand. 2 The Lord by his marveilous vertue trideleth ſome, that they may not hurt the Church: other ſome hee awe and feare: and other ſome he allureth unto him. g Highly prayſed then. 3 The more that the Church increaſeth, the more increaſeth the rage of Satan, and therefore they proceede from threatnings, to priſonning. h The word which is uſed here, is Hereſie, which ſignifieth a choyſe, and ſo is taken for a right forme of learning, or faction, or ſtudie and courſe of life; which the Latines call a ſect: at the firſt this word was indifferently uſed, but at length, it came to be taken onely in evill part, whereupon came the name of Heretike, which is taken for one that goeth aſtray from ſound and wholeſome doctrine after ſuch ſort, that he ſetteth light by the iudgement of God and his Church, and continueth in his opinion. and breaketh the peace of the Church. 4 Angels are made ſervants of the ſervants of God. 5 God doeth therefore deliver his, that they may more ſtoutly provoke his enemies. i Wordes, whereby the way unto life is ſhewed. 6 God mocketh his enemies attempts from above.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Apoſtles, 3 appoynt the office of Deaconſhip, 5 to ſeven choſen men : 8 Of whom Steven, full of faith, is one : 12 He is taken, 13 and accuſed as a tranſgreſſour of Moſes Law.

AND 1 in thoſe dayes, as the number of the diſciples grew, there aroſe a murmuring of the a Grecians towardes the Hebrewes, becauſe their widowes were neglected in the b dayly miniſtring.

2 2 Then the twelve called the multitude of the diſciples together, and ſaid, It is not c meete that we ſhould leave the word of God to ſerve the d tables.

3 3 Wherefore brethren, looke you out among you ſeven men of honeſt report, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and of wiſedome, which we may appoint to this buſineſſe.

4 And wee will give our ſelves continually to prayer, and to the miniſtration of the word.

5 And the ſaying pleaſed the whole multitude: and they choſe Steven a man full of faith and of the holy Ghoſt, and ✣ Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proſelyte of Antiochia.

6 4 Which they ſet before the Apoſtles: and they prayed, and e layed their hands on them.

7 5 And the word of God increaſed, and the number of the diſciples was multiplied in Hieruſalem greatly, and a great company of the Prieſts were obedient to the f faith.

8 ¶ 6 Now Steven full of faith and g power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 7 Then there aroſe certaine of the h Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Aſia, and diſputed with Steven.

10 8 But they were not able to reſiſt the wiſedome, and the ſpirit by the which he ſpake.

11 Then they ſuborned men, which ſayd, We have heard him ſpeake blaſphemous words againſt Moſes, and God.

12 9 Thus they mooved the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running upon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill.

13 10 And ſet foorth falſe witneſſes, which ſaid, This man ceaſeth not to ſpeake blaſphemous words againſt this holy place, and the Law.

14 For we have heard him ſay, that this Ieſus of Nazareth ſhall deſtroy this place, and ſhall change the ordinances which Moſes gave us.

15 And as all that ſate in the Councill looked ſtedfaſtly on him, they i ſaw his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

4 The ancient Church did with laying on of handes, as it were conſecrate to the Lord ſuch as were lawfully elected.

e This ceremonie of laying on of handes came from the Iewes, who uſed this order both in publike affaires, and offering of ſacrifices, and alſo in private prayers and bleſſings, as appeareth Gene. 48. and the Church obſerved this ceremonie, 1. Tim. 5. 22 actes 8. 17. but here is no mention made either of creame, or ſhaving, or raſing, or croſſing &c. 5 An happie end of temptation. f This is the figure Metonymia, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Goſpell which engendreth faith. 6 God exerciſeth his Church firſt with evill wordes and ſlaunders, then with impriſonments afterward with ſcourgings, and by theſe meanes prepareth it in ſuch ſort, that at length hee cauſeth it to encounter with Satan and the world, even to bloodſhead and death, and that with good ſucceſſe. g Excellent and ſingular giftes. 7 Schooles and Vniverſities were of olde time addicted to falſe paſtours, and were the inſtruments of Satan to blowe abroad and defend falſe doctrines. h Of the company and Colledge as it were. 8 Falſe teachers, becauſe they will not be overcome, flee from diſputations to manifeſt and open ſlaundring and falſe accuſations. 9 The firſt bloody perſecution of the Church of Chriſt begunne and ſprang from a Councill of Prieſts by the ſuggeſtion of the Vniverſitie doctours. 10 An example of cavillers or falſe accuſers, which gather falſe concluſions of things that are well reaſoned and ſpoken. i Hereby it appeareth that Steven had an excellent and goodly countenance, having a quiet and ſetled minde, a good conſcience, and ſure perſwaſion that his cauſe was juſt: for ſeeing he was to ſpeake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes minded might be pearced and amazed.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steven pleading his cauſe, ſheweth that God choſe the Fathers, 20 before Moſes was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordeined according to the heavenly Paterne. 54 The Iewes gnaſhing their teeth, 59 ſtone him.

THEN 1 ſayd the chiefe Prieſt, Are theſe things ſo?

2 2 And he ſayd, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken, ✣ That God of a glory appeared unto our father Abraham, while he was in b Meſopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And ſaid unto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I ſhall ſhew thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell.

5 And he gave him none inheritance in it, no not the bredth of a foote: yet he d promiſed that he would give it to him for a poſſeſſion, and to his ſeede after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God ſpake thus, that his ✣ ſeede ſhould be a ſoiourner in a ſtrange land: and that they ſhould keepe it in bondage, and entreate it evill e foure hundreth yeeres.

7 But the nation to whom they ſhall be in bondage, will I iudge, ſaith God: and after that, they ſhall come forth and ſerve me in this place.

8 * He gave him alſo the covenant of circumciſion: and ſo Abraham begate ✣ Iſaac, and circumciſed him the eighth day: and Iſaac begate * Iacob, and Iacob the twelve ✣ Patriarkes.

9 3 And the Patriarkes mooved with envie, ſold ✣ Ioſeph into Egypt: but God was f with him,

10 And delivered him out of all his afflictions, and ✣ gave him g favour and wiſdome in the ſight of Pharao king of Egypt, who made him governour over Egypt, and over his whole houſe.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine over all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no ſuſtenance.

12 But when * Iacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he ſent our fathers firſt:

13 ✣ And at the ſecond time Ioſeph was knowen of his brethren, and Ioſephs kindred was made knowen unto Pharao.

14 Then ſent Ioſeph and cauſed his father to be brought, and all his kinred, even threeſcore and fifteene ſoules.

15 So * Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he * died, and our fathers.

16 And wee h remooved into Sychem, and were put in the ſepulchre, that Abraham had bought ✣ for money of the ſonnes of Emer, ſonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promiſe drewe neere, which God had ſworne to Abraham, the people ✣ grew and multiplied in Egypt.

1 Steven is admitted to pleade his cauſe but to this end and purpoſe, that vnder a cloake, and colour of Law, he might be condemned.

a Steven witneſſeth unto the Iewes, that hee acknowledgeth the true fathers, and the onely true God: and ſheweth moreover, that they are more ancient then the Temple, with all that ſervice appoynted by the Law, and therefore they ought to lay another foundation of true religion, that is to ſay, the free covenant that God made with the fathers.

20 ✣ The ſame time was Moſes borne, and was k acceptable vnto God: which was nouriſhed up in his fathers houſe three moneths.

21 And when he was caſt out, Pharaohs daughter tooke him up, and nouriſheth him for her owne ſonne.

22 And Moſes was learned in all the wiſedome of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deedes.

23 Now when hee was full fortie yeere old, it came into his heart to viſit his brethren, the children of Iſrael.

24 ✣ And when he ſaw one of them ſuffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged his quarell that had the harme done to him, and ſmote the Egyptian.

25 For hee ſuppoſed his brethren would have vnderſtoode, that God by his hand ſhould give them deliverance: but they vnderſtood it not.

26 * And the next day, he ſhewed himſelfe vnto them as they ſtrove, and would have ſet them at one againe, ſaying, Sirs, yee are brethren: why doe ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thruſt him away, ſaying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge ouer us?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didſt the Egyptian yeſterday?

29 Then fled Moſes at that ſaying, and was a ſtranger in the land of Midian, where hee begate two ſonnes.

30 And when fortie yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the ✣ wildernes of mount Sina, an l Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire in a buſh.

31 And when Moſes ſaw it, he wondred at the ſight: and as he drewe neere to conſider it, the voyce of the Lord came unto him, ſaying.

32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Iacob. Then Moſes trembled, and durſt not behold it.

33 Then the Lord ſayde to him, Put off thy ſhooes from thy feete: for the place where thou ſtandeſt, is holy ground.

34 I have ſeene, I have ſeene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, & I have heard their groning, and am come downe to deliver them: and now come, and I will ſend thee into Egypt.

37 4 This is that Moſes, which ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, ✣ A Prophet ſhall the Lord your God raiſe up unto you, even of your brethren, like unto me: him ſhall ye heare.

38 ✣ This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wilderneſſe with the Angel, which ſpake to him in mount Sina, and with our fathers, who received the lively oracles to give unto us.

40 Saying unto Aaron, * Make us gods that may goe before us: for we know not what is become of this Moſes that brought us out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a n calfe in thoſe dayes, and offered ſacrifice unto the idole, and reioyced in the works of their owne hands.

42 Then God turned himſelfe away, and o gave them up to ſerve the p hoaſt of heaven, as it is written in the booke of the Prophets, ✣ O houſe of Iſrael, haue ye offred to me ſlaine beaſts & ſacrifices by the ſpace of fortie yeeres in the wildernesſe?

AND 1 Saul consented to his death. And at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Hierusalem, and they were all scattered abroad thorow the regions of Iudea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

1 Christ useth the rage of his enemies to the spreading forth and enlarging of his kingdome.

2 2 Then certaine men fearing God, a caried Stenen among them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.

2 The godly mourne for Steven after his death, and burie him, shewing therein an example of singular faith and charity: but no man prayeth to him.

3 3 But Saul made hauocke of the Church, and entred into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

n Amongst all the duties of charitie which the godly use, there is no mention made of shrining up of relikes.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

3 The dispersion or scattering abroad of the faithfull, is the ioyning together of Churches.

5 ¶ 4 Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.

4 Philip, who was before a Deacon in Hierusalem, is made of God extraordinarily an Euangelist.

6 And the people gaue heed vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For vncleane spirits crying with a loude voyce, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.

8 And there was great ioy in that citie.

5 Christ overcommeth Saran so oft as he listeth, and carieth him about as it were in a triumph in the sight of them, whom he deceived and bewitched.

9 5 And there was before in the citie, a certaine man called Simon, which vsed b witchcraft, and c bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himselfe was some great man,

10 To whom they gave heed from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.

11 And they gave heed unto him, because that of long time hee had bewitched them with sorceries.

12 But assoone as they beleeved Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdome of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.

13 6 Then Simon himselfe beleeved also, and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondred, when he saw the signes and great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ 7 Now when the Apostles, which were at Ierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and Iohn.

15 Which when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the p holy Ghost.

16 (For as yet hee was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the Name of the Lord Iesus.)

17 Then layd they their hands on them, and they received the holy Ghost.

18 8 And when Simon saw that through laying on of the Apostles hands the holy Ghost was given, hee offred them money, 19 Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay the hands, hee may receive the holy Ghost.

b Faith and charitie never forsake the true servants of God, even to the last breath.

c The word which he useth here noteth not such a kind of imputing or laying to ones charge, as remaineth firme, and stedy for ever, never to be remitted. d Luke 1.7 hcf 4.13.

9 They are the successours of Simon Magus, and not of Simon Peter, which either buy or sell holy things.

11 Christ who calleth freely whom he listeth, doeth now use Philip who thought on no such matter, to instruct and baptize the Eunuch at vnwares, and by this meanes extendeth the limits of his kingdome euen into Ethiopia.

CHAP. IX.

a Saul going towards Damaſcus, 4 is ſtroken downe to the ground of the Lord: 10 Ananias is ſent 18 to baptize him. 23 The laying away of the Iewes, 25 hee eſcapeth, being let downe through the wall. 33 Peter cureth Aeneas of the palſie, 36 and by him Tabitha being dead, 40 is reſtored to life.

A Nd 1 ✣ Saul yet a breathing out threatnings and ſlaughter againſt the diſciples of the Lord, went vnto the hie Prieſt,

2 And deſired of him letters to Damaſcus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that b way, (either men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto Hieruſalem.

3 Now as he iourneyed, it came to paſſe that as hee was come neere to Damaſcus, ✣ ſuddenly there ſhined round about him a light from heaven.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voyce ſaying to him, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou mee?

5 And he ſaid, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord ſaid, I am Ieſus whom thou perſecuteſt: it is c hard for thee to kicke againſt prickes.

6 He then both trembling and aſtonied, ſaid, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord ſaid vnto him, Ariſe, and goe into the citie, and it ſhall be told thee what thou ſhalt doe.

7 The men alſo which yourneyed with him, d ſtood amaſed, hearing his e voyce, but ſeeing no man.

8 And Saul aroſe from the ground, and opened his eyes, but ſawe no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damaſcus, 9 Where hee was three dayes without ſight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine diſciple at Damaſcus named Ananias, and to him ſaid the Lord in a viſion, Ananias. And hee ſaid, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord ſaid vnto him, Ariſe, and go into the ſtreete which is called Streight, and ſeeke in the houſe of Iudas after one called Saul of f Tarſus: for behold, he prayeth.

12 (And he ſaw in a viſion a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receive his ſight.)

13 Then Ananias anſwered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evill he hath done to thy Saints at Hieruſalem, 14 Moreover here hee hath authoritie of the hie Prieſts, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord ſaid vnto him, Goe thy way: for he is a g choſen veſſell vnto mee, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Iſrael.

16 For I will h ſhew him, how many things he muſt ſuffer for my Names ſake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entred into i that houſe, and put his handes on him, and ſaith, Brother Saul, the Lord hath ſent mee (even Ieſus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou cameſt) that thou mighteſt receive thy ſight, and be filled with the holy Ghoſt.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had bene ſcales, and ſuddenly he received ſight, and aroſe, and was baptized.

19 And received meate, and was ſtrengthened, So was Saul certaine dayes with the diſciples which were at Damaſcus.

20 2 And ſtraightway hee preached Chriſt in the Synagogues, that he was that Sonne of God.

21 So that all that heard him were amaſed, and ſaid, Is no this hee, that made havocke of them which called on this Name in Hieruſalem, and came hither for that intent, that he ſhould bring them bound vnto the hie Prieſts?

22 3 But Saul encreaſed the more in ſtrength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damaſcus, k confirming that this was that Chriſt.

23 4 And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counſell to kill him, 24 But their laying awaite was knowen of Saul: now they ✣ watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 5 Then the diſciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in a basket.

26 6 And when Saul was come to Hieruſalem, hee aſſayed to ioyne himſelfe with the diſciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleeved not that he was a diſciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apoſtles, and declared to them, how he had ſeene the Lord in the way, and that he had ſpoken vnto him, and how he had ſpoken boldly at Damaſcus in the Name of Ieſus.

28 7 And hee was converſant l with them at Hieruſalem.

29 And ſpake boldly in the Name of the Lord Ieſus, and ſpake and diſputed againſt the m Grecians: but they went about to ſlay him.

30 8 But when the brethren knewe it, they brought him to Ceſarea, and ſent him foorth to Tarſus.

31 9 Then had the Churches reſt through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were n edified, and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghoſt.

32 10 And it came to paſſe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came alſo to the ſaints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was ſicke of the palſie.

34 Then ſaid Peter unto him, Aeneas, Ieſus Chriſt maketh thee whole: ariſe and truſſe thy couch together. And he aroſe immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at o Lydda and Saron, ſaw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 11 There was alſo at Ioppa a certaine woman, a diſciple named Tabitha, (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) ſhee was full of good workes and almes which ſhe did.

37 And it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that ſhe was ſicke and died: and when they had waſhed her, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now foraſmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the diſciples had heard that Peter was there, they ſent vnto him two men, deſiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

1 Peters Apoſtleſhip is confirmed by healing of the man that was ſicke of the palſie.

o Lydda was a citie of Paleſtine, and Saron a Champion countrey and a place of good paſturage betweene Ceſarea of Paleſtine and the mountaine Tabor, and the lake of Genezareth which extendeth it ſelfe in great length beyond Ioppa.

11 Peter declareth evidently by riſing up a dead body through the Name of Chriſt, that he preacheth the glad tidings of life.

39 Then Peter aroſe and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widowes ſtood by him weeping, and ſhewing the coates and garments, which Dorcas made, while ſhe was with them.

40 But Peter put them all foorth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the bodie, and ſaid, Tabitha, ariſe. And ſhe opened her eyes, and when ſhe ſaw Peter, ſate vp.

41 Then he gave her the hand, and lift her up, and called the Saints and widowes, and reſtored her alive.

42 And it was knowen throughout all Ioppa, and many beleeved in the Lord.

43 And it came to paſſe, that he taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius, 4 at the Angels commandement, 5 ſendeth for Peter. 11 Who alſo by a viſion, 15, 20 is taught not to deſpiſe the Gentiles. 34 He preacheth the Goſpell to Cornelius and his houſhold. 45 Who having received the holy Ghoſt, 47 are baptized.

FUrthermore 1 there was a certaine man in Ceſarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band,

2 A a devout man, and one that feared God with b all his houſhold, which gave much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He ſaw in a viſion evidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and ſaying unto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afrayd, and ſaid, c What is it, Lord? and he ſaid unto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are d come up into e remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore ſend men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whoſe ſurname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whoſe houſe is by the ſea ſide: hee ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to doe.

7 And when the Angel which ſpake unto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his ſervants, and a ſouldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And tolde them all things, and ſent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morow as they went on their iourney, and drew neere unto the citie, Peter went up upon the houſe to pray about the ſixt houre.

10 Then waxed he an hungred, and would have eaten: but while they made ſome thing readie, he fell into a ſtrance.

11 And he ſawe heaven opened, and a certaine veſſel come downe unto him, as it had bene a great ſheete, knit at the g foure corners, and was let downe of the earth.

12 Wherein were h all maner of i foure footed beaſtes of the earth, and wilde beaſtes and k creeping things, and foules of the heaven.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Ariſe, Peter: kill, and eate.

14 2 But Peter ſaid, Not ſo, Lord: for I have never eaten any thing that is polluted, or vncleane.

15 And the voyce ſpake vnto him againe the ſecond time, The things that God hath purified, I pollute thou not.

16 This was ſo done thriſe: and the veſſell was drawen up againe into heaven.

17 ¶ Nowe while Peter doubted in himſelfe what this viſion which hee had ſeene, meant, behold, the men which were ſent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons houſe, and ſtoode at the gate, 18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was ſurnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the viſion, the Spirit ſaide unto him, Beholde, three men ſeeke thee.

20 Ariſe therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doupt nothing: for I have ſent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were ſent unto him from Cornelius, and ſaid, Behold, I am he whom yee ſeeke: what is the cauſe wherefore ye are come?

22 And they ſaid, Cornelius the captaine, a iuſt man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heaven by an holy Angel to ſend for thee into his houſe, and to heare thy words.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went foorth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Ceſarea. Nowe Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinſmen, and ſpeciall friends.

25 3 And it came to paſſe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feet, and worſhipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him up, ſaying, Stand up: for even I my ſelfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he ſaid unto them, Yee know that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come unto one of another nation: but God hath ſhewed me, that I ſhould not call any man polluted, or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I unto you without ſaying nay, when I was ſent for. I aske therefore, for what intent have ye ſent for me?

30 Then Cornelius ſaid, Foure dayes agoe, about m this houre, I faſted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine houſe, and beholde, a man ſtood before me in bright cloathing, 31 4 And ſaid, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the ſight of God.

32 5 Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whoſe ſurname is Peter, (hee is lodged in the houſe of Simon a Tanner by the Sea ſide) who when he commeth, ſhall ſpeake unto thee.

33 Then ſend I for thee immediatly, and thou haſt well done to come. Now therefore are we all here preſent before God to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 6 Then Peter opened his mouth, and ſaid, Of a trueth I perceive, that n ✠ God is no accepter of perſons,

35 But

1 Peter conſecrateth the firſt fruits of the Gentiles to God by the meane of two miracles.
a So that he worſhipped one God, and was no idolater, neither could be voide of faith in Chriſt, becauſe he was a devout man: but as yet he knew not that he was come.
b This is a great commendation to this man, that he laboured to have all his houſhold and familiar friends and acquaintance to be religious and godly.
c What will thou with me, Lord? for he ſeeketh himſelfe to heare.
d This is a borowed kind of ſpeech, which the Hebrewes uſe very much, taken from ſacrifices, and applied to prayers: for it is ſaid of whole burnt facrifices, that the ſmoke and ſavour of them goeth up into Gods noſtrels: ſo doe our prayers as a ſweete ſmelling ſacrifice which the Lord taketh great pleaſure in.
e That is, in ſo much that they will not ſuffer God as it were, to forget thee: for ſo doeth the Scripures uſe oftentimes to prattle with us as nurſes doe with little children, when they frame their tongues to ſpeake.
f For though Peter ſtand not amaſed as one that is tonguevexed, but talketh with God, and is inſtructed in his myſteries, yet his minde was farre otherwiſe then it was wont to be, but ſhortly returned to the olde bent g So that it ſeemed to be a foure ſquare ſheete.
